

The Association Good Group -- Great Sound!

Students clamor to get tickets for Association Concert.

The Association, one of the Nation's top groups, will appear at BSC on Wednesday, March 12 at 8:30 p.m. in Haas Auditorium, and the event is opened to the public. The Association, in whole form and whenever, is said to break sound barriers with soaring tenorisms and bounce bass lines as if fishing in the deepest of waters. Included in the group are: Terry Kirkman, Russ Giguere, Jim Yester, Brian Cole, Ted Bluechel, and Larry Ramos. The group won the Radio-Record Award as the number one pop rock recording artists in 1967, and have received good records for several singles: "Cherish,"

"Windy," and "Never My Love." This "good group with a great sound" (as disc jockeys call them) have appeared on such television programs as the Johnny Carson Tonight Show, the Joey Bishop Show, the Hollywood Palace, and the Carol Channing Special. The Association had record-breaking attendances at Ravina Park in Chicago in 1967 (17,492 persons) and at the Illinois State Fair (24,000). Besides their musical talent the Association has written a book entitled, Crank You Spreaders. To date, the Association has played to approximately two million people.

Give Life!

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Feb. 26, 1969—Preparations are well under way for the annual American Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to the campus of BSC in Centennial Gymnasium on Thursday, March 13, from 9:45 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. A goal of 850 pints has been set by student chairman Kathy Horst, Ephrata, according to George G. Stradtman, faculty coordinator for the campus Red Cross Bloodmobile.

In addition to the increased military needs of live saving blood derivatives, the current epidemic of Hong Kong flu has substantially reduced the number of acceptable volunteer donors, which has resulted in a nationwide critical shortage of whole blood. A substantial turnout of donors on the March 13 visit could assure the Bloomsburg area Priority I status which means that any resident of the Bloomsburg area, including BSC students and faculty may, in case of need, receive whole blood in any quantity and in any type without cost for the blood itself.

Stradtman indicated that notices, including coupons designating intent of donating blood, have been placed in faculty and non-instructional post office boxes at the college and a booth will be set up outside of Husky lounge to enlist the names of students who intend to donate blood. It is necessary for any student under the age of 21 to have a signed parental slip indicating permission to donate blood.

In addition to the response that is expected from students, faculty, and non-teaching personnel on campus, it is hoped that a substantial number of walk-ins, comprising the residents of the Bloomsburg area, will participate in the March 13 visit. The latter will be necessary in order to reach the 850 pint goal.

8th Arts Festival

The eighth annual Bloomsburg State College Spring Arts Festival will begin Monday, March 10, with a visit to the campus by Paul Engle, award-winning poet and teacher who will lecture on "The Writer In Today's World."

On March 25th, the Pennsylvania Ballet Company will appear, marking the first time that a full ballet company and orchestra will perform on the BSC campus.

Through April 24-26, the Bloomsburg Players will offer My Sister Eileen, a Broadway comedy hit of the 1940's, in Haas Auditorium. Mr. Michael J. McHale will direct the production.

From March 13 to April 28 the Art Department will sponsor an exhibition of paintings by Simmie Knox, a young Delaware painter, in the gallery of Haas Auditorium. Mr. Knox will give a gallery talk the evening of April 18, after having met with art students in their studio during the day.

The other events of this year's Spring Arts Festival, as reported by Miss Susan Rusinko, include a Symphonic Band Concert by the Maroon and Gold Band (March 13, 8:15 p.m., Haas Auditorium).

All Festival events are open to the public as well as to members of the College Community. There is no charge for the events, with the exception of the Pennsylvania Ballet Company program and the Players' performances of My Sister Eileen. For these two events, BSC students will be admitted upon presentation of their I.D. cards, and faculty with activities tickets. The general public will be charged a nominal fee.

Reading Conference Highlights

Sister Davis Doctor D. Cleland

Sister M. Alice Louise Davis, R.S.M., Director of Elementary Education, College Misericordia, will speak on "Basal Readers on the Way Out" in one of the discussion groups to be held in Hartline Science Center on Saturday, March 29 in conjunction with the Fifth Annual Reading Conference at Bloomsburg State College.

Sister M. Alice Louise Davis received her Master of Education with special work in reading from The Pennsylvania State University and in 1964 received her Doctor of Education degree in the Psychology of Reading from Temple University.

From 1944 to 1955 Sister M. Alice Louise was employed in the public schools of Pennsylvania as both a classroom teacher and a reading specialist. In 1955 she entered the Religious Sisters of Mercy in Dallas, Pa. and since then has been on the faculty of College Misericordia, serving as Director of Elementary Education.

Sister M. Alice Louise has participated as a speaker at the International Reading Association Conference — Miami Beach; Wyoming Valley Education Conference; Bloomsburg State College Reading Conferences; PCEA and Scranton Diocese Conferences; and Temple University Reading Institute. She originated and has served as program director of the annual reading conference at College Misericordia.

Dr. Donald Cleland, Director of the Language Arts Center, University of Pittsburgh, will be a guest speaker at one of the discussion groups to be held Saturday, March 29 in Hartline Science Center in conjunction with the Fifth Annual Reading Conference at Bloomsburg State College. His topic will be, "Some Comments Relative to Early Reading Instruction."

Born in Butler County, Pennsylvania, Dr. Cleland received his Bachelor of Science degree from Westminster College and his Master of Education and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of Pittsburgh. His teaching career has spanned the full range of education including elementary and secondary experience and serving ten years as a principal. For the past 17 years he has been Director of the Reading Laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh. He has also served as chairman of the Program of Studies in Reading and Language Arts. In addition to being a visiting lecturer at a number of outstanding universities, he had directed and participated in NDEA institutes for Advanced Study Reading founded under the United States Office of Education. In 1958, he organized and since has directed the Annual Reading Conferences at the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Cleland has served as officer in numerous organizations pertaining to his field, the Evaluation Committees and Federal Credit Unions. He has participated in reading conferences and workshops from the public school through the university level.

Get Out and Vote!

A Quaker meeting, on the basis of silence, will be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 11, at the home of Robert and Anne Solenberger, 57 Iron Street (on right-hand side of one-way portion, north of First Street). All are welcome.

SPSEA Discusses

Student Teaching

A very interesting SPSEA meeting will be held Wednesday, March 12, 1969, at 4:00 in Carver Auditorium. This meeting should prove especially interesting and beneficial to those B.S.C. students who would like to student teach or eventually teach in the Harrisburg area. A panel discussion consisting of Dr. Donald Enders, B.S.C. Supervisor of Student Teaching in the Harrisburg area, four B.S.C. students who student taught in the Harrisburg area last semester, and, conditions permitting, an administrator from a Harrisburg city high school will be held on the subject of "The Urban School And The Racial Problems."

Since the value of this meeting cannot be stressed enough, it will be open to the public. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Hike With The Y

The March hike of the Bloomsburg Hiking Club, sponsored by the local YMCA, will follow the ridge trail the length of Knob Mountain, near Orangeville. Transportation is available, with cars leaving the Youth Center on 5th St. (west of East Street) at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, March 16th. The hikers plan to return to Bloomsburg by dark. The hike will be led by Robert Solenberger, coordinator of the club.

Biology Conference

The Second East Central Pennsylvania College Biology Teachers Conference will be held at Bloomsburg State College on March 7 and 8. Biologists from forty community colleges and universities within a radius of 75 miles of Bloomsburg will meet to consider various problems of mutual concern in biological education.

The theme is "Biological Education: Its Relevance and Social Implications." Featured speakers include Dr. Dana Abell, associate director of the Commission on the Undergraduate Education in the Biological Sciences (CUEBS), Washington, D.C.; Dr. Hulda Magalhaes, professor of zoology, Bucknell University, Lewisburg; Walter Westfeld, professor of biology, Pennsylvania State University, University Park; and Dr. Irvin T. Edgar, science education advisor, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

Topics that will be discussed in depth during the two-day meeting include: environmental control issues; population control issues; race issues; medical-legal-ethical issues; drug issues; audio-tutorial instruction; and innovative laboratory approaches.

The Department of Biology is making arrangements for the conference in the newly-opened Hartline Science Center. Mr. Joseph Vaughn is a member of the Planning Committee and Dr. Donald D. Rabb is Chairman of the Planning Committee.

Why is Joe Griffiths smiling?

Don't Go Parking

Emergency parking will be enforced at BSC beginning March 17, 1969, to facilitate the construction of a new surface on the parking area east of Andrus Library.

Construction will begin on resurfacing the major portion of the main parking lot on March 17. This will place a strain on the remaining parking facilities for the college.

It is hoped that the project can be completed in a period of four weeks. This will include the Easter break which will narrow the inconvenience down to less than three school weeks.

During this time, two additional aisles east of the Gymnasium will be used for faculty parking. In addition, an attempt will be made to secure permission from the contractor to travel over the area reserved for their use. This would then provide sufficient faculty parking in the Hartline and Sutliff areas.

All student cars during this time will be confined to the Hospital Parking Lot and the portion of the Gymnasium Parking Lot which is not reserved for faculty parking.

QEC Meeting

On Tuesday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m., in the Special Education Center, Mr. Bashore of the Psychology department will speak to the Council of Exceptional Children on the subject "Questionable Aspects Of Retardation." Anyone interested in attending this program is invited. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

LETTERS . . .

Dear Students:

I was informed tonight that Joe Griffiths, Editor of the Maroon and Gold is seeking the office of President of the CGA of BSC. My personal opinion is that Griffiths is amazingly suited to be president of the representative body of Bloomsburg students, because he is:

1. Informed . . . he knows what has happened at the school during the last year.

2. Active . . . Griffiths is the only presidential candidate who advocates Student rights and responsibilities both. At the open meeting of CGA on Feb. 26, it was Griffith who made the only amendment that was liberal. I quote: "Let it be further stated that the student body, through the CGA, censures the present Judicial Committee for high handed action, which, because it includes arbitrary legislative, judicial and executive action, violates the guaranteed rights of burden of proof and due process."

"Let the Dean of Students be informed that as ex-officio chairman of the judicial committee, his actions in our opinion, as chief Judicial prosecutor exceed the extent of his legally constituted duties, and therefore violate the basic student right to due process."

He is not afraid to express his opinion.

His vote to reduce the administration votes on CGA was the only liberal vote cast by the council. (The council included both of the other presidential candidates and they both voted for increased administration representation on the alleged Student Government Association.)

Therefore, for the first time in three years, there is really a candidate who represents the students. If, as I do, you consider the students of BSC important, vote for Joe Griffiths.

Brian B. McLernan

Ed. Note: Griffiths' petition was late and was not accepted, therefore he is not running.

Members of the College Community:

On March 3rd the daily edition of the Today sheet was placed in the lobby of North Hall. On that sheet was the following announcement concerning CGA and class elections: "The following offices have either no applicants or only one applicant . . . Due to the lack of interest, the positions named above may be petitioned until 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 4."

This announcement brings out very clearly some important facts about BSC. Number one! Most students don't feel that it is worth the effort to run for CGA office because CGA has been incapable of making student proposals college policy. Number two: Most students are willing to attend BSC for four years and tolerate any policies of the college that may limit their growth socially, academically, and in general their growth to adulthood with an awareness of our world today and their responsibilities to that world.

It should be very obvious to everyone that CGA isn't the most effective instrument for giving the students of this college an active role in forming policy by which they are governed. But, to withdraw from the system isn't the answer either. The system is established. It will go on as the "voice" of the college community even if we withdraw from supporting it. It can be changed to be more effective but it cannot be replaced with mere shouts from without for something better.

It should also be obvious on a Friday, that it is easy to escape from the teaching factory, BSC, to somewhere where each of us can feel a part of what is happening. We aren't a community at this college. We are rather just an assemblage of individuals with no common bond to integrate us into a unit; a community.

It is because of this situation and the apparent run away answer to it that I have decided to run for CGA Vice President. I feel that if we unite our efforts and make our voice heard that it will become obvious to those with more authority than us that change is needed at BSC, and that the suggestions that we, the students, raise are with some merit. I ask you, the college community, to keep a voice for change on the CGA where it has its only chance to be effective.

Elmer Chase
Candidate for
Vice President of CGA

Dear Editor:

The Student Party has incorporated into its platform several policies that will be of beneficial service to the student body. I'd like to especially point out that plank which guarantees a Book Exchange every semester.

Like the saying goes: "You never miss the water until the well runs dry!" That seems to be exactly what happened last semester. Because no one sponsored the Book Exchange, many students found themselves in a chaotic state when trying to buy or sell second-hand books. The bulletin boards in Waller Hall, I'm sure you'll agree, were a complete mess! In addition, the Book Exchange provides a good money-making project for some organization.

In view of these matters, STP proposes the following:

In the event that no campus organization sponsors the Book Exchange, the responsibility will go to College Council. In any given semester, however, any campus organization will be given priority in sponsoring this event.

I'd like the students to think seriously about this proposal. They'll agree, I believe that this system will prove to be of great service to themselves.

Sincerely,
Carol Yoder
Candidate for Corresponding Secretary to CGA

Adam's Apple

by allan maurer

At the symposium held last Monday night Ron Schulz stated that it's extremely difficult, if not impossible to accomplish anything through the CGA at this institution, and that, in view of this fact, the important thing to consider in a campus election is a candidate's "spirit."

Only a year ago, BSC saw a lot of

It Came . . .

. . . And it came to pass that one day the people of Frelopia came to recognize that there was a desperate, existing problem in their sleepy village. The people that had promised the moon had not lived up to their promises. They had not done what they said they would do to make life better for the people in Frelopia. When the elected officials went to vote in the congress of Blueand, in which Frelopia was an important member, they had voted for the rich people that lived very near Frelopia in the town of Andrewville.

It was indeed fortunate that the elections to the house of Blueand were coming up, and the people of Frelopia were looking for a new leader. A leader that would give them the moon, if they really wanted it, and everything else that they wanted, and had been denied for so long.

There were many people starting to campaign for the office of high commissioner, and the gusts of wind were rushing up and down the streets of Frelopia. The campaign was now in progress.

There were many speeches, many promises from men that might give the people what they wanted. Many promises, many pledges to do great things for the people of Frelopia, but most of them sounded windy and as stable as a goony bird. One man stood out from the rest. He seemed to mean what he said. The people of Frelopia had long noticed that this man had supported them in the Congress of Blueand, and had been chastised by the rich people in Andrewville.

The people of Frelopia were thinking. Thinking with new thoughts. Maybe this man, tall and brave, would keep his promises. The people of Frelopia were thinking of the future, and for the first time since the last election they felt good. Maybe this feeling would last all year long.

"spirit," and a campaign that saw the birth of parties (political), buttons, brochures—all the trappings of serious politics. Now, a year later, the people elected in that campaign, specifically, the Surge leaders and many of their supporters are disillusioned, discouraged, and perhaps a little tired. Tired of what? Of the burden of trivia, and the lack of substance in the proceedings of the BSC-CGA which resemble nothing so much as high school gameplaying.

Personally I commend all those "disillusioned idealists" who had the spirit and the guts to attempt a serious application of real politics, the politics of change, the politics of accomplishment, to BSC. That they ran into a brick wall is a reflection on the system, not on them.

Poet-Teacher

John Cardi
Here March 17

John Cardi, one of the foremost American poets, will appear here on Monday, March 17 at 10 a.m. in Haas Auditorium. In addition to serving as Poetry Editor of Saturday Review and its most acclaimed columnist, Professor Cardi is working this year to complete his translation of Dante's "Divine Comedy" for publication in early 1968.

Professor Cardi has served for eleven years as Poetry Editor of the Saturday Review. These have been years of liveliness, controversy, and insight. No other American poet has so invigorated the discussion of poets and poetry today.

Boston bred, Professor Cardi received his B.A. magna cum laude, from Tufts University in 1938, and his M.A. in 1939 at the University of Michigan, where he also was granted the Hopwood Award in Poetry. After serving in World War II as an aerial gunner in the B-20 offensive against Japan, he went to Harvard as an Instructor in English and then as Briggs-Copeland

Assistant Professor. In 1953, he went to Rutgers where he became Professor of English, resigning in 1961 to become a free lance writer and lecturer. "I was beginning to feel too safe," he says, ". . . and too repetitious."

His first fling at free-lancing was as Host of CBS-TV Network Show "Accent," from 1961-1962. "It wasn't the best possible start," he confesses. "The show was taken off the air and replaced by 'Mr. Ed, the Talking Horse,'—an embarrassing kind of technological unemployment."

But, though Professor Cardi has left regular college teaching, his books have not. His "How Does a Poem Mean?" an introduction to poetry text, is used in over 200 colleges and universities. He is also acclaimed as the definitive translator of Dante into English. The paperback edition of his "Inferno" has sold over 1,000,000 copies to date, and continues in use as the most popular teaching text in the United States. His "Purgatorio" was published in 1964.

As the father of three children, he has a built-in audience for his children's books of poetry. His first book, "The Reason for the Pelican" was first in the New York Times' list of the best children's books of 1959, and his "I Met a Man" was no. 4 on the New York Times Best Seller List of children's books. Written for his own daughter, "I Met a Man" introduces new readers to the delights of poetry and is fast becoming a classic among beginning reader books. The most recent of his ten books for children is "The Monster Den," a parent's eye view of family life.

Dialogue With An Audience is a collection of articles that Saturday Review readers have answered with emphatic distaste or appreciation. Also included in it are three articles on Robert Frost. About his lectures, he is adamant in saying, "I don't give speeches. I talk to the eyes I see."

Poet Paul Engle
Initiates Spring Arts

Paul Engle, a well-known poet, teacher, and personality will open the eighth annual Bloomsburg State College Spring Arts Festival on Monday, March 10.

After meeting informally with students at 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. in the projection room of Andruss Library, Mr. Engle will lecture on "The Writer in Today's World" at 8:15 p.m. in the gallery of Haas Auditorium.

Founder of the University of Iowa's famed Creative Writing Program, Mr. Engle is now the much-traveled Director of the Program for International Writing. He has discovered and encouraged such talent as that of novelist and short story writer Flannery O'Connor, poet W.D. Snodgrass, and Korean novelist (The Martyred) Richard Kim.

He is the only poet on The National Council on the Arts, and also is a member of the Advisory Council for The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Paul Engle earned his M.A. at the University of Iowa in 1932; his first book of poems, Worn Earth, won the Yale Series of Younger Poets prize the very same year. Shortly thereafter, he became a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University, traveling extensively and earning two more degrees.

Most recently, in 1968, his love poems were collected under the title Embrace. In the intervening years, he has achieved a reputation as one of America's most distinguished poets, with a dozen books of verse to his credit. He also has written a novel (Always the Land), an opera libretto, and stories and poems for children. He edited the annual O. Henry Prize Stories volumes between 1954 and 1959.

His current project is the preparation of a book on women in American history.

Married and the father of two daughters, Paul Engle has appeared on both American and British television and radio programs, and has been the recipient of fellowships from the Guggenheim Foundation (twice), the Rockefeller Foundation, and the Ford Foundation.

POET PAUL ENGLE
will open Spring Arts.

In Retrospect

by Alchy

From one who is in close association with the B-Ball team I feel that the past season was one of the toughest faced by the Huskie Squad. Scheduling is always a problem, and this year's slate was as rough as any team in the conference.

The opener with West Chester was in the southeastern Pa. town making it very tough for BSC to coagulate into a polished squad before the first game. The Rams were a good team who had already played one game before facing the Huskies. This edge, plus the home court advantage gave West Chester an insurmountable advantage. True to form for as long as I can remember, the Voss men opened with a loss.

Being in two tournaments helped the squad over the Christmas break, but to come back from two second-place finishes, and face

Mansfield, Cheyney, and Townsen in seven days is synonymous with jumping off a bridge with a 500 lb. lead weight around your neck. There had to be a loss somewhere, and it happened the Saturday afternoon on Jan. 11 when Toto and the boys played Cheyney. The loss, even though only by 11, was not even a moral victory, because I believe Hal Blitman could have run up the score, but his little heart overwhelmed his brain and the rout was averted by Hal playing his second team with about 8 minutes left in the game.

Going into February, the netmen were 7-6; however the schedule kept the Black Converse's

BSC on the move by making the boys play every 2-3 days without a rest. This pace is murder on any club. The pros don't have to do it, why must the B-Ball team at Bloomsburg State do it? Finally, rounding out the year with Cheyney and Textile, with Stroud squeezed in between, is suicide on any squad.

With the aforementioned problems in the schedule, the squad finished with a 12-20 win-loss record. The Huskies must be congratulated on their making the best of a big problem. Coach Hock, as Athletic Director, is not to blame, he tries his best; but scheduling is a major problem of any athletic

Huskiettes' Down Susquehanna

The girls' basketball team had a very successful Saturday afternoon by trouncing Susquehanna by a 51-29 score. It was the first time the Huskiettes have had over 50 markers this year. Leading the scorers for BSC were Marg Boyer and Connie Jarrard with 12 points each. The team has been progressing throughout the year and with hard work and diligence, hope to finish with a successful season. With an offensive as displayed last Saturday and a defense to match, they must be ranked as a "real" good women's team.

Intramurals

The girls basketball intramurals were concluded with a playoff between Hassert House and Martin House, in which Hassert House defeated Martin House by a score of 10-0. Hassert House has now become the champions in the girls intramural basketball.

department. All I ask is that he keep in his mind the problems faced by a team which plays in too short of a time span. They lose some that they could possibly win at another time in the season when their chances are much improved, and the team can play at its best, not as a tired group of players giving their last ounce of strength to win.

This year's Huskie squad reached for a goal of going to Kansas City. They fell a wee bit short, but any man on the squad must feel the effort spent in trying to achieve the NAIA playoffs will long be remembered. Especially the comeback win over Millersville. Toto and Dulaney will long remember that game as Snyder will the 2 sec. shot against Kutztown. Overall, the netmen worked and tried; and, as a member of BSC and associated with athletics, I feel that we must congratulate the Squad, coaches, Voss, Reese and Dr. Mike Herbert in giving their all. Next season looks bright, with there even being a rumor floating around that there may be a 7 foot center coming to BSC if admission is cooperative. Possibly with a better organized schedule with a "weak sister" to start the year, the Huskies will reach their goal of playing in Kansas City.

by Clark Ruch

This weekend the wrestling and swimming teams will be carrying the school colors to national and state tournaments. The wrestlers will compete in the NAIA national championships at Superior, Wisconsin and the mermen will be at Slippery Rock State College for the Pennsylvania Conference Swimming Championships.

The grapplers of coach Russ Houk will be out to better their fifth place finish of last year. Ron Russo and Joe Gerst finished second in the tournament as the team placed fourth behind Adams State, Omaha Central, Washington, and Wayne State.

The Huskies' best chances for a national champion rest mainly with Arnie Thompson, Jim McCue and Russo. All three won Pennsylvania Conference championships last weekend at Clarion and should prove tough in these national champion matches. Also Arnie and McCue are underclassmen and should improve next year and in the case of McCue, 1971.

Another darkhorse for a national championship is Wayne Heim. Wayne had a fine 13-2 record during the duel meet season and is considered one of the top wrestlers of the Pennsylvania Conference. Wayne finished third in the state championships and was instrumental in the third place finish of the Huskies and the fine 13-2-1 record compiled by BSC through the season.

Swimmers Out For Vengeance

Last year's edition of the Husky mermen lost the state championship by 4½ points to perennial swimming power—West Chester. Although the swimmers of Coach McLaughlin lost to West Chester by a score of 59-45 this should be another tight meet with California and Slippery Rock adding to the excitement.

Tri-captain Tom Houston who finished second in the 50-yard freestyle last year should take the Pennsylvania Conference Championship in the event. Houston qualified for the NAIA nationals in this event when he broke the BSC team record with a clocking of 22.6 sec.

Ralph Moerschbacher, the defending conference champion in the 200-yard freestyle, will be out to defend his title. Ralph and Houston are the best bets for the Huskies to capture state titles.

Good luck to the wrestling and swimming teams!

2nd Special Council Meeting Minutes: Conclusion

Motion seconded by Dave Keifer. Joe Griffiths then made a motion to amend the motion which read as follows:

Let it be further stated that the student body, through the CGA, censures the present Judicial Committee for the high handed action which because it includes arbitrary, legislative, judicial and executive action, violates the guaranteed rights of burden of proof, and due process. Let the Dean of Students be informed that as ex-officio chairman of the Judicial Committee, his actions in our opinion, as chief judicial prosecutor exceed the extent of his duties, and therefore violates the students right to due process.

Seconded by Dave Keifer.

Discussion: Jeff Prosseda said that he felt the amendment should not be included, because it was premature. He asked that council decide the same way on this amendment and defeat it. Kathy Cahill remarked also that there were not enough facts to make this amendment.

Question: Roll call vote on the Amendment. Motion defeated with 23 nays and 1 aye (Joe Griffiths). Dean Hunsinger abstained.

There was no appeal vote to the amendment.

Discussion on the original motion: None.

Question: Motion carried with 22 ayes. Miss Tolan, Dean Norton, and Mr. Buckingham were the three nay votes on this motion.

President Schulz then opened the floor to further questions from the College Community.

Question: Is the Student's faculty advisor allowed to be in the SFJB meeting?

Answer: President Schulz answered yes, during the hearing but not during the initial interrogation.

Q: How can the Dean of Men and Dean of Women sit on the SFJB if they interrogate?

A: Dean Norton replied that they are not allowed to sit in on the vote; they may bring the charges and then leave.

Q: Is the initial interrogation always conducted by the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women?

A: This question was answered previously.

Q: Is there any charge more specific besides conduct unbecoming a student?

A: Yes. Dean Norton replied that some part of the Pilot is quoted.

Q: Where are these specific rules and regulations which would be considered infractions stated in the Pilot? The AAUP Statement of Rights and Responsibilities says that these rules be published.

A: Dean Norton replied that we do not follow the AAUP Statement.

Q: Acting as advisor for a student on February 6, 1969, Mrs. Anita Donovan remarked on the following situation.

She was told that she would not be allowed to appear jointly with the student. When she appeared February 6, 1969, at a meeting and pointed out the following memo she was allowed admittance.

The following is a memo from President Andruss to: John Walker, Dr. Thompson, Dr. Martin Satz, Mrs. Duck.

This memo was dated January 30, 1968.

"The recommended procedures and principles" as stated in the memorandum from the Dean of Students, Paul S. Riegel, dated January 17, 1968 are approved.

"It is suggested that three student members be appointed in accordance with item I of the "Procedures and Principles," whether it is requested by the accused or not."

Mrs. Donovan then stated that this was the policy used in the Lyle Slack trial last year and follows the AAUP Joint Statement on Student Rights and Responsibilities. It appears that we do follow these rules in some cases.

Dean Norton then replied that we follow some of these procedures but the statement has not yet been adopted.

Vote of Confidence: Carl Kramer explained the idea of a vote of confidence to the students present and asked them to express this vote. The members of College Council received a unanimous vote of confidence from the approximately 600 students present.

Question: It seems at this time that the judiciary principles applied at Bloomsburg State College are inconsistent regarding both the letter and the spirit of the law in their application to similar cases at different times.

Jeff Prosseda then thanked the students for their questions and made a motion that the meeting be adjourned. This motion was seconded by Ray Guydish. Ron Schulz then suggested that the floor should be opened for further questions, since so many students had shown an interest and obviously had further questions to ask.

The motion to adjourn was rescinded by Jeff Prosseda.

Mr. Johnson, elected faculty representative to Council, commended students for the orderliness of the meeting.

Question: Is conduct unbecoming a student a charge or a policy, and can a student be dismissed for that?

Answer: Page 91 of the Pilot states that a student is subject to suspension.

Carol Magee then stated the policies that the Executive Committee on Student Affairs is now working on.

1. Adoption of the AAUP Joint Statement on Student Rights and Responsibilities.

2. Dismissal of the discrepancies between BSC policy and the Statement.

3. Planned setting up of a body to review and change the discrepancies before the faculty meeting on March 23.

Question: Is page 91 of the Pilot too vague and who interprets this page?

Answer: The Student-Faculty Judicial Board decides what conduct is unbecoming.

Q: How can a student be brought in for interrogation if there are no accusers and no witnesses to what they supposedly did?

A: None.

Q: Are these charges from hearsay or from definite witnesses?

A: Dean Norton replied that these charges may be referred to him by the RA's, the police or individual persons.

Q: Do witnesses have to be present when accusations are made?

A: Dean Norton replied that perhaps they should have been there.

Q: How are students notified as to the pre-investigation? Are they told why they are being brought into this pre-investigation?

A: Dean Norton replied that they are not always told why they are being called in.

Q: Are charges given so that the student may presume himself as guilty before or after the interrogation?

A: Sometimes the charges are given before the initial interrogation, sometimes afterward.

Q: How can a student be charged with drinking if he is 21 years of age? Why isn't there a more specific charge brought?

A: Dean Norton answered that although a student may be 21 his conduct also reflects upon the school and where the student is employed by the Dean of Men it also reflects upon the Dean.

Bill Sanders then made a statement citing one instance involving a girl who appealed her case in which the penalty was suspension for a semester. After the appeal she was told that she could never return until she had a psychiatric examination stating that she was mentally able to undertake student life. Bill then stated that this was clear case of double jeopardy.

President Schulz thanked the students for showing their interest
