Parents' Weekend Coming Soon

By Sue Williams

A large number of parents are expected to participate in Parents Weekend, Oct. 27-28, according to John Mulka, advisor for the Parents Committee.

Schedules for Parents Weekend have been sent to all fulltime undergraduate students. The response so far and the favorable reactions from many of last year's 800 participants indicate a high attendance.

Registration will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Multi-purpose Room of Kehr. Parents will receive free tickets for the football game and for a special dinner to be served in the Commons Sunday night.

Departmental visits will follow registration. Speeches will be given at many of the visits and advisors will meet parents of the other departments.

The home football game against Cheyney State College will begin at 1:30 p.m. President James McCormick will give a welcoming address to the parents at half-time.

An ARA Festival of Fine Foods has been planned by Frank O'Brien, director of dining service at BSC, for 6 p.m. in the Commons. Reservation forms have been sent to parents with the schedules. The cost is $3.50 for adults, $3.00 for students with meal tickets and $2.25 for children.

A special dinner will be served at 1:00 p.m. Sunday in the Commons. President Mc-Cormick and CGA President Steve Andrejack will speak and the administrative staff will be introduced at the dinner. A question and answer session of the administration will follow.

A free student talent show is scheduled for 9:00 p.m. in the Multi-purpose Room in the Kehr Union. Entertainers will include the Madrigal Singers, popular singers, folksingers, guitarist, comedians and magicians.

According to Mr. Mulka, the purpose of the weekend is to promote better public relations between parents and the college by giving parents an opportunity to participate in informal college activities and to ask questions of administration and faculty.

Dr. James McCormick, BSC President, was guest speaker at the Kappa Delta Phi initiation meeting Thursday, October 18. He spoke on the topic "Education in the seventies".

The Central Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French met at BSC last week. The leaders were (L-R) Dr. Isabelle Armitage, Penn State University; Dr. Arianne Foureman, Chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at BSC; Mrs. Mary Lou John, President of the BSC Chapter of the Department of Foreign Languages; Mrs. JoAnne Heimer, Gallion School District, Mr. John Robinson, South Williamsport; and Dr. Allen Murphy, BSC.

Nuclear Talk at BSC

By Duane Long

Leo Goodman, Science Advisor to the United Auto Worker's Union will talk on Nuclear Plant Safety in Kuster Hall, Hartline Science Center, tomorrow from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m.

Topics will include a discussion on uranium miners who contracted cancer from breathing radon gas. Mr. Goodman has been collecting data on nuclear accidents since 1949 and has collaborated on two anti-nuclear books published by the Ballentine Press, "The Perils of the Peaceful Atom," by Curits and Hogan and "The Great American Bomb Machine," by Roger Rapoport.

Through his labor contacts, Mr. Goodman has access to inside information about any persons involved in or killed by nuclear accidents. He probably knows more about this topic than any individual outside the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). He is the man to hear, however, for the AEC isn't talking.

Mr. Goodman has been keeping abreast of nuclear developments by recently visiting the Pacific, where he surveyed nuclear problems in that area of the world. His talk will include one of the first public reports of his findings.

There will be a short question and answer period following Mr. Goodman's lecture in the Coffeehouse on the top floor of the Kehr Union Building starting at 3:15.

Mr. Goodman's remarks should be of interest to those who are following the proposed PP&L Beach Haven Reactor. His findings may shed some light on the questions of local citizens regarding reactor safety.

The program is sponsored by the Students for Environmental Action, the CGA committee for campus environment. It is urged that all available students attend and the talk is open to the general public, as well.

Mr. Goodman will also speak on Pa. Nuclear Power Plants at 7:30 p.m. in the courthouse downtown, sponsored by Ecology Alert, the citizens against Nuclear Dangers and the Association of Concerned Taxpayers.

Bio. Workshop Held

By Peggy Moran

"An opportunity to see what a college laboratory situation is like" according to Dr. Himes was the concept behind BSC's Fifth Annual Biology Workshop, held on Saturday.

Approximately 150 high school and junior high school students from surrounding counties participated in the programs. Some areas represented were Abington, Harrisburg, Berwick and Bloomsburg.

The day began at 8:30 a.m. with registration and a "coffee clash" followed by an orientation session and an informal tour of the lab areas.

The first lab period ran from 10:00 to 12:00. Conducted by BSC Biology students, the topics covered included Animal Behavior, Bob Ireland; Botany, Glen Johansen; Genetics, Kathy Ditty; Microbiology, Rich Castetter; Embryology, Jim Whitelock; Vertebrate Physiology, Ray Edwards; Ecology, Ron and Dave; Invertebrate Zoology, Helen Jasnosz.

A second lab period was held from 2:00 to 4:00 with a lunch break from 12:15 to 1:00.

When asked if she thought the workshop was a success, Kathy Kirk, chairman of the Steering Committee, commented that "the kids have shown genuine interest and some of the junior high kids went nuts over the equipment."

Mr. John Fletcher, faculty advisor for the committee agreed that the session was successful. He added that he was "happy and pleased with the students' performance, but it is typical of BSC students to sometimes surprise themselves at what they can do."

Mike Ortell, a certified Mixologist from the William School of Mixology, will present a mixology demonstration (how to mix drinks) today at 11 and 1 o'clock in the lounge on the top floor of the Union.

Bits and Pieces

By Bob Oliver

"...if your group, club, organization, whatever, is making news, why not give the M&G some advance notice so we possibly can have some coverage?"

"We accept any help we can get from the college community".

Both of the above quotes were pleas made to our readers earlier in the year. The purpose of these statements was to provide this newspaper with stories on campus happenings from groups which may deserve coverage, but just don't get that coverage due to my miniscule staff.

It should be obvious to everyone that a few individuals cannot come close to finding all the newsworthy things that happen on this campus.

That is why we need your help.

Letters

I have nothing against the BSC band, as a matter of fact I feel they do contribute much to this institution. However, I can not agree with their claim that they are being discriminated against in their coverage in the M&G (I'm speaking only for this year).

Mr. Bitler in today's letter column says that the band leads cheers, and that without them there would be no cheering at the football games. That may or may not be true, but does that mean that I have to write a story about DOC or any other frat or sorority that cheers at a sport? Let's be realistic, please.

It is true that the Band spent two weeks in Spain this summer. I received a story to this effect LAST week. Why the delay, I don't know.

As for Mr. Kirchner challenging my efficiency as an Editor, let me say this. It is my responsibility to oversee all that comes into the M&G. But if anyone thinks that each story is dissected word by word before publication, then they must not realize how a newspaper is run. I therefore challenge anyone on this campus, from Director of Publications to band members, to come in on a worknight, and verify every bit of information. If they can, then they should be editor, not me. Let me tell you, it's impossible.

I could go on and on, but it would serve no purpose. The fact is that we accept all news from the college community and try to print newsworthy items. We can't cover everything, our staff is just too small.

As a final note, I wonder if anyone on campus knows that the M&G received First place honors from the Columbia University Newspaper Judges last year, and that this tradition is not about to be broken. It is our aim to provide this campus with the best coverage possible within our means.

We try, but we need your help.

Nanette Was "Pleasant"

By Susan Sprague

Standing ovations are no longer a privilege but a right if you're staging a musical at BSC, as was proven last weekend with the Bloomsburg Players' presentation of the Broadway musical "No, No, Nanette."

The pleasant but unimpressive "Nanette" was presented in Haas Auditorium under the direction of Robert Richey, a member of the BSC Speech Department.

"Nanette" was enjoyable as a nostalgic trip into the roaring twenties, but not comparable with musicals such as "Man of La Mancha," and "The Roar of the Greasepaint" done in recent years on the BSC stage.

Sound was a problem throughout "Nanette." The six microphones placed strategically around the stage simply weren't placed strategically enough. Being forced to strain to hear lyrics and dialogue is a definite deterrent to enjoyment of a show.

Two singers in the show were able to overcome the sound problem with their own ability at projection. Maria Kozak as Sue Smith and Bob Harris as Billy Early both came across quite clearly to the audience. Harris did an outstanding job during the first act, but seemed to lose either his confidence or his memory during the succeeding acts, as he appeared to stumble occasionally over lyrics.

Kozak did an excellent job as Sue Smith, whether acting, singing or dancing. The excellence of her tap dancing, however, had one negative result. It showed the inability of most of the chorus to keep in time with the music. Richey's attempted strategy of placing the good dancers in the front for the others to watch became all too apparent with each out-of-time clump of an inexperienced foot. Note should be made, however, that the four lead dancers certainly knew what they were doing.

Character actress Gail Lynch did her expected good job as the comical maid, Pauline. The audience showed their appreciation of her brand of humor with a tremendous round

Health Services Offered To All

BSC's new Health Program offers something different from other colleges in Pennsylvania. A six-point service program is available for all students, both off and on-campus.

With the completion of the new Kehr Union, there is now a new College Infirmary, located on the first floor. A registered nurse is on duty from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. and will handle minor ailments or refer you to the Bloomsburg Hospital Dispensary.

Twenty-four hour medical assistance is offered at the Hospital Dispensary. The college physician is on duty there between 7:30 a.m. and 12 noon. Due to an agreement between the college and the hospital, the basic five-dollar fee has been waived, plus the first two dollars of any necessary medication.

In addition to these services, the college has a new facility on campus, the Physical Therapy Clinic, located in the Nelson Field House. Any member of the student body, faculty and staff will be treated at this clinic but must be referred by a physician.

Another benefit of the Health Program is the voluntary insurance policy, which is available to all students for $32 a year. This policy includes coverage 24 hours a day, 12 months a year, anywhere, during the period for which the premium has been paid.

BSC now has an agreement with the Bloomsburg Ambulance Association, in which all full-time students are covered, whether on-campus, off-campus or commuting. Students may be transported to Bloomsburg, Berwick or Danville in the event of an accident.

Last of the services, but by no means least, is the Veneral Disease Clinic. Free-of-charge to all full-time BSC students, the Clinic is strictly confidential. No reports are sent to parents or the college. Students suspecting they have VD are urged to report to the Clinic at the Hospital between 10 and 11 a.m. Tuesday or Thursday. If these hours are inconvenient, students may report during the

The Simpson Curse

By Duane Long

Robert returned home after the long ride and led his mount to the stables for feeding and bedding down. The full moon lit the path before him as he made his way back to the house.

A thunderous crash accompanied by a woman's scream resounded throughout the mansion. Pushing his feet to the limit, Robert reached the massive doors within seconds after he heard the scream. He flung the doors wide open and raced up the stairs. Marie was in the master bedroom, guarded by Constable Hawkins and Dr. Blake.

The bedroom door was locked from the inside. Robert threw himself against the door, knocking it off its hinges. The room was a mass of confusion. Marie sat upright in bed, trembling in terror. Hawkins and Blake were struggling to keep something large and hairy from entering the window. A dresser was being held tightly against the window, in the hope that the thing could be kept out.

Even with all three of them holding the dresser in place, they were no match for the super-human creature. It easily shoved the flimsy piece of furniture aside and burst through the already shattered window. It was Markos and a wooden stake protruded from his chest.

Hawkins reacted first and drew his service revolver. Taking dead aim, he fanned five shots into the thing at point blank range. The lead bullets had no effect on the werewolf's advance. It seized Hawkins and hurled him through the jagged window opening.

Dr. Blake grabbed a kerosene lamp and flung it into the beast's body. It immediately

Letters

Editor,

I am writing about your comment on the letter from a "a member of a band." The point that the writer was trying to make was put across well. The simple fact is this: The M&G Band does not receive its deserved recognition and coverage from the paper. For example, if it weren't for the Band (plus the frats and sororities and cheerleaders) there would be no cheering at the football games. This past summer the M&G Concert Band spent two weeks in Spain. Your paper did not give any coverage at all to that event (except three or four words that were written in our one inch annual column on our Spring concert). At most home basketball games we provide moral support for the team. Every time that the college alma mater is put in the paper, the old one is put in instead of the new one, which was written by a former band member. (Know the words?). And finally in your October 17th edition, there was no picture of the band float that came in third place. I must admit that I was shocked to find that you mentioned the band not once, but twice on the front page!

In other words, I feel that the band is getting shortchanged by the Maroon and Gold.

G. Bitler
M&G Band

Dear Editor(?):

Congratulations on a job well done in your reply to the member of The M&G Band for his very cutty letter. Your reply was a very good example of a typical BSC practice, passing the buck! According to you, the statement "the cheerleaders will precede entertainment by a band" was not of your doing but was printed the way you received it. Such bullshit!! Let me define for you the word editor. An editor is one who prepares or revises for publication literary matter.

Corollating the two circumstances, I question your efficiency as an editor. You know as well as I that if you didn't like the way it read, you could easily have changed it. A

Huskies drop third in a row to Millersville Marauders Rout Huskies 55-14

By Bill Sipler

The Marauders of Millersville State College downed BSC's football team 55-14, Saturday, at the Millersville Homecoming Game. It was the third straight loss for the Huskies, whose record is now even at 3-3.

The Huskies started off on a bad footing when on the fourth play from scrimmage a mix-up in the backfield caused a fumble that Millersville recovered on the BSC 49. Six plays later, on a third/ten situation, Mike Burke hit Doug Lyons with a nineteen yard scoring pass and Millersville led 6-0.

Millersville added to that lead the next time they got the ball. Following a quick-kick by Mike Devereux, it took Millersville three plays to go 61 yards for another td. This time it was Burke hitting Bob Ulrich with a 25 yard pass to make it 12-0 Marauders. Pat Barnett's kick made it 13-0.

The Bloomsburg defense was able to hold Millersville in check only twice as the Marauders scored virtually every time they got the ball in the first half. Dennis Booker went 16 yards to make the score 19-0 Millersville and later the Marauders opened the lead to 26-0 on a nine yard pass from Burke to Jim Toomey.

The Huskies scored on the following kickoff when Charley Bender took the kick and returned it 88 yards for the td. DeCarolis added the extra point and the Huskies trailed 26-7.

Millersville scored twice more in the half when Burke again hit Ulrich with a 43 yard scoring strike and Starr, following a blocked punt, hit Mike Krchnar from eight yards out for the last td of the half. Halftime saw the Huskies on the short end of a 41-7 score.

Second Half Action

Dennis Booker took the opening kickoff in the second half 98 yards to give the Marauders a 48-7 lead.

After the following kickoff was returned to the BSC 31 yard line. Joe Gieger finally got the Husky offense moving on a 69 yard scoring drive. Gieger stayed mainly on the ground, using Gruber, James and quarterback keepers to drive downfield. The big play in the drive was when Devereux went 15 yards on a fake punt to get the Huskies a crucial first down deep in Millersville territory. Gieger capped the drive on a one yard keeper to make the score 48-13. DeCarolis added his second extra point. The drive took 19 plays to cover the 69 yards.

On the next series, Burke hit Lyons for his second td reception and Millersville's eighth touchdown from 30 yards out and the scoring was ended at 55-14.

The offense put together one more drive but fell two yards short of a first down at the Millersville 26. The fourth quarter was an example of futility as neither team moved the ball with any precision.

The scoring drive in the third quarter was the first drive the Huskies have managed to put together with any kind of results. The team ran well against the Marauders and Gruber looked like he was starting to regain the form he had last year.

Rap-up

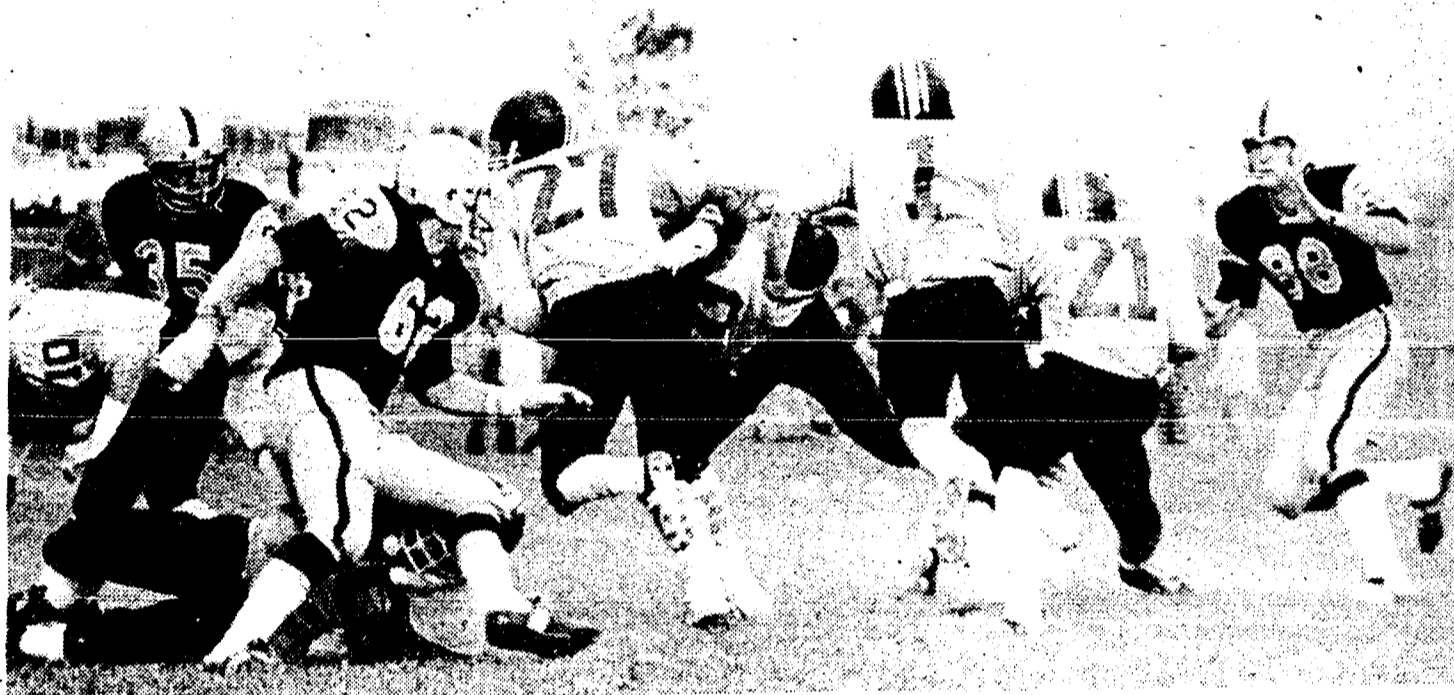

Millersville dominated the first half and held the Huskies at bay for most of the game. They picked the secondary apart in the first half as Burke and Starr threw five touchdown passes for over 105 yards in total. Millersville threw for almost 150 yards in the half as the Quarterbacks riddled the Husky defense for quick scores. The longest Marauder scoring drive took only six plays to complete and covered 49 yards. Their longest yardage series covered 70 yards and took four plays. Helping the Marauders out was a fifteen yard unnecessary roughness penalty on the Huskies for a late hit.

Wrestling starts

By Tom Kurtz

Wrestling got under way last week as 40 hopefuls, including 25 freshmen, were on hand for the opening day of practice. The grapplers will be trying to improve on their 7-8 record last year, which was good enough for a fourth place finish in the Pennsylvania conference.

The returning lettermen for the "Hustling Huskies" this year include two Pennsylvania conference runnerups and one conference champion to give Coach Sanders a good base to build on.

Returning Veterans

Lonnie Edwards, a senior, will be competing in the 134 lb. weight class. Lonnie was runner-up in the Pennsylvania conference championship and lost to the eventful National champion in his class. He compiled a very impressive 13-1-1 record last year. Brian Berry, a junior, will compete in the 142 lb. weight class. Randy Watts, also a junior, will compete in the 150 lbs. weight class. Randy finished third in the Pennsylvania Conference Championship last year.

Dan Burkholder, a junior, will be at 167 lbs. along with Ron Sheehan. Ron, a senior, was 12-2 in competition last year wrestling in the 177 lb. weight class. He also lost to the national champion in his class, finishing second in the Pennsylvania Conference Championship last year.

At 177 lbs. again this year will be Floyd "Shorty" Hitchcock. Shorty finished last season with a 14-0 record in regular season competition. He is defending Pennsylvania State College champion at 190 lbs. He also won the right to represent the U.S. in the World University games held in Moscow. Shorty placed second at the games to win a silver medal. He lost only one match there. That game lost on to Levan Tojoshvili, whom many consider to be the best wrestler in the world. Shorty carries a 50-5 college carrier record into this year's competition.

The grapplers will have one of the toughest schedules in Pennsylvania as they face nationally ranked U. of Oklahoma, Army, Princeton, Athletics in Action and always tough conference foe Clarion, last year's defending Conference Champ.

The season will begin on Nov. 16-17, when the Huskies will compete in the East Stroudsburg Open.

"Last season a lack of depth in the lower weight classes hurt," Coach Roger Sanders stated. "This year is a rebuilding year, but if our freshmen come through as I expect, we should have a fine year."

Two members of the 1973 wrestling team of BSC work out in practice in preparation for their season. Wrestling opens this year's season on Nov. 16.

Women Win First

By Linda Livermore

Bloomsburg State's field hockey team won their first game of the season when they beat Susquehanna University, 2-1.

The game was played on BSC's home ground in the rain with Kennee Artley and Althea Ellis scoring a point each, one in each half of play for BSC.

BSC's hockeyists were aggressive during play, playing on the offense the majority of the game. First string player, Joanne Windish, is out of competition for the present due to a leg injury. There was no Junior Varsity game.

The Bloomsburg Huskiettes now hold a 1-3-1 record. BSC's next game will be tomorrow at 4:00 p.m. against Keystone. It is a home game.

Spiritual Awareness

A spiritual awareness weekend is but one of the many programs to be offered by the Community of the Spirit Protestant Campus Ministry this year.

The Weekend

The Ministry, in concert with the Youth Commission of the Lutheran Church in Central Pa., will offer the spiritual awareness weekend Nov. 16-18 to cost $20.00, including bed, board and program. Some reduced fee scholarships are available through the Community of the Spirit. The deadline for registration is November 5th; apply through either Jay or Cindy Rochelle at 550 E. Second St., or phone at 784-0133.

This weekend will be held at Nawakwa, a camp of the Lutheran Church in Central Pa., near Chambersburg. It will begin after dinner on Friday, Nov. 16 and close after lunch on Sun. Nov. 18. We will figure out transportation pool to leave and return to campus.

Purpose

The purpose for this weekend is to help a person find out what he - she believes, help the person find out why he - she believes it, and to give the person ways in which they can incorporate this faith into a personal lifestyle. The weekend will be relaxed and reflective. We will deal with clarification more than education, trying to help people examine and build on what they believe. Participation is not limited to people of Lutheran or even, for that matter, Protestant background. We invite you to attend.

Nanette Review

of applause when she came dancing out on stage for the finale.

Rosemary Miskavage sang pleasantly throughout her numerous musical numbers, although a little more strength in her voice would have helped considerably. If Miskavage ever hopes to make it as a dancer, she will have to loosen up considerably. Her stiffness during her dance numbers was a little too evident.

Dan Demczko was a friendly and lovable Jimmy Smith. He portrayed the part with his usual talent. For a nonsinger he did a creditable job with "I Want to Be Happy."

Michelle Noto displayed her obvious singing ability throughout her portrayal of the capricious Nanette. However, the amount and quality of her lines was insufficient to show whether or not she has any acting ability.

Newcomer Mark Antunes did a fair job as the love-struck Tom Trainor. He harmonized well with Noto, and they made a handsome couple.

The character parts of "the three happies" were adequately portrayed by Shelly Pinkowitz, Marie Stein, and Kim McDonald. They added color (to say the least) to the production.

The sets were excellent, with pats on the back to Shop Chairpersons Claudia Flick and Walter Klemchuk. Lighting was good; costuming impressive, as always when in the capable hands of Graduate Student Becky Ermisch.

The standing ovations received by the cast were not so much, perhaps, because of any excellence shown, but because of the audiences enjoyment of the production, which was communicated to them by the cast itself. The players took such obvious pleasure in bringing "No, No, Nanette" to the Bloomsburg stage, that they were able to give some of that pleasure to their audience. And all of us need a little pleasure occasionally, vicarious or otherwise.

rushing department gaining 21 yards on four carries to give him a total of 234 yards. Gruber had 81 yards on 20 carries to up his total to 296 yards and put him 53 yards ahead of Devereux as the teams leading rusher.
