THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Shippensburg, Pa.

Shippensburg is a town of forty-five hundred population, 41 miles south of Harrisburg on the Cumberland Valley Railroad, a branch of the Pennsylvania line. The Reading and the Western Maryland Railroads also run into the town.

Shippensburg is in the center of the beautiful Cumberland Valley, a region famed in the history of the nation. Gettysburg, with its famous battlefield, is only 35 miles distant; Chambersburg, rich in historic interest, is 11 miles distant; while Carlisle is only twice as far away.

The Cumberland Valley is famous not only for its beauty and its historic associations, but it is one of the richest agricultural communities in the nation.

Shippensburg is a splendid school town. Its people are progressive and intelligent. The moral tone of the town is indicated by the fact that for thirty years there has not been a licensed saloon in the town or within six miles of it. There are, however, twelve churches within the borough limits.

THE SCHOOL

The school buildings are beautifully situated just outside the borough limits, in the midst of a campus of sixteen acres. The plant consists of the Administration Building, the Girls' Dormitory, the Gymnasium, the Training School, the Power Plant, the Principal's House, the Infirmary, the Laundry, and the School Stables.

The Administration Building contains the Principal's Office, Chapel, Recitation Rooms, Biological, Chemical and Physical Laboratories, and the Dining-room. The second and third floors are used as Dormitories.

The Girls' Dormitory is a beautiful homelike building. Its open court is the assembly and lounging place for the boarding girl students. The Boys' Dormitory has recently been repainted and equipped with electric lights. A new and thoroughly modern system of heating has been introduced. The lavatory, newly equipped with shower baths, is provided with everything needed for the comfort and convenience of the students.

All other buildings are modern and admirably suited to the purpose for which they are intended.

EXPENSES

The expenses at the Cumberland Valley State Normal School are very reasonable. They are kept as low as it is possible to keep them without crippling the work of the school.

Free Tuition.—The State of Pennsylvania furnishes free tuition to all students seventeen or more years of age who will sign an agreement binding them to teach in the common schools of the state for at least two years. Students who are not 17 pay $1.50 a week tuition until they reach that age. Special students pay $1.50 a week tuition.

Boarding students pay $4.75 a week for boarding, furnished room, heat, light and laundry. $195.00 will cover the above items, including the registration fee, for the entire school year of forty weeks.

Day students, seventeen or more years of age, pay an enrollment fee of four dollars per term. This fee provides free admission to entertainments, lectures, moving picture exhibitions, and school games.

Other Expenses.—Small fees are charged in a few branches to cover the cost of materials used (see page 15). Books may be purchased new or second-hand or rented at the school book store.

SPECIFIC AIMS OF THE SCHOOL

All State Normal Schools aim to prepare young men and women for the work of teaching. The Cumberland Valley State Normal School emphasizes the features common to all normal schools, but it claims the following distinctive characteristics:

1. Home Life.—The authorities believe that the school should reproduce the social life of the home as far as possible. School life should, therefore, be a preparation for living. Young men and women should be taught self-control, for without this ability any scheme of education will be a failure. The great majority of our pupils come to us with a very definite purpose in view and wish to make the best possible use of their opportunities, hence the tone of the school is remarkably earnest.

It is a further aim and object of the school to prepare our pupils for social efficiency. We realize that young men and women must be able to take an active part in the affairs of the various communities into which they are expected to go after leaving the school; hence the school does not neglect the social side of the student's life, and opportunities for social intercourse under proper direction are afforded the students from time to time. The student who goes from a school lacking the ability to associate with cultured men and women is bound to be more or less of a failure in life. Our pupils are therefore trained in the conventions expected of them by society so that they may take their place in the affairs of their respective communities. The ideal of any school should be to reproduce as nearly as possible the family life. As young men and women associate in the family, so should they associate in a properly regulated school.

In carrying out this policy this Normal School allows the greatest possible freedom to the young men and women compatible with good taste and sound morality. In short, everything is done by the faculty to cooperate with the students in maintaining a bright and refined home life and to help them to the cultivation of that grace and dignity that marks the real lady or gentleman.

COURT OF GIRLS' DORMITORY

COURT OF GIRLS' DORMITORY: REAR VIEW

2. Size of the School.—The Principal and faculty of the school believe that a school should not number more than six hundred pupils. Schools exceeding this number are apt to be unwieldy; it is not possible for the faculty to know the students personally in larger schools, nor for the students to know one another intimately. As a result, many of the conditions that should prevail in a large home school are absent in such schools. A school ranging from five to six hundred in number is large enough to combine the best features to be found in a student body but is not so large as to destroy the individuality of the students.

3. Small Classes.—We believe in small classes, not exceeding thirty-five or forty students. When the classes are larger than this it is impossible for the teacher to come into that close personal contact with the students so necessary to their progress. Very often the lecture method with its glaring faults is used by teachers in large classes. Experience shows that really good work is impossible in classes numbering more than thirty-five or forty students.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The authorities of the school believe that no one can be successful in governing others who has not first learned to govern himself. Accordingly the students are given the opportunity to practice self government. The boarding girls are organized into a Student League, which elects a president, vice president, and secretary. These officers, with representatives elected from the four classes and three members of the faculty appointed by the principal, constitute the Student Council, which has charge of the discipline of the boarding girls. The work of this organization has been most satisfactory.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION AND GRADUATION

1. Properly certified graduates of approved Pennsylvania high schools of the first grade and city high schools as listed by the Department of Public Instruction, shall be admitted to the third year of the Four Year Course of the State Normal Schools without examination, and be conditioned in the branches that have not been satisfactorily completed by such students. Full credit will be given for all High School branches satisfactorily completed.

2. Properly certified graduates of approved Pennsylvania high schools of the second grade shall be admitted to the second year of the Four Year Course of the State Normal Schools without examination, and be conditioned in the branches that have not been satisfactorily completed by such students.

3. Properly certified graduates of approved Pennsylvania high schools of the third grade shall be admitted to the first year of the Four Year Course of the State Normal Schools without examination, and be conditioned in the branches that have not been satisfactorily completed by such students.

4. A person who desires to be admitted to the second or the third year without having previously attended an accredited high school, must have a certificate from a commissioned Superintendent of Schools, showing that he has pursued the branches of the first and second years, with his standing in those branches, or must pass a satisfactory examination by the faculty in said branches, or be conditioned in them. But the studies in which any one is conditioned under this rule or any one of the rules above, shall not foot up more than 320 hours.

5. If the faculty of any State Normal School or the State Board of Examiners decide that a person is not prepared to pass an examination by the State Board, he shall not be admitted to the same examination at any other State Normal School during the same school year.

6. If a person who has completed the State Board examinations required for admission to the classes of any year at any State Normal School desires to enter another Normal School, the Principal of the Normal School at which the examination was held, shall send the proper certificate to the principal of the school which the person desires to attend. Except for the reason here stated, no certificate setting forth the passing of any studies at a State Normal School shall be issued.

7. Candidates for graduation shall have the opportunity of being examined in any higher branches, including vocal and instrumental music and double entry bookkeeping; and all studies completed by them shall be named in their certificate. Persons who have been graduated may be examined at any State examination in any higher branches, and the Secretary of the Board of Examiners shall certify on the back of their diplomas as to the passing of the branches completed at said examination. No certificate or diploma valid for teaching except the one regularly issued by the State Board of Examiners to regular graduates shall be issued by any State Normal School or any person connected with any such school.

8. A certificate setting forth the proficiency of all applicants in the studies in which they desire to be examined by the State Board of Examiners shall be prepared and signed by the faculty and presented to the Board. Studies that have been completed at a high school shall be distinguished by the words "high school" or the initials "H. S." A separate list of each class shall be prepared for the use of each examiner together with a separate list of students conditioned in any branch, with the branches in which they are conditioned, and the grades shall be indicated in every list where substitution is made or extra branches are taken. These lists shall be ready for the State Board before the examination begins.

9. No State examinations shall be given to any student on part of a year's work unless the study is completed, but (except in the last year's examination) a student may be conditioned by the State Board of Examiners in not more than two subjects covering not more than one period of work for a year. Accurate records of these conditions shall be promptly sent to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the fact that the students thus conditioned have taken up such subjects and passed them by the faculty shall be certified to in writing to the State Board of Examiners before such students are admitted to another State Examination.

10. Within fifteen days after the examination by the State Board at any Normal School, the Principal of the School shall send to the Department of Public Instruction a complete list of all who have taken advanced branches, together with a list of these branches, also a list of those who passed the State Examination in any year, naming the year.

11. Residence for the last two years shall be required of all students except in the case of students who have completed the Freshman year or more in colleges approved by the College and University Council who may be graduated after one year's residence.

SPRING TERM COURSES

Special courses for those who have been teaching seven months' term in the public schools and for others who expect to take the examination for provisional, professional or state permanent certificates, will open March 29, 1920, and will continue 13 weeks. All the branches required for any of the above named certificates will be taught. Credit will be given in the regular first and second years' work for the branches completed in these courses.

Special work in methods will be given and classes from the training school will be taught by Miss Harris and other training school teachers in the presence of the students in the Spring Term classes. The work done in the training school classes will be discussed with a view to deriving the principles underlying correct method.

SUMMER SCHOOL

A six weeks' summer session will open June 28, 1920, and will continue the work of the Spring Term classes. Special classes will also be organized for those who cannot attend the spring session. Work in methods will be given and the public school branches will be thoroughly reviewed. This course is specially valuable for those graduates of high schools who expect to take the County Superintendent's examination for provisional certificates. Special work will also be given for the professional and state permanent certificates.

SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES 1919

A six weeks' summer course will open June 30, 1919. The work will be exactly similar to that outlined above for the summer course of 1920.

PRIZES

Scholarship Prize

The Class of 1908 offer a yearly prize of five dollars in gold to the four-year student having highest average at graduation. This prize will be awarded for the first time in June, 1919.

Public Speaking Prize

The Class of 1916 offer a yearly first prize of five dollars in gold for excellence in Public Speaking. This prize will be awarded for the first time in June, 1919.

Prizes in Debating

Mrs. Louise L. Lehman offers two yearly prizes in books to the students winning first and second places in the inter-society debate. The first prize for the 1919 debate was won by Cecil D. Mellott, Big Cove Tannery, Pa., and the second prize by Edith Bistline, of Blain, Pa.

THE ALUMNI FUND

Boarding students who need financial aid during their senior year may borrow a sum not exceeding $100 from the Alumni Fund for one year from the time of their graduation without interest. Students in need of such assistance must file their request for aid with the principal not later than August 15 of the year preceding their graduation.

CERTIFICATES AND DIPLOMAS

Graduates in the four years' course are awarded a certificate in which are named the branches in which the student has been found qualified. This certificate entitles the holder to teach two years in the public schools of Pennsylvania without examination.

A graduate in the Normal Course who has continued his studies for two years and has taught successfully for two full annual terms in the common schools of the State, will receive, upon presenting to the faculty and the State Board of Examiners, a certificate of good moral character and skill in the art of teaching, endorsed by the Board, or Boards of Directors by whom he was employed, and countersigned by the proper superintendent, or superintendents of schools, a permanent diploma, which will entitle the holder to teach in any of the public schools of the State without further examination. The proper blanks may be obtained from the principal at any time. They should be filled out and filed with the principal not later than June 1.

SUMMARY OF EXPENSES

Enrollment fee (payable once a year by every boarding student at time of registration).....	$ 5.00

May 17, second payment for those not receiving State aid.....	42.25

New students who are unable to enter at the beginning of a term, will be charged only from the time of entrance. During the Spring term students are expected to enter as soon as the schools in which they have been teaching are closed.

In case the amount appropriated by the State should not cover the entire cost of tuition, students in all State Normal schools will receive a pro rata share. There has been no deficit in recent years.

No deduction will be made on account of absence during the last two weeks of a term or during the first two weeks except as heretofore indicated.

In case of necessary absence from the school of more than two weeks but less than five weeks, students will be credited with the cost of board. In case of longer absence no charge will be made for board or room.

The charge for board and room includes furniture, bedding, light and heat. Each room accommodates two students. During the Fall and Winter Terms students may have a whole room by paying fifty cents a week extra.

The privilege for laundry is for twelve plain pieces per week.

No charge is made for the use of the infirmary, but doctors' and nurses' fees and medicine are paid by the student.

"Students will not be allowed to board outside the building except with parents or near relatives." By "near relatives" is meant brother or sister, uncle or aunt, or grandparents.

Expense for Day Students

All day students will pay a registration fee of four dollars for each term. This fee is payable on the day of registration. This includes membership in the Athletic Association and admission to lectures and moving picture entertainments given by the school.

Expenses for students not receiving State aid (for entire school year).....	$72.00
Expenses for day students receiving State aid.....	12.00

SPECIAL SUBJECTS

Instruction is given in special subjects at the rates indicated.

Instruction on piano (including practice period) 75 cents per lesson.

Instruction in Vocal Music, 75 cents per lesson.

Instruction in Elocution, 75 cents per lesson.

Instruction in Fine Arts, 75 cents per lesson.

Use of piano, $5.00 per term for those not taking special music lessons.

Students will be charged for the full time they agree to take lessons and no rebate will be made on account of lessons missed by the student's failure to attend.

Government and Discipline

All school government should have for its end the development of character in the individual student. Any method of government which does not secure this important end is wrong in principle.

In a Normal School where the student is being trained to govern other students, there can be no excuse for loose government. No person is qualified to teach in the public schools until he has attained a complete mastery over himself. The individual who has been trained in schools to habits of self-control and a wise self-direction has received the best training which any school can give him.

We rely largely upon the honor and self-respect of our students in our efforts to control. A Normal School is not a reformatory. Students who enter this school are supposed to come for the purpose of preparing themselves for their life work, and to be capable of self-control. The disciplinary regulations are, therefore, few and simple. Students who cannot abide by these regulations will be required to leave the institution.

ROOMS IN THE GIRLS' DORMITORY

THESE UPHOLD NORMAL ON THE BASEBALL FIELD

BASKETBALL TEAM, 1920

We notify the parents when we find their children are not attentive to their studies, and if this course does not remedy the matter, the parents will be asked to withdraw them from the school. Students who are not making good use of their opportunities to receive an education will not be retained in school.

Obedience on the part of the students to the following rules and regulations is necessary to the successful management and control of a Normal school, and is for the best interests of the students themselves. No regulations are made which we do not regard as important.

Time Regulations

1. Students will rise at 6:45 a. m. and retire at 10 p. m.
2. Recitation hours from 8:15 to 12:00 a. m. and from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m.
3. Breakfast at 7:15 a. m. Lunch at 12:10 p. m., and Dinner at 5:30 p. m.
4. Chapel service at 9:00 a. m.
5. Prayer meeting on Wednesday, 7:00 p. m. Attendance voluntary.
6. "Normal" and "Philomathean" Literary Societies meet on Friday evenings at 7:00 o'clock.
7. Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. meetings on Sunday at 6:00 p. m. Sunday school at 8:45 a. m.
8. Study hour from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m.

Class Regulations

1. No student will be allowed to take more studies than he can pursue profitably nor fewer than are necessary to keep him sufficiently employed.
2. Students must attend classes up to the time of their leaving school.
3. All students must be present at the daily chapel exercises, unless excused.
4. A costume suitable for use in gymnasium must be worn in the physical training classes. It is suggested that the gymnasium costume be secured after students have entered the school and have ascertained just what is needed.
4. All articles of clothing sent to the laundry must be distinctly marked with the student's full name.
5. Both men and women must wear the regular gymnasium shoes for gymnasium exercises.

Building and Room Regulations

1. Each student will be held responsible for the condition of his room and its furniture, and he will be charged with any loss or unnecessary damage.
2. No changes or alterations must be made in the permanent parts or fixtures of the rooms; nor nails driven into the walls without the permission of the preceptress or matron.

3. Students are requested to provide themselves with soft-soled slippers for the building.
4. All articles of clothing sent to the laundry must be distinctly marked with the student's full name.
5. Students may be required to change their rooms or to board out of the building if deemed best by the Principal of the school.

Social Regulations

1. Day students may not call at the rooms of boarders, nor stay in their rooms over night, unless by permission of the Principal. Boarding students will be held responsible to the Principal for the observance of this rule.

2. Boarding students will not be permitted to visit in town on Sunday, nor remain in town over night, excepting with near relatives.

3. Visitors to the building will be regarded as under the same regulations as the students.

4. Visiting the buildings or grounds on Sunday will not be permitted, nor will students be allowed to make or receive calls during study or school hours.

5. Ladies and gentlemen will not be permitted to hold prolonged conversations with one another, either in the building or upon the grounds, unless in connection with school duties, and then only by permission of the Principal or a member of the faculty.

6. Students will receive visits from relatives or friends in the reception room only. An exception will be made in the case of parents, who will be permitted to visit their children's rooms.

7. Students are under the regulations of the school going to and coming from their homes.

8. Students will select their own physician without recommendation from any member of the faculty.

9. Students wishing to visit their homes or other places during the term must present written permits from the parents to the Principal or a member of the faculty designated by him. Parents are urged not to ask that their children be absent from school except between the hours of 4 p. m. Friday and 8 a. m. Monday. The students cannot make up the work missed through absence from class. Absence from school is a positive loss to students. Students return to the school after being absent over weekends with work unprepared. The best work is done by students who are absent from school only in case of absolute necessity. The faculty will not hold themselves responsible for the progress of students who visit their homes or other places frequently during the term.

10. The authorities of the school will not, except in case of absolute necessity, call a student to the telephone during school or study hours. Such calls should be made before 8:15 a. m., between 12 noon and 1 o'clock p. m. and 3:15 and 7 p. m.

11. Parents sometimes complain that the expenses incurred by students are considerably in excess of those listed in the catalogue. There is no reason for such complaint, as every legitimate expense is plainly listed in the catalogue. Students, however, frequently persuade their parents to sup- ply them with more money than should be given them. Bills for books, fees, and other legitimate expenses will always be furnished by the school when requested by parents.

Health Regulations

1. Students upon entering the school must present physician's certificate showing that they have been successfully vaccinated.
2. Students during vacation, or at any time when they are absent from school, must avoid exposure to contagious or infectious diseases.
3. Students will be expected to observe proper hygienic rules during the time they are enrolled as members of the school.
4. The school kitchen is in charge of the head of the Department of Cookery, who is a skilled dietician. A carefully balanced menu will be arranged. Food specially adapted to the needs of the student is provided and parents are requested not to send boxes of cooked eatables to students. Many cases of ill health are directly traceable to over-indulgence in food sent from home.

ATHLETICS

It is the duty of the school to see to the physical well-being of every young man and woman in attendance. The day has gone by when the pale, delicate, bookish student is regarded as the ideal to be sought. Young men and women must be just as strong and robust as possible. For this reason we encourage all our students to take part in some type of athletics.

In addition to out-of-door exercises and the regular training in the gymnasium, the school encourages the following athletic sports:

Girls' Athletics

Girls' Hockey.—Class teams are organized early in the fall and a series of inter-class games are played.

Girls' Basketball.—Not only are class games played but group teams are organized, and a regular schedule of games arranged. Nearly all the boarding girls take part in these games.

Girls' Baseball.—In the Spring and Summer terms this game occupies the place held by hockey in the Fall term.

Tennis is open to both boys and girls and is under the control of the Students' Tennis Association.

Boys' Athletics

Football is open to all the boys: A series of inter-school games will be played. Class teams will also be organized.

Basketball.—The same method is followed as in football. Nearly all the boys take part in this game.

Baseball teams are organized from each class. From these organizations the school team is organized.

Track and Field Sports.—A meet will be held each spring, at which the class championship will be decided.

LECTURES, CONCERTS, MOVING PICTURE ENTERTAINMENTS, ETC.

A course of high grade lectures and entertainments is given during the school year. The school owns a Powers 6B Moving Picture Machine and once a month films of a high grade are shown. Plays of Shakespeare and other dramatists are presented and films showing the work of various important industries, life in foreign countries, interesting experiments in chemistry, physics, etc., are presented to the students.

During the past year the following lectures and entertainments were provided:

Concert—Smith, Spring, Holmes Co.

Dickens' Impersonation—William Sterling Battis.

Violin Recital and Concert—Ole Theobaldi and Company.

Lecture—Count Ilya Tolstoy.

These lectures, concerts and moving pictures are free to students. During the next year one of the strongest possible courses of entertainments will be provided.

RELIGIOUS WORK

Our students are furnished excellent opportunities for spiritual growth and development. We have a prayer and lecture service every Wednesday evening, conducted by a member of the faculty, to which all the students are invited. The service is attended by a large number of students and is full of interest and profit.

We have a Sabbath School organized among the students. This service is held every Sabbath morning, and the exercises are highly appreciated and greatly enjoyed by the school. The school is divided into classes, each class being taught by a member of the faculty. The International Lesson is used. All boarding students must attend this Sabbath School unless regularly excused.

Students, unless excused by the Principal, are required to attend the church service of their choice every Sabbath morning. The church attendance in connection with the religious services at the school offers them all the spiritual advantages that they would receive at their own homes. In all proper ways religious influences are thrown around the pupil, making his school life to conform as nearly as possible to the home life in a Christian family.

A Young Men's Christian Association and a Young Woman's Christian Association have been formed among the students. These societies have been doing a great work for the growth of religious sentiment in the school. These associations are non-denominational in character.

SABBATH REGULATIONS

3:00 to 5 p. m. will be observed as a quiet period. During this time no singing, loud talking, or other unnecessary noise will be allowed in the building.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Among the most valuable auxiliaries to a Normal School or College are its literary societies. The Normal and the Philomathean societies are strong, vigorous associations, and in their growth are keeping equal pace with the growth of the school. They meet in separate halls every Friday evening for the rendering of carefully prepared programs. These programs are highly entertaining and instructive, and those taking part in rendering them bestow ample labor and care in their preparation.

The Clio Society is an organization for the Spring term students.

READING ROOM

The Reading Room of the Cumberland Valley State Normal School is one of its most important features. All the prominent magazines, periodicals and many newspapers, daily and weekly, are found upon the shelves and on the files in the handsome room fitted up for library and reading-room purposes.

The students are encouraged to make good use of the privileges of the reading room and the results are most gratifying. A librarian is always in charge of the room when it is open, in order that perfect quiet may reign, and that students may get the largest profit possible from their hours spent in the reading room. The student who has been graduated from a Normal School without having acquired a taste for good literature and a knowledge of how to read with the greatest possible profit, is but poorly equipped for the work of teaching.

ARTICLES THAT STUDENTS SHOULD BRING WITH THEM TO SCHOOL

Students should bring the following articles with them or purchase them on arrival at the school:

Washstand cover and bureau cover, pair window curtains, towels, table napkins and toilet articles. They should also bring a knife, fork, spoon and glass tumbler for use in their rooms, as these articles may not be taken from the dining-room.

Rooms are supplied with bed, bedding, bureau, study table, chairs, washstand with bowl and pitcher and light fixtures.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

Damage done to furniture and other school property is charged against the students responsible for it. Male students, both boarding and day, must make a deposit of $2.50 to cover possible damages. This deposit will be returned when the student leaves school after deducting any charges against him.

It must not be understood that the foregoing regulations embrace all the duties and obligations devolving upon the individual student. No list of rules can be made which would cover every duty of the student under all the possible contingencies of Normal School life. And on the other hand, there are many habits and forms of conduct so obviously out of harmony with the obligations of the person who is preparing to teach that it is not deemed necessary to prohibit them by formal rule.

Our standard of conduct for those who are preparing to teach under the tuition of the Cumberland Valley State Normal School is so high that it would preclude anyone from looking to the profession of teaching for a life calling whose habits and conduct are not worthy the imitation of the children who may be placed under his instruction.

"The Normal School Herald" is the official school publication. It is furnished free to students while they are in attendance at the school. The price to others is 25 cents a year. Alumni and former students are earnestly urged to subscribe and keep themselves in touch with the affairs at the school.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTRUCTION

PSYCHOLOGY

DR. LEHMAN

Junior Class

A knowledge of Psychology is necessary to the successful teacher. Educators have come to recognize the child as the center around which the entire educational system revolves. The teacher must understand the child's physical nature with special reference to the structure of the brain and the entire nervous system; he must understand the close relation that the physical bears to the mental state. Hence, considerable time is given to the study of the physiology of the brain and nervous system. The laws underlying the growth and development of the various mental activities are studied, not only from the text book, but by actual observation of children. Similarly laws of memory, habit, etc., are tested or derived by a course of experiments. Government efficiency tests are used from time to time and students are encouraged to work out problems for themselves. In short, the aim of the course is to make psychology of practical value to every student.

PEDAGOGY

FRESHMAN YEAR

School Management

School management treats of the school as a definite agency of society, organized for the express purpose of training boys and girls for social efficiency.

Problems dealing with the organization and management of the school are considered; the principles underlying the selection and arrangement of the course of study are discussed, as are the questions relating to the location, structure, heating, lighting and ventilation of school buildings. During the spring term a text-book dealing with the ungraded country school is used. The course aims to present the practical problems in the multi-graded country school and to show how they may be solved so as to economize time and energy of both teacher and pupil and yet insure efficiency. Attention is given to method work. Model lessons are given in teaching classes in various common school branches. Texts: Seeley—School Management; Culter and Stone—The Rural School; its Methods and Management.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

General Methods

During the Sophomore year, General Methods are studied. The object here is to supplement the work of the Freshman year with a study of the best methods of securing good results in the school room; to lead the pupils to appreciate the fact that methods rest upon a scientific basis; to enlarge the vision of the pupils as to the scope of method work; to prepare the way for special methods.

Great stress is placed upon the general aim of education, its realization and its effect upon methods, plans and courses of study. Some of the important topics of which a detailed study is made are: the assigning of lessons, teaching how to study, moral training, the recitation, supervision, and measurements. Finally, different types of lessons are considered and students are required to construct lesson plans illustrating these types. Texts: Bagley—Classroom Management; Strayer—The Teaching Process.

JUNIOR YEAR

Rural School Problems

During the Spring term, the third year class takes up the study of Rural School Problems. Special attention is paid to the relation of the community to the rural school; its curriculum, organization, daily program, etc. Consolidation and standardization are studied in the light of practical experience. Text: Betts and Hall—Better Rural Schools.

Methods in History

The aim of this course is to show the students how history may be made vital, concrete and interesting to children in all grades from one to eight, inclusive; to give the students an insight into the material which may be used for this purpose and how it may be used.

The work covers the following topics: Meaning of history today; aim of subject, to make efficient citizens; correlation, especially with geography; course of study; history stories; biographies; visual appeal, illustrative material, magazines, pictures, Balopticon views, dramatization, games, devices, drills, sand table lessons; Indian, Eskimo, Japanese, Holland, Colonial, Lesson plans. Each student begins a note book which he will use while teaching. Current events; local history; handwork. Demonstration lessons are taught in order that students may see how these methods may be applied. Text: Wayland.

Methods in Geography

The aim of this course is to show what should be taught in the different grades and how it should be taught. Demonstrative lessons are taught in the different grades for the benefit of the students. The work covers: 1. What to teach in each grade. 2. Correlation. 3. Maps, charts, diagrams, sketches. 4. Types. 5. Problems. 6. Sand table lessons. 7. Games, devices, drills. 8. Handwork.

SENIOR YEAR

History of Education.

History of Education as a professional subject must justify itself to the prospective teacher. It does this by making him conscious that he is governed largely by educational tradition and is complacently accepting present conditions; by impelling him to analyze his problems more completely and to throw light upon the school practices and principles with which he is at the present time vitally concerned; by enabling him to reconstruct his educational ideas, theories and plans in accordance with this light; by helping him to understand the origin and significance of current practices. In view of these facts this course includes an account of all educational endeavor from the day of primitive man to the present. The radical defects of ancient Oriental systems of education are presented.

The educational ideals and practices of the Greek and Roman people, in so far as they affect the later educational development, are emphasized. This early part of the history of education, however, is curtailed as much as possible, so as to give more time to study the educational tendencies, problems and movements of modern education, especially those of the present day. Considerable effort is made to trace the influence of the various educational movements upon the content, method and organization of education in the United States. Reference to outside sources is frequently demanded and the work is clarified by the use of stereopticon slides.

Methods in English

This course covers a wide field. The senior teachers are made to feel that the child's English must be taken care of from the first grade to graduation and a very definite part of the English teaching belongs to the primary grades. The course includes grammar, composition, primary language, reading, spelling and phonics.

The work in grammar takes up the value of formal grammar and principles governing its teaching, while practice in teaching this subject, from fifth to ninth grades, inclusive, endeavors to make it an intelligent subject, intimately related to the needs of daily life in various forms. Composition includes methods for securing suitable subjects, organization and sequence in their compositions; correction of ungrammatical forms and awkward expressions; strengthening and increasing the child's vocabulary through persistent efforts in vitalized composition work, in debates, letters of every type and variety, plays, school paper and an organized literary society in each of the upper grades.

Primary language work is strongly emphasized. This includes oral composition, conversation and reproduction of stories, learning of necessary language facts, correction of common errors and transition from oral to written work.

Dramatization is used freely as an aid in natural expression and freedom of expression in reproduction and conversation exercises. Oral expression is emphasized in all grades. A three minutes' talk by each pupil is required each week. Memory work includes selected prose as well as choice poetry and is intended to cultivate memory, enrich the child's vocabulary, give him interesting ideas and ideals and create as early as possible a taste for good literature.

In primary reading the various modern systems are analyzed and discussed; the purpose being to assist in a wise use of whatever system they are obliged to teach, by becoming familiar in their practice teaching with the elements in the reading process that are common to all effective systems.

The aim in the spelling methods is to make correct spelling and the correct method of teaching it a matter of immediate concern to the teacher and to interest him in meeting the needs of the child in his expressional vocabulary, be he eye-minded, ear-minded or motor-minded.

Methods in Arithmetic

The aim in this subject is to give the senior teacher practical help and to enable him to acquire a confidence and ease necessary to successful teaching in the classroom. Special study is given to the following topics: Aims in arithmetic, present teaching, reasons for teaching and results obtained, character of problems for the present curriculum, elimination, modes of instruction, and details of routine work.

Emphasis is placed upon primary arithmetic and demonstration classes are provided to illustrate teaching in the following fundamentals: counting, measuring, number correlated with every-day practical problems, number rhymes, games and plays related to number, teaching of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, with the denominate numbers and incidental fractions that belong to the fundamental processes.

TRAINING DEPARTMENT

MISS HARRIS, MISS SNIVELY, MISS A. HUBER

The school law of Pennsylvania requires as part of the equipment of a normal school a well-organized training department, where students may have an opportunity to teach under guidance, supervision, and observation before being graduated as teachers.

The Training School numbers two hundred pupils, divided into eight grades corresponding to the grades in the public schools and one year of high school work. The subjects taught are: reading, spelling, oral and written arithmetic, history, community civics, civil government, geography (political and physical), elementary science, language, grammar, composition and nature study, physiology and hygiene, Latin, algebra, and the reading of Classics.

The course of study in the Training School is planned with a view to prepare pupils to enter the Freshman year of the Normal School. The work to be accomplished in the different subjects is carefully planned according to the needs and ability of the individual pupils. These printed plans which are put into the hands of each Senior teacher contain an outline of the work in every grade and subject. Seniors are assigned to teach according to scholarship, fitness, general ability and personal preference.

The supervisors in the Training School correct the daily plans of the Senior teachers. These plans are written in time for suggestion and revision before being used in the classes of the day. The supervisors visit the classroom to observe the poise, personality, and the method of the teacher and later give helpful and constructive criticisms to safeguard the development and education of the children.

The supervisors teach observation lessons, which show how to present a new subject, give an idea of the relation of one subject to others in the curriculum, as well as an insight into the tactful handling of children of different temperaments.

Persons preferring to do special work in the primary department are given opportunity to elect and secure practice in primary subjects. This work includes primary reading, story telling, phonics, handwork suitable to the season, dramatization and penmanship, language and nature, including the observation and study of plant and animal life according to the season, related stories and poems, dramatization, oral and written productions, number work, which includes combinations, drills, games, rhymes, and playing store; history and geography in the celebration of national and historical events in their proper setting.

Kindergarten work correlated with the first grade work consists of paper cutting, sewing, pasting, weaving, clay modeling, raffia and seat work related to the subjects taught.

In plays and games the aim is to supply opportunity for expression of activity and imagination through the medium of play, stories, singing and dramatic games suggested by the season, holidays or other pleasures and interests of the children. Marches, drills and some apparatus work aid in developing grace, carriage and strength.

Special emphasis is placed upon oral composition and literary work, beginning with oral reproduction and conversation exercises leading up through dramatization, memorization and recitation, to vitalized composition in all phases of every-day English.

Students preferring higher grade work are encouraged to develop ability in handling adolescent boys and girls, in understanding proper light, heat, ventilation and sanitary conditions, in the use of correct methods for acquiring interest and achievement, in realizing the value and use of measurements and tests, and in creating an atmosphere of industry and self-confidence that will form character in the pupils as well as develop ability to teach grammar and high school subjects.

The Normal School teachers of drawing, music, penmanship, manual training, and physical culture supervise the teaching of their subjects, and students having preference for these subjects are encouraged to specialize in this work.

Teaching in the Training School gives opportunity for child study; it presents the school problems met in every-day teaching; it provides discipline and experience, and is a test which proves the necessary qualifications of a teacher and provides splendid opportunity for the development in character and teaching ability.

ENGLISH

MISS HARLOW, MR. KNIGHT, MISS MAYBERRY

The aims of this department are two-fold: first, reasonably accurate and fluent expression; secondly, a sincere appreciation of some portion of the best literature of the English language. The formal and theoretical aspects of Grammar, Rhetoric, and Literature are treated as means to the end. Throughout the whole course great attention is placed upon the correction of errors in speech. Efficiency tests from various sources are frequently given in all classes as a measurement of the ability of the students to use correct English. In the composition work the Thorndike—Hillegas scale of measurements and others are used in correcting themes, and are taught to prospective teachers.

For Freshmen

1. Grammatical English.—A course in correct English, based upon a thorough study of English Grammar. Incorrect spelling, improper capitalization and punctuation, misuse of tense and number forms, wrong pronunciation, faulty enunciation, and scanty vocabulary—these are the common faults which the course attempts in part to remedy. Ownership and use of a dictionary is compulsory.

The work in technical grammar is confined to the parts of speech, sentence analysis, and the inflection of words.

The constructive work of the course consists of considerable oral and written composition, exemplifying without formal study most of the types of discourse. Students receive just as much individual correction and assistance as their number will permit.

As a partial preparation for later work in literature, the teacher gives occasional readings from standard authors.

Fall, Winter and Spring Terms, daily.

2. Grammar.—A course in English Grammar, designed for those who have been teaching during the school year. This course is similar to Course 1, with increased attention upon the drill for the correction of errors and less attention upon composition.

Spring Term, daily.

For Sophomores

3. Rhetoric and Classics.—(a) A practical course in composition, which teaches narration, exposition, description, and argumentation. Rhetorical theory is studied, and applied in many oral and written compositions. The pupils are given individual attention in the construction and correction of their work.

(b) The student shall, at the end of this course, have completed at least the minimum requirement of reading and study for college entrance in English. This means that he must have read at least two standard dramas, two standard works of prose fiction, two biographies or groups of essays, two prominent groups of English or American poetry, and at least two other standard works in addition to classroom study of certain selected classics. Which classics will be chosen for study cannot be decided until the class has been formed, as the course is designed to meet the needs of those who enter it.

Fall, Winter and Spring Terms, four periods a week.

4. Composition.—Equivalent to 3a. This course and course 5 are given in the Spring terms of alternate years; together they are equivalent to course 3.

Offered in Spring Term, 1919, daily.

5. Classics.—Equivalent to 3b. This course, given in the Spring Term of every other year, when combined with course 4, is equivalent to 3.

Offered in 1920, Spring Term, daily.

For Juniors

6. History of Literature.—A comprehensive view of English and American Literature, aiming to serve as a guide for further reading, to impart the facts necessary to appreciation concerning the authors, the centuries, and the racial forces by which our masterpieces have been produced, and to show the main currents of thought which have shaped English and American history and literature together.

Students study and recite from Halleck's English Literature and Halleck's American Literature. A great deal of illustrative reading is done in class, and at least one long report on the life and works of an author is required of each student.

Fall and Winter Terms, four periods weekly.

For Seniors

7. Grammar Review.—The purpose of this course is to fix the fundamentals of English Grammar in the minds of those who are soon to teach it, and as far as possible to remedy those English faults which have not been previously reached. The course includes some discussion of English methods.

READING AND PUBLIC SPEAKING

MISS STROH

It is the purpose of this department to cultivate the powers of thought and imagination as a basis of expression and to develop the voice as a fit medium of expression. Effort is made to train mind, body and voice so that the student may read intelligently and beautifully. Special attention is paid to.

1. Correct breathing.
2. Tone production.
3. Articulation.
4. Phrasing.
5. Emphasis-placing.
6. Thought analysis.
7. Inflection.
8. Defective habits of speech—their cause and cure.
9. Phonetics.
10. Pronunciation.

First Year Course

The Palmer and Sammis text-book is used and special attention is paid to the necessity of natural, fluent reading. We aim to correct as far as possible, the many bad habits of speech usually noticeable in students of this age. An effort is made to teach the pupil to extract thought from the printed page quickly and easily, to cultivate correct vocalization and a keen literary appreciation.

Attention is directed more to the formation of good habit of reading and the correction of bad ones, than to the technique of the art.

Interest is stimulated by means of the frequent opportunities given the student to speak extemporaneously to the class on some current event of interest or some other well chosen subject. He gradually acquires an ease and poise which is most desirable. Whenever possible we illustrate a lesson in breath-control, beautiful articulation, correct phrasing, pauses, rate, etc., by means of suitable Victrola records.

A course in phonics and the use of the dictionary has been added to this year's work.

The standard tests and scales are used in this course with special attention to the Thorndike, Gray and Kelly tests. In this way the teacher is enabled to ascertain the relative degrees of speed in oral reading and comprehension as well, so that the individual needs of the students may be learned and the work organized accordingly.

Fourth Year Course

Smith's "Oral English for Secondary Schools" is used. In this course the formal, technical and emotional elements are more emphasized than in the elementary course. The formal elements include good position, breath-control, enunciation and the principles of diacritical marking. The emotional elements include the emotional response to the author's thought, emotional sensitiveness which feels the pulse of the audience, an ability to impress the hearers with the author's thought and hold their attention and a keen perception of vocal effects. The emotional elements include vocal expression—a management of the voice by time, pitch, force and quality which make the vocal effects harmonize with the author's thought, physical response to the author's thought in facial expression, bearing, and gesture.

Specific instruction in the principles of argumentation is given—the essentials of teaching children how to read and the principles of dramatization are featured. Frequent opportunities to appear before the class in two-minute talks on various subjects, are given the student and the improvement in platform poise is remarkable.

Laboratory methods in Oral English have been used very effectively. In a democratic school system like ours, methods must be applied to each pupil in a class, not to a select few. Slovenly speech habits against which press and general public have made so just an arraignment are corrected by regular supervision of speech and systematic practice in oral composition.

The classes are frequently self-governing and conduct many recitations in parliamentary procedure, with one of their own number acting as presiding officer.

In this course specific instruction will be given in the administration of the standard tests and scales in Reading.

Special Features

Attention is directed to the work in defective speech and the interest taken in these cases. No two cases are alike and an effort is made to learn the physical cause and effect a cure if possible.

The programs given at intervals of two and three weeks by the Seniors are a very successful feature. These programs are varied and include readings, orations, debates, illustrative talks, (frequently with the aid of the Victrola), sketches, one-act plays and scenes from well known dramas. An added interest is given the presentation of some of these plays for when possible, amateur plays written by members of the classes in English, are produced. Each Senior is required to appear twice on these public programs.

MATHEMATICS

DR. ELDON MISS ALICE HUBER MISS QUIGLEY MR. GOSHORN

Arithmetic

A teacher in the public schools should be master of arithmetic. It will be his duty to qualify his pupils in a subject vital to their business interests.

In the preparation of the teacher we insist upon a thorough knowledge of numeration and notation and upon the relations which ordinary numbers bear to each other will respect to their magnitude.

We aim to make the student skillful and correct in the operations of fundamental rules, for these are the essential tools of all arithmetic. In the solving of the higher problems bungling work in the fundamentals distracts attention and makes the solution tedious and laborious.

In the same way, common and decimal fractions are involved in the majority of problems and for the same reason must be thoroughly understood.

After we have secured proper preparation in the essentials, problems in denominate numbers, ratio and proportion, percentage and mensuration, are made interesting and practical by relating them to trades and occupations and to the affairs of every day life.

Algebra

Some one has defined Algebra as "Arithmetic generalized."

This definition gives in a few words a good reason for including Algebra in a course of study.

By means of Algebra we are enabled to derive formulas which may be used individually in solving all problems involving the same conditions.

These formulas are used in all sciences and are invaluable. But in addition to its use in the sciences, Algebra by its peculiar method of procedure often throws a light on abstruse arithmetical problems and makes their solution easier.

In teaching Algebra, we proceed as in Arithmetic, mastering the first principles and such subjects as factoring, highest common factor, least common multiple, involution, evolution, theory of exponents and radicals.

THE HEATING PLANT

THE GYMNASIUM

THE TRAINING SCHOOL

But the crown of all Algebraic subjects is the equation.

We aim to make the student ready in the solution of the various kinds of equations and expert in constructing equations from conditions named in problems.

Geometry

Some knowledge of the forms and the rules of Geometry is needed by everybody, and the teachers of public schools must be relied upon to give this necessary instruction to the people at large through the children who from time to time come under their tuition.

The principal elements of the study of Geometry are axioms, definitions, lines, angles and triangles.

Great care is taken to have the student well grounded in a knowledge of these essentials.

The circle, parallelogram, polygon, polyhedron, cone, cylinder and sphere are considered in order and their characteristics and measurements are carefully and logically determined.

In these demonstrations the rules of mensuration are verified.

For this reason a teacher who has mastered Geometry will enter upon the subject of mensuration in arithmetic, and upon kindred topics in other branches, with greater confidence and will handle them more effectively than one who has never had instruction in Geometry, and who, like his pupils, merely follows the rules.

Trigonometry

In pursuing the study of Trigonometry care is taken to have the student thoroughly understand the nature and use of the functions of angles and of their application to the solution of problems; also, the nature and use of logarithms in performing the various arithmetical operations required.

Advanced Course.—A class in analytical geometry and conic sections will be organized for those who wish to teach mathematics in high schools or to secure advanced standing in college.

HISTORY

MISS MAYBERRY

MR. KNIGHT

The History course of our Normal School is complete. It extends through three years of the student's training. It embraces Ancient, Mediaeval, Modern, English, American and Pennsylvania History, Civil Government, including elementary and advanced work. History is taught to the student first, to impart a knowledge of event and the causes which have produced them. The relation of cause and effect is carefully traced. It is also taught that the students may be more broadly cultured men and women, that they have a deeper love for their country and appreciate the blessings of the republican form of government. During the coming year the Buckingham tests will be given in U. S. History. Other measurements will also be used.

Freshman Year.—Lectures on Ireland, Scotland and England. Sophomore.—Julius Caesar, Alexander the Great. Beginning Rome and Athens, Charlemagne, Savonarola, Napoleon. Junior.—William Penn, George Washington, Daniel Webster, Booker T. Washington, History of the Cumberland Valley. A course prepared especially for teachers is given during the Spring Term. It embraces History of the United States, Pennsylvania History and stories, and a series of lectures.

Freshman Year

A review of United States History is given the students during the Fall Term of their Freshman year. In the Winter Term the study of Pennsylvania is begun. In the Spring Term English History is studied.

Text books—Thwaite and Kendall's History, Larned's English History, Shimmel's Pennsylvania History, Newton and Treat's Outline for Review in English History.

Sophomore Year

During the Sophomore year the work is more advanced than that studied during the Freshman year; Ancient History with supplementary work, Mediaeval History, during the Winter term, and Modern History in the spring term are included in the work of this year.

Text books—Myers' Ancient, Mediaeval and Modern Histories. Supplementary work from Daves' History of Greece, and West's Ancient and Modern World, Newton and Treat's Outlines in Roman and Greek History.

Junior Year

The advanced American History is taught during the Fall Term. With this work, the students are given the history of the Cumberland Valley from its settlement up to the Civil War. Much of the Indian history is included in this course.

Text books—Gordy's Advanced United States History, McMurry's System of Map Drawing, Drawings of the Civil War Campaigns, Gettysburg and Chattanooga Battlefields.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT

In the Freshman year Shimmel's U. S. Civics and Constitution is taken. A clear exposition of the great principles of the Constitution is laid down. Legislative, executive, and judicial, local and state government is discussed. Smull's Legislative Hand Book is used for reference, in connection with American Citizenship by Beard.

The purpose of this course is to give the student a clear idea of the machinery of government in its practical working.

The advanced work in the Sophomore year goes into the philosophy of government and traces the development of modern systems.

The nature of modern government, food, clothing, shelter, the family, civil liberty, property rights, political rights, and the work of political parties, government of cities, state and nation, are explained. A thesis, or practical lesson in law, especially in our courts of common, criminal, law is required during this term's work.

Text book—Garner's Government in the United States.

Reference—Beard's American Citizenship.

GEOGRAPHY

MISS MARTIN

During the Junior year the course in Political Geography comprises the study of Tarr and McMurry's Second book as a text and includes Maury's system of map-drawing, travel talks, Stoddard's Lectures, Carpenter's Readers and considerable supplementary information.

This course covers a review of the leading facts of Geography and constitutes a preparation for teaching the subject in the public schools. The study of manufactures, commerce, farming, mining and the cultivation of rice, sugar, tobacco, coffee, etc., is emphasized.

Comparative Geography is made prominent in dealing with this important subject. By comparison the pupils get clearer ideas of geographical divisions and places, and they are able to retain their impression longer. The railways and commercial routes are definitely traced, and numerous imaginary trips are made to different parts of the globe. The geographical information of the pupils is often drawn upon to furnish material for composition writing.

The home geography of the pupil is carefully and accurately given as the first step in teaching the interesting subjects. The primary concepts of position, direction, distance, soil, climate and natural productions are learned by the pupil as part of his first geographical knowledge.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE

PROF. SHEARER

MISS CONOVER

Freshman Year

This course deals with the anatomy, physiology and hygiene of the human body. Special attention is given to the circulatory, respiratory, excretory, osseous, digestive and nervous systems from the standpoint of structure and function so that students may be acquainted with the body. After the working of the body is mastered, students are taught how to care for the body in order to keep it in the best possible condition.

The course includes text book work supplemented by a few lectures, class room demonstrations and oral and written quizzes.

Text book—Davison.

PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY

Freshman Year

Physical geography gives attention to the agencies acting at the surface of the earth, such as atmosphere, ground waters, rivers and glaciers. Lakes, swamps, waterfalls, oceans, volcanoes and earthquakes are studied as to the formation and effect upon human life. The earth is considered as a planet in connection with other bodies in space, especially in regard to the occurrence of day and night, and the change of seasons.

Laboratory work includes the study of the drainage of the United States, winds, currents, distribution of temperature and vegetation. This is done by observation of work, the study and making of maps and the plotting of graphs.

Text: Elements of Physical Geography—Hopkins.

BOTANY

The course in this subject is designed to give the students: (1) The work needed to teach the subject well in the common schools; (2) A good foundation for more advanced work in the subject.

Each student is required to prepare an indexed laboratory note book which must contain accurate descriptions and careful drawings of the work done. This book must contain work to illustrate with reasonable completeness the following topics: The four type forms of the plant kingdom; the seed and the germination, the root, the stem, the leaf, the flower and the fruit. Plant classification is taken up under which are studied the plants of the community on field trips and in the laboratory. An herbarium of a score or more different families is required, special emphasis being placed upon the acquisition of the characteristics peculiar to the particular families studied.

Text: Botany for Elementary Schools—Bailey.

Sophomore Year

The course offered arranges itself into two general heads: The first is devoted to the study of insects alone, great emphasis being placed upon their economic importance. A careful write-up of all the insect orders is required and a mounted collection of not less than fifteen different orders. The second half of the course offers a general introduction to the elementary principles of Zoology. The laboratory work includes experiments, observations, and dissections of: (1) A single-celled animal as the ameba or the paramecium; (2) The invertebrate types, the earthworm and the crayfish; (3) A vertebrate type as the frog. A carefully arranged and well-planned note book is required.

Text: Economic Zoology—Kellog and Doane; Manual for the Study of Insects—Comstock.

ADVANCED COURSE IN BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE

An advanced course in zoology and botany is offered to students who have had a thorough training in elementary zoology and botany. The course in zoology will include both invertebrate and vertebrate zoology covering the anatomy, life history, and distribution of both vertebrates and invertebrates.

In botany a course in plant physiology, elementary ecology and elementary morphology will be provided.

GEOLOGY

Junior Year

A study of the earth's crust and a general consideration of the agencies which modify this crust as well as the most important facts of historical geology are studied. To the extent that time permits and arrangements can be made, field trips are taken and local geology is studied. The laboratory work consists of a study of contour and weather maps and the common rocks and minerals. Slides and views are used freely in the course of the work.

Text: Elements of Geology—Blackwelder & Barrows.

HYGIENE

Junior Year

The course in Hygiene aims to make students acquainted with the rules of health, and to instill in them the determination to enter the public health crusade which is at present taking such a prominent place in the world's affairs.

Such things as fresh air, pure water, clean milk, pure food and pure food laws, food values and the prevention of infection from both human and insect carriers are studied. The hygiene of work and play, and of mind is considered. Sanitation is considered from the home, school, municipal, rural and industrial view points. Toward the end of the course a little time is spent on the structure and function of the body giving a brief review of the work of the Freshman year.

Laboratory work is done, which includes experiments on milk and food, and such practical work as pasteurizing milk, making a small refrigerator and constructing a fireless cooker.

Monthly bulletins from the State Department of Health of both Pennsylvania and New York are regularly received and used in connection with the work.

Text book: The People's Health—Coleman.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL SCIENCE

PROF. CULVER

MRS. HERR

Chemistry

The course in Chemistry has been revised so as to meet the needs and demands made upon the students in their later lives. We realize that technical Chemistry will not meet the needs of the average student and that comparatively few continue the study of chemistry after leaving school. In order to give the greatest good to the greatest number and also to meet the demands of those who may teach the subject or desire to continue work along this line two courses are offered—General Chemistry and Household Chemistry.

General Chemistry.—In this course the first part of the year is devoted to such subjects as, purpose and province of Chemistry, elements, physical and chemical changes, mixture and compounds, oxygen, hydrogen, water, chlorine, air, properties of acids, bases and salts, the important chemical laws and theories together with a thorough acquaintance of the symbols, formulas and their interpretation, equations and elementary calculations. In the latter part of the course the underlying principles of elementary analysis are applied in determining the acid strength of vinegar, lemons, etc., the basic strength of household ammonia, the qualitative analysis of soils, baking powders, etc., and the detection of adulterants in foods, candies, extracts, etc.

Graduates of high schools desiring credit for this course must submit a record of the laboratory work done by the student himself and approved by his instructor. The record shall consist of such exercises as are required by colleges for entrance.

Four periods per week. Text: Smith.

Household Chemistry.—For those students who desire a course more closely associated with every day occurrences and a more intimate knowledge concerning the things of the home rather than an extensive knowledge of chemical facts a less technical course is offered.

This course during the first part of the year aims to familiarize the students with the more common elements, chemical nomenclature and just enough theory to enable the student to work understandingly with the simpler forms of chemical operation as they are applied in daily life.

The following are some of the principal subjects treated in the course: Physical and chemical changes: an elementary study of the elements of hydrogen, oxygen, chlorine, carbon, sodium, and a few of the most important industrial metals: water—its composition, contamination, hard and soft water: air,—composition, impurities in relation to life; fuels, combustion; oxides of carbon,—composition, occurrence, physiological effect, importance of the dioxide to life: baking powders,—alum and tartrate, recognition of each; soaps and soap making, their cleansing action, detection of fillers and impurities: carbohydrates: foods, food preservation, detection of impurities, food values: chemistry of the laundry, blueing, dyeing, bleaching, etc., and the preparing of a few important materials used about the home.

Four periods per week. Text—Weed.

Physics

PROF. CULVER

The plan of the work in this department is so arranged as to give the most complete training in interpreting the underlying principles in the natural phenomena of daily occurrence. A few theories pertaining to the science are studied but much emphasis is placed upon the practical side and applications are made where possible. Discussions pertaining to Household Physics form an important part of the work and many of the household appliances both old and new are studied. The chief aim of the course is to lead the student into the scientific way of working, to teach him to think and reason.

Such topics as mechanics, including mechanics of fluids and gases, heat as a motive power, principles of heating and ventilating, musical instruments, the elementary principles of electricity and its simpler uses as applied to the electromagnet, telephone, telegraph, electric door bell, etc., the incandescent lamp, motor and dynamo, are thoroughly treated. No emphasis is placed on the solution of problems but care is taken to show how these things are related to our every day life.

The laboratory work meets the requirements for college entrance and at the same time includes those experiments that are not of such a technical nature. This gives the student practice in assembling apparatus and manipulating it to work out the various physical laws at the same time leading him on to investigate for himself.

A record of all observations systematically arranged is made and special emphasis is placed upon the drawing of conclusions from the same. Accuracy in obtaining data as well as skill in handling apparatus is made a feature of the work.

Visits are made to the various industrial plants of the vicinity to see the actual application of the principles learned.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Our course in Agriculture is designed to interest students in the life and work of the farm and to teach the fundamental, scientific and economic principles of agriculture, so that, when they—as teachers—are located in a rural school or rural community, a bond of sympathy will exist between teacher and pupil. By this training in agriculture they will be able to adapt themselves to their environment; will be able to make the work of the school serviceable to the pupils; will be better fitted to lead and direct not only the thought and ambitions of the children but to lead in the work of the community.

The location of the school in the fertile Cumberland Valley makes it possible for the student to observe and study at first hand, the very best farm practices and operations.

The agricultural work will be given throughout the Senior year, except Course I, which will be given during the Fall term only.

COURSE I—NATURE STUDY.

The course is designed to make the students lovers of nature, to acquaint them with some of the elementary facts of all the sciences in the phases that appeal to children and to discuss the spirit, aims and methods of Nature Study in the schools. The immediate aims are, to become familiar with the common farm crops and animals, the common wild flowers, weeds, birds and insects of the farm and to learn how plants grow and to help them grow. The work will form a basis for the study of agriculture.

This work will be given in the form of lectures, field trips and laboratory work.

COURSE 2—AGRICULTURE.

A course in the elements of Agriculture as applied to the farming conditions in Pennsylvania. This course will embrace the following topics:

Soil.—Dealing with its origin, types and properties, with particular reference to soil management so as to maintain its fertility; the building up of worn down soils by manure, cover-crops, legumes and commercial fertilizers.

Plant Life and Seeds.—The uses that the plant makes of the soil and air; the identification, growth and propagation of plants.

Farm Crops.—A study of the common cereal, forage and root crops and their cultural directions.

Weeds.—Identification and methods of eradication.

Fruits.—A study of the commoner ones with reference to the planting, care and marketing.

The scoring and judging of the common farm crops and fruits is taken up in the laboratory as a means of familiarizing the student with what we may consider desirable types and varieties for our farming conditions.

Farm Animals and Birds.—A study of the more common breeds, the types, their characteristics and uses. Special attention will be given to the dairy industry, dealing with the principles in breeding for building up a graded herd; the care and feeding of cows for milk production; producing and marketing sanitary milk and milk products; dairy records; Babcock Test, etc.

Home and School Ground Decoration.—The principles of making the home and school grounds truly attractive by simple trees, shrubs, vines and flowers will be considered.

Home and School Garden.—The selection of simple but useful garden seeds and plants, and the sowing, planting, cultivation and harvesting of the same.

The above topics will be considered in the class room theoretically, and then the theories will be put into actual practice in the Agricultural laboratory and on the School Gardens. Each student will have a garden in which he will plant and care for the common vegetables as found in the home garden. A detailed study of school gardens is made which prepares the student to act as supervisor of city or country school gardens. Observation trips will also be taken to nearby farms.

A study will be made of the methods of study, organization and presentation of the subject matter. This will be adapted to the different grades with special emphasis on developing in the child an interest in plant and animal life.

Discussion of methods of correlating Nature Study and Elementary Agriculture with other school work.

A study of literature on Nature Study and Elementary Agriculture.

A number of lectures will be given in connection with this work. Public and farmers' meetings will also be held.

Main Text Book—Elements of Agriculture by Warren. Supplementary reference books and bulletins in the library will be used.

RURAL SOCIOLOGY

PROF. KREBS

This course is specially recommended to students who expect to teach in the rural schools. It treats of the problems of rural life—economic, social and religious. The decline in influence of the rural community is considered, the cause of the rapid increase in population and wealth of the urban communities is investigated and constructive legislation looking to improvement in rural conditions is discussed.

LATIN

MISS STROH

The Latin course is thorough and complete. It fits the student to teach the subject effectively and also furnishes him with sufficient preparation to enter the best colleges and universities.

From the very beginning a comprehensive outline of the grammar is required, as it is recognized that this is the rock foundation upon which to build the study of language. Particular attention is also given to the rendering of the Latin into good idiomatic English.

Throughout the entire course there is a careful drill in orthography, etymology, syntax and prosody. Roman history, literature, and mythology are also taught in connection with the regular required subjects and Latin prose composition is given in the Junior and Senior years. Individual instruction is given each student and every effort made to render the course practical and helpful.

An important feature of the work in Latin is the system of tests and measurements which are given from time to time. It is the plan of the department to pay particular attention to these and to carefully note the results obtained from them.

Freshman Year

During this year there is a constant drill in the essentials of Latin. The declensions, conjugations, and the general rules of syntax are memorized and short sentences are translated from Latin into English and from English into Latin. Stories from Roman history and selected passages from Caesar are also read. The aim of the year is to prepare the student to read Caesar intelligently, "Pearson's Essentials of Latin" is the text book used.

In the Sophomore year the first four books of Caesar are read; the text being "Caesar's Gallic War" by Harkness and Forbes. The aim is to enable the pupil to follow the narrative understandingly as well as to give him a systematic drill in all the common syntactical principles. Every move in Caesar's plan is carefully explained by means of maps and charts and thus interest is secured in this fascinating history and is not regarded simply as a dull elementary drill book in Latin. Twenty lessons in writing Latin by Barss are also given.

Junior Year

The four orations of Cicero against Cataline, The Defense of the Poet Archias, and the Manilian Law are read in the Junior year. The text is the New Cicero by Allen and Greenough. This course embraces not only the reading of the subjects assigned with a painstaking study of the Grammar; but also a study of Latin Oratory, Law, Customs, without which an intelligent knowledge of Cicero cannot be secured. Twenty lessons in writing Latin by Barss are also given.

Senior Year

The first six books of Virgil are the required work for this year. This is supplemented by a study of Mythology and Prosody. The text is the Aeneid of Greenough and Kittridge.

Fifth Year Latin

A fifth year of Latin has been added to the course. The work of this year will include selections from the Odes of Horace and selected portions of Livy. This should be especially attractive to graduates of high schools who have completed four years of Latin and who desire to take a fifth year in the preparation for college or to hold a position as teacher of Latin in a high school. The normal school principals have decided that those who take this fifth year shall be exempt from examinations before the state board in the work of the third and fourth years.

During this year special attention will be paid to the various meters of Horace, to the mythological allusions contained in his odes and also to the humane aspect of his poetry. In connection with the study of Livy great care will be exercised in following the history. Maps and charts will be used to gain a thorough knowledge of the subject.

Sixth Year Latin

Beginning September 1919, sixth year Latin will be added to the course. The work will consist of selected passages from Livy and Cicero's De Amicitia and De Senectute. The year's work will cover the course usually given in the sophomore year at college.

FRENCH

MISS JENKINS

The French department purposes to teach elementary French conversation, to give the ability to read French readily, and to impart some general knowledge of French life and literature.

The grammar used is Frazer and Squair's. Careful drill in pronunciation, is emphasized, and the phonetic symbols, as aid to correct pronunciation, are employed. The students begin almost immediately to read French, using Meras' and Roth's Petits Contes de France. These tales reveal very simply French thought, character and ideals and lead naturally to an interest in the French nation and its great men and women. Frequent exercises in dictation tend to encourage accuracy in the writing of the language.

The course in the second year French continues the work of the first year course. The more advanced phases of grammar are taken up including the conjugation of irregular verbs. Selected Stories from Daudet, one of the greatest of French story writers, are studied, as well as Ca et La en France, a book of travel dealing with the life and customs of the France of today. Supplementary material dealing with the great war, has been frequently introduced. Frequent prose dictation exercises tend to fix the vocabulary acquired by reading, in the minds of the pupils.

In 1919-20 a course in third year French will be offered should the number of students with the necessary preparation be sufficiently large.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MISS CONOVER

The Normal School recognizes the vital necessity, especially at this time, of bringing the men and women of America to the highest physical efficiency, and the fundamental value of directed play as a part of the public school curriculum. The purpose of this department then is to keep the student in the best health by vigorous directed exercise, to encourage the play spirit, and to train the student to direct physical training and play activities in the public schools.

Upon entering the school, each student is given a thorough physical examination. Records of these examinations are kept and referred to in determining which students shall be excused from certain exercises, and which students shall take special exercises to correct such things as postural defects. This examination also determines what athletic sports the student may be allowed to enter.

The work of the first two years is primarily developmental. A systematic graded course is given, which includes some tactics and calisthenics, and a large number of organized games and folk dances. A meet between the Freshman and Sophomore classes is held at the end of the year's work.

The work of the Junior year includes a practical course in plays and games for the schoolroom and playground, with practice in directing these games; and a course in the theory and practice of developmental and corrective calisthenics for the schoolroom. In the Senior year a course in folk dancing for girls and in organized public school athletic work for boys is given, and the practical problems of physical training in the public schools are considered. Special attention is given to methods of improving the posture of school children.

Gymnasium suits should be secured at the school. Suits for girls consist of middies, black bloomers, and black gymnasium shoes and stockings; suits for boys consist of jerseys, trousers, and gymnasium hose. These costumes must be worn in all physical training work.

The department also controls all athletic work of the school. Four tennis courts and a splendid athletic field, with equipment for football, field hockey and baseball, are at the disposal of all students. Organized athletics for boys include football in fall, basketball in winter, and baseball in spring; and all boys of the school are urged to take part in any or all of these sports. Athletics for girls include field hockey and tennis in fall, basketball in winter, and baseball and tennis in spring. All girls who are physically able are encouraged to take an active part in some sport each season. Interclass and inter-society tournaments in all girls' sports are held at the close of the season's practice. No regular gymnasium work is required during the spring term, but students are encouraged, particularly in spring, to enter into some outdoor athletic activity, in order to insure sufficient exercise for good health and mental efficiency.

MUSIC

Pianoforte

MISS MATTHEWS

The aim of the Music Department is to cultivate the musical taste and the technical skill of the student.

The following course, consisting of five grades, may be followed or varied by the teacher as best suited to the individual pupil:

Elementary Grade.—Rudiments of music, major and minor scales, easy melody studies. Special attention is given to the acquirement of a good technical foundation.

Intermediate Grade.—Major and minor scales, arpeggios. Studies and compositions of moderate difficulty by good composers.

First Junior Grade.—Major and minor scales. Technical studies; Book of Velocity, Op. 299 Czerny; sonatinas by Clementi, Kuhlman, Gurlitt, etc. Ability to play from memory.

Second Junior.—Czerny, Op. 740, Impromptus by Schubert; Sonatas by Mozart or Haydn; two-part Inventions, Bach and works of other classical composers.

Advanced Course.—Wohltemper, Clavier, Bach; Studies of Chopin; Beethoven Sonatas.

Scales and arpeggios in their various form are taught in all grades.

Informal recitals are given during the year to enable students to acquire ease and self-control and to play from memory in public.

Four and eight hand, 2 piano numbers, are used on public programs with the view of teaching sight reading, confidence and adaptability.

THEORY OF MUSIC

Harmony

Students of the Music Department have, in addition to their regular private lessons, the advantage of attending the classes in Harmony, for which no extra charge is made. A study is made of the rudiments of music generally, including clefs, time signatures, scales, intervals, the construction and progression of triads and inversions and practice in notation and ear drill. "First Year Harmony" by Thomas Tapper is used as a text-book.

Important facts of musical history are discussed.

C. V. S. N. S. ORCHESTRA

MISS ADAMS

The orchestra was organized during the Fall Term, 1915. Regular weekly practices are held to prepare for frequent public appearances. Playing for the daily chapel service gives excellent experience in ensemble playing.

Any student who is capable of playing an instrument, either wind or string, is eligible for membership in the orchestra. Students are urged to bring their instruments to school with them and make application for membership without further notice.

VOCAL MUSIC DEPARTMENT

MISS ADAMS

Freshman Music—Required

Elements of Music—Clefs, signification and origin; construction of major scale, without key signature; normal, harmonic and melodic minor scales; common problems of tone and rhythm.

Dictation—Oral and Written

The subject matter of music is presented first to the sense of hearing. The student gains the power to think tones and to sense rhythms and learns to recognize and write simple melodic phrases in all keys.

Sight Reading—

Sequential and rhythm studies; individual singing at sight, using Latin syllables, music suitable for the first four years in the public schools.

Special Music—Elective

The aim of this is to prepare students to teach music in the public schools. It includes the following courses:

Dictation—

At the completion of this course the student is able to recognize and write melodies in which occur all the tonal and rhythmic problems of the first four years in music.

Sight Reading—

This course requires reading at sight (by syllable and words) music taught in the upper grades of the public schools.

Materials and Methods—

This course is devoted to the study and demonstration of material and methods for the first seven years of music. Special attention is given to the selection and presentation of rote songs for the different grades. The presentation of the different tonal and rhythmic problems of each year are studied in detail, and the problems which confront the public school teacher are carefully considered.

Practice Teaching—

Each student is required to demonstrate in the methods class his ability to present the different tonal and rhythmic problems. In addition, opportunity is given to do regular classroom work in the Model School under the supervision of the Director of Music.

Glee Clubs—

Opportunity is given to those of marked ability to join one of the Society Glee Clubs, which are under the direction of the Director of Music.

ART

MISS M. IRENE HUBER

The art course aims to develop an appreciation for the beautiful; to cultivate habits of observation and neatness, good judgment and good taste in dress, in house furnishings, and in surroundings in general; to train the hand to delicacy, grace, and skill in execution.

Our main purpose, however, is to emphasize the professional side of this subject and to train teachers to teach drawing and art appreciation in the grades under the guidance of a supervisor of drawing.

Course of StudySophomore Year

100 periods (two terms)

I. Pictorial Representation.1. Nature Study. (a) Plant Life. (b) Landscape.

The following methods are used to secure results: silhouette, outline and flat wash (gray washes and color), modeled drawing. Mediums—pencil, colored crayons, water colors.

2. Still Life. (a) Study of Type Forms. (b) Application of Type Forms. (c) Perspective.

Principles governing the appearance of circles, as in the cylinder, are given and applied to caps, bowls, etc.; straight line edges based on the cube and prism are applied to objects like books, boxes, chairs, tables, houses, streets, interior of houses, or rooms with furnishings in both angular and parallel perspective.

Mediums—Pencil, colored crayons and charcoal.

II. Composition and Design.

1. Principles.

DOMESTIC ART AND SCIENCE

MRS. HERR, MISS M. IRENE HUBER

We believe that every girl should be able to plan, cook, and serve a simple meal; to carry on with intelligence the ordinary household processes at a saving of time and labor; that the work should be inspirational, giving to the girls, the potential housewives and homemakers, higher ideals regarding their duties and privileges.

It is the aim of the department to be practical.

The subject is begun with a study of The Home.

- (a) Making a Home.
- (b) What Constitutes a Home.
- (c) Atmosphere of the Home.
- (d) Life in the Home.
- (e) The Woman in the Home.

The House—(a) Selection of Site, Drainage, Surroundings. (b) Style, Plans, Materials. (c) Construction and Foundation, Cellar, Walls, Roof. (d) Heating, Lighting, Plumbing. (e) Furnishing and decorating (with regard to sanitation, artistic value and utility). (f) Care of the House.

Cookery

MRS. HERR

The aim of the course is to give a general knowledge of:

1. The Principles of Cookery.
2. The Selection of Foods.
3. Food Values.
4. Planning of Meals.
5. Menu Writing.
6. Table Service.

After the principles which apply to each class of foods have been taught they are put to practical use in the preparation of school lunches for the day students. In this way students are given an opportunity of working on more than one occasion with the same foods, thus putting into practice what has been previously learned.

The course fits a student to plan, cook and serve meals, to calculate the cost, to purchase foods in the best market at the lowest price, as well as gives a knowledge of the nutritive value of each food and its proper place in the diet.

The measurement of efficiency is gauged by the score card system of the finished products. For instance:

Score Card for Jellies and Preserves—
Quality.....	80
flavor	50
consistency	15
texture	15
Appearance.....	10
color	5
transparency	5
Cost.....	10
time	5
money	5
Score Card for Bread—
Flavor.....	35
Lightness.....	15

INTERIOR OF GYMNASIUM

SECTION OF CAMPUS, GIRLS' DORMITORY, ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Grain and texture.....	20
Crust.....	10
Crumb.....	10
Shape and size.....	10

The dining-room has been recently furnished and a series of lessons on table service will be a part of the work this year. The class will be divided into groups and each group will plan, cook and serve a meal to the rest of the class. These groups will also be given an opportunity of taking charge of the cafeteria.

Cafeteria—

Lunches prepared by the members of the Cookery class are served daily to the day students of the school. A representative menu follows:

Cream of Pea Soup
 Pattie Shells with Creamed Shrimp
 Sandwiches:
 Ham
 Dried Beef
 Cheese and Pimento
 Salmon Croquettes
 Egg Croquettes
 Salads
 Gelatine Desserts
 Lemon Meringue
 Crullers
 Small Cakes
 Ice Cream
 Cocoa

Sewing

MISS IRENE HUBER

In this branch of the department the aim is to give a practical knowledge of the various stitches and seams used in articles made by hand, and includes at least one well-made, nicely executed piece of hand work. Articles such as dainty aprons, combing jackets, and dainty waists are usually selected. These show plain hemming, hemstitching, rolled hems, and sewing on of lace as well as insertion of lace.

Following hand work the use of the machine is taught in the making of simple garments. Cutting and fitting of simple garments are taught in this connection and such articles as under-garments, shirt waists and skirts or a simple one-piece dress are made.

The department believes that every girl should be able to make, alter and repair simple dresses; to buy materials with judgment and make simple, yet artistic dresses with economy.

Lectures are given on dress as to economy, appropriate dressing, good taste and judgment in selection of materials, color and cut; on styles suited to figures and on the care of the wardrobe.

MANUAL ARTS

PROF. BURKHOLDER

Woodworking

Two¹ well-lighted and heated rooms are given to this department. The equipment consists of fourteen cabinet-makers' benches, each furnished with a set of the more common tools. Other tools, including saws, planes, clamps, braces and bits, and an improved miter box and saw, complete the equipment of tools.

Students are provided with private lockers of ample size.

First year, 50 periods.

During this course the student is made familiar with the various tools, materials and equipment, and is given practical exercises in laying out work, methods of construction and wood finishing. A project of simple design is required. A suitable text is used.

Second year, 50 periods.

The work begins this year with an elementary course in Mechanical Drawing. Simple designs executed in wood and finished in wax, shellac or varnish, follow.

The care and use of shop equipment, including sharpening and adjusting of tools, is given more detailed attention.

A major project, such as table, bookcase or chair, is then constructed, following working drawing and bill of stock made and submitted by student.

Each Senior is required to plan and discuss a course in elementary wood work. Opportunity is given to teach classes from the Training School under the direction of the instructor.

A more advanced text is used in this year. Additional time outside regular school hours is offered students.

PENMANSHIP

So long as writing is taught at all in our public schools—and the need for it will always remain—it should be taught as well as any other subject, and probably better, because of its relation to health and fatigue. Recognizing this fact, daily drills in healthful posture, easy muscular movement, and correct letter formation are given with the aim of making these factors habitual.

The Palmer Method of Writing is used as a text and the course based on that system.
