COWBOYS READY FOR MORE

Two Games This Week

Fraser Gange, baritone, made a big hit Friday night when he gave a concert. He substituted for John Barclay on our regular Musical Artists' program. We, the students, were glad for the substitution and ask for him again.

A pleasing part of this program was the note of informality introduced by the singer. He made friends with every one. One number of his program was the familiar "Loch Lomond". He asked the audience to join with him in the chorus. The response of the students must have gladdened his heart. He exclaimed that it was splendid.

He was obliged to respond four times to cries of "encore" from the assemblage. He graciously complied. He sang "Mandelay" by Rudyard Kipling in a way to make the poem live in the hearts and minds of his listeners. The expression in his voice, face and body was wonderful and made each phrase vivid and real. He was at his best when he sang "The Two Grenadiers" by Schumann. He had the swing and rhythm to perfection.

His program follows:

 - (a) Bois Epais Lully
 - (b) Vulcan's Song Gounod
2.
 - (a) Traum durch die Daemmerung Strauss
 - (b) Von Schlaraffenland Schumann
 - (c) Ungeduld Schubert
 - (d) The two Grenadiers Schumann
3.
 - (a) An Old Song Re-sung Griffes
 - (b) Loveliest of Trees Peel
 - (c) Linden Lea Vaughn Williams
 - (d) Minor and Major Charles G. Spross
- (e) Achal by the Sea Rosada Lawrence
4.
 - Songs of the Scots Folk Arranged by Malcolm Lawson
 - (a) Bonnie Dundee
 - (b) Turn Ye to Me
 - (c) Loch Lomond
 - (d) Lizzie Lindsay

TEACHER TRAINING FACILITIES

Next semester there will be 55 teachers at the Normal School, 18 in the town, and 8 in the rural districts engaged in the training of prospective teachers. This will make a total of 81 thus employed.

In the Training School of the Normal School there are now 318 pupils; the 18 local teachers have about 720 pupils in charge; the rural teachers have about 240 pupils under them. This makes a grand total of 1278 pupils to whom the students have access for student teaching purposes. At no time are there more than 160 seniors engaged in teaching, which makes on the average of 8 pupils to a student. This makes an excellent showing.

WYOMING DEFEATS NORMAL IN CLASSIC OF THE SEASON

Normal Suffers First Setback In Six Starts

Saturday night Normal grappled with her old foe, Wyoming. The game was fast and furious and frequently interrupted by sneezing. Hrisiko got a half—Nelson then kicked three goals in rapid succession. Alper was pretty hot but Sack got him cool. Some boy Sack.

But no fooling—Normal was licked for the first time this season. Nothing daunted, they have set their eyes to the next game.

The Wyoming forwards, Hrisiko and young Alper, had a wild night. They each scored seven goals from the field. The slickers Alper put in were enough to waken our men. Austin and Garrity were a little under the weather. Altho they had been under Miss Lee's care for a short while they were not as they wanted to be. Coughing frequently interrupted a cut for the basket.

Jenkyns scored for Normal on several pretty long shots. He played a game that will be remembered by Wyoming. He and Garrity each got three field goals.

Sack is always at his best. He practically played two men but scored a few himself. He had tough luck.

Many of his shots went in and out again. They were heart breakers.

The team is gritting its teeth for the day Wyoming comes here. Beware Seminary. They say history repeats itself but don't bank too much on that. Come on Bloomsburg, let's give a rousing cheer for old B. S. N. S. "We're out for gore."

The line up and summary:

B. S. N. S.		F.	G.	F.	Pts.
Garrity	F.	3	1	7

CAPTAINS SELECTED

The Junior Girls have selected captains for their basket ball teams and they are as follows: Lillian Honacher, S. Bogut, A. George, M. Weldon, M. Thomas, M. Williams, I. Hilgert, A. Horsefield, H. Hess, F. Swavely, M. Corcoran, Oce Williams, N. Amesbury, E. Delaney, D. Reil and H. Schalles.

The names of the respective teams have not as yet been selected and hope to be at the end of this week.

Match games between four teams in each class will be played. The winner will become the team for that particular section; then there will be a tournament of games between each section, as was done in soccer.

The Seniors have already played off their match games this week. The Flying Squad beat the Coolies 12-9. It was a hard game and both teams were about evenly matched, so that the game was interesting.

Some other scores are:
The Two Two's—18; Only Wons, 0.
Eagles—12; Black Ties—2.
Snappy Six—10; T. T. T.—2.
Knockouts—6, B. B. B.—19.
Amateurs—17; Elves—0.
A. S.'s—8; P. D. Q's—12.
Mac's—21; D. B's—2.

The winner of each section will be decided the coming week.

Senator Borah suggested the tenth of February as the day to vote on the World Court.

JUNIOR PLAY UNDER WAY

The Juniors have at last come to a life of activity. They are beginning to live what Roosevelt called a strenuous life.

Preparations and rehearsals are under way for the annual Junior play. The subject is "Come Out Of The Kitchen" by Augustus Thomas. This play first appeared in Harper's as a story and was later dramatized with Ruth Chatreton in the leading role. Altho it had a large run in the Strand Theatre in London, its cast was not made up of any more handsome, beautiful or talented actors and actresses.

There is such a wealth of material at the command of its directors that two complete casts have been chosen and the race for position is still on. The cast will be definitely announced within a week.

The Stage Director of the play is Francis Garrity. George Matthews is Business Manager. These two have chosen committees and chairmen. The Chairman of the Stage Set Committee is Theodore Davis. His committee consists of about twelve others. The Property Committee is headed by Jack Lertnos. The Costume Committee is led by Verna Medley. Her task in clothes must be outstanding. Ocie Williams is chairman of the Prompting Committee. She must mend the mistakes.

This play is to be given on February the 26th. The school is anxious to see it. Save up your pennies. It's gonna cost four bits.

FRASER GANGE DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Encored Repeatedly

Coach Jackson's Cowboys are tightening their girths and loosening their guns in their holsters for the next brush with the enemy. Twice have they defeated attacking crews from foreign lands. Twice have they humbled arrogant aspirants for the Normal school championship. Those other boys shot not so straight as did ours. Woe unto the next ones.

This week we tackle two teams representing Pennsylvania State Normal Schools. We have never met either of these teams before. We do not know their strength. But what care we for the bears we see—Westchester already lies in her grave. Hot stuff!

Friday night we play Lock Haven. They have been at Bloomsburg before. They brought a football team down. They took a football team back but we kept the bacon. We will not boastfully predict success but can only say "Watch our dust!"

Indiana has tried a fall with us. We have met them on the gridiron. They won. They went home from Bloomsburg with seven points. We stayed here with none. We were at least polite. "Giving what you don't want isn't charity" We have a charitable spirit.

But our hearts have hardened. We want back what we gave. We can't have that but must take something else. We are mad, we see red! Let us all back our boys the limit when they venture on the floor with an unknown foe. Uncertainty is a terrible thing. Men of Bloomsburg Normal—the school is back of you.

As a matter of fact the members of the team, under Miss Lee's care, have shaken off their infirmities. Garrity had a cold—he's well again. Austin had a cold—he's rarin' to go. Jenkyns is improving his eye until its almost seems he can't miss. Sack is letting his beard grow to look hard. Man you don't need that. Give them both barrels. Walsh is sharpening his razor and priming his gun. The razor is for Sack—the gun for Indiana.

Last week the boys were at Wyoming where they lost. Students—they need our backing. Everybody out. Let's give a Rah! Tiger Normal! for the team.

SUMMER SESSION COMMENCEMENT

In order to meet the needs of prospective teachers more fully it has been decided to hold graduation exercises at the end of the summer session. Many teachers in service attend school here each summer who have completed almost all the credits required for a Normal Certificate. Unless these teachers are granted such certificates it is necessary for them to teach another year on a certificate of lower class. In consequence of this they receive smaller salaries than they would be entitled to with the certificate the requirements of which they have really met. The School cannot grant certificates except upon graduation. For these reasons the additional graduating exercises will be introduced this summer. As far as we know no Normal School in Pennsylvania has such a practice. It is a new departure which should prove very welcome.

SHAPERS WE

Conservation has become a national project. Trees have many enemies. Insects gather on the outside of the tree and work for its destruction. Others bore their way to the inside and work from there out. These are the tree's worst enemies. It is almost impossible to get them out. Those on the outside may be destroyed.

Public institutions also have their enemies. They also have parasites attacking them from the outside. They are easily annihilated. The character and reputation of the institution easily refutes the arguments of these outsiders.

The big danger to such an institution is the one who works from the inside out. Who sends lies to its world. His stories may be believed on account of his supposed position of observation. He is poison in the system of our institution.

The Bloomsburg Normal School has such an inside enemy. He tells infamous lies to eager listeners. We love our school and its members. Let us cast from us the one who sullies our name and tradition.

Who is it that lives with us and still can write such things as appear below? This is not the first article of its kind that has appeared. Who writes them? Out with him!

An extract from the Harrisburg Telegraph written by a Bloomsburg Normal Student:

Normal School Life, in 1926

M. H. J.—Of all the ways of attracting attention to one's self I know of none so foolish as that of parading a pair of donkey's ears. We had this fact confirmed in a rather unusual way this morning. Marks, as he is called, has been delighting the rest of the student body all year by trying to prove that man has come from a jack-ass instead of a monkey. While playing basketball in "gym" class one of the opposition men knocked him down, a second jumped on his leg and a third tramped on his neck. That was their way of contributing to the merrymaking.

Well, to make a short story long, the jester had his hip broken and his knee dislocated. But did he receive any pity? He didn't. To the fifty other "prospective teachers" in the class this was just another huge joke; and a pair of them showed their ingenuity by taking a pair of brooms between them in pantomime of stretcher-bearers and dashing to the rescue. —S. A. B. B., Bloomsburg.

DR. RIEMER SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB

On Thursday, January 14, Dr. Riemer spoke to the local Rotary Club on "Present-Day Tendencies in Public Education". Among the tendencies he discussed the redefining of public education, the restating of its aims, the placing of education on a scientific or fact basis, the equalizing of educational opportunity, the reorganizing of grades seven to twelve and the changing of normal schools into teachers colleges.

Dr. Riemer's paper is to be a chapter in the book which the Rotary Club is preparing as a gift to the local public library. Because of the intended use of the article he gave as much local color as possible to it, touching upon the local high school and the normal school.

Y. W. C. A.

One week ago at the Y. W. meeting, Miss Stackhouse gave a most interesting talk on Girl Scout Work. At a time to be stated later all girls interested in Girl Scout work may have the opportunity to take it up as a special course for two weeks. At the last Wednesday meeting a further informal discussion was held by the girls on the topic "Women" led by "Pat" Hilbert. This was a help to everyone.

Girls! Be sure and come to Y. W. every Wednesday evening. Opportunities are open for every girl to take an active part. Are you doing your share?

RUSHIN STARS IN PLAY

Bill Rushin was the star of the play given in Dramatic Club a week ago. The pathos in his voice was appealing and the audience longed to help him out by disclosing his secret. Jack Rowlands, in his first role, was made at ease and was a fitting partner to Rushin.

Alimenti was Rushin's son and made us feel he meant what he said. Sack made a good liar. He lay on a bed all the time and only moaned.

This was a male play and made a hit. If that is what its men can do alone what will they do when women are around.

SOCIAL STUDIES TEACHERS

During the second semester Miss Maupin and Mr. Reams will both teach social studies courses. Miss Maupin will have the work offered to students of Group 3 and Mr. Reams will teach the course in the teaching of social studies of the Juniors of Group 2. In addition both of the teachers will teach courses in educational sociology.

CHANGE TO TEACHERS COLLEGES

The Normal Schools of Pennsylvania are being changed into teachers colleges. In fact, the change has been going on for at least five years. The admission requirements are now as high as at any reputable college. The members of the teaching staff compare very favorably with the faculties of colleges. In some respects they surpass the latter, in professional contacts, in methods and skill of teaching, in interest in the growth of their students, rather than in the completeness of the subject matter taught. No young inexperienced instructors are put in charge of classes. The teachers are all well prepared, professionally and scholastically.

The equipment of the normal schools has also undergone a change. At Bloomsburg, for instance, there are excellent laboratories; the library is commodious and well stocked with useful and usable books; the classrooms are large, well lighted and provided with excellent blackboards.

As far as the normal schools have gone with their work, they have done well. Colleges now give credit, year for year, toward a degree in Education, for the two years of work that has been given for at least five years.

DR. BARNARD HERE SATURDAY

Dr. Barnard, director of Social Studies for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will be here on Saturday. He will arrive on the Pennsylvania at about 7:00 A. M. In accordance with his plans he will spend the day with Miss Maupin and Mr. Reams, our two social studies teachers for the coming semester.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR MAROON AND GOLD

More students should contribute to the Maroon and Gold. The success of a school paper, yes, of any paper, depends on the co-operation of the community, the cause of which the paper champions. The Maroon and Gold is our champion. It records the events of our school life. It puts us in touch with what our fellow students are doing. There are many things happening that merit consideration and that should be known by a wide circle. But much is hidden and concealed that should see the light of day. Only a few know it. These few should report it. Otherwise it will not do the good that it might do or is intended to do.

PREPARATION FOR NEXT SEMESTER

Preparation for a new semester has never been so complete. The master schedule, the group schedules, the student schedules and the teacher schedules have all been typed by Miss Andrews, Miss Eves and Miss Ohl. The students have chosen their courses and electives. Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Rorem, Miss Moore and Miss Hayden have made student teaching assignments. The necessary books are ordered. The teachers have their schedule cards. In addition they have a list of the names of the members of each one of their classes. All is set. The first semester closes Tuesday, February 2nd, at 4:20 P. M. and the second semester opens on Wednesday, February 3rd, at 8:00 A. M.

DR WEST HERE TODAY

Dr. West will be here to give us his third talk. He has already given us two talks, the first on "The Age We Live In" and the second on "The Life We Are Making". His talk today will be on "For What We Exchange Life?" There will be a fourth talk, entitled "The Size Of Our World". Judging from what Dr. West has done so far, there is much in store for us today. He thinks things through and expresses them in a forceful and clear manner.

IN COMPARISON

On the bulletin board outside of Coach Jackson's office appear two pictures. One is a picture of the faculty during the year 1925-1926. The other is a picture of the faculty of 1893. The difference is very great. The present members of our faculty who appear on the latter picture are: Mr. Hartline, Mr. Albert, Prof. Sutliff, Prof. Bakeless, and Mr. Jenkins the retired bursar. One can hardly recognize them for a difference in looks as well as dress has taken place.

ALPHA DELTA ZETA HOLD DINNER AND DANCE

The Alpha Delta Zeta girls journeyed to Lime Ridge on Saturday night where they enjoyed a chicken dinner. After dinner there was dancing. Those present were: Miss Nelle Moore, Miss Claire M. Conway, Misses Kathryn Munroe, Helen Pursel, Arline Sweet, Margaret Coburn, Marion Carpenter, Laura Mann, Margaret Isaac, Dorothy Troy, Lucille Kaufman, Bargaret Kraft, Jessie Zimmerman, Edna Brotherton, Edith Morris, Elgie Pretzman, Dorothy Friedman.

TROTSKY RE-ELECTED

Leon Trotsky is re-elected a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Russian Communist Party.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Brief Mention Of People You Know

Mr. Englehart spent Monday at Harrisburg where he attended a conference of Kiwanis. He is secretary of the local club.

The new local public library will soon be ready for use. This is a remarkable community project. The money which was necessary to erect the building was all subscribed by the individuals of the community. In addition to this money there are many thousands of dollars set aside as an endowment fund. The local library is already well supplied with excellent books. With the fine facilities that will come with the new building Bloomsburg will have one of the finest libraries in the state of Pennsylvania, at least for a town of from ten to twenty-five thousand.

In the absence of Dr. Riemer, Dean Sutliff took charge of the auditorium exercises on last Friday.

It is evident from the progress of the men playing basketball that Mr. Jackson knows how to teach the game.

Mr. William Coffman, '25; who is now teaching at Mifflinburg, called on Dr. Riemer on Saturday morning. He is enjoying his work very much. He is teaching in the seventh and eighth grades.

Many students took advantage of the fine weather on Saturday and hiked over the hills and fields. They returned full of enthusiasm over the beautiful scenery about the town and school.

Judging from the exchange column of the Green Stone we can say that the Maroon and Gold is being read at West Chester.

Professor Rhodes gave a talk to the teachers of Columbia County at a meeting last Saturday morning. He discussed the teaching of arithmetic.

Miss Nell Moore and Miss Hayden spent Tuesday in the Wilkes-Barre schools to make preparations for the Conference of the Teachers of North Eastern Penna to be held on March 11th and 12th.

While at Forty Fort Miss Moore and Miss Hayden saw some of our graduates teaching in its school system.

Mr. Dundore, teacher in the Sunbury High School, visited the School on Monday. It was visiting day for some of the Sunbury teachers.

Miss Rich, the new teacher for the Intermediate Department, will reach Bloomsburg on January 24th.

The third annual council meeting of the Boy Scouts of America of Columbia and Montour Counties met at Berwick on Tuesday, January 19, at 6:30 P. M. There was a dinner at the new hotel after the meeting.

Tuesday night was a night out for the majority of the students when they went to see "The Fool" at the Columbia Theater.

The custom of serving coffee on Long Hall instead of at dinner will be resumed, for the winter months, next Sunday afternoon. A musical program has been arranged for this time.

Miss Marian Andrews and Miss Emma Smith, former students, spent the week end at their Alma Mater.

WORK OF RURAL GROUP

During the second semester the work of Group 4 will be very interesting and effective. They will concentrate on sociology and school efficiency during the first few weeks, go into rural schools for student teaching for a period of at least four weeks, and then return again to do intensive work in sociology and efficiency.

EXCHANGE NOTES

Shawnee Arrow, Plymouth High School, Plymouth, Pa.—You have a most remarkable paper for a high school paper. The departments are well represented.

Normal Times, Normal School, Lock Haven, Pa.—Your "Klub Korner" is rather unusual.

The Snapper, Millersville State Normal School, Millersville, Pa.—We liked the cut on the first page for the names of the staff members very much.

The Comenian, Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa.—Your editorials and your literary department are good. Why not have more departments?

ECHOES OF RECITAL

Fraser Gange has an excellent voice. He was, however, not at his best last Friday. His voice showed signs of a cold. It was a source of disappointment and surprise, besides, that he was so poorly prepared for the recital that he did not know the words of his songs. There have been more finished and artistic performances given here than that of Fraser Gange, however interesting it was.

RECEPTION

At the time most of the churches in town were giving receptions to the Normal students, the Episcopal church was forced to postpone their reception due to the absence of their rector who was in Europe. However, on Monday night they fully made up for this loss when they entertained the Episcopal students at a theater party. Refreshments were served at the rectory immediately after the show.

JUNIOR "A" HOLDS PARTY

The girls of the Junior "A" section held a pajama party in Room R. last Saturday evening. Miss Patterson entertained at the piano, told interesting anecdotes and kept the party lively. After singing and playing games refreshments were served.

This party was the result of Miss Johnston's Oral Expression classes. Each class organized as a club of some sort for the purpose of drill in parliamentary practice. This division assumed the role of the Junior class and materialized their plans by holding a party.

KID PARTY

It has been definitely decided by the Junior Class to hold their long planned Kid Party on February the 12th. Send home for your clothes of years gone by.

LOVERS AND LIARS CLUB

Some of the boys of North Hall have the happy privilege of belonging to this wonderful organization.
