Bloomsburg Registers First Victory Crushes Kutztown 12--0

Bloomsburg invaded the Kutztown Gridiron on Saturday and walked away with an easy victory of 12 to 0. The Maroon and Gold defenders had the better of the argument on Saturday afternoon. This is shown best by first downs of which the local eleven had 15 and our opponents but four.

There was much fumbling, something that is generally prominent in an opening game and Bloomsburg was guilty of most of the losses handling of the ball. The fault was a big handicap in their scoring activities.

Wadas, varsity end for the last two years, scored the first touchdown in the opening period of the game by catching a forward pass behind the goal line.

"Heck" Maurer, a half back, scored the other touch-down by a short run during the last quarter.

In the closing seconds of the game "Nick" Jaffin went over the goal line but the officials claimed his forward motion had been stopped by a tackle. The ball was placed on the one foot line, but the time was up before the boys could succeed in scoring for a third time.

During the fray, Clarence (Rookie) Ruch was put out for the count by an odd bump on his nose. This gave a chance for John Harry to get into the game as tackle.

Kutztown made their only impression as an offensive team in the first three minutes of action. They received and put the ball in play on their 15 yard line. A forward pass netted them 35 yards and an end run gave them another first down. The Bloomsburg team organized their defensive and as a result their opponents received only two more first downs through the game.

The line up:

Bloomsburg 12		Kutztown 0
Pennington	Left Guard	Eppler
Ruch	Center	Moran
Yacobonis	Right Guard	Bright
Swinehart	Right Tackle	Schmeltzer
Wadas	Right End	Kennedy
Kraynack	Quarter Back	Derr
Maurer	Right Half Back	Hoffman
Kirker	Full Back	Walker

Substitutions: Krachich for Yacobonis; Swinehart for Ruch; Harry for Swinehart; Reese for Wadas; Jaffin for Kirker.

The Observer

Great work, Coach! You sure have a fine team. Keep up the good work.

Freshman rules have been declared off by the Student Council. Nice work, "Frosh". You lived up to the rules fine.

This paper received a lot of congratulations last week. THANK YOU! We promise to keep on with the good work.

This column noticed that some of the pictures and plaster casts on the wall are being defaced by some heedless, destructive people. They were put there for your pleasure and the beauty of the college. The bulletin board is directly opposite the Post-Office. Any notices can be posted there.

SUPPORT YOUR TEAM. What this school has lacked in the past is team spirit. Get a little snap into you! Your team merits your support and you know it. Be square with yourself and the team. Show yourself in your true colors and be on the field before time 'rarin' to go. Let's show West Chester that we are back of our team 100%.

"Frosh" Have Final Workout Extract from a Freshman's Diary, Oct. 8, '28

Hurrah! Our rules are off. All we must do from now on is to wear dinks. Cigarettes and women! Wow! I'm a free man again. Tonight we did the last of our foolish things for the upper classmen.

From now on we will hear new wise-crackers who previous to this time were solemn-looking, (if a "Frosh" can look that way,) clams. More students to beg cigarettes, more "cellar-digger" to take our girls.

The ceremonies began at ten o'clock, Monday night when the "be-dinked ones," who looked as though they might have been from Sing Sing instead of B. S. T. C. in the old clothes, were assembled in the lobby of North Hall. The only thing that happened there was a check-up. Master of ceremonies, Mr. "Shorty" Edwards found all of his "merry makers" present and everything was set for a big night on the "gore-stained" Mt. Olympus.

The most highly obeyed little leader then had his "blundering herd" up to the battle grounds and had them sing their class anthem, "How Green I Am," to keep up the moral. If they ever need spirit again they should try some other emotion-arousing song. Their class anthem failed to do this. After they marched around the field several times they formed a circle and the center of it became the ceremonial ground. That great minds run in the same channel was proved by "Frosh" Gutter, the first victim to be subjected to the criticism of his destructive classmates. He was called upon to expound upon the theory of "How High is Up." Gutter filled his mind in contemplation and flowed out the theory that "Up is to Up" as low is low. Because of this logical answer the "water-conducting Frosh" was dismissed.

In our midst we had one "Frosh" Levingre, who gave a wonderful demonstration of the correct and most efficient methods of making love. Because of the restrictions placed on Waller Hall, a tackling dummy was substituted for the reason which some of you know, that is, it takes two persons in a scene like that, (use your own imagination.) "Frosh" Levingre opened the round with a fearful strangle-hold. Miss Hit M. Harder certainly knows her stuff and she slipped from his arm. Undaunted and very emotionally the champion of the class 1932 make another attempt. His "comrades in suffering" are all cheering and begging him to overcome this vicious vixen. But this "Cleopatra" knew too much for her "Mark Anthony." The old story again, Frosh Levingre was called back into the line, a disgraced "Frosh."

Mrs. Miller Entertains in Chapel with Folk Songs

Our Chapel Program on Oct. 8, was in charge of Mrs. J. K. Miller, head of the Music Department

The topic which she presented was "Folk-songs". By way of illustrating kinds of folk songs, she used the Orthophonic victrola. Before playing the songs, however, Mrs. Miller discussed them. They originated among the people and were sung by scops and minstrels. From generation to generation, as these songs were passed on, they were unconsciously changed from the original, until, when written, they were oftentimes much different from the first version.

The first song was song by a Russian singer. The instrument on which the accompaniment played had a beautiful, velvety tone. "Paradise", played by Fritz Kreisler, on his violin, was next. The third was "Goodnight" sung in Bohemian by Bohemian opera singers.

To end the program, Mrs. Miller played for us a fine Hungarian dance. Hungarian dances are usually rich in expression and deep in thought, and this one was no exception to the rule.

Modern composers have taken these dances, and by adding here and there, some modern musical form, have made popular music out of them. This particular Hungarian dance was played by the Philadelphia Orchestra, and it made a fine end to a very excellent program.

Nomenclature of Classes

There seems to be some mistake in designating not only the lower but also the upper classes.

In no case should first year students be known as Juniors. For some reason or other, the term Junior has been frequently applied too the first year students of the two year course. This is not the correct form to be applied to this class. The following changes go into effect immediately.

1. All first year classes of any course shall be designated as Freshmen or members of the first year class.

2. The second year of the four year course shall be designated as Sophomores or second year class.

3. Members of the third year of the four year course shall be known as Juniors or the third year class.

4. Finally, the term Seniors belongs to the members of the fourth year class or those who are completing the second year of the two year course.

Kindly observe the above designations and use them properly, for by doing so you will avoid unnecessary confusion.

Edmunds: I'll bet Frosh Jenkins is Scotch.
Davis: He is. How did you know?
Edmunds: He licked his spectacles after eating his grapefruit.

TO THE STUDENTS WHO APPRECIATE THE MAROON AND GOLD

Almost all the college papers, including ours, are published by students. This school year we are experiencing many difficulties with the Maroon and Gold. Why? because the expense of issuing the paper is met by your subscription and the advertising space sold to the merchants of Bloomsburg. In regard to the first item, do you know how many students have subscribed? Exactly 28%.

We are not worrying about that, however, as our main difficulty lies between the school and the merchant. Some of the merchants are failing to co-operate with us as YOU fail to co-operate with them. Many of our advertisers consider the purchase of advertising space the

BEAT WEST CHESTER MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Men's Student Government of North Hall met October 8, in room L. Reports of the various committees were handed in, and many rules were discussed by members. The Men's Student Government is primarily an organization which has jurisdiction over the affairs of North Hall.

The officers of the Government are: President, Gilbert Gould; Vice-President, J. Yacabonis; Secretary, C. Ruck; Treasurer, N. Jaffin.

A radio committee, whose main duty is to look after the use of the radio, was appointed. The committee now consists of: C. Wolever, chairman; T. Kirker, R. Hodges, E. Jenkins, R. Brown, D. Thomas, H. Stoddart, H. Warman, J. Yacabonis, L. Wadas, J. Krafchick, X. Mathews, F. Davis, E. Richards and W. Siesko.

BEAT WEST CHESTER Girls' Athletic Point System

The major sports are hockey in the fall, volley ball or basket ball in the winter and base ball in the spring. Girls participating in all games of any tournament in the major sports will receive 100 points.

The minor sports are hiking and tennis. For every mile hiked the hiker will receive 2 points, but no more than 20 points a week in hiking will be allowed. For playing tennis the player will receive 6 points for each hour she plays. Ten points are given for playing a match in the tennis tournament. A girl may not play both hockey and tennis. Six points an hour are received for ice skating.

The "Y" Hut

The regular meeting of the college Y. M. C. A. was held on Wednesday evening, October, 10, 1928 at 7:15 in Room 22, Science Hall. The meeting opened with negro spiritual led by Llewellyn Edmunds. The scripture was read by Gilbert Gould.

The meeting was conducted on the order of an old fashioned "Negro Revival". "Listen Lord", a negro prayer, was given by Thomas Henry. A negro spiritual "Go Down Moses" was sung by the college Y. M. C. A. in unison. Handel's "Largo" was sung by Edmund Jenkins. "The Creation", a negro sermon was given by William B. Jones.

After the negro revival a short business meeting took place. It was decided to run a "Bowery Dance" in the Gymnasium on Saturday evening, December the eighth. The committee in charge of the dance is: Charles Poole, General Chairman; Theodore Davis, Robert Dew, Arthur McKenzie, Clarence Ruch, Edmund Jenkins, and John Taylor. Bids for this dance will be issued the first week in November.

Raymond Hodges, President of the college Y. M. C. A. in company with William B. Jones are attending a Student Faculty Conference that is being held at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster.

The main speakers of this conference are Dr. Sherwood Eddy and Dr. Rufus Jones. The theme to be discussed by these prominent men is "Christ in the Modern World".

The Y. M. C. A. has now a total membership of about thirty men. The Y. M. C. A. should be joined by every male student of this institution. It is a real service to the campus as well as the individual. Gentlemen, "your presence is requested at the meetings of the college Y. M. C. A. Real benefits are felt by those now attending. Let us all get around to the meetings.

To receive numerals a girl must have an A in sportsmanship. A B in posture and 300 points in Athletics. Of the 300 points, 100 of them must be minor and 100 must be major, while the other 100 may be mixed. For a letter she will have to have an A in sportsmanship, an A in posture and 600 points in Athletics, of which 200 must be major and 200 minor while the other 200 may be mixed. For every 300 points over the 600 the girl will receive a cheveron.

SOLACE

Deep and dark and strong
The ocean rolls along.
I forgot my grief
In moments brief
Of rapture deep,
And in my heart I'll keep
All of the memories—
The skies and seas.
O! line of wave and sky
Fold in this desperate cry
Of loneliness
And give me rest!
Deep and dark and strong—
A half forgotten song
Is wind on waves,
Symbolic of him who saves!
Margaret Umbewust

TO A DANCING GIRL

Laughingly you swing
Your silver slippered toes,
Dancing girl in silver gown
And wearing silken hose.
The careless smile you fling
To those along the wall
Only shows your singing heart
Never cares at all.
Breathless,
As birds upon the wing
You dance your careless way,
So fleet and swift and sure
Into the dawn of each new day!

RETURN

Let's you and I—
Just you and I,
Sailing go
'Neath starlit sky.
Leave words unsaid,
Let eyes but tell
As eyes may do so well.
Your laughing face,
Your fair young grace,
Your kind warm touch—
These things I've missed so much!
Margaret Umbewust

THE SEA

I stood by the lead-blue sea
When the white waves were rolling high;
I thought—a lovely thought came to me,
'Tis a sign that thy God is nigh.
I sat on a thousand silver sands.
When the sun sank into the sea;
I dreamed—A wondrous dream of lands
That are now far, far from me.
I sink into the cold, grey deep
When the calm pervades the depth;
I sleep—a wondrous sleep
For this is the sleep of Death.

MY FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF B. S. T. C.

The hustle and bustle of the first day at school, varied as it may seem, is a rather conventional affair. To begin with, there are the assignments of rooms, classes, etc., and also the usual question of wrong directions.

However, having registered late, I have the misfortune (or would you call it fortune?) of having missed quite a number of things. The council has decidedly turned thumbs down on the "Frosh", whereas a few short weeks ago, they were a frisky unruly lot. It is, I find, a timorous and brow beaten group, into whose midst I have been ushered. A sorry bedinked crew we are, who now vainly turn the calendar pages looking forward to next year.

Women, that glorious sex whom Shelley, Bobby Burns and Flo Zeigfield, have each in turn glorified are not for Freshman. He, solitary soul, must tread the paths of knowledge alone without the aid of clicking spanish heels at his side.

In closing, nothing more fitting can be quoted than those immortal words of Shakespeare, (or was it Milt Gross?) namely, "Greater love hath no man than an upper-classman for a Frosh".

DAVID COPPERFIELD

Charles Dickens, celebrated English novelist, has merited the highest esteem among all readers and critics. He was the first to introduce humanitarianism and democratic sympathy into fiction, he also made many efforts to improve the condition of the poor and down-trodden. Dickens turned his personal experiences to account in novels and has left a record of his early life in the early chapter of "David Copperfield," an autobiography.

In the beginning of the story, the author leads us to sympathize with David, whose father has died while his weak but loving mother marries Mr. Murdstone. David despises his step-father because of his cruelty, and as a result, David is sent away to a boys' school.

While David is at school his mother dies. Immediately, Mr. Murdstone sends David to London to earn his own living. Here, with the aid of some loyal friends, especially that of Mr. and Mrs. Micawber, David returns to his kind, old aunt, Betsy Trotwood, who adopts him and sends him to school at Canterbury. At his boarding house he meets the benevolent Doctor Strong who encourages him on to higher things in life and also Uriah Heep who almost wrecks his life.

After David finishes his course, he becomes a proctor. In the meantime, he marries beautiful Dora Spenlow who is an unsuitable wife. She dies, however, soon after their marriage.

Later David is considered an important figure in the English Parliament. He also becomes a noted writer.

In the end, David marries Agnes Wakefield, a noble and self-sacrificing girl who encourages him on to noble endeavors.

Although the plot of this story is melodramatic and is marked by repeated abuses of coincidence, nevertheless, its fine qualities—universal appeal and forceful settings—are well indicated.

As a portrayer of contemporary life and manners, Dickens has not been surpassed. He was more successful in handling the smaller walks of life than the upper, as is evidenced in this story.

Too, Dickens was "the greatest comic genius of modern times". His humorous figures, although there is an exaggeration in all, are an unfailing source of wholesome delight. Besides, the range of Dickens' creative genius was immense. We see that Micawber was a man famous for his long words and grandiloquent posing, the man who always waited for "something to turn out"; we see Uriah Heep, of the "clammy fingers," the "writhing body"—a polished hypocrite; Miss Trotwood we have with an antipathy to donkeys.

After reading "David Copperfield," a reader easily sees that the author was a lover of all his fellow-men, for his sympathies are revealed. He always wrote with an aim. It is the fashion to magnify his faults and limitations, but his genius is bound up with the life of the race and his name is among the immortals.

"Frosh" Have Final Workout

Another coming Romeo then staked his experience against that of Miss Hit M. Harder. Miss Harder, by the way, is one of Coach Booth's most intimate friends, and if this news gets to him, the love-making practice after dark on Mt. Olympus will be discontinued. This sweet little tackling dummy becomes all wrapped up in a certain "Frosh" Dusharks, a veritable John Gilbert. She made two unsuccessful attempts to break the most scientific holds of her most passionate lover. Finally she summoned all of her wiles to her advantage and slipped from crushing arms of the "Drug Store Cowboy". "Frosh" Davis was then called upon to explain something that has foiled everyone since the beginning of time. He was asked to inform his fellow-classmen where his lap goes when he stands up. Now, "Frosh" Davis is a very human being and he failed on the question. Of course, a "Frosh" might fail on any question and usually do.

The next event on the program was the feature of the evening. This was Heaven for the upperclassmen and (well for the freshmen) as long as they took it in the right spirit. These considerate North Hall dwellers ran a gauntlet of paddles and then entertained with leap-frog.

Following their recreation period, they were all asked to take off their shoes, (what a disgusting subject), tie them together and throw on a pile. They were lined up in a straight line about twenty yards away from this pile of leather. At a given signal a thundering horde of forty freshman charged to save their soles. (leather) After all of the charging maniacs had recovered their shoes they retired to North Hall. "Frosh" Jenkins told why the class of '32 was the best class that ever came into B. S. T. C. and the initiation closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

BEAT WEST CHESTER*SOCIAL NEWSMu Phi Sigma Meeting*

The Mu Phi Sigma Sorority started their social activities for the year by having a "Kid's Party" in the "Y" rooms, Science Hall. Every one present was dressed as kids. Games and dancing were enjoyed by all. Fitting refreshments were served for the occasion. Entertainment was given by Helen Wheaton imitating her big sister putting on lip stick. Ruth Rierick danced the Hi-land fling. Jane Williams sang a solo. Elizabeth L. Williams imitated a girl stuck in the mud. The prize for the cutest girl present was given to Mabel Penman.

Among those present were: Miss Mason, and Miss Maupin, Sponsors; Karleen Hoffman, Jane Williams, Charlotte Mears, Peg Oswald, Ruth Reirick, Claire Brandon, Lucile Martz, Ruth Shannon, Lenore Thomas, Mabel Penman, Myrtle Hoegg, Marion Hoegg, Lucile Cook, Irene Guest, Marjorie Orr, Cora Frank, Anna Mary Wasley, Hortense Evans, Peg Schwartz, Alice Pennington, Helen Wheaton, Elizabeth L. BEAT WEST CHESTER*Revocation*Boys

Jimmy Davis, flowery autumnal bloom of the Locker Room, possesses an imaginative character which is probably unequaled in our college. This unique character is constantly reflected in our Jimmy's conversation and in his questions to teachers. Recently, when Mr. Shortess, in physics class was discussing steering wheels and at this particular incident the amount of torque given by two hands on the wheel, our bloom blossomed forth thus, "How does it work for one hand?" This statement revealed Jimmy's thoughts to the class. The question was perfectly legitimate but the illegitimate part comes in answering the question, "What was Jimmy doing with the other hand?" Dear reader, murder will out. Watch for Jimmy's confession in the next issue.

The men are well pleased with the new, seven tube, Atwater Kent radio that came last week. The programs and especially the world series games are coming in fine.

Among those who signed out home this week end were: Frank Dushanko, Ami Harrison, Frederick Harrison, Alfred Jones, Ted Morrissey, Robert Knierim, Myron Moss, Charles Paul, Clarence Ruch, Wilbur Hibbard, Charles Surfield, William Watkins and Oliver Williams.

"Frosh" Perch's folks brough him about a half bushel of apples an hour ago. He doesn't have any now.

If teachers have the idea that our boys are inattentive they should be in North Hall during the time that a world series game is being played.

Yes sir! We have a radio, piano, several violins, banjos, clarinet, saxophones, cornets, good voices, etc. But really when they are all working we don't get music.

The foot-ball squad came in about midnight, Saturday, tired and hungry but happy and victorious.

New desks have been placed in all rooms on third floor. The whole building has been cleaned and repainted since last season. Also, a fine tower has been built on the South East and a fire escape on the North West end of the Hall. This makes a great improvement over conditions of last year.

Women's Student Government Association

The opening of the fall term of school this year; found the wheels of practically all student organizations in motion. One of the chief organizations is the Girl's Student Government Association. Several of the old members were re-elected this year, while new members are now filling the places of those girls who graduated or did not return to school. Elections were held the second week of school and the results of the election were as follows: President, Peg Schwartz; Vice-President, Loretta Fleming; Senior representative of the four year course, Cora Frank; Representative of the third year of the four year course, Cathrine Fleming; Sophomore representative, Dorothy Voight; Representatives of the Seniors of the two year course, Mabel Highfield, Rachel Gething, Peg Higgins, Muriel Taylor. As yet the Freshmen have not elected their representatives, but we hope they will get together real soon and do so.

The aim of the W. S. G. A. is to secure closer relationship between the faculty and students of our Alma Mater. Each class elects representatives from its group and it is the duty of these girls to settle minor disputes and questions among the individual students. In this way each girl feels that she is more responsible for the things she does, and that her fellow classwomen are all striving with her to make things more on a fellowship basis.

Then, too, the W. S. G. A. has appointed several committees whose combined aims is to better the living conditions in, and around the girl's dormitory. One of these committees is the Finance Committee. These girls have the power of giving people and organizations the right to sell anything in the Dormitory. The girls on this committee are; Peg Oswald, chairman; Muriel Taylor, Esther Harter, Grace Baskerville and Rachel Gething.

Another important committee is the Fire Drill Committee. Martha Laird is the chairman and her assistants are: Muriel Jones, Anna Farrel, Marjorie Ely, Elizabeth L. Williams. Quite often during the school

Y. W. C. A. Meets

Y. W. C. A. meeting of October 3, was opened with a song service. After this the members were entertained with a reading, "Don't Be What You Ain't," by Margaret Davis.

The scripture taken from John 1 and 2 was read by the leader, Louise Hewitt who then spoke on the topic of "Fellowship". She urged each to "live in fellowship and harmony and have faith—faith in our school and faith in our friends," and most important, to "be true to our friends and to ourselves and love one another".

In speaking on this same topic of Fellowship, Mary Laird told the club to "make friends by learning the likes and dislikes of others. We should make friends not only among our fellow students but also among the various members of the faculty. We should be friends to the lonesome ones around us; in fact, we really should try to be friends to all."

The meeting was closed with the friendship circle, and the singing of the "Y" song, Blest Be the Tie that Binds.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA ELECTS OFFICERS

The College Symphony Orchestra held their first business meeting of the year in Science Hall, Monday afternoon after rehearsal. Edgar Richards, last year's President called the meeting to order. He made a few remarks as to the success the orchestra had last year, and thanked the members for their fine co-operation in the past. He then declared the meeting open for the election of officers for this year. Richards declined to be re-elected to the Presidency again this year stating that he wanted someone else to have a chance this time. The following officers were elected:

- Sam Kurtz—President
- Brooke Yeager—Vice-President
- William Weaver—Secretary
- Edgar Richards—Treasurer
- Miss Zarr—Librarian

- Peg Ward—What would you do if a horse fell into your bathtub?
- Mary Walsh—I'd pull the plug out.

Senior Girls' Hockey

The Senior Girls' Hockey tournament has begun. The first games were played last week.

The tournament is made up of seven teams, the teams playing once a week. The games are played on Monday afternoons after 4:10. The captains are Misses Bowman, Fleming, Oliver, Archibald, Basken, Goshinski and Jarzenbowicz.

On Monday afternoon Goshinski's team beat Bowman's team. The score was 3-0. Oliver's team was beaten by Jarzenbowicz's, the score being 3-0. The closest and most exciting game of the afternoon was the game between Fleming's and Archibald's teams. The score was 1-0 in favor of Fleming.

Only five members of Archibald's team reported for the game. Miss McCannon acted as goal keeper for the losing team. Altogether it was a very hard fought game for the losers showed very fine fighting spirit.

Betty Edwards—Why is milk blue?
Peg Riley—Because it comes from discontented cows.

Stier—I like Mr. Wilson's course on Shakespeare. He brings things home to you that you never saw before.

Creasy—Huh! I've got a laundry man as good as that.

He-fly to she-fly—Say that you love me, or I'll jump into the first bowl of soup I see.

Davies—Dad, I did pretty well in the relay events.

Dad—That's fine, son! We'll make use of your talents. Your Ma will soon be ready to relay the carpets.

She was only a pirates daughter, but oh, boy! what a Kidd.

Berger—How can I keep my feet from fall-asleep?

Kurtz—Don't let them turn in.

As a well-known landlady once remarked; "Go, and never darken my bathtub again".

Listen, Frosh, you may be big game to some people, but you're just animal crackers to us.

Freshmen Boy's Party

Really senior men, it isn't at all fair for the W. S. G. A and Y. W. C. A. committees to leave you out on all their parties. You'll just have to get out and get all hot and bothered picking posies for the next school functions or you won't be invited to the next party. You see, the Freshmen Interior Decorators did pull something over on you when they recived invitations to attend the party given in their honor by the above committees. This all happened Thursday evening, September the twentieth, at six o'clock, in case you don't know all the caupus news, and everyone really and truly enjoyed themselves.

Some sang, and some pretended to sing. Each table was called upon to do a stunt of some sort and confidentially I think Miss Turner and Mr. Stier should have won first prize. The tables were beautifully decorated with brown-eyed Susans and candles, and I am sure it was a party never to be forgotten by those present.

Women's Student Government Association

year we are to have fire drills. This committee will appoint fire marshals and helpers, whose duty is to make the fire drills more systematic and of quicker action.

The House Committee is the last, but by no means the least in importance. It is the duty of Mandane O'Connell, as chairman, Dorothy Kisner, Evelyn Oliver, Esther Wruble, Alice Pennington, Elizebeth H. Williams and Dorothea O'Connell as assistants, to look after the general appearance of Waller Hall.

It is their duty to see that our window sills are not a branch of A. & P. Stores; to see that the irons are in working condition; to look after the furniture in the lobby's; to look after the halls and lavatories on all floors. They are to report the misuse of any of the above places and the breakage of any such school property.

Of course, practically all the Freshmen girls are very well acquainted with the customs committee. Loretta Fleming is the chairman, and her assistants are: Florence Regan, Peg Schwarz, Peg Higgins, Dot Voigt and Cora Frank.

All these committees were very successful last year, and because many of the old members are back on the same committees and know the work, we have promise of a very successful school year. With the cooperation of the members of the student body and the faculty we should have a College which is tip-top in every respect, both socially and scholastically.
