

Edinboro is Assured Funds, Building Grant Boon to College

The college was assured a portion of the building funds that have been granted Pennsylvania by the U. S. Government, according to the Erie Daily Times.

Of the $56,700,000 that has been allocated to this state, $325,000 has been given to the building fund of the State's educational, corrective, and penal institutions. How much of the latter sum will be given to Edinboro is not known, but it is thought that our school will receive a sizeable portion of this.

First on the building program for Edinboro are a gymnasium and a campus training school. Which of these will be started first is not known.

Rockwell Kent Heard Here

Rockwell Kent, world famed traveler, artist, lecturer, and writer, was the featured speaker on the lecture-entertainment course here on Monday evening, February 15.

Kent, who is primarily an artist, surprised his audience by referring to art very little in his talk, but disregarding this, his hour and a half of travel talk was highly interesting.

The setting for Mr. Kent's talk was laid in Greenland, where he first went to satisfy a desire to sail across the ocean in a small boat. Since his first trip to Greenland, Kent has returned there several times, always carrying a motion picture camera as part of his equipment. After talking for a short time to give his audience a background for enjoying his films, Mr. Kent showed several reels of movies, all taken on the ice-covered island of the North.

His talk was interesting and educational, and not a little humorous. The bathing of Justine probably caught the fancy of more of his hearers than any other single feature of the talk.

Frances Homer Next

Frances Homer, celebrated American playwright and actress, will be the next featured speaker on the Edinboro lecture-entertainment course, appearing here on Tuesday, March 2.

Miss Homer has combined the actual acting of plays with writing, and as a result all of the selections which she will present here will be from her own prolific pen.

The lecture scheduled for Friday, February 26, has been cancelled. Lorado Taft, famous American sculptor, who was to have appeared here at that time, died late last year.

Indiana, Clarion Games to Close Court Season Here

The Edinboro Red Raiders, with only three games remaining on the schedule, wind up their home season on Thursday and Saturday nights when they meet Clarion and Indiana, respectively.

The Crimson and White will be striving to even the score with these two teams who have each defeated Edinboro earlier in the season.

Here are the probable starting line-ups for the Edinboro-Clarion game to be played on the local hardwood Thursday evening:

Edinboro		Clarion
Reichel	F	Hetrick
Pfeiffer	F	Myers
Case	C	Teets
Wolfe	G	Bedzyk (C)
Volitich	G	Kribbs

The Tippen-coached quint topped the Raiders in their first meeting of the season in the last game of the disastrous early season road trip. The teams are evenly matched and should provide an even struggle.

Joe Hart, of Erie, will be the 11th man on the floor.

Funeral Services Held Saturday

Services for Mrs. Carmon Ross, who died last Wednesday in the Crile Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio, after an illness of several months, were held Saturday, February 20, in a beautifully appointed floral setting in the Ross home. The Rev. R. C. Johnston, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Edinboro, officiated.

The services, which were private, were attended by members of the Board of Trustees and their wives, members of the faculty and their wives, the Shadbrush and Garden Clubs, of which Mrs. Ross was a member, student representatives, Edinboro School Board, and the high school faculty.

Following the services here, the body of Mrs. Ross was taken to Buffalo, N. Y., for cremation, and then to Doylestown, her former home, for final rites.

ROCKETS TRIP EDINBORO

The Edinboro Red Raiders lost out in the final minute to a fighting Slippery Rock team when Carl Mallon sank a field goal to give his team the lead and, subsequently, the game, 49-43, after a hard fought contest which was tied up 19-19 at half time.

Except for the half-time lead and the final minute rally, Edinboro led throughout the game. Numerous fouls were called on both teams, with

(Continued on Page Four)

DEDICATION

We, the students of Edinboro State Teachers College, dedicate this number of The Spectator to the memory of Mrs. Carmon Ross.

There are times when words seem utterly useless, when the clasp of a friendly hand speaks more eloquently than anything we can say. This afternoon we feel with unusual keenness this inadequacy of words. We are all saddened by the bitter loss that has come to us. This sorrow is deepest, of course, to a few, but it is deep and real to many of us. All that words can do is partially to express any thoughts of comfort that may lift our eyes to the stars shining through our cypress trees. We need a confident sense of the wisdom and sympathy that lie behind even this sad experience. We need a reassurance that Life is ever lord of death,

And love can never lose its own.

Deep in our hearts, to be treasured throughout our remaining years, is a beautiful memory. Conceivably we might be relieved of all our poignant sorrow by the loss of memory. But would we gain oblivion at such a cost? It is no superficial assurance that

'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

The life of our beloved friend has given us a memory more beautiful and more fragrant than the flowers she loved so well. Beautiful things will always be a little more beautiful to those who loved her, because she loved them so.

Two or three years ago I overtook an elderly man carrying a basket of flowers along the highway, and offered him a ride. After getting into my car he turned to me and asked why it was that in these days when we are warned against picking up strangers I should stop for him. Said I: "Whenever I see a man who is interested in flowers I consider him friendly and trustworthy." The friendly soul of Mrs. Ross shone out through her love for all things beautiful.

The love of flowers is a delightful trait, but far more beautiful is love for God's highest creation, our own kind. There is nothing upon earth more beautiful than the love and devotion of a wife and mother. In complete and wonderful self-giving, Mrs. Ross devoted herself to her family. She gave herself unreservedly to those whom she loved. Well may these words from the proverbs be applied to her:

Her children rise up and call her blessed;
Her husband also, and he praiseth her, saying:
Many daughters have done worthily,
But thou excellest them all.

The memory of such a life is worth vastly more than gems or gold. Some of us had known Mrs. Ross only a short time, but we have learned to value her for her keen understanding, her quiet friendliness, and her sympathetic interest in others. Even in the short period of her sojourn in Edinboro she exerted an influence that shall long be remembered, as in the days of winter we recall the beauty and fragrance of a summer rose.

—This tribute to the memory of Mrs. Ross was read by Dr. E. Leigh Mudge at services Saturday.

THE SPECTATOR

STAFF

Editor-in-Chief John R. Swift, '39
 Associate Editor William Coyle, '38
 News Editor Richard Micacchion, '37
 Sports Editor Walter Nissen, '40
 Business Manager Joe A. Zahniser, '39
 Faculty Adviser W. V. Zahniser

REPORTERS

Clara Harrington, Clarence Heft, Louise Carlburg, Walter Hall, Frances Cochanides, Keith Skelton, Rita Russell, Martin Schweller, Elizabeth Samkowski.

TYPISTS

Harriet Durlin, Ruth Taylor, Marjorie Welsh, Averyl Wheeling.

EDITORIALS

The article, "In Fairness To All," which appears elsewhere in this issue of The Spectator, has been published by the paper in the interest of fair play. Perhaps some of the remarks which appear in it are a little pointed, perhaps a bit too pointed. But in allowing the "On Our Campus" column to appear every issue we have allowed a lot of pointed remarks to pass uncensored. For this reason, we are publishing the contributed article, "In Fairness To All," and with it we conclude this aimless bickering back and forth—for the regular "Campus" column will cease to be run in the future.

Since it is the purpose of any school paper to bring about or suggest changes or innovations, the staff of The Spectator has drafted a list which it believes is worthy of consideration.

Many of these are in the fire at the present time, but others are not in the fore.

These are: 1. A new gymnasium as the first part of any building program; 2. A more liberal extra-curricular program; 3. Greater subsidation for The Spectator; 4. Freshman subordination; 5. A regulated cut system; and, 6. Better assembly programs.

From now on, The Spectator will stand for these revisions or innovations of the management of the school. If, from time to time they appear in the pages of the paper, it will be to stress them and bring them to the mind of the people of the school.

Revise Curriculum

Beginning with the start of the second semester of the current school year, the Chicago Public Schools began a drastic revision of the curriculum of the entire public school system, which included all the grades from the first through the senior high school.

Pupils will not learn the longhand method of writing until they reach the third grade, instruction in long division and multiplication will be begun in the fourth grade, and fractions will not be studied in the fifth grade, as in the past, but in the sixth. These are the most important features of the new "streamlining" program in the Windy City.

A new system of reading is also being experimented with in the elementary schools, an assistant superintendent announced recently. There will be no oral reading, and pronunciation orally and mentally is to go, in favor of a system by which the pupils will be taught to "read by the eye alone", associating objects and pictures with the words which ordinarily occur in the primer.

Starting in the first grade the children will be taught writing by "kinesesthetic sensation" or "muscle sense", and this instruction will be confined to printing the letters until the third grade, when longhand writing will be begun. Chicago school officials claim that it is easier to learn to print than to write longhand, and that is most of the material which the students will be called upon to read is printed their reading will be learned easier.

A delay in the teaching of arithmetic and mathematics has been ordered all along the line by Dr. Wm. H. Johnston, superintendent of Chicago schools. Mathematics in the high schools has been made an elective subject, except for students, who, at the beginning of their high school days, start to prepare for college.

"More children are disheartened —," says Dr. Johnson, "physically, mentally, and morally—and have their morale disrupted by arithmetic than by any other course.

That the courses are being made easier by this "streamlining" is a fact that is believed by Chicagoans. A Chicago newspaperman said: "The new system has definitely lowered the standards of high school education here".

Because average students are allowed to carry only three major subjects, and because credit for graduation is being given for physical education, music, and art—the last three being required—teachers feel that students will follow "the path of least resistance" in selecting their

(Continued on Page Four)

In Fairness to All

Although Mr. Webster and I are not what one would call bosom companions, and therefore will not be able to add any new high in intellectual-sounding chatter to this paper, I believe I can put into good old-fashioned American what I want to say, and in such a way that the average Edinboro student won't have to puzzle for days to find any hidden meanings.

After reading the last issue of the Spectator, I was honestly disgusted, and I can safely say that I am not the only one. I can't understand just why we have to fill our school paper with such idiotic trash that makes up the "On Our Campus" column. Is a school paper for the purpose of making unpleasant and cheap remarks about the students under the guise of intellect and humor? Personally, I feel that this pseudo-intellect should have been thrown in the ashcan along with the Charleston and Clara Bow.

According to this same column, the Faculty isn't even exempt. Perhaps we should just turn the tables and let a few of our more experienced and decidedly brilliant students teach our stupid professors a thing or two. Why should we fool around, trying to learn something from men and women with mere doctors' degrees, when we have at least one student who could easily take over the work of three or four of the professors - - - besides giving up his time to help (?) publish the school paper?

These people amuse me - - - these who give the impression of being "oh, so much more cultured than others" and seem so, so disgusted when anyone on the campus tries a little harmless, risqué humor. Isn't it really amusing what a low form of humor apparently amuses them? When it comes right down to it, any of us could broaden our "a's" a little, but the truth will out, won't it?! Perhaps I'm wrong - - - maybe that is the sort of thing that a certain group likes, but can't we just be commonplace and at least keep everything in the Spectator up to the level where we can all understand it? We, who read the Spectator for enjoyment and information, do wish that we might ask that much. Writing a clever column is an art - - - note Brisbane and a few others - - - and far be it from me to pretend cleverness. I'm just stating the opinions of the majority on the campus along with my own.

Just a thought, (not even my own - - - I think I heard it expressed by a number of people) - - - Couldn't we have someone write the "On Our Campus" column who is really a figure in the social life of the college - - - not just an imaginative on-looker?

Come out to the last two games and help Edinboro beat Clarion and Indiana Thursday and Saturday.

Mean Temperatures

The following bit of editorial comment was clipped from the Kutztown Keystone, and, because of the fact that we have no better equipment than they, we are borrowing it. We hope that it will be thought about here.

There has been a tremendous advance in the science of air conditioning during the past five years which has given mankind a perpetual indoor spring. We realize that K. S. T. C. is not so fortunate as to possess air-conditioning equipment, but with the exercise of a little common sense much can be done by the proper manipulation of windows, to maintain a fairly comfortable atmosphere. We have been surveying conditions in respect to temperature in the college buildings, and it seems to us that little attention has been given to the comfort of the students in regard to these matters which effect our everyday well-being.

A recent article by an eminent physician which appeared in several metropolitan newspapers pointed out that sudden and extreme temperature changes lower the body resistance to colds. Consider a few of the many differences in temperature which students experience every day. We study in the library, where the mercury hovers around eighty, but when we leave we have a temperature change of forty degrees or more. At the dances it is found that so many windows are kept open that when the sweet young things remove their wraps and flit about in their beautiful but not particularly warm evening gowns they feel like South Sea Islanders at the North Pole.

In contrast, at basketball games where the crowds are large, so little ventilation is provided that the average spectator feels not unlike a patron of the Turkish bath. Classrooms also come in for their share of extremes in temperature. We hope that in the future a little more effort will be given to correct this condition which, as we have pointed out, may be very detrimental to health.—Kutztown Keystone.

BETA XI WALLOPS CHI DELTA CAGERS

In the recent intra-mural league games, played on Monday night, Beta Xi walloped Chi Delta, 30-19, while Reeder Hall topped the luckless Y. M. C. A. team 33-18.

The Beta Xi win gave them sole possession of first place and put the Chi Delta and Commuters in a tie for second.

The yearbook is well on its way to completion. All the pictures have been taken.

WE AIM TO PLEASE and Accomodate College Students at All Times.
EUGENIA'S BEAUTY SALON
 Dial 2492

Reeder Snooze

As you know our team lost a tough game to Slippery Rock Tuesday night, the score was 49-43 but the boys in Reeder are playing . . . There is a sign at the bottom of the steps telling how to keep house in the dorm. I guess Mrs. Forness finally decided to drop a hint to Lon . . . Hank Kirschner has moved in with Jimmie Woods. The boys are trying to reform Jim, and Hank seems to be having a hard time . . . at least judging by the horrible noises from that room . . . Dickie Micicchion is a magician and a pretty good one. The other night he demonstrated how to make twenty dollars disappear. We're anxious to see the next part of the performance . . . A few of the boys got their heads together in an effort to create confusion in the form of an assembly program. So far the ideas have been far too sensible . . . If you ever run out of soap, remember we always have Lux around (laugh) . . . I found out how Pete got his pug nose. He tried to tie his shoe string in a revolving door during the Christmas rush. The fraternity pledges are trying to raise mustaches. Personally I've seen more fuzz on peaches. They sure look healthy with their rozy cheeks. They don't catch on very quickly but they always get it in the end . . . I wonder . . . Who is the basketball star who gazes at the moon at 2 o'clock in the morning? Who is the wise one who smears marmalade on door knobs? How many jars of Vicks salve Hank Kirschner has eaten . . . When will the Reeder Hall barber shop open.

Editors note—Walter Hall wishes to inform the readers of Reeder Snooze that he is not responsible for any "slams" or any insinuations in this column as it was written by stooge of ye columnist.

ALPHA DELTA NEWS

The Sorority Sisters who did their student teaching in Erie last semester were welcomed back into our midst by a lovely buffet supper. We certainly appreciated the appetizing meal prepared by the Edinboro "Mother Patronesses".

Officers for the new semester who were recently elected are: Jo Ann Walters, president; Ruth Gilbert, vice president; Marjorie Welsh, secretary; Dorothy Duncan, corresponding secretary; Rita Russel, treasurer; Elenor Nichols, critic; Marion True, historian.

Plans are under way for the entertainment of the Edinboro "Mother Patronesses" and the coming pledge season, which will terminate with the Spring Formal.

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the Ross family.

MEET THE BUNCH
at JOLLEY'S

W. A. A.

June Welker

Our alumnae day, held Saturday, February 6, brought back 17 former basketball players who showed us they haven't forgotten what it's all about, although there were some stiff muscles the next day. The score, 40-16 in favor of the Phie, was rolled up by the following girls: Phie—Laycock, Deming, McKay, Chapman, Coppersmith, Bancroft, Wilkins, Harris, Covert; Deltas—Grimshaw, Crozier, Harper, Sexton, Kafferlin, Jones. High scorers were Laycock and Crozier. After the game the alumnae were entertained at a tea in the W. A. A. room and then as guests of Miss Ruttie at dinner in her home. Watching the boys' varsity game in the evening completed the day, which we believe to have been successful in every way.

The teas, started last year, are again being held, followed by social dancing classes for beginners only. After the girls get rhythm" the classes will be open to advanced dancers. Invitations were issued by the Kane Ski Club for members of our club to compete in the intercollegiate cross country and down hill races on February 2, 23, but old man weather prevented our going, and were we disappointed.

Nine amateur coaches are very busy lately telling the rest of us how to play basketball. They are: Gilbert, Andrews, Samkowski, Artman, Storer, Faivre, and Blackman, who are all members of the coaching and refereeing class being conducted by Miss Ruttie.

Phi-Delta supremacy was settled for at least one night, when the off and on campus games were played Wednesday, 19. The off campus Deltas dispatched the Phis 15-12, but on campus Deltas, not so fortunate, were beaten by a larger margin.

All those out for basketball in both societies have now been organized into four color teams, red, blue, gold, and grey. Matching colors from both societies will play each other on different nights, much the same as the boys' intramural games are now played. Team membership and a schedule of games will be posted later.

BETA XI PLEDGES SEVEN

Pledge season started with the beginning of the new semester and now the pledges are under rules which have been set up by the fraternity. The pledges to the Beta Xi fraternity are: Richard Peterson, Lionel Waters, Will Rogers, John Swift, Harry DePaulis, Robert Lytle and Leon Mead. The pledges will be required to uphold rigorous standards in order to signify their willingness to become Beta Xi's.

The committee to begin arrangements for the Spring Party has been chosen and is getting under way with its plans. Committee members are: Paul Peiffer, chairman; Alex Crevar and Arden Davies.

Sport Comment

By Your Sports Editor

Much sentiment, particularly at the Alumni Banquet immediately after the Raiders' 40-0 victory over Clarion, was expressed by the Trustees and the president of the college in favor of constructing a new building to house the athletic department of Edinboro.

It is needless to say that a new building of this type, particularly if it contained not only a large basketball court but a swimming pool as well, would be very much appreciated by the Edinboro student body. Now, with a recent appropriation of $325,000 by the state and federal government to Edinboro College for building purposes, it seems as though such a building is assured.

To review the inefficiency of the present building, which was a fine building in its day, is also needless. It is enough to say that it is present in large quantities. Let's look for the benefits! A new gymnasium and swimming pool at Edinboro would result in:

1st—Increased interest in athletics as a whole.

2nd—Increased facilities for training students for their athletic duties as teachers.

3rd—Increased participation by the students in health-building competitive sports.

If those three benefits don't make a new building worth while, come around and we'll talk it over.

The winter sports girls have been taking it on the chin lately in regard to the weather, which has been very unseasonal (so we are told) this winter. However, don't give up hope, girls, for we still have an always threatening month of March which may blow us right into the depth of winter. Someone said something about inveigeling the weatherman into predicting a warm March, so that it would be sure to be cold. You might try it, girls.

Don't forget the two final home games this week. The Raiders, who have also been taking it on the chin this year, need the support of the entire student body.

E'GHT PLEDGE CHI DELT

The 1937 pledging season was climaxed Wednesday, Feb. 19, when ten men were given the initial initiation into the fraternity. The pledges were chosen on a basis of scholarship, and fellowship, and have already proven themselves worthy of carrying on the standards of Chi Delta Sigma. The pledges are: James Wood, Charles Lewis, Conrad Primavera, Nick Volitich, John Clark, Chester Gutzler, Kenny Edwards, and Martin Shimko.

This semester the fraternity is fortunate in losing only one senior, John Shepley, president of the organization last year. Fred Case, who dropped out of school last semester, has re-entered, bringing the number in the fraternity to twenty-five.

Haven Hall Habitants

Here we are again . . . those "Girls on their own" . . . Career girls, or future schoolma'ams . . . aren't we all?

And here is a bit of light verse on a very heavy subject . . . it speaks for itself . . . in ah Southern manah . . . entitled "Boo Hoo".

It seems like ebery body else
Am gettin' mail, but Gee,
De letter I most speculates
Don't neber come to me!
Seems like I might reciprocite
A little word from you,
But no, you're jest like all de rest - -
You neber writes . . .
Boo Hoo. (anonymous)

Here and there . . .
Dottie Duncan should wear blue often . . . Turk and Mary Lou enjoy "before-dinner walkies" . . . where does all the 3rd floor water hide at 5:30 . . . Those home-bodies that go home every week-end . . . Brooksie, was your grand-pappy a Southern Colonel? "When I consider how my light is spent . . . Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?" sound at all familiar? . . . The hobblers about are only the Physical Education Dancers . . . paging George White!

* * * * *
Velma and Marian, first-floorers, are soon going to have a different slant on life - - - when they start their student-teaching.

I do think that Mary Alice is starting a fashion - - - "shower-slippers deluxe".

Have you read Bacon's "Of Studies"? Mr. Bacon believes that studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability.

(Continued on Page Four)

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM MAY 8

The Junior Class will honor the graduating seniors with their twelfth annual prom on May eighth, in the dining room of Haven Hall.

Plans are already well under way to match, if not excel the splendid proms that have been given in the past. The following committees have been working under the guidance of Miss Hudson, Junior class faculty advisor: Music, Don Denison, Meredith Kunkel, Jack Niengenien; Favors, Jo Ann Walters, Betty Hillier, Walter Hall; Programs, Virginia Jones, Dorothy Snedden, Frank Brown; Decorations, Darwin Miller, Dorothy Sullivan, Virginia Kaltenbach; Posters, Bert Glass, Verla Leonard, Gail Taylor; Publicity, Henry Kirschner; Tickets, Richard Wagner, Irene Smith.

The campus is beginning to look like itself again.

COLLEGE BARBER SHOP

appreciates the patronage of students and faculty.

F. R. STEVENS, Prop.

ROCKETS TRIP EDINBORO

(Continued from Page One)
several men leaving the game because of penalties. John Wolfe was high for Edinboro with sixteen points.

Line-ups follow:

Edinboro	FG	F	T
Pfeiffer	3	2	8
Simon	1	2	4
Case	1	2	4
Volitich	2	3	7
Wolfe	7	2	16
Reichel	2	0	4
Crevar	0	0	0
Gutzler	0	0	0
Total	16	11	43

Slippery Rock	FG	F	T
Axtell	5	1	11
Denbow	1	3	5
Truman	3	0	6
Barnes	3	2	8
Meals	4	0	8
Haynes	2	1	5
Mallon	3	0	6
Total	21	7	49

Referee, Brady, Titusville.

REVISE CURRICULUM

(Continued from Page Two) courses.

Under the new plan the required courses for high school are: art, physical education, music, three years of English, and one year each of general science and U. S. history. They may elect courses from the fields of science, languages, commercial and technical subjects and mathematics. Students who fail a course do not take it over, but are permitted to select another in order to make the credit they lost by "flunking".

Report cards, in addition to the regular class grades, will carry teacher evaluation of the pupil's work in extra-curriculum activities, as well as his character traits.

Generally, the teachers are upset by the new ideas of program, and parents are known to question its merits.

Bud's Barber Shop

AUSTIN BLOCK

The Shop of Quality

The P. H. Davis Tailoring Company
TAILORCREST — CINCINNATI, OHIO

SUPERIOR TAILORING SERVICE

New Spring and Summer samples are here. Ask to see them at your convenience in home or office, day or evening.

M. D. STEVENSON

Box 25 EDINBORO, PA. Phone 2542

Y. M. Plans Housewarming

The college Y. M. C. A. is inviting all the members of the faculty, the Y. W. C. A., and the young men of the school to a housewarming at their new clubrooms in the basement of Reeder Hall on the evening of March 3. At this time, the three rooms will be formally dedicated and an interesting speaker, Reverend Wayne Furman, of Erie, will address the group.

Reverend Furman, who was formerly the pastor at the Edinboro Methodist church, is now at Simpson M. E. church in Erie. An able speaker and a leader of young people, Rev. Furman will talk on a subject which is of vital interest to everyone, the topic of "World Peace".

Later in the evening there will be refreshments served by the young men.

On the 3rd of February a number of the Y. M. C. A. members will go to Allegheny College to visit the Y at that school, which is just getting under way. The Edinboro unit, having been in existence for some time

Edinboro Coffee Shop

MEALS LUNCHESES
ICE CREAM

Special Student Lunches

MR. AND MRS. A. L. LYNCH
Props.

COME TO BAKER'S for your Overcoat

Presenting . . .

WESTBERRY COATS NORWOOD FLEECES
HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX
MACKENNA TWEEDS ALPACUNAS

$22.50 to $60.00

"IN SIZES AND MODELS TO FIT EVERY MAN"

ISAAC BAKER & SON
STATE STREET AT SEVENTH — ERIE

HAVEN HALL HABITANTS

(Continued from Page Three)

What a funny beast the mule are
He has two legs behind and two before
But you have to stand behind the two behind
Before you find out what the two behind be for.

* * * * *
Friday is the favorite house-cleaning day . . . Kaltenbach has "Gone with the Wind" . . . A sweet personality—Jean Kilgore . . . Calvin looks purty in black velvet . . . These last few February days lack character or something . . . Don't lost sight of the obscure inner working of yourself that you find reflected on your face . . .

Perchance this column should be entitled . . . "Much Ado About Nothing".

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Team	G	W	L	Pct.
Beta Xi	5	4	1	.800
Chi Delta	4	3	1	.750
Commuters	4	3	1	.750
Reeder Hall	5	3	2	.600
Off Campus	5	0	5	.000
Y. M. C. A.	3	0	3	.000

First Ten High Scorers

Scorers	G	FG	F	T
Scarpitti	4	21	4	46
Miller	5	14	4	32
Meade	5	14	1	23
Peterson	5	13	3	29
Crevar	2	14	0	28
Edwards	4	13	1	27
Burke	4	10	5	25
DeRemer	5	10	4	24
Southall	5	9	3	21
Heft	3	10	1	21

and having aided the Meadville group in getting started, is sure to be welcomed royally.

Cooper-Swift Co.

appreciates the College Students

Get to Know Meyer Quality

University Styles

in Belcourt

SUITS and TOPCOAT

$21.50 to $29.50

HATS - HABERDASHERY - SHOES

Reasonably Priced

P. A. MEYER & SONS

817-819 State St., Erie

BOSTON STORE

ERIE, PENNA.

If unable to shop in person use our
MAIL ORDER SERVICE