THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Grand Marshal, Dr. Baher Ghosheh. A gift of the Alumni Association, the mace was designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College President Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabochon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. The cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar symbolizing the thirteen state colleges of Pennsylvania. The shaft of the mace is composed of Brazilian rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curricula. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the ceremonial mace include turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The first presidential medallion was presented to former President Foster F. Diebold during the May, 1981 commencement ceremonies. Designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel, the sterling silver medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, a symbol of knowledge. On the reverse side is the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudor rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Surrounding the silver medallion is a gold crafted circle which reads "Edinboro University of Pennsylvania." Professor Katzwinkel, now retired, added this piece to the medallion especially for the Inauguration of President Frank G. Pogue in 1997, and it is now a permanent fixture to the medallion representing the school's current status as a University.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap, and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

GOWN

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor's and master's gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor's gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master's gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor's degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

HOOD

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

CAP

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master's degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

PRESIDENT FRANK G. POGUE

Frank G. Pogue was appointed the 15th president of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on July 1, 1996.

A sociologist, Dr. Pogue holds a bachelor's degree from Alabama State University, a master's degree from Atlanta University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh.

His decade of service at Edinboro University of Pennsylvania is marked by unprecedented growth and advancement in academic programs, graduate enrollment, campus facilities, and fund raising. Ushered by a nationally-recognized strategic planning process, academic programs have expanded to include broadcast and print journalism, forensic chemistry, forensic accounting, women's studies, character education, and management information systems among others. At the same time, online programs have contributed to significant growth in graduate enrollment. New accreditations have been achieved in Education, Business, and Social Work, and accreditation efforts are under way for the University's programs in Art, Theatre, Business and Journalism. The University was re-accredited with commendation for ten years by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools in 2003. Under Dr. Pogue's direction, the campus has undergone a physical transformation that is unparalleled in the history of the University. New buildings, renovations, new campus signage, infrastructure upgrades, and information technology equipment, networking, and information system enhancements have ensured that our students and faculty have access to the facilities and support systems necessary to enable academic excellence. The doors to Edinboro University in Meadville opened in 2005, signifying the University's permanent presence in Crawford County. Access to Edinboro University in Erie – The Porreco Center was enhanced through technological connectivity between and among the University's Edinboro, Erie, and Meadville locations. As the Sesquicentennial year concludes in the spring of 2007, we will successfully complete the $15 million capital campaign – the Campaign for Excellence. Dr. Pogue has created the concept and philosophy of the Edinboro Family, a learner-centered environment where students come first and are an integral part of a caring and supportive campus community.

Dr. Pogue participates in national, regional and statewide leadership groups. He serves on the American Council on Education's (ACE) Commission on Women in Higher Education and is chair of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities' (AASCU) Millennium Leadership Initiative. Regionally, he serves on the advisory council on affiliated institutions for the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools (MSA) with which he has been affiliated for more than 30 years.

His statewide involvement includes the Board of Directors of Pennsylvania Campus Compact, the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) Commission for the Universities and Commission of Presidents, and the Executive Board of A Community of Agile Partners in Education (CAPE). He has served on higher education advisory panels for Pennsylvania Governors Tom Ridge and Edward G. Rendell.

Locally, Dr. Pogue serves on the Boards of Directors for the Meadville Area Industrial Commission, the Erie Regional Chamber and Growth Partnership, and the Erie Philharmonic Orchestra. Additionally, he serves on the Boards of Corporators for the Hamot Health Foundation, the Saint Vincent Health Center, and the Meadville Medical Center. Dr. Pogue has provided leadership for a number of regional fund-raising initiatives, including the Erie County State Employees Combined Appeal (SECA) campaign, the Erie Day School's Adopt-A-Scholar scholarship drive, and the Annual Campaign of the Greater Erie County Chapter of the American Red Cross. This year, he is serving as the Community Campaign Chair for the 2007 United Arts Fund Drive.

Dr. Pogue was honored by the Erie Area Chamber of Commerce with the Louis J. Tullio Community Service Award. The Greater Erie Community Action Committee (GECAC) honored him in 2006 with the R. Benjamin Wiley Memorial Award, "Spirit of GECAC"; the Othello Myers Johnson Human Services Award (2004); and with the Paul P. Martin Community Service Award (2000). In 1999, the Distinguished Service Award for Leadership and Vision was presented to him by the SUNY at Albany Council of Trustees.

Prior to his presidency at Edinboro University, Dr. Pogue was the vice chancellor for student affairs and special programs at the State University of New York (SUNY) Central Administration in Albany. While vice chancellor, he also served for one year as interim president at the SUNY College at Cobleskill.

GRAND MARSHAL

Leading the academic procession and representing his faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Commencement is Dr. Baher Ghosheh of the Geosciences Department at Edinboro University of Pennsylvania.

A professor of Cultural Geography, International Trade, the Middle East and Japan, Professor Ghosheh's distinction as Mace Bearer for the Winter Commencement is symbolic of the central role which faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro's students.

Professor Ghosheh, a native of Jerusalem, began his post-secondary studies in the United States at the University of Mississippi. After several years in the South, he moved north to the State University of New York at Buffalo, where he earned four degrees, including a Doctor of Philosophy in Geography and Comparative Economic Development; a Master of Arts in Geography, with a concentration in Economic and Cultural Geography; a Master of Arts in Political Science, with a concentration in International Relations and Middle Eastern Studies; and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science. He also earned a Graduate Certificate in International Trade.

His educational philosophy demonstrates a visceral understanding that students have different learning styles. "I try to use various techniques and methods to reach students, always attempting to make learning fun, relevant and current, while doing my best to get my students actively involved in the learning process," he explained.

Dr. Ghosheh's professional career at Edinboro is highlighted not only by his teaching, research and commitment to educational excellence, but by numerous awards and honors as well. In 1999, he secured a coveted Fulbright Award, sending him to Singapore and Malaysia. That same year, he was named Pennsylvania Geographer of the Year. Named to "Who's Who Among International Scholars in North America" in 1992, Professor Ghosheh was nominated for the Joseph Katz Distinguished Professor Award the same year.

During the spring 2005 term, Dr. Ghosheh served as a visiting professor at Shandong University of Technology in the Peoples' Republic of China.

He taught classes in English conversation and comparative development while studying Chinese (Mandarin) and conducting research on Chinese economic development and culture.

While on leave from Edinboro during the 1996-1997 academic year, he taught at Miyazaki International College in Japan, offering courses in comparative economic development and international business, as well as regional courses focusing on the Middle East and Japan.

Like many in his field, Dr. Ghosheh has traveled extensively for vocational and avocational interests alike, visiting 49 countries and 41 states.

A prolific author, his book, "A New International Economic Role for the Arab World: Lessons from the Japanese Experience," was received with acclaim, as were his textbook articles for the Geography Annual Editions, and "FOCUS," the magazine of the American Geographic Society.

Dr. Ghosheh is often the public face of Edinboro University, serving as a media expert through scores of print and electronic media consultations with his succinct commentary about comparative politics and cultures, the Gulf Wars and the Arab-Israeli conflicts.

Active in civic and community organizations, he typifies the dedication, commitment and involvement of Edinboro University's faculty to educational excellence and service to students. That's why his selection as our Winter Commencement's Mace Bearer and Grand Marshal honors not only Professor Baher Ghosheh, but Edinboro's entire faculty.
