THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Grand Marshal, Dr. Thomas White. A gift of the Alumni Association, the mace was designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College President Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabochon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. The cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar symbolizing the thirteen state colleges of Pennsylvania. The shaft of the mace is composed of Brazilian rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curricula. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the ceremonial mace include turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The first presidential medallion was presented to former President Foster F. Diebold during the May, 1981 Commencement ceremonies. Designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel, the sterling silver medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, a symbol of knowledge. On the reverse side is the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudor rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Surrounding the silver medallion is a gold crafted circle which reads "Edinboro University of Pennsylvania." Professor Katzwinkel, now retired, added this piece to the medallion especially for the Inauguration of President Frank G. Pogue in 1997, and it is now a permanent fixture to the medallion representing the school's current status as a University.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap, and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

GOWN

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor's and master's gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor's gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master's gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor's degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

HOOD

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

CAP

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master's degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

PRESIDENT JEREMY D. BROWN

Dr. Jeremy D. Brown became the 16th president of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on July 1, 2007. Since his inauguration, President Brown established new pathways to academic excellence while leading the university in continued physical growth of the Edinboro campus. He has also traveled abroad to China, Korea, Panama, and Poland to renew or establish new articulation and collaboration agreements with higher education institutions. In the coming months and years, he will continue to take Edinboro to the world and bring the world to Edinboro.

Since Dr. Brown assumed Edinboro's presidency, graduate studies program enrollment increased significantly along with the university's distance and online learning offerings. His short tenure also includes oversight of more than $150 million in new, ongoing and future construction projects.

A renewed "Fighting Scots" school spirit accompanies the Brown presidency, which emphasizes Edinboro's Scottish heritage with events such as Tartan Day, the Purple Thistle Award to recognize outstanding faculty and staff, and a fresh marketing campaign directed at audiences in the traditional recruiting area as well as beyond the boundaries of northwestern Pennsylvania.

In athletics and recreation, this spring Dr. Brown added another varsity sport, women's lacrosse, to Edinboro's lineup, and will soon dedicate the new Mike S. Zafirovski Sports and Recreation Center, the region's largest free-standing domed facility.

Dr. Brown came to Edinboro from SUNY-Canton where he served as provost and vice president for academic affairs since 2003. As the 2,600-student university's chief academic officer, he steered campus-wide strategic planning, oversaw vigorous growth in distance learning opportunities and cultivated many international collaborations.

A native of Manchester, England, he earned both a Bachelor of Science and a Ph.D. in physics from the University of Birmingham, England. His doctoral work in experimental nuclear physics was conducted at the University of Birmingham. Immediately following the completion of his Ph.D. requirements, Dr. Brown spent two years at Indiana University doing nuclear physics research.

Following his stint at Indiana, Dr. Brown accepted a faculty position in the Physics Department of Princeton University, where in addition to continuing his research, he taught undergraduate and graduate-level physics courses. Transitioning into academic administration, Dr. Brown was named associate dean of the Graduate School at Yale University. Later, he returned to Princeton as associate dean of the faculty. In 2000, Dr. Brown was named rector of Florida State University-Panama, serving as the chief executive officer of a small U.S. university operating in Latin America.

During his career, Dr. Brown published many scholarly articles and has been an invited speaker at international conferences, research institutions and universities. He served as a visiting scientist at the University of Stellenbosch, the University of Manitoba, the Department of Nuclear Physics at Oxford University and the National Accelerator Centre in Cape Town.

The President's community service includes membership on Board of Corporators of the Hamot Health Foundation, the Board of Trustees for the Saint Vincent Health Center and System, and the Erie Philharmonic Orchestra's Board of Directors and chairmanship of the Board's education committee.

Dr. Brown and his wife, Rebeca, became the proud parents of Andrew Jeremy Brown within the past year. When not traveling for the university or engaged in myriad presidential duties, Dr. Brown likes to play squash. Weather permitting, Dr. Brown also enjoys sailing or skiing, and particularly takes delight in spending time with his sons Lucas, Gabriel, and now, Andrew Jeremy, or visiting his family in England and Panama.

Having taken film courses while on sabbatical at Oxford University, Dr. Brown thoroughly enjoys unwinding by watching movies. He is also an avid fan of England's Manchester United soccer team.

GRAND MARSHAL

Leading the academic procession and representing his faculty colleagues by carrying the ceremonial mace at today's Commencement is Dr. Thomas White of Edinboro University's Nursing Department.

As an Assistant Professor of Nursing and President of the University Senate, Dr. White's distinction as Mace Bearer for the Spring Commencement is symbolic of the central role which faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro's students.

Dr. White, a native of nearby Venango and graduate of Cambridge Springs High School, began his post-secondary academic career in New Castle, Pennsylvania, where he earned a diploma in Professional Nursing from the Jameson Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. From there, it was off to Edinboro University and a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing in 1994, followed by a Master of Science degree in nursing in 1999.

By 2000, he had earned an additional 10 post-masters credits from Edinboro, and in 2006 he was awarded the Doctor of Education in Administrative and Leadership Studies degree from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

His professional certifications are many and include Basic Life Support, Advanced Cardiac Life Support, Certified Emergency Nursing, Basic Life Support Instructor and National Board-Certified Family Nurse Practitioner.

Dr. White has made many professional presentations at the state and national levels, and his licensure by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and by the Drug Enforcement Agency includes Registered Nurse and Family Nurse Practitioner.

He began teaching at Edinboro University in 1995. His current assistant professorship responsibilities include providing clinical instruction for sophomore, junior, senior and graduate (nurse practitioner) students; classroom instruction in the area of medical/surgical nursing, pediatrics, pharmacology, and community health for undergraduate nursing students; and classroom instruction in assessment and diagnosis for graduate family nurse practitioner students.

Dr. White is also employed at Saint Vincent Health Center's Emergency Department where his responsibilities include providing direct care for a wide variety of critical and non-critical patients, and serving as a charge nurse and trauma nurse leader.

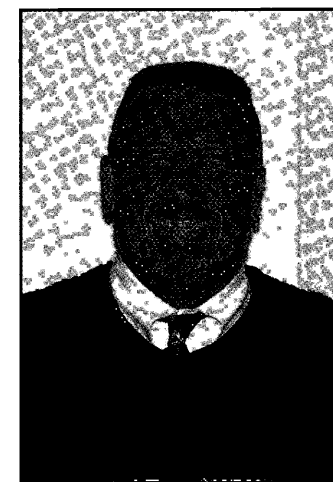

His educational philosophy demonstrates a visceral understanding of the importance of providing complete health care education to students enrolled in one of Edinboro's most sought-after programs. In fact, that philosophy engenders a belief he conveys to students that education has no culmination. "Education is a lifelong journey," he tells his students. "My education truly began when I graduated from college!"

An avid traveler, Dr. White is particularly fond of his trips to Italy and to Hawaii.

Dr. White's background as an undergraduate and graduate student at Edinboro served to enhance and highlight a professional career here that has benefited his students and his colleagues. Like many in his field, he is respected University-wide as well as in the local health care delivery system in the region beyond Edinboro.

As President of the University Senate, one of Dr. White's tasks is to bring all segments of the Edinboro community together to participate in dealing with challenges facing higher education in general and at Edinboro University in particular.

Dr. White typifies the dedication and commitment of Edinboro University's faculty to educational excellence and service to students. That's why his selection as our Spring Commencement Mace Bearer and Grand Marshal honors not only Dr. White, but also Edinboro's entire faculty.

EDUCATOR, ADVISOR, RESEARCHER & STAFF OF THE YEAR

Dr. BAHER GHOSHEH, of the Geosciences Department, is the 2009 Educator of the Year. This award is presented annually to a faculty member who demonstrates excellence in teaching.

According to those faculty members and students who nominated Dr. Ghosheh, he clearly reaches the heights of teaching excellence in all he does at Edinboro University.

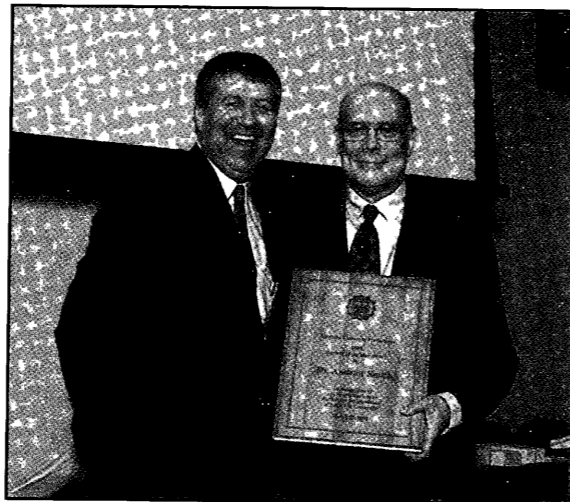

In his letter of nomination, Dr. Kerry Moyer, Chair of the Geosciences Department, wrote, "Peers and students alike consistently remark upon the energy and vitality that Baher brings into the classroom as well as his ability to get students involved in the active learning process. I believe it is that attitude and way of thinking that sets Baher apart from many other educators."

Dr. Moyer went on to say, "Dr. Ghosheh's reputation for excellence has been recognized by his peers and he is often sought after to assist in University-supported initiatives. For example, Baher has been kind enough to offer sections of World Geography for the First-Year Experience initiative and for special groups such as cohorts supporting the Preschool Education and Greater Erie Community Action Committee programs. I cannot think of a more worthy candidate for the Edinboro University Educator of the Year Award than Dr. Baher Ghosheh."

Dr. ANDREW SMITH, of the Communication and Media Studies Department, is the 2009 Advisor of the Year. This award is presented each year to an Edinboro faculty member who stands out as an excellent academic counselor and who enables students to achieve their academic, personal and professional goals.

"Dr. Smith exhibits great intelligence in my dealings with him and in his teachings," wrote graduate student Theresa Gilliland. "Despite his astute level, he remains easy to talk with, approachable and friendly. He is a great source of information in that he is knowledgeable in terms of which classes are offered and when, and also helps guide students to make appropriate choices in regard to interests and career goals."

Another student, Tracey Larson, also had high praise in her letter nominating Dr. Smith for the Advisor of the Year Award. "He helped formulate my plan of study and encouraged me to also complete the requirements for the Conflict Management Certificate," she wrote. "As a student, I appreciated his encouragement and guidance throughout my two years at Edinboro University."

Larson also added, "He has our best interests at heart, and really wants us to have a great academic experience!"

Dr. ULF SORHANNUS, of the Biology and Health Services Department, is Edinboro University's 2009 Scholar of the Year. The Scholar of the Year Award was created as a means of recognizing the excellent practices and successes of Edinboro's august faculty members, not only to underscore the quality of scholarship at Edinboro University, but also to encourage continued best practices among faculty.

In a letter of nomination for this award, Dr. Kiran Misra wrote, "Dr. Sorhannus has published his research on diversity dynamics of diatoms in the January issue of Nature, an extremely prominent scientific journal with a readership of over 300,000. In addition, he has extensively published in many other leading journals."

Dr. Misra's nomination also declared: "Dr. Sorhannus has brought excellence in scholarship into the classroom ... he continues to collaborate with scientists from prestigious institutions such as Cornell University, Columbia University, The Smithsonian Institute and the University of California-Davis, as well as his colleagues here at Edinboro. The Biology and Health Services Department strongly endorses Dr. Ulf Sorhannus for Edinboro University's 2009 Scholar of the Year Award."

The nomination came with 13 pages of supporting documents, including lists of Dr. Sorhannus' many fellowships, grants, research seminars, teaching seminars, community service, publications and research articles.

Ms. SUSAN WILKOSZ, secretary for the Political Science & Criminal Justice Department and the History and Anthropology Department, is the 2009 Staff Member of the Year. The award is presented to an employee demonstrating uncommon commitment to students and the achievement of university-wide goals, objectives and priorities.

In his nomination letter, Dr. J.D. Fisher, Chair of the Political Science and Criminal Justice Department, wrote, "The nature of her work and contributions are such that no letter or nomination form can do her justice. One would need to work with her daily, as I have, to fully appreciate how integral she is to the successful functioning of our section of the university."

Dr. Jerra Jenrette, Chair of the History and Anthropology Department, added, "Ms. Wilkosz's impact on the primary stakeholders is immeasurable! I cannot imagine how our students would suffer if she were not the frontline in our office. Her professionalism serves as a model for students, other staff members and faculty."

A beneficiary of Ms. Wilkosz's work ethic, student Ashley Grove, wrote, "Ms. Wilkosz is the heart of the departments. Without her, the departments would fail to work properly. Her ability to balance everything that she does with a smile every day makes everyone else smile."
