THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Grand Marshal. A gift of the Alumni Association, the mace was designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College President Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabochon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. The cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar symbolizing the thirteen state colleges of Pennsylvania. The shaft of the mace is composed of Brazilian rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curricula. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the ceremonial mace include turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The first presidential medallion was presented to former President Foster F. Diebold during the May, 1981 Commencement ceremonies. Designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel, the sterling silver medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, a symbol of knowledge. On the reverse side is the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudor rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Surrounding the silver medallion is a gold crafted circle which reads "Edinboro University of Pennsylvania." Professor Katzwinkel, now retired, added this piece to the medallion especially for the Inauguration of President Frank G. Pogue in 1997, and it is now a permanent fixture to the medallion representing the school's current status as a University.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap, and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

GOWN

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor's and master's gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor's gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master's gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor's degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

HOOD

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

CAP

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master's degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

INTERIM PRESIDENT JAMES D. MORAN

Dr. James D. Moran became Interim President of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on June 1, 2011. He brought to Edinboro University a diverse and successful background in higher education academics and administration, coming here from the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE), where he served as Vice Chancellor for Academic and Student Affairs in the Office of the Chancellor.

Since his arrival at Edinboro six months ago, Dr. Moran has successfully led the University through a period of fiscal challenge and a number of important student-centered initiatives, while at the same time becoming fully engaged with virtually every University constituency, as well as reaching out to the local community and broader region beyond.

Before coming to Edinboro, Dr. Moran joined PASSHE's Office of the Chancellor in 2005 and was appointed Vice Chancellor for Academic and Student Affairs in October 2008. PASSHE's 14 Universities – including Edinboro – represent some 120,000 students. In his administrative position there, Dr. Moran served as the primary advisor to the Executive Vice Chancellor and the Chancellor on all academic matters. He also provided overall management of the Division of Academic and Student Affairs, including strategic leadership and direction for the Division, which is responsible for overseeing academic program approval and review, faculty development, academic and student policy development, articulation and transfer policies and grants development for PASSHE, and for participating in Statewide Meet and Discuss with the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties (APSCUF).

Interim President Moran holds Bachelor of Arts degrees in Psychology and History from Duke University, a Master of Science degree in Psychology from the University of Oklahoma, and a Ph.D. in Family Relations and Child Development from Oklahoma State University.

Dr. Moran's additional PASSHE duties included working with state agencies, such as the Statewide Post-Secondary Data Council, the T.E.A.C.H. Advisory Committee (Teacher Education Scholarship program coordinated by the Pennsylvania Child Care Association), the Pennsylvania Child Care Association Professional Development Committee, the Pennsylvania High School Coaching Initiative Advisory Committee (K-12 mentoring program for teachers), the Legislative Office of Research Liaison (Pennsylvania House of Representatives), the Speaker's Golden Apple Awards Advisory Committee (K-12 school program awards from the Pennsylvania House of Representatives), and providing testimony to various Committees of the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Also, in addition to his responsibilities as Vice Chancellor, Dr. Moran serves on the advisory boards for the National Center for the Study of Collective Bargaining in Higher Education and Pennsylvania's Complete College America Initiative. He is Pennsylvania's higher education lead for the Partnership for Assessment of Readiness for College and Careers and is a member of the group that is reviewing Pennsylvania's Teacher Evaluation process. He also is a member of Pennsylvania Department of Education's Transfer and Articulation Oversight Committee (Pennsylvania Department of Education), Pennsylvania's Early Learning Council and the GEAR-UP Advisory Board. He serves as the lead for Pennsylvania's participation in the International Assessment of Higher Education Learning Outcomes Project and on the Program Committee for the State Higher Education Executive Officers Higher Education Policy Conference and PASSHE's Access to Success Initiative in partnership with EdTrust.

Previously, Dr. Moran served in the University of Tennessee System Office as Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs. There, he was responsible for coordinating the University effort to achieve regional re-accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and served as facilitator for special projects, developing a University Business Incubator, forming a statewide multi-university academic consortium in public health and acquiring federal funding for the University of Tennessee Center for Nutrition and Fitness. He also held numerous other positions at the University of Tennessee, including Dean of the College of Human Ecology and Associate Dean for Research and Business Administration within the college. He was elected and served as the president of the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences in 2004.

Also, Dr. Moran headed Family Relations and Child Development at Oklahoma State University, and served on the faculties of the University of Tennessee, Oklahoma State University, Virginia Tech University and the University of Oklahoma.

He is the recipient of the Honor Award from the Tennessee Association for Family and Consumer Sciences, the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the College of Human Environmental Sciences, Oklahoma State University, the Environmental Design Award from the American Society of Interior Designers, the AHEA Leaders Award from the American Home Economics Association, and the New Achievers Award from the AHEA.

At Edinboro University, his leadership has led to improved relations with the regional community, and he brought together the campus community to launch the extensive planning and self-study process in preparation for Edinboro's 10-year reaccreditation by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. Dr. Moran was also instrumental in bringing officials from the U.S. Department of Education to campus during the fall semester for an important Early Education Roundtable.

GRAND MARSHAL

Leading the academic procession and representing her faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Commencement is Dr. Gayle Ann Morris of Edinboro University's Department of Business and Economics.

As a Professor of Economics, Dr. Morris' distinction as Mace Bearer for the December Commencement is symbolic of the central role which faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro's students.

Dr. Morris was born in Niagara Falls, New York, grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was the first member of her family to attend college. She earned the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies and the Master of Arts in Latin American History from Bowling Green State University. She later served as a Visiting Scholar for the Land Tenure Center at the University of Wisconsin-Madison before earning her Ph.D. in Agricultural Economics from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. For her doctoral dissertation, she conducted field research on smallholder credit with coffee producers in Costa Rica, funded by an Inter-American Foundation Fellowship.

Dr. Morris' extensive international work experience includes stints in South Africa, the West Africa region, Ghana, Uganda, the former Soviet Union, Malawi, Kenya, Australia, New Zealand, Peru, Ecuador and Costa Rica, and her areas of specialization include microfinance, cross-border trade, non-traditional exports assessment, private sector competitiveness, and rural service delivery.

Dr. Morris began her higher education career at Penn State University Erie – The Behrend College, in 1989. As an adjunct Professor of Economics and Women's Studies at Behrend, she taught courses in International Trade and Finance; Economic Theory (Micro and Macro); Economic Development; Latin American Development; Multinational Corporations; Women, Minorities and Employment; Women in Development; and Introduction to International Studies, the latter four of which were new courses developed by Professor Morris.

During that same period, she also began her Edinboro University career, teaching economics and finance courses. At Edinboro, she was nominated for the Educator of the Year Award, and served as her department's freshman advisor. Currently, her research centers on the role of Microfinance in economic development in rural Pennsylvania, and the role of microfinance in alleviation of poverty in developing countries.

Dr. Morris is the recipient of a grant, "The Economic Viability of Microfinancing in Pennsylvania" ($82,632), from the Center for Rural Pennsylvania. She received a prestigious W.K. Kellogg Foundation National Fellowship.

Having taught economics courses for the past 22 years in New York and Pennsylvania, Dr. Morris is a consultant for the U.S. State Department and in that capacity, has done work on microfinance and cross-border trade in Latin America and throughout the African continent. She has presented her findings to policymakers, government officials and other researchers at the World Bank and the State Department, to representatives of various foreign governments, and at state and regional economics conferences. Her research has been published in economics journals, State Department report series, and as chapters in development economics texts. In addition, she has been involved in consulting activities for nearly two decades, including the Academy for Educational Development in South Africa, the International Center for Research on Women in West Africa, and the USAID/Haiti Economic Growth Sector team in Haiti. Her academic portfolio includes scores of publications and presentations, both in the United States and abroad.

Dr. Morris has been married for 41 years to Gregory L. Morris, a Professor of American Literature at Penn State Erie –The Behrend College. They are the parents of two children, Dr. Katherine Morris Hall, a Senior Research Fellow at the Duke University Center on Aging, and Benjamin Morris, who is completing his MFA in Creative Writing at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas. Dr. Morris enjoys reading, hiking in southern Utah, and attending women's hockey games, and she is learning to fly-fish.

Dr. Morris' extensive higher education background and global experience as a renowned economist has served to enhance a professional career at Edinboro University that has benefited her students, her colleagues, and the entire University community. Dr. Morris typifies the dedication and commitment of Edinboro University's faculty to "The Edinboro Experience," to educational excellence, and to service to our students.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Edinboro Alumnus Xavier D. Williams has been selected to address the graduating class at today's Commencement ceremony.

Mr. Williams is being honored in this manner for his leadership in business, for his commitment to the education and the training of students as future leaders, for his dedication to the ideals of human development and diversity in the workplace, and for his enthusiastic and generous support of his Alma Mater.

A 1989 graduate of Edinboro University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, Mr. Williams later earned a Master of Business Administration from the University of Pittsburgh. He is currently Senior Vice President, Public Sector and Healthcare, for AT&T. In that role, he is responsible for supporting state and local government, education and healthcare enterprises across the country.

Mr. Williams began his career with AT&T in 1990 and has held a variety of positions in Finance, Product Management, Business Planning, Human Resources and Sales. Prior to his current role, he served as Senior Vice President, Business Communications Services, for AT&T Southwest, where he was responsible for enterprise market sales and customer service in the states of Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. Prior to this appointment, he held positions as Federal Sales Vice President for AT&T Government Solutions, and HR Training Vice President, where he led the company's Global Learning strategy.

Mr. Williams currently serves on the boards of Jarvis Christian College, Wilberforce University and the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education's Foundation. He sits on the advisory board for the National Sales Network, and is a member of the Executive Leadership Council.

An advocate for people development and diversity, Mr. Williams is a member of the advisory boards of T University (AT&T training facility) and Asian Pacific Islanders for Professional and Community Advancement. He was the first recipient of the AT&T Corporation Chairman's Diversity Award. In 2003, he was recognized by the USA Freedom Corps for his dedication to community volunteerism, and in 2008, he received the Eagle Award for leadership from the National Eagle Leadership Institute. Profiles in Diversity Journal listed him as one of the most influential African Americans in Business in 2009.

Mr. Williams received the Distinguished Alumni Award from Edinboro University in 2010 in tribute to his success in parlaying his Edinboro experience into a significant professional career and a distinguished record of community service. He established an endowed Business Speaker Series at the University to provide students with the opportunity to meet outstanding business leaders and explore issues affecting business practices today. His own experiences and successes provide inspiration for Edinboro students, and his commitment to excellence, integrity, diversity and service serves as a stellar role model for our future leaders.

A native of Washington, D.C., Mr. Williams and his wife, Tina, are the parents of a daughter and a son. Edinboro University is indeed fortunate to count Xavier Williams as an alumnus, supporter and friend.

Alma Mater

Edinboro University

Hail to Thee

our Alma Mater glorious;

fresh wreaths we bring to bind thy brow.

Trials have passed and Thou hast stood victorious,

never fairer, never statelier

than now;

O Edinboro, Edinboro,

ever praising Thee in song,

While class speeds class,

as swift years pass,

to Thee our hearts belong.
