THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The Ceremonial Mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the University Marshal, Ms. Nancy Acker. A gift of the Alumni Association, the Mace was designed and executed by Dr. Seymour Blinderman, formerly of the art faculty, and Mr. Henry Katzwinkel. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College President, Chester T. McNerney, in 1966.

The Mace, twenty-seven inches high, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded by cone-shaped rubies. The neck of the Mace is inlaid with rosewood, alternated with silver fleur-de-lis. Cultured pearls mounted on cups encircle the top of the shaft. Discs of silver interspersed with rosewood compose the shaft which ends with tip-casted silver. Sunken cultured pearls encircle a rounded cone with textured silver to end in a small globe.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

A symbol of presidential authority, the first Presidential Medallion was presented to Foster F. Diebold during the May 1981 Commencement ceremonies. It is permanently housed in the President's Office and will be presented to successive presidents. Designed and executed by Mr. Henry Katzwinkel, assistant professor of art, the sterling silver Medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. On the reverse side is the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, an image of knowledge.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle, the symbol of defense, protection, and strength. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudu rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

EDINBORO UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT - FOSTER F. DIEBOLD

Since his appointment as president of Edinboro University on August 1, 1979, Foster F. Diebold has initiated a wide variety of policies/procedures and programs on the Edinboro University campus which have been designed to complement his desire for an increased level of excellence and quality in higher education.

Noted for his extensive experience in the field of education management, President Diebold had previously served as president of the University of Alaska Statewide System. President Diebold's principal fields of professional interest include higher education management, governance and planning, budget development and fiscal control, legislative liaison, and personnel management/collective bargaining.

President Diebold strives for perfection and innovation in higher education. In so doing, and under his direction, this University can pride itself on outstanding programming, such as the Disabled Students Program which is one of the largest in the eastern part of the United States. Additionally, the Honors Program, one of the President's favorite projects, draws upon the contributions of University staff for its scholarship funds, and recognizes the academic distinction of excellent students by offering specialized interdisciplinary coursework and advanced research. These are just two very fine programs in place at Edinboro University. The newest effort in educational innovation brought about by the President is a concept known as "Partnerships in Education and Industry." This activity fosters an increased level of awareness of the needs and desires of the educational and industrial communities.

A native of Orange, New Jersey, President Diebold served as president of the University of Alaska from 1977-1979. Prior to that, he was executive secretary to the board of regents and special assistant to the president of the University of Alaska's Statewide System. From 1969 to 1976, he was director of the Division of College Development and Planning at Kean College in New Jersey (formerly Newark State College); and from 1965 to 1969, he was assistant superintendent of Neptune Township Public Schools in New Jersey.

Edinboro University's president holds a bachelor of science in education from Monmouth College, a master of arts in educational administration from Seton Hall University; and he has met course requirements for his doctorate in education at Rutgers University.

President Diebold currently serves on the Commission of University Presidents' committees on Administration and Finance, Educational Policies and Planning, and Human Resource Management. He is also a member of the State System of Higher Education's Board of Governors' Committee on Long Range Planning. President Diebold recently served on the search committee for selection of a vice chancellor of academic policy and planning for the State System of Higher Education. He is also a recently-appointed member on The Council of Higher Education of the State Board of Education Task Force on Articulation, and he is a charter member of the World Future Society.

President Diebold's community service includes membership on the Board of Corporators, Hamot Medical Center in Erie, and on Marine Bank's Local Advisory Board. He also serves as a member of The William J. McMannis and A. Haskell McMannis Educational Trust Fund Advisory Board and is a member of the Scholarship Selection Committee for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Corporation.

The President and his wife, Patricia, have two daughters—nine year-old Jessica and three year-old Stacey.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

Gown

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor and master gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

Hood

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color or coloring of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

Cap

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

The University does not claim the list of degree candidates is absolutely accurate. Students are granted degrees only if they meet all academic and financial requirements.

ALMA MATER

*Hail to thee, our Alma Mater glorious,
Fresh wreaths we bring to bind thy brow
Trials have past and thou has stood victorious
Never fairer never statelier than now,
O Edinboro, Edinboro
Ever praising thee in song
While class speeds class as swift years pass
To thee our hearts belong.*
