The Ceremonial Mace

The Ceremonial Mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the University Marshal, Dr. Jean Bloom. A gift of the Alumni Association, the Mace was designed and executed by Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the Inauguration of Edinboro State College President, Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The Mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabachon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the Mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. The cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar symbolizing the thirteen state colleges of Pennsylvania. The shaft of the Mace is composed of Brazilian Rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The Mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curriculums. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the Ceremonial Mace include: turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

The Presidential Medallion

A symbol of presidential authority, the first Presidential Medallion was presented to Foster F. Diebold during the May 1981 Commencement ceremonies. It is permanently housed in the President's Office and will be presented to successive presidents. Designed and executed by Mr. Henry Katzwinkel, assistant professor of art, the sterling silver Medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. On the reverse side is the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, an image of knowledge.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle, the symbol of defense, protection, and strength. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the TUDO rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Academic Vestments

The gown, the cap and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

Gown

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor and master gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

Hood

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color or coloring of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

Cap

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

The University Marshal - Jean Bloom

Carrying the Ceremonial Mace and leading the academic procession as University Marshal is Dr. Jean Bloom, professor of psychology and counseling. Dr. Bloom has completed 18 years of service to Edinboro University and will be retiring in May 1987.

Jean Bloom graduated from the University of Maryland School of Nursing with a bachelor of science in nursing and a master of education in guidance and counseling. She also earned a professional diploma in counseling psychology from Columbia University and a doctorate in rehabilitation counseling from New York University.

Before joining the staff at Edinboro in 1969, Dr. Bloom served as educational director of the Englewood Hospital School of Nursing where she developed a counseling program for students. After two years at Englewood, Dr. Bloom decided to re-direct her career goals in the area of rehabilitation counseling.

She worked for a number of years in agencies throughout New York City and was the initiator of a five-year research and demonstration program for home-bound high school students. The program, the first of its kind, addressed the needs of severely disabled and emotionally disturbed children.

After leaving New York, Dr. Bloom taught at the University of Pittsburgh and the Research and Training Institute at Johnstown Rehabilitation Center before coming to Edinboro.

During her 18 years at Edinboro, Dr. Bloom was a principal agent in the development of the rehabilitation counseling program. The master's degree program was accredited by the Council on rehabilitation education (CORE) in 1981, and graduates of the program are now enjoying successful careers in a variety of rehabilitation areas.

Last year, Dr. Bloom was honored by the Council on Rehabilitation Education by being selected to receive the Mary E. Switzer Award for her distinguished contributions to the field.

In addition to her teaching, Dr. Bloom has published numerous articles in magazines and professional journals. She is a member of the Board of Catholic Social Services and chairman of the Board's Long-Range Planning Committee. In her spare time, Dr. Bloom enjoys writing poetry, for which she has won numerous awards including fifth place in a national poetry contest and the 1985 Golden Poet Award.

Edinboro University President - Foster F. Diebold

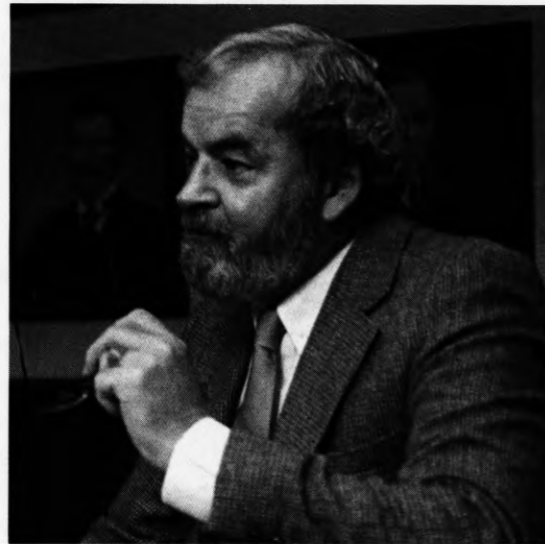

Since his appointment as president of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on August 1, 1979, Foster F. Diebold has initiated a wide variety of policies and programs designed to complement his desire for an increased level of excellence and quality in higher education.

Noted for his extensive experience in the field of education management, President Diebold previously served as president of the University of Alaska Statewide System. His principal fields of professional interest include higher education management, budget development and fiscal control, legislative liaison, personnel management and collective bargaining, ethical issues in higher education, and international education.

A native of Orange, New Jersey, President Diebold served as president of the University of Alaska from 1977 to 1979. Prior to that, he was executive secretary to the Board of Regents and special assistant to the president of the University of Alaska Statewide System. From 1969 to 1976, he was director of the Division of College Development and Planning at Kean College in New Jersey; and from 1965 to 1969, he was assistant superintendent of Neptune Township Public Schools in New Jersey.

A graduate of Monmouth College, Diebold holds a bachelor of science in education and a master of arts in educational administration from Seton Hall University. He has met course requirements for his doctorate in education at Rutgers University and is currently enrolled in the Ph.D. program in higher education at the University of Pittsburgh.

President Diebold serves on the American Association of State Colleges and Universities

Committee on Governance and Committee on State Relations, the Western Pennsylvania Higher Education Council, Senior Colleague Advisory Network, and the World Future Society. In addition, he is a member of the State System of Higher Education Educational Policy Committee and Business/Finance Committee.

Active in the community, the President serves on the Board of Directors of the United Way of Erie County and the Palmer R. Chitester Fund, the Board of Corporators of the St. Vincent Foundation for Health and Human Services, and the Advisory Board of the McMannis Educational Trust Fund. Diebold is also a member of the Hamot Medical Center Board of Corporators, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Corporation Scholarship Review Committee, and the Marine Bank Advisory Board.

President Diebold resides in Edinboro with his wife, Patricia, daughters Jessica and Stacey, and son Wesley.

Commencement Speaker - Allan W. Ostar

Dr. Allan W. Ostar, president, American Association of State Colleges and Universities, will serve as guest speaker for today's commencement ceremony. He will be the recipient of an honorary doctor of laws degree in recognition of his educational leadership.

In 1965, Dr. Ostar became the first full-time head of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) in Washington, D.C. The Association has a membership of approximately 370 state colleges and universities with a total enrollment of more than two million students.

A graduate of Pennsylvania State University, Dr. Ostar received a bachelor's degree in psychology and completed part of his graduate studies at Penn State. He continued his studies at the University of Wisconsin where he has fulfilled most of the requirements for a doctorate in experimental, interdisciplinary programs in mass communications.

In the early 1950's, Dr. Ostar served as assistant to the dean and instructor at the University of Wisconsin before moving to New York where he spent a year on the executive staff of the Commonwealth Fund, a major New York City foundation. Following that, Ostar returned to Wisconsin where he served as faculty member, assistant to the dean of the University Extension Division, and director of the Office of Communication Services for eight years.

Before joining AASCU, Dr. Ostar organized and directed the Joint Office of Institutional Research which was responsible for helping state universities and land-grant colleges plan and prepare for the future.

In addition to his duties as president of AASCU, Dr. Ostar is an advisory commissioner of the Education Commission of the States, member of the Secretariat of the American Council on Education, past president of the Washington Higher Education Group, member of the National Commission on Higher Education Issues, chairman of the Board of the Consortium for International Cooperation in Higher Education, and a member of the Board of the Committee for Improvement of Higher Education in the Americas.

Among his many awards are the World Peace Through Education Medal from the International Association of University Presidents and selection to the United States Achievement Academy National Hall of Fame. Dr. Ostar is listed in Who's Who in the World, Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Washington, Who's Who in American Education, Who's Who in the East, Who's Who in the South and Southwest; and he is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and other honorary and professional organizations.

Distinguished Alumnus Award - Harold O. Powers

Born in Girard, Pa., Dr. Harold Powers graduated from Edinboro in 1942 with a bachelor of science degree. He continued his education at Syracuse University where he earned a master's and a doctorate.

Dr. Powers taught math and science at Rochester High School for two years and then spent 33 years at the State University College, Oswego (New York) where he earned the rank of professor of genetics and chairman of the biology department. As a post-doctoral fellow, Powers researched medical genetics and served as visiting professor at SUNY-Upstate Medical Center. He later served as a consultant in medical genetics.

Before retirement, Dr. Powers was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and a member of the New York Academy of Science, American Genetic Association, American Society of Human Genetics, Society of the Sigma Xi, and State Education Department Proficiency Examination Committee. The author of several articles, Powers has been listed in Who's Who in the East, Leaders in American Science, and American Men and Women of Science.

Distinguished Alumnus Award - Irene C. Warthman

Dr. Irene Warthman earned a bachelor of science in elementary education from Edinboro State Teachers College. She received a master of science from SUNY-Brockport and a doctorate from Century University.

Currently serving as primary curriculum coordinator at Hilton (New York) Central Schools, Dr. Warthman was selected Teacher of the Year for 1979-80. Her professional experience as an early childhood specialist includes 26 years at Hilton, 6 years in the Wellsville School District (New York) and 4 years at Harborcreek in Erie. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma Honorary Society of Women Educators, Phi Delta Kappa, and the Pa. State Education Association.

Active in the community, Dr. Warthman is past president of the Brockport Junior Women's Club, chairman of the Brockport Hospital Association, member of the Alfred University Orchestra, and chairman of several committees for the Faculty Association of Women at SUNY-Brockport. Her travels have taken her to such faraway places as the Arctic Circle, British Isles, South America, Romania, the Caribbean Islands, and eleven European countries.

Distinguished Alumnus Award - John B. Warthman

Dr. John B. Warthman is an associate professor of educational administration and coordinator/supervisor of administrative interns at SUNY-Brockport. He received a bachelor of science in education from Edinboro State Teachers College in 1957, a master's degree from Alfred University, and a doctor of education degree from the University of Southern Mississippi.

During his tenure at Brockport, Dr. Warthman has also served as associate professor in the department of curriculum and instruction, demonstration teacher in the campus school, clinical professor for the Urban Teacher Education Program, supervisor of student teachers, director of summer school, director of the Brockport-England Student Teaching Exchange Program, member of the faculty senate, and department chairman.

A native of Lawrence Park, Dr. Warthman has served on the Wellsville Volunteer Fire Department for four years and the Lakeside Memorial Hospital Board of Directors for eight years. He is a member of the Rochester Area Hospital Corporation Board of Directors, the Clarkson Town Planning Board, and the Clarkson Republican Committee.

Distinguished Alumnus Award - Kenneth E. Zirkle

Dr. Kenneth E. Zirkle graduated from Edinboro State College in 1962 with a bachelor of science in geography. He received a master's degree in counselor education from Rutgers University and a doctorate in counselor education and college student personnel from Pennsylvania State University. He has also pursued graduate studies in educational administration at Syracuse University.

Dr. Zirkle's career began at Randolph East-Mead High School in Guys Mills, Pa., where he served as director of guidance for five years. Following that, he was residence hall coordinator at Penn State and dean of student affairs at Elizabethtown College. In 1978, he was named vice president for student affairs at SUNY-Cortland, and since 1983, he has served as the fifteenth president of Findlay College in Ohio.

In his leadership role, President Zirkle has worked to provide Findlay with a clear sense of purpose and to strengthen the College's various relationships.

Retiring Faculty

The administration and staff of Edinboro University would like to take this opportunity to recognize those faculty members who are retiring during the 1986-87 academic year.

Richard E. Andersen, English and Theatre Arts, has completed 22 years of service to the University. He founded the Edinboro Theatre for Children, a touring company which has performed before nearly 100,000 young people. A co-founder and active member of the Edinboro Theatre Company, Mr. Andersen shared his love for the theater with youngsters in Project Enhance and the Summer Academy.

Dick Andersen contributed to the development of students through his skills-based courses for the beginning writer.

Dr. Jean Bloom, Psychology and Counseling, joined the Edinboro faculty in 1969. During her tenure, she almost single-handedly brought the rehabilitation counseling program into existence. She was honored by CORE last year as the recipient of the Mary E. Switzer Award for her distinguished contributions in rehabilitation.

In addition to her teaching, Dr. Bloom has published a number of articles in professional journals and books.

Dr. Jack A. Cryder, Educational Services, retired at the conclusion of the 1986-87 first semester. An Edinboro graduate, he joined the faculty in 1965 and served as department chairman from 1980 until 1985.

Dr. Cryder was a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, National Education Association, Phi Delta Kappa, and the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties.

Robert Grosch, department of Geosciences, has dedicated twenty years to Edinboro University. For many years, he served as the geography instructor at the off-campus centers in Warren and Sharon. He returned to the main campus when the extensions were closed.

Mr. Grosch's teaching technique stressed the visual media and student involvement.

Dr. Francis R. Johnson, Speech Communications, has been associated with Edinboro University for 29 years, as both a faculty member and administrator. He served as administrative director of the Warren campus for 15 years and acting dean of continuing education during 1983-84. He has taught in the departments of English, psychology, special education, and speech communication.

Dr. Johnson established the speech and hearing program at Edinboro. The recipient of numerous grants and awards, he has been selected to receive the Alumni Distinguished Service Award for 1987.

Dr. Benjamin Lowenhaupt, department of Biology and Health Services, has taught a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses during his 20 years at Edinboro. He has also directed a number of independent studies and graduate research projects. During his tenure, Dr. Lowenhaupt participated in several scientific organizations, and his research took him as far as Australia.

An expert in biophysics, Dr. Lowenhaupt's research interests center around the development of a molecular theory of ion transport across cell membrane. He has had several works published and plans to continue his research after retirement.

Mr. Michael Yarbenet, Economics, joined the Edinboro faculty in 1974 as an assistant professor of accounting. He served as a part-time faculty member until his retirement last fall. In addition to accounting, Mr. Yarbenet maintained an active, professional interest in investment strategies for personal finance. He presented continuing education courses, as well as formal and informal lectures to students and colleagues.

Mr. Yarbenet's motives for becoming a member of the accounting staff were, simply, a love of teaching and a desire to share his experience and knowledge with students.

*Students who completed degree requirements during Summer or December, 1986
Students who will complete degree requirements during Summer, 1987

The University does not claim the list of degree candidates is absolutely accurate. Students are granted degrees only if they meet all academic and financial requirements.

ALMA MATER

*Hail to thee, our Alma Mater glorious;
Fresh wreaths we bring to bind thy brow.
Trials have passed and thou has stood victorious;
Never fairer, never statelier than now.
O Edinboro, Edinboro,
Ever praising thee in song;
While class speeds class as swift years pass,
To thee our hearts belong.*
