The Ceremonial Mace

The Ceremonial Mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the University Marshal, Mr. Wayne Peterson. A gift of the Alumni Association, the Mace was designed and executed by Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the Inauguration of Edinboro State College President, Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The Mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabachon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the Mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. The cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar symbolizing the thirteen state colleges of Pennsylvania. The shaft of the Mace is composed of Brazilian Rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curriculums. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the Ceremonial Mace include: turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

The Presidential Medallion

A symbol of presidential authority, the first Presidential Medallion was presented to Foster F. Diebold during the May 1981 Commencement ceremonies. It is permanently housed in the President's Office and will be presented to successive presidents. Designed and executed by Mr. Henry Katzwinkel, assistant professor of art, the sterling silver Medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. On the reverse side is the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, an image of knowledge.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle, the symbol of defense, protection, and strength. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tuto rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Academic Vestments

The gown, the cap and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

Gown

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor and master gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

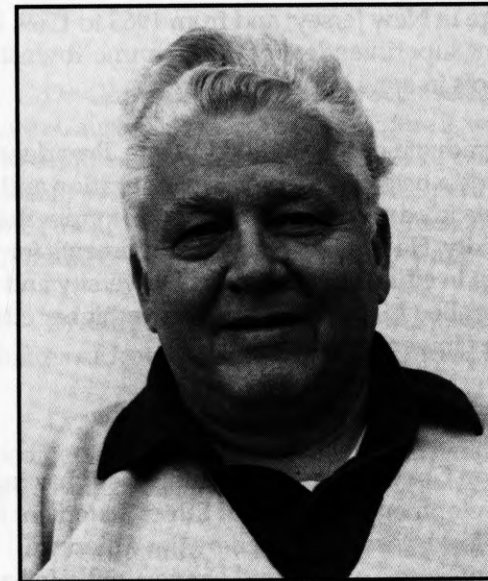

Hood

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color or coloring of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

Cap

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

University Marshal

Wayne Peterson

Carrying the Ceremonial Mace and leading the academic procession as University Marshal is Mr. Wayne Peterson, professor of art.

Wayne Peterson received a bachelor of arts degree in art, certification in art education, and a master of fine arts degree in painting from George Washington University. He augmented his studies at Maryland Institute of Art, Cleveland Institute of Art, University of Buffalo, and Allegheny College.

Prior to coming to Edinboro University in 1966, Mr. Peterson had a distinguished career in art education at Aberdeen High School and Northwood High School in Maryland. During his 20 years at Edinboro he has served on several committees including the Art Department Grievance Committee, Future Development Committee, Scheduling Committee, Evaluation-Tenure Committee, and Procedural Policy Committee. When he was chairman of the Art Department Curriculum Committee he oversaw the creation or changing of more than 25 courses within the department.

Mr. Peterson has also served as the assistant art department chairman and was interim chairman of the department in 1983. For many years he has been chairman of the Annual High School Art Day, one of the most important events in the Art Department as it attracts hundreds of high school art teachers and students from Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York.

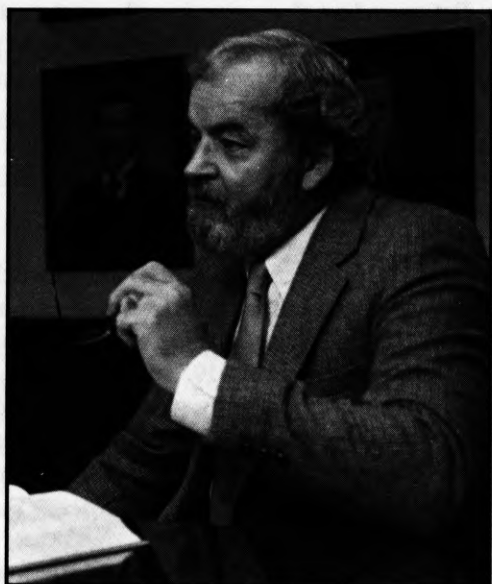

Along with his successful career, his artwork has been acknowledged at numerous national and area shows in Pennsylvania; Massachusetts; Washington, D.C.; New York; and Ohio. From 1978 to 1987 Mr. Peterson taught a summer painting workshop at the Marine Science Consortium at Wallops Island, Virginia. In 1984 the workshop was also presented on the coast of Maine.

His work could be described as semi-abstract painting of representational themes from nature or religious subject matter. He has three paintings in the permanent collection of George Washington University, two watercolors in the Erie County Public Library permanent collection, and two large oil paintings in the Edinboro University permanent collection. Professor Peterson has taught many painting classes for various area art leagues and has judged many county fair shows.

In addition to his professional accomplishments, Mr. Peterson is very active in the church community. For the past 15 years, he has been advisor to the Edinboro Christian Fellowship (Celebration), including leadership of seminars on the relationship of art to Christianity. He was commissioned to do a mural to commemorate the 100 years of their church reformation movement. In 1981, Mr. Peterson published an article in the national periodical, Christian Leadership, titled "Teacher Training in the Sunday School Program for Senior High Youth."

Professor Peterson has attained a high degree of respect from his colleagues and students through his strong dedication to the Edinboro University community over the years.

Edinboro University President

Foster F. Diebold

Since his appointment as President of Edinboro University of Pennsylvania on August 1, 1979, Foster F. Diebold has initiated a wide variety of policies and programs designed to complement his desire for an increased level of excellence and quality in higher education.

Noted for his extensive experience in the field of education management, President Diebold previously served as president of the University of Alaska Statewide System. His principal fields of professional interest include ethical issues in higher education, higher education management, budget development and fiscal control, legislative affairs, personnel management and collective bargaining, and international education.

A native of Orange, New Jersey, President Diebold served as president of the University of Alaska from 1977 to 1979. Prior to that, he was executive secretary to the Board of Regents and special assistant to the president of the University of Alaska Statewide System. From 1969 to 1976, he was director of the Division of College Development and Planning at Kean College in New Jersey; and from 1965 to 1969, he was assistant superintendent of the Neptune Township Public Schools in New Jersey.

A graduate of Monmouth College, President Diebold holds a bachelor of science in education and a master of arts in educational administration from Seton Hall University. He has met course requirements for his doctorate in education at Rutgers University and is currently enrolled in the Ph.D. program in higher education at the University of Pittsburgh.

As vice-chairperson of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities' Committee on Governance, President Diebold has initiated the development of a Code of Ethics Statement for university presidents represented by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. He has positioned himself to become a contemporary expert in the field of higher education ethics and is frequently called upon to lecture on this subject.

President Diebold also serves as chairperson of the Advancement Committee of the Chancellor's Executive Council (State System of Higher Education). He is a member of the Western Pennsylvania Education Council and the International Association of University Presidents.

Active in the community, the President, among other activities, serves on the Board of Directors of the United Way of Erie County, the Board of Corporators of the St. Vincent Foundation for Health and Human Services, and the Advisory Board of the McMannis Educational Trust Fund. President Diebold is also a member of the Hamot Medical Center Board of Corporators, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Corporation Scholarship Review Committee, and the Marine Bank Advisory Board.

President Diebold resides in Edinboro with his wife, Patricia, and daughters, Jessica and Stacey.

Honorary Doctorate

Dr. Gertrude A. Barber

Dr. Gertrude A. Barber has been selected to receive an honorary doctorate, the Doctor Institutionists, Honores Causa: Doctor of Pedagogy. She is well-known in education and special education for her lifetime of service to disabled persons. Experienced as a classroom teacher, home and school counselor, coordinator of special education, psychologist, and assistant superintendent in the Erie Public Schools, she is the founder and administrator of the Dr. Gertrude A. Barber Center, an educational rehabilitation and habilitation facility that serves over 1,200 disabled persons daily in Erie City and County.

Dr. Barber received her B.S., M.A., and Ed.D. degrees at Pennsylvania State University. She completed graduate work at Syracuse University, Adelphi College, and Edinboro University.

Dr. Barber organized the first local parent groups to create a better home and community life for handicapped persons and their families. As one of the founding presidents of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Citizens, Dr. Barber helped organize CHAPTER parent groups throughout Pennsylvania.

The founding president of Pennsylvania Federation of the Council for Exceptional Children, Dr. Barber has served on state committees involving the handicapped under the administrations of four governors -- Shapp, Shafer, Scranton, and Lawrence. Nationally, she served on the White House Panel on Children and Youth under the Johnson administration, and in 1962 was one of the 25 persons in the nation named to the Kennedy White House Panel on Mental Retardation.

Dr. Barber is one of several who assisted the federal government in setting up curricula for exceptional children in colleges and universities, and in establishing fellowships for teachers to continue their education in this field. She was named a diplomate of social psychology by the American Board of Professional Psychology and, in January 1976, was sworn in as a member of the Rehabilitation Services National Advisory Committee.

Under Dr. Barber's leadership, Erie County was the first in the nation to plan and actively participate in the International Year of Disabled Persons. A regional conference and task forces were formed in northwest Pennsylvania to establish the goals of the International Year of Disabled Persons. These efforts led to the designation of Erie as a Flagship Community.

Dr. Gertrude Barber was recently named to the Advisory Board of the Pennsylvania Academy for the Profession of Teaching under the egis of the State System of Higher Education.

Active in civic and community life, Dr. Barber has served as president of the Polk State Center Board of Trustees, Executive Committee of the Health Systems, Inc., and the Governor's Block Grant Committee. She currently serves on the State Mental Health-Mental Retardation Advisory Board and the Department of Welfare's Adult Day Services Planning Committee.

Dr. Barber has a close association with Edinboro University. Over the years, her long term interest in the growth of the University and its programs has remained constant. She received a Certificate of Merit from Edinboro University during the tenure of Dr. Chester T. McNerney. Many members of Dr. Barber's family have earned their degrees from Edinboro University, and currently, one of her nephews is enrolled at the University.

Honorary Doctorate

Ms. Mary A. Porreco

Ms. Mary A. Porreco has been selected to receive an honorary doctorate during today's ceremony, the Doctor Institutionists, Honores Causa: Doctor of Pedagogy. The honor recognizes her "leadership in education, which has had positive and profound effects on the lives of both individuals and institutions; public service as consultant and advisor in the field; influential leadership in teaching; contributions to community life; commitment to excellence in education; and selfless years of dedication to her students."

Mary Porreco graduated at the age of 14 in the first class of Academy High School in the City of Erie. At age 16, she entered the Erie campus of Edinboro State Normal School. After a year, when she had to take classes in Edinboro, she moved into Haven Hall. Ms. Porreco completed her teacher certification at Edinboro State Normal School in 1922 and was asked by the principal of Columbus School in Erie to take on the ungraded classroom. For the next 42 years, Mary Porreco had a perfect attendance record.

Her first class had 35 students who ranged from five to thirteen. Some of these students were the most mischievous of the entire Erie school system. Several had been suspended and were re-entering school through her classroom. The discipline problems were severe and included children today who would receive all kinds of testing and special handling, services which Ms. Porreco had hoped to provide through individualized attention to their learning problems.

Her method of teaching was one copied today in "peer teaching" programs. She developed special projects for the class and used the older pupils to help direct the younger ones. Her student leaders maintained classroom activities while she worked on special problems.

Ms. Porreco's next challenge was the second grade, the weakest students in the school. A secondary job which she attempted was to deal with recent immigrants. Evenings she taught 17 students who had just come from abroad and who wanted to become American citizens. Teaching the Americanization course was a job which she kept for years. Some of these young men and women still remember her and communicate with her from time to time.

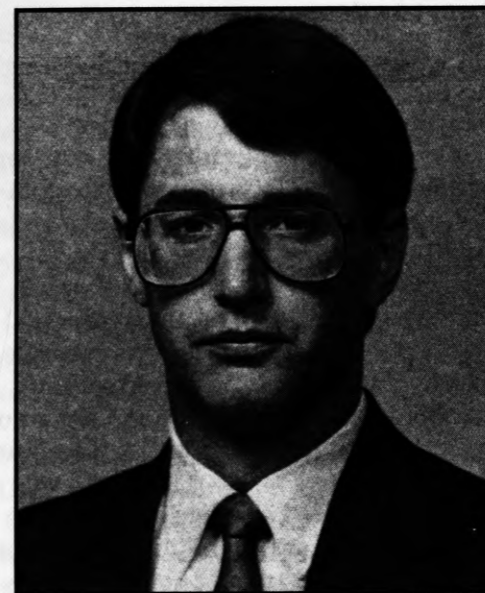

Maintaining the drive to achieve, Mary continued her schooling at Edinboro during summers, gradually accumulating enough credits to earn a bachelor's degree in the early 1940's. She remembers studying art appreciation under the guidance of Professor Amy Doucette, gymnastics with Miss Avery, and music with Professor Esther Wilson (Campbell). Quite knowledgeable about music, she always felt a strong attachment to cultural programs.

In 1939, Mary Porreco moved to Edison School where she spent 26 years teaching. As part of her creative approach to instruction, she began using puppets in her fourth grade classes to encourage love for writing, music, and drama.

Mary Porreco completed her master's degree at Allegheny College. Because of her affection for her home town of Erie, she spent long hours working on her master's thesis on the history of the City of Erie.

We can be proud of Mary Porreco's commitment to excellence in education and of her superb performance in that role.

Commencement Speaker

William "Rusty" Cunningham

William "Rusty" Cunningham, district attorney for Erie County, will serve as guest speaker for today's commencement ceremony.

"Rusty" Cunningham is a life-long resident of Erie County; he graduated from North East High School in North East, Pa. He attended Penn State - Behrend before transferring to Allegheny College in Meadville where he earned a bachelor of arts degree. He received his Juris Doctor Degree from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.

Before his election to the office of district attorney last fall, Cunningham practiced six years with the law firm of Orton & Dunlavey, P.C. In that position, he was responsible for cases from pre-arrest investigations through post-trial appeals. He handled major jury trials on robbery, rape, burglary, drugs, theft, aggravated assault, sex crimes, and drunk driving, among others.

As a trial lawyer, Cunningham represented adult and juvenile cases and handled criminal cases in Erie, Crawford, Warren, and Venango counties. He has had extensive service as court-appointed counsel for indigent defendants.

Enthusiastic about his new position, Cunningham has made a strong commitment to the office of district attorney. "We need a district attorney who will address the problems of this community," said Cunningham. "As district attorney, I will vigorously prosecute the financiers of the drug traffic to our youth; I will prosecute repeat offenders to the fullest extent of the law; I will establish a productive working relationship with all law enforcement agencies." Cunningham is committed to utilizing the resources of the DA's office to attack crime problems in our community.

Active in the community, Cunningham has spent 12 years as a Big Brother of America. He is a past president and board member of the North East YMCA and a current member of the Eastside YMCA board of directors. A past president and member of the board of directors of the North East Jaycees, Cunningham was recently selected to receive the Erie Jaycees Distinguished Service Award for 1987. The honor recognized the "quality leadership to his family, his co-workers, and his community."

Cunningham is a member of numerous professional organizations including the Erie County Bar Association, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, the Pennsylvania Trial Lawyers Association, and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

"Rusty" Cunningham is married to Susan Emling, a special education teacher in the Harborcreek School District.

Retiring Faculty

The administration and staff of Edinboro University would like to take this opportunity to recognize those faculty members who are retiring during the 1987-88 academic year.

Dolores Carey joined the Edinboro faculty in August of 1975 as assistant professor of nursing. She received a B.S.N. degree in medical-surgical from Case Western Reserve and an M.S.N. degree in medical-surgical and clinical practice/diabetes from Texas Women's University.

Chairperson of the Nursing Department from 1978 to 1980, Carey served on a number of campus committees including Faculty Organization, Faculty Selection, Grade Appeals, Promotions, Curriculum, and Who's Who.

Before coming to Edinboro, Carey was director of the School of Nursing at Sharon General Hospital, assistant director of the School of Nursing at Trumbull Memorial Hospital, instructor at Trumbull, and school nurse for the Cleveland Board of Education.

Mary Louise DeFalco joined the Edinboro faculty in 1980 as assistant professor of nursing and served as department chairperson from 1981 to 1983. She became an R.N. in 1942, earned a B.S. in nursing education at the University of Pennsylvania, received an M.Litt. in nursing education from the University of Pittsburgh, and received certification in community psychiatry from the Harvard Medical School.

Before joining the Edinboro staff, DeFalco was a medical research associate at the Woodville State Hospital in Carnegie, assistant professor of psychiatric nursing at the University of Pittsburgh, supervisor and public health nurse for the Allegheny County Health Department, and staff nurse at Westinghouse.

Barthwell Farmer, associate professor of art history and multi-media, joined the Edinboro faculty in 1968. He earned a bachelor of arts in art history from New York State University at Buffalo and a master of arts in art history from Case Western Reserve.

During his tenure at Edinboro, Farmer organized a number of art festivals and exhibits. His work has been shown at the Erie Art Center, Martin Luther King Center, Allegheny College, Butler Institute, the Chautauqua Gallery, and the Governor's Mansion.

Elbert B. Friend received a B.S. in biology from Alliance College, teaching certification from Edinboro, and an M.S. from Syracuse University. He also completed studies at the University of New Mexico and Brown University.

A teacher of biology and general science at Linesville-Conneaut-Summit High School from 1951 to 1966, Friend joined the Edinboro faculty as associate professor of biology in 1966. He pioneered several courses at Edinboro, conducted workshops, served on campus committees, and held the position of assistant department chairman.

Friend was involved in extensive scientific research and independent study, and throughout his career he addressed area clubs and organizations and conducted seminars at colleges and universities in the tri-state region.

Robert D. Gates has held a position in the Academic Development Center since January of 1980 - first as staff coordinator and then as general studies coordinator. Prior to 1980, he spent 11 years in administration.

Before joining the staff at Edinboro, Dr. Gates directed the program of education operations for Philco-Ford's Education and Technical Services Division in Ft. Washington, Pa.; served as consultant, assistant director, and director of special education and state and federal programs for the Florida State Department of Education; and held the position of coordinator of special education services to Hillsborough County (Fla.).

Harry Harpst will retire from the biology and health services department after 20 years of teaching at Edinboro. He received a B.S. in chemistry from Gannon University and an M.S. in zoology from the University of Pittsburgh. After additional coursework there, he became a special student in anatomy at the Cornell Medical School at Cornell University.

Harpst taught at Pitt and Duquesne before moving to St. Vincent Hospital where he taught in the lab school for 25 years.

Wayne Joslyn joined the Edinboro faculty as assistant professor of chemistry in 1967. He earned a bachelor of science in comprehensive science from Edinboro in 1962, a master of education degree in 1967, also from Edinboro, and an M.S.T. from Union College in 1967.

Patricia A. Kearney has taught all levels of drawing and painting at Edinboro since 1969. Prior to that, she taught at Illinois State University, Yale University Art Gallery, Edinboro State College, Randolph-Macon Women's College, and Ohio University.

In 1972, Kearney initiated and conducted a six-week travel-study program for art students in France, Belgium, and The Netherlands and conducted a similar program in France, Germany, Austria, and Italy in 1980. Her work has been represented in 11 solo exhibitions, 63 juried exhibitions, and many private and public collections.

John McMichael received a B.S. in microbiology from the University of Maine and a Ph.D. in viral immunology from Oregon State University. He completed post-doctoral work at the Wistar Institute in Philadelphia and conducted research in slow virus diseases in general, multiple sclerosis in particular.

In 1976, he founded the Milkhaus Laboratory, a private lab for veterinary and human medical research and consultation. He is currently involved in evaluating novel medicines for arthritis, lupus, and multiple sclerosis; testing experimental medicines for Alzheimer's Disease and AIDS; conducting studies on various diseases in dogs, horses and cattle; and submitting protocols for the study of cystic fibrosis and juvenile diabetes.

Dr. McMichael has had five scientific papers published or accepted for publication in the past six months, and two medicines have been submitted for licensing for marketing. Among his many projects are patents which have been issued or are pending for medicine to treat AIDS, cancer, and multiple sclerosis.

Robert Milnes has been a member of the Edinboro faculty since 1974 and chairman of the art department since 1980. He received a bachelor's degree in philosophy and fine arts from Claremont Men's College in California and an M.F.A. in ceramics from the University of Washington.

An accomplished sculptor, Milnes' work has appeared in more than 80 exhibits and 18 individual shows since 1974. His work is represented in the collections of the Smithsonian Institute, the Erie Art Museum, and the University of Arizona. Leading international corporations, including Westinghouse and Sony, have acquired Milnes' work for display at their companies.

William F. Rohde served for 13 years as assistant to the dean of graduate studies at Edinboro. Since 1981, he has served in various capacities including staff assistant for the Middle States Evaluation, assistant to the dean of continuing education, coordinator for PACE, coordinator of the Elderhostel program, and, most recently, assistant to the dean of academic administration.

Under his direction, the Elderhostel program, begun at Edinboro in 1982, has grown to include five sessions and 130 participants.

Rohde received a B.S.Ed. in biology from Edinboro in 1951, earned an M.Ed. in secondary science at Edinboro in 1964, and received a second master's degree in guidance and student personnel from SUNY-Buffalo in 1965. He was awarded secondary principal certification at Edinboro in 1980.

Russell E. Vance, Jr. joined the Edinboro faculty in 1967 as professor of history. He had previously served as assistant professor of history at Allegheny College, instructor and field consultant in adult education at Indiana University, and social studies teacher for Perry Township in Indiana.

Dr. Vance received a bachelor of arts degree from Indiana Central College in 1946, a master of arts from Butler University in 1949, and a Ph.D. from Indiana University in 1956.

A renowned author, Vance is best known for his book which chronicles the history of Edinboro University - A Portrait of Edinboro: From Private Academy to State College, 1856-1976.

Also retiring are Roger Armstrong (19 years of service), Durward Cox (19 years of service), Kathryn Glenn (17.5 years of service) and John Rall (12.5 years of service).

ALMA MATER

*Hail to thee, our Alma Mater glorious;
Fresh wreaths we bring to bind thy brow.
Trials have passed and thou has stood victorious;
Never fairer, never statelier than now.
O Edinboro, Edinboro,
Ever praising thee in song;
While class speeds class as swift years pass,
To thee our hearts belong.*
