EDINBORO UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Dr. Julie E. Wollman

Dr. Julie E. Wollman became the 17th President of Edinboro University in June 2012, bringing to Edinboro a successful background in teaching, research and administration.

The first woman to be named president of Edinboro University, she came to Edinboro from Wheelock College in Boston, Massachusetts, where she served as Vice President for Academic Affairs. Prior to that position, she served as Vice President for Academic Affairs at Worcester State University, and Dean of Education and Human Development at Rhode Island College, where she had also co-directed the doctoral program and been a full professor.

A graduate of Harvard University, she earned a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a Doctor of Philosophy from New York University. In addition, she earned a certificate from the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University.

Immediately upon becoming President of Edinboro University, Dr. Wollman initiated a university-wide planning process that produced updated Mission, Values and Vision statements and new long-range goals for the university, all centered on a renewed commitment to uncompromising excellence and student success. Under her leadership, progress has been made toward achieving many of those goals, including the launch in 2014 of Porreco College to answer the region's pressing need for improved workforce readiness and educational attainment.

President Wollman is also active in the community, serving on the Erie Regional Chamber and Growth Partnership Board of Directors, the Hamot Health Foundation Board of Corporators, United Way of Erie County Board of Directors and the United Way's Volunteer Engagement Cabinet, which she chairs. In November 2014 she was named to Pennsylvania Governor Tom Wolf's Transition Steering Committee.

Additionally, she is a member of the American Association of University Administrators Board of Directors and the American Association of State Colleges and Universities Committee on Policies and Purposes and actively seeks to influence policy to advance opportunities for all who wish to access higher education.

Dr. Wollman was named a Women Making History 2015 honoree by the Mercy Center for Women, and Girl Scouts Western Pennsylvania honored her in 2014 as the organization's Woman of Distinction in its Erie Awards of Distinction program. Her teaching and research awards include the Alan C. Purves Award for research from the National Council of Teachers of English and the Mary Tucker Thorp Award for Distinguished Scholarship at Rhode Island College.

President Wollman is married to Dr. Dan L. King, Executive Director of the American Association of University Administrators, a national professional organization. She has two daughters.

MACE BEARER

Dr. Heather T. Snyder

Leading the academic procession and representing her faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Undergraduate Commencement is Dr. Heather Snyder of Edinboro University's Psychology Department.

Dr. Snyder's distinction as Mace Bearer is symbolic of the central role that faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro University students.

After earning a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology at La Salle University in 1994, Professor Snyder continued her education with a Master of Arts in Forensic Psychology from John Jay College of Criminal Justice in 1996 and a Doctor of Philosophy in Applied Developmental Psychology from Fordham University in 2002. She began her teaching career in 1997 as an adjunct lecturer at Lehman College, City University of New York.

Dr. Snyder has been a professor in Edinboro's Psychology Department since 2002. Having established herself as a premier scholar in the area of creativity, she was elected treasurer for the Society for the Psychology of Aesthetics, Creativity and the Arts, Division 10 of the American Psychological Association. In addition, she co-edited a book, titled Teaching Creatively and Teaching Creativity (2013), published by Springer Science + Business Media. She also wrote a chapter on creative assignments for the book.

Revered on campus as a teacher-scholar, much of Professor Snyder's research is conducted with EU's undergraduate psychology students, many of whom have co-authored work on her creativity projects. She also serves as co-advisor for the student Art Therapy Club.

Dr. Snyder's other area of scholarship and service focuses on children and adolescents with craniofacial conditions. She founded and co-chaired the Craniofacial Special Interest Group of the Society of Pediatric Psychology, Division 54 of the American Psychological Association.

She has five peer-reviewed publications, including two in which she is first author; three invited publications; 13 invited professional publications; and 21 peer-reviewed professional presentations. Her leadership in her academic discipline was recognized with selection for the 2012 class of the American Psychological Association Leadership Institute for Women in Psychology.

Edinboro University recognized Dr. Snyder's impressive commitment to scholarship by naming her Scholar of the Year in 2014.

Professor Snyder's 18-year career as an educator and her experiences as a researcher have served her students, colleagues and the entire university community with distinction. She exemplifies the dedication and commitment of our faculty to educational excellence and to our students' success.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Senator Robert P. Casey, Jr.

Robert P. Casey, Jr. is Pennsylvania's senior senator in the United States Senate and previously served eight years as Pennsylvania Auditor General and two years as state Treasurer. A Democrat, Casey was elected to the U.S. Senate in 2006 and re-elected in 2012 – receiving more total votes than any U.S. Senate candidate in Pennsylvania history.

He currently serves as the Chair of the Subcommittee on Fiscal Responsibility and Economic Growth in the Finance Committee and as Chair of the Subcommittee on Employment and Workplace Safety on the Health Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee. He also is a member of the Joint Economic Committee, the Agriculture Committee, the Special Committee on Aging and the National Security Working Group.

The Senator is the former Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee overseeing the Middle East, and is a leader in promoting nuclear security and combating the threat posed by terrorists obtaining nuclear material.

A nationally recognized advocate for children, Senator Casey has been honored with numerous awards for his work benefiting children, including the Champion for Children Award from First Focus, Children's Champion Award from the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and the Delaware Valley Association for the Education of Young Children (DVAEYC) Champion for Young Children Award.

Amid partisan gridlock in Washington, the Senator has amassed a long list of significant accomplishments on behalf of Pennsylvanians. He secured passage of a landmark law to help the families of children with disabilities save for their long-term care through tax-advantaged, 529-style savings accounts. The Senator also successfully pushed into law measures that bolstered children's hospitals throughout the state, improved the emergency medical services provided to children and strengthened programs to support individuals living with traumatic brain injuries.

Senator Casey has successfully urged the Obama Administration to invest in job-creating projects throughout Pennsylvania. He pressed for the rights of women and girls in Afghanistan, for justice for coal miners being denied black lung claims and for improvements to the ways colleges are required to report instances of sexual violence on campus.

Born and raised in Scranton, Pennsylvania, Senator Casey graduated from The College of the Holy Cross in 1982 and spent the following year teaching fifth grade and coaching eighth-grade basketball in inner-city Philadelphia for the Jesuit Volunteer Corps. He received his law degree from Catholic University in 1988 and entered the practice of law in Scranton.

He is the eldest son of the late Governor Robert P. Casey and his wife, Ellen. Throughout his public career, Casey has been guided by the legacy of his father, and the principle that: "All public service is a trust, given in faith and accepted in honor."

Casey and his wife, Terese, were married in 1985 and live in Scranton. They have four daughters: Elyse, Caroline, Julia and Marena.

THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Mace Bearer. A gift of the Alumni Association, the mace was designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College by President Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabochon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. Cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar. The shaft of the mace is composed of Brazilian rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curricula. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the ceremonial mace include turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting, and lost wax centrifugal casting.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The first presidential medallion was presented to former President Foster F. Diebold during the May 1981 Commencement ceremonies. Designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel, the sterling silver medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, a symbol of knowledge. On the reverse side is the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudor rose design; and “ESC” in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Surrounding the silver medallion is a gold crafted circle which reads “Edinboro University of Pennsylvania.” Professor Katzwinkel added this piece to the medallion especially for the Inauguration of President Frank G. Pogue in 1997, and it is now a permanent fixture to the medallion representing the school’s status as a University.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap, and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today’s academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

Gown

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor’s and master’s gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor’s gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master’s gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor’s degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

Cap

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master’s degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor’s mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

Hood

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master’s and the doctor’s degrees. The doctor’s hood is longer than the master’s hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

MACE BEARER

Dr. Sandra Waite-Stupiansky

Leading the academic procession and representing her faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Graduate Commencement is Dr. Sandra Waite-Stupiansky, who recently retired after 23 years as a professor in the Early Childhood and Reading Department at Edinboro University.

Dr. Waite-Stupiansky's distinction as Mace Bearer is symbolic of the central role that faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro University students.

After earning a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology at Allegheny College in 1976, Professor Waite-Stupiansky continued her education with a Master of Arts in Education, also from Allegheny College, in 1977. She received her Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in an interdisciplinary doctoral program on young children from Indiana University-Bloomington in 1987. She began her teaching career in 1986 as an assistant professor in the Center for Teacher Education at the State University of New York at Plattsburgh.

Dr. Waite-Stupiansky joined Edinboro University's Department of Elementary Education as an assistant professor in 1992. Her areas of research include recess in elementary schools, play and child development. Until her retirement in January 2015, she taught undergraduate and graduate courses in early childhood education and child development.

She was the managing editor of Play, Policy, and Practice Connections, an online publication of the Play, Policy, and Practice Interest Forum of the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), from 1995-2013. Dr. Waite-Stupiansky recently co-edited two books with Lynn Cohen: Play: A Polyphony of Research, Theories, and Issues, Play & Culture Studies, Volume 12 and Learning across the Early Childhood Curriculum, Advances in Early Education and Day Care, Volume 17.

Dr. Waite-Stupiansky continues to write for Young Children, the journal of the NAEYC, with a column in the November 2014 issue on the importance of play. The column was reprinted in Exploring Play, a 2015 book by NAEYC.

She has numerous peer reviewed publications, including more than 20 articles, five books (as author or co-editor), and more than 40 national professional presentations.

Dr. Waite-Stupiansky and her husband, Dr. Nick Stupiansky, who also recently retired from the faculty at Edinboro University after 22 years, have two children, Kristin, an optometrist in Jamestown, New York, and Nathan, a research professor at Indiana University-Bloomington.

Professor Waite-Stupiansky's 29 years of experience as an educator, advisor and scholar define a professional career that has impacted the lives of countless students, colleagues and the entire university community with distinction. She exemplifies the dedication and commitment of our faculty to educational excellence and to our students' success.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Presentation of diplomas takes time and yet has special significance for each individual and family. Members of the audience are asked to remain in their seats until the end of the ceremony so that they do not disrupt the program or interfere with the special moments of others. Commencement is our most important occasion, and we ask you to respect its significance to the university community and to those who are being honored.

Professional photographers have been employed to photograph each graduate receiving a diploma. To avoid congestion and to maintain decorum in the ceremony, we ask that family members refrain from approaching the platform to take pictures.

Thank you for your cooperation. We hope that you will enjoy the ceremony and celebrate the achievements of our students.

Students and their families are encouraged to share their best Commencement photos and shout out their best wishes on Twitter and Facebook using the hashtag #boroUgrad.

The Campus Bookstore, located on the lower level of the Frank G. Pogue Student Center, will be open today from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Commencement ceremony will be filmed and streamed via the Internet at edinboro.tv. Commencement DVDs can be purchased from Edinboro University Television following the ceremony or online at eupdvd.com.

Dr. Julie E. Wollman

Dr. Julie E. Wollman became the 17th President of Edinboro University in June 2012, bringing to Edinboro a successful background in teaching, research and administration.

The first woman to be named president of Edinboro University, she came to Edinboro from Wheelock College in Boston, Massachusetts, where she served as Vice President for Academic Affairs. Prior to that position, she served as Vice President for Academic Affairs at Worcester State University, and Dean of Education and Human Development at Rhode Island College, where she had also co-directed the doctoral program and been a full professor

A graduate of Harvard University, she earned a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a doctor of philosophy from New York University. In addition, she earned a certificate from the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard University.

Immediately upon becoming President of Edinboro University, Dr. Wollman initiated a University-wide planning process that produced updated Mission, Values and Vision statements and established new long-range goals for the University, all centered on a renewed commitment to uncompromising excellence and student success. Under her leadership, progress has been made toward achieving many of those goals, including the launch in 2014 of Porreco College to answer the region's pressing need for improved workforce readiness and educational attainment.

President Wollman is also active in the community, serving on the Erie Regional Chamber and Growth Partnership Board of Directors, the Hamot Health Foundation Board of Corporators, the United Way Erie Board of Directors and the United Way's Volunteer Engagement Cabinet, which she chairs. In November 2014 she was named to Pennsylvania Governor Tom Wolf's Transition Steering Committee.

Additionally, she is a member of the American Association of University Administrators Board of Directors and the American Association of State Colleges and Universities Committee on Policies and Purposes and actively seeks to influence policy to advance opportunities for all who wish to access higher education.

Dr. Wollman was named a Women Making History 2015 honoree by the Mercy Center for Women, and Girl Scouts Western Pennsylvania honored her in 2014 as the organization's Woman of Distinction in its Erie Awards of Distinction program. Her teaching and research awards include the Alan C. Purves Award for research from the National Council of Teachers of English and the Mary Tucker Thorp Award for Distinguished Scholarship at Rhode Island College.

President Wollman is married to Dr. Dan L. King, Executive Director of the American Association of University Administrators, a national professional organization. She has two daughters.

Dr. Donald Sheehy

Leading the academic procession and representing his faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Undergraduate Commencement is Dr. Donald Sheehy of Edinboro University's English and Philosophy Department.

Dr. Sheehy's distinction as Mace Bearer is symbolic of the central role that faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro University students.

After earning a Bachelor of Arts at the State University of New York at Albany in 1975, Professor Sheehy continued his education with a Master of Arts in English Language and Literature from the University of Kansas in 1977 and a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in American Literature from the University of Virginia in 1986. He joined the Edinboro faculty in 1994 after teaching two years at Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario, Canada, and five years at the Pennsylvania State University in State College.

At Edinboro, Dr. Sheehy has served a term as chairperson of the English department, a term as co-director of the Center for Excellence in Teaching, and two terms as co-director of the Highlands Center for Faculty Initiatives.

His work on Robert Frost has been published in such journals as American Literature, The New England Quarterly, The South Atlantic Review, and Texas Studies in Language and Literature. He has had featured essays in The Cambridge Companion to Robert Frost and Robert Frost in Context and was General Editor of Frost: Poems, Life, Legacy, a multimedia CD-ROM. He has twice served as president of the Robert Frost Society, and he speaks regularly on the poet in a wide variety of venues. His current project, The Letters of Robert Frost, is being published in five volumes by Harvard University Press.

Edinboro University recognized Dr. Sheehy's impressive commitment to scholarship by naming him Scholar of the Year in 2015.

In addition to his scholarly pursuits, Dr. Sheehy is a published poet and an avid amateur nature photographer. He has been married for 42 years to Dr. Donna Murphy, Emeritus Professor of Special Education. Their son, Ethan, graduated from Edinboro in 2012.

Professor Sheehy's 28-year career as an educator and his experiences as a scholar and poet have served his students, colleagues and the entire University community with distinction. He exemplifies the dedication and commitment of our faculty to educational excellence and to our students' success.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Dr. Hugo and Alicia Keim

Hugo A. Keim, M.D., and his wife, Alicia B. Keim, co-founders of the ChairScholars Foundation, established the Foundation 25 years ago to provide scholarships for college and vocational training to low-income students with severe physical disabilities. Guided by the Keims' belief and motto that "no physical impairment should deter a motivated mind," the Foundation has provided scholarships to 959 students nationwide.

As a child, Dr. Keim suffered a traumatic eye injury that resulted in the loss of vision in that eye. Later, he was forced to have the eye removed while in medical school. He persevered despite these tremendous odds to become Chief of Spinal Surgery at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for 29 years. His future wife, Alicia, came to him as a patient, plagued with a severe curvature of the spine. In 1985 the two were married.

During his tenure as Chief of Spinal Surgery, Dr. Keim witnessed the struggles of many disabled young people. The Keims' collective experiences made them more aware of the obstacles that exist for people with disabilities to achieve success. Having both overcome physical challenges of their own, they wanted to help.

The Keims began by sending two students who were in wheelchairs to college. From that start they created a scholarship program for Florida students that provides full in-state tuition for four years of college and a program for students nationwide that provides scholarship awards of up to $30,000 to students attending Edinboro University or the University of Tampa in Florida.

The ChairScholars Foundation Scholarships at Edinboro were established in 2014 with a gift of $500,000 to provide students with physical challenges the financial support to educate and develop vocational skills necessary to achieve their full potential through higher education. These transformational scholarships inspire and motivate students and establish the foundation for their success in and out of the classroom.

Edinboro University is indeed fortunate to count Dr. Hugo and Alicia Keim as friends and supporters.

THE CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace, a symbol of presidential authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Mace Bearer. A gift of the Alumni Association, the mace was designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel and Dr. Seymour Blinderman, former chairman of the Art Department. It was first used at the inauguration of Edinboro State College President Chester T. McNerney, in 1967.

The mace, twenty-seven inches in length, is topped by a sterling silver sphere studded with circular cabochon rubies, secured by bezels. The collar of the mace is inlaid with ebony, alternated with silver relief fleur-de-lis design elements. Cultured pearls mounted in cups encircle the bottom of the collar. The shaft of the mace is composed of Brazilian rosewood sections, separated by sterling silver rings. The mace is terminated by a cast sterling silver finial; the five cultured pearls represent the existing curricula. The rib-like cone form is terminated by a small silver sphere symbolizing the world.

The metal working processes incorporated in the ceremonial mace include turning, forging, inlaying, stone setting and lost wax centrifugal casting.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The first presidential medallion was presented to former President Foster F. Diebold during the May 1981 Commencement ceremonies. Designed and executed by Professor Henry Katzwinkel, the sterling silver medallion consists of a three and one-half inch pectoral pendant featuring on its face the figure of a Gordon Highlander with pipes. To the right of the piper is the Cross of St. Andrew. To the left is the Cross of England. Flanking the figure is the date 1857, the opening year of the University, and garland thistles. In the background are the hills of Scotland, and beneath the piper is an open book, a symbol of knowledge. On the reverse side is the sunken crest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pendant descends from a shield containing a triple-towered castle. The collar of the medallion is comprised of a series of two-inch shields, alternately bearing three different designs: the meigle, an interlacing knotwork peculiar to the Pictish school of Celtic art; the Tudor rose design; and "ESC" in interlocking letters on a background of tabby weaving. Connecting each of the collar shields is a Cross of St. George, representing the union of Scotland and England. The entire medallion was fabricated and cast in the cire perdue (lost wax) process.

Surrounding the silver medallion is a gold crafted circle which reads "Edinboro University of Pennsylvania." Professor Katzwinkel added this piece to the medallion especially for the Inauguration of President Frank G. Pogue in 1997, and it is now a permanent fixture to the medallion representing the school's status as a University.

ACADEMIC VESTMENTS

The gown, the cap, and the hood, representing the major components of the academic dress, are a ceremonial inheritance from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, where dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility. The academic dress worn by those participating in today's academic processional symbolizes the level of their academic attainment and the institution they attended.

Gown

Although the gown is more frequently black, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The bachelor's and master's gowns are fashioned from black serge. The yoke for the bachelor's gown is designed to be worn closed and features long, flowing and pointed sleeves. The master's gown is designed to be worn open or closed. Its sleeves are very long with square ends, and the front part has an arc cut away. The arms protrude through a slit at the elbow. The gown for the doctor's degree is made of wool, serge, or silk with an open front faced with wide velvet panels. The sleeves are loose and bell-shaped with three bars of velvet in black or the color of the discipline in which the doctorate was obtained.

Cap

The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. The tassel is black for the baccalaureate and master's degree and is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The tassel for the doctor's mortarboard is of gold thread. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred by the president.

Hood

The most outstanding feature of the academic dress is the hood. It is usually worn only for the master's and the doctor's degrees. The doctor's hood is longer than the master's hood and has distinguished panels. The college or the university granting the degree is indicated by the color of the hood lining. The velvet trim of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was granted.

RECESSIONAL

The audience is asked to stand during the Processional and to join in the singing of the National Anthem.

MACE BEARER

Dr. Rosemary Omniewski

Leading the academic procession and representing her faculty colleagues by carrying the Ceremonial Mace at today's Graduate Commencement is Dr. Rosemary Omniewski, who recently retired after 22 years as a professor in the Early Childhood and Reading Department at Edinboro University.

Dr. Omniewski's distinction as Mace Bearer is symbolic of the central role that faculty play in the academic and personal development of Edinboro University students.

After earning a Bachelor of Music Education at Temple University in 1971, Dr. Omniewski continued her education with a Master of Education in Music from Edinboro State College in 1980. She received her Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Music Education from Kent State University in 1999. She began her teaching career in 1971 as an elementary school music teacher in the Erie School District, and also taught music at General McLane School District's McKean Elementary School from 1990 to 1993.

Dr. Omniewski joined Edinboro University's Department of Early Childhood and Reading as an assistant professor in 1993. Her areas of research include arts infusion, which is the integration of the arts into the math and language arts curricula to increase student performance and creativity. Until her retirement in August 2015, she taught undergraduate and graduate courses in early childhood education and child development.

Since 2001, Professor Omniewski has been involved in writing more than $5 million in government-funded Arts in Education Model Development and Dissemination grants. Most recently, she assisted Erie Arts & Culture, along with Union City, Crawford Central and Penncrest school districts, in applying for and receiving $1.2 million. Her work in the area of arts infusion inspired the new Arts Infusion Certificate that will be offered by Edinboro University for the first time in summer 2016.

Dr. Omniewski and her husband, Dan, have three children: Erin, who lives in Mesa, Arizona, with her husband, Sven, and sons Max and Hans; Emelia, a microbiologist in Oceanside, California; and Nick, who resides in Cambridge, Massachusetts, with his wife, Irina, and works in pharmaceutical research.

Professor Omniewski's years of experience as an educator, advocate for arts education and scholar define a professional career that has impacted the lives of countless students, colleagues and the entire University community with distinction. She exemplifies the dedication and commitment of our faculty to educational excellence and to our students' success.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Presentation of diplomas takes time and yet has special significance for each individual and family. Members of the audience are asked to remain in their seats until the end of the ceremony so that they do not disrupt the program or interfere with the special moments of others. Commencement is our most important occasion, and we ask you to respect its significance to the University community and to those who are being honored.

Professional photographers have been employed to photograph each graduate receiving a diploma. To avoid congestion and to maintain decorum in the ceremony, we ask that family members refrain from approaching the platform to take pictures.

Thank you for your cooperation. We hope that you will enjoy the ceremony and celebrate the achievements of our students.

Students and their families are encouraged to share their best Commencement photos and shout out their best wishes on Twitter and Facebook using the hashtag #boroUgrad.

The Campus Bookstore, located on the lower level of the Frank G. Pogue Student Center, will be open today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Commencement ceremony will be filmed and streamed via the Internet at edinboro.tv. Commencement DVDs can be purchased from Edinboro University Television following the ceremony or online at www.eupdvd.com.
