WELCOME TO EDINBORO UNIVERSITY

Welcome to the Edinboro University of Pennsylvania campus. We are proud to join the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference as host for the men's basketball Final Four tournament.

As President of Edinboro University, I am pleased to extend the warmest regards and best wishes of the Edinboro family -- the students, faculty, administration, professional support staff, trustees, alumni and our many friends in the surrounding communities -- to all those who will compete in the championship and to their coaches, families and fans, as well as to the spectators who will witness the superb performances of these fine athletes.

To the Edinboro University Fighting Scots, we are proud of you! We applaud the glorious season you gave to our many fans in northwestern Pennsylvania and hope it continues. To the teams from Bloomsburg, Clarion and West Chester, we are equally proud of your achievements and are honored by your presence in the Final Four. While we at Edinboro will obviously be rooting for the Scots, we wish the very best of good luck to all those who are competing.

Come back again. You are always welcome at Edinboro University of Pennsylvania.

Sincerely,

Frank G. Pogue
President

PSAC CELEBRATES 50TH SEASON

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference has been celebrating its 50th season of organized competition throughout the 2000-01 academic year.

Throughout the year, the conference has been releasing its "50 Greatest Moments" by the league schools and a list of eight "Student-Athlete Success Stories" from each school.

The planning for what is currently the PSAC was developed when the Board of College Presidents' Athletic Committee of the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges met to discuss ways to improve and strengthen athletic competition among the colleges. On September 20, 1951 the Pennsylvania State Teachers Colleges Athletic Conference was formed in conjunction with its first official league meeting.

During the 1951-52 season, five champions were crowned in their respective sports. Soccer (Lock Haven), football (Bloomsburg) and basketball (Lock Haven) all earned titles based on a points system. Wrestling (Millersville) and track and field (West Chester) continued to follow the "state" championship competition systems that were already in place. The "state" championships in track and field began in 1928, while wrestling was established in 1940.

The name of the conference has changed twice since its inception. The word "Teachers" was dropped in 1960 when the member institutions all dropped it from their respective school names, as the league became known as the Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference. In 1983, all PSCAC schools were granted university status with the formation of Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education. The league has since been known as the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference.

The conference currently sponsors 20 sports, 10 for both men and women. The 10 men's sports that exist today have been part of the conference structure since 1960, with swimming being the final addition. Due to an expanding interest, in 1977 the conference was restructured to provide for women's athletics. The current structure of PSAC women's sports was complete with the addition of soccer in 1994.

Since the conference was formed in 1951, each member selected its own competitive division within the NCAA. In 1980, the presidents voted to reclassify the entire conference to Division II. Though it remains that way, nine schools still elect to participate on the Division I level in various sports.

To date, the PSAC claims 31 team champions and 164 individual winners in NCAA competition. The conference has grown to its current status in excess of 5,000 student-athletes and 300 coaches.

WEST CHESTER UNIVERSITY

"The Golden Rams" Record: 21-6

Rams Horn

- ◆ West Chester University is making its ninth PSAC Championships Tournament appearance, and its seventh under head coach Dick DeLaney.
- ◆ Dick DeLaney has been named the PSAC East Coach of the Year three times, including last season, and has guided West Chester to four straight 20-win seasons.
- ◆ The Golden Rams put on a thrilling comeback victory over Cheyney in Tuesday's Quarterfinals win when Tyariq Corbin scored the game-winner with seven seconds left to give WCU the victory. The final 16 seconds may have been the most thrilling sporting spectacle ever to be contested inside Hollinger Field House. Trailing 63-62 after Cheyney's Anthony Frazier converted two free throws, WCU's Ramzee Stanton was fouled with :16 to go. Stanton made one of two, but Corbin grabbed the rebound. Thinking they were trailing by a point, Cheyney fouled Robert Williams, but Williams missed the front end of the one-and-one. Joe Meade stripped the rebound from Cheyney's Hassan Mohammed, and then watched as the carom went to Corbin for an easy layup. Cheyney called time, then saw Frazier break free in the lane for a game-tying layup, only to see the ball bounce off the rim and out of the hoop as the buzzer sounded.
- ◆ WCU owns a 5-2 all-time mark vs. Edinboro, including a win this season. Edinboro's two wins have come in the post-season. The Golden Rams met Edinboro once in the PSAC playoffs - the 1998 Championship Game won by the Fighting Scots, 83-77. Edinboro also beat WCU in the first round of the NCAA II East Regionals in 1994 at Edinboro 88-67.

 ◆ Tyariq Corbin is seventh and Joe Meade eighth all-time in scoring at WCU. Meade moved into second place all-time and became just the third Golden Ram to record 400 career assists (401). His 178 career three-pointers ranks him fourth all-time at WCU. Corbin earned first team All-PSAC East honors last year, while Meade was a second team selection.
 ◆ Sophomore forward Ramzee Stanton has 737 points and 484 rebounds in just two seasons.
