take & new places
one may visit have no special attract-
ion. I remember when I used to consider a trip to Pittsburgh or Wheeling a wonderful
affair. Now, I pass through them as a mere matter
of course and see
nothing of attract-
ion. That is one result of such a life that I do not
admire

I was at Trai's
over Sunday and came down here yesterday morning. I expect to be here until tomorrow evening. Am going to Donora for the remainder of the week.

I think that Fosters, who live next to Ira's, are going to take Ira and Stella to our place on next Sunday. They all seemed to be building on the trip when I was there.

I was down visiting my friends at Elm Grove last
