Walk for the children

LORI LEONARD
Executive Editor

What could be nicer than a walk through downtown Bloomsburg on a beautiful Saturday afternoon? Walking to show your support of children.

The Bloomsburg University walk for children will take place this Saturday at 2 p.m. beginning in front of Carver Hall. The walk will be about a mile and one half long and will proceed down Main Street to Market and up Fifth Street.

All proceeds that have been given by local businesses, fraternities, sororities and groups will benefit the Geisinger Children's Miracle Network telethon to be aired nationally on June 1-2.

BU co-ordinator Bret Hoffmaster says that the national telethon the walk is supporting is much different from other fund-raising telethons. Usually all funds raised nationally are distributed equally to the national branches with only a small percentage of what is earned in each region being put back into the region. With this telethon, everything raised locally will go into the local children's hospital, this one being Geisinger.

Last year, citizens and businesses in northeast and central Pennsylvania raised over $300,000 during the telethon. Many people have already shown their support for the walk and the telethon this year including the Bloomsburg and Berwick Chambers of Commerce.

All students are asked to walk to show support of the cause and show the residents of Bloomsburg that students do indeed care. If anyone is interested in walking for an hour Saturday, grab a group of friends and be at Carver at 2 p.m. It's not only good for you, but it will make you feel good too.

RAs involved in training program

REBECCA L. SOLSMAN
Voice Contributor

Training for next year's new RAs was April 12-14 at the Pocono Educational Environmental Center (PEEC).

The programs for the weekend were created and prepared by Linda Zyla who is the Residence Director responsible for all of the training of the new Resident Advisors.

The weekend was directed by Jennie Carpenter, Director of Residence Life, the seven campus Residence Directors, four senior RAs and one Graduate Counselor.

The program began with many icebreakers to get everyone better acquainted. Later, small groups were organized by the directors in which concerns and anxieties were discussed.

Bill Proudman, Director of Quest, lead the Saturday morning sessions with New Games, that served as an icebreaker. The purpose of these games was to allow the participants to let themselves go while at the same time allowing trust to grow among the group.

Afterwards, the participants were lead into the forest and given a series of challenges which forced the group to work as a team.

Later in the afternoon, there were three workshops on assertiveness, leadership and first impressions.

In the assertiveness session, the differences between nonassertiveness or passiveness, asser-

MIKE FEELEY

The Community Government Association (CGA) allocated up to $16,000 from its reserve to the Voice, Monday, to buy a modular composition system for the newspaper.

In a unanimous decision, the CGA senate approved the purchase of the computer, with the understanding that the balance of $7,000 will come from this year's advertising revenues of the Voice.

According to Lori Leonard, executive editor of the newspaper, "The typesetting equipment will allow us to produce the pages on campus."

The equipment that the newspaper will get will include a dual disk drive, a typesetter, a processor, and a dryer.

"This equipment," Leonard said, "will increase our currency of issues and quality."

"The equipment will give us an optimistic outlook for the 1985-86 school year, and allow us to strive for the day when we publish daily," Leonard added.

In other matters, CGA noted that student interest in the upcoming ARS, CAS, and class officer elections is poor.

The largest number of candidates for any position in the elections comes at the position of senior class president. Kelly Toole, Kevin McNamee, and Bret Hoffmaster are the three candidates. A primary election was held for the position earlier in the week. This was the only position, however, to have more than two people running.

For senior class vice-president, Brian O'Donnell is the lone candidate.

Britt Trumbower is the only candidate for junior class president.

No one is running for the position of junior class vice-president.

Lisa Musto and Kimberly Brynildsen are the candidates for sophomore class president. Tracey Palmer and Kristin DaCosta are running for the position of sophomore class vice-president.

For the office of CAS coordinator, Jeff Sutherland is the only candidate on the ballot.

For the Association of Resident Students (ARS), Lorene Faleman is running for female co-president and Robert Francis for male co-president. Brian Trusy is running for the position of vice-president and Mary Gummore for the position of publicity coordinator.

LETTER

Dear Editor,

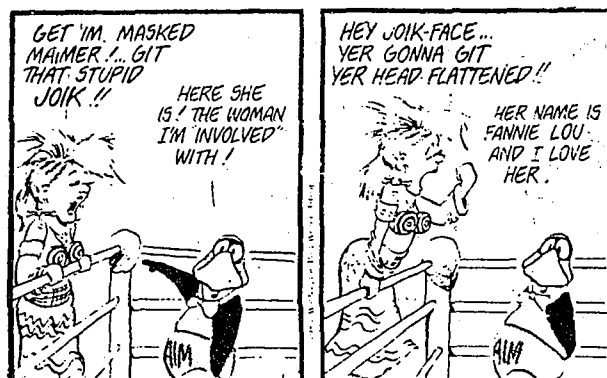

I have a simple question which needs to be answered but the answer will not do me any good now! What was the reasoning behind the new format for the summer schedule book? I understand that if the previous paper booklet were used these schedules would have been out two weeks earlier. Some students have to let summer employers know when they will be available to work. Without these schedules it leaves little time to tell them. Another thing which needs to be done is get housing for the time you are going to be here during the summer. As we all know the housing situation is not up to par, and thanks to this delay in preparation many of the housing options are already lost.

Reagan proposes "nothing"?

During Saturday's weekly presidential radio program on April 6, President Reagan spoke of three issues: humanitarianism, Congress at Easter time and aid to Nicaragua. He said if there is anytime of the year for Congress to be humane, it is Easter. Mr. Reagan then spoke of letters he had received from the leaders of countries neighboring Nicaragua, such as Colombia, which agreed with and praised his proposed $15 million of aid to Nicaragua. President Reagan spoke of the fight for democracy during the U.S. Revolutionary War and the corresponding fight for democracy which is presently occurring in Nicaragua. He said that $15 million is nothing to us (us = US = United States), but is everything to THEM (the "freedom fighters" of Nicaragua). He tied the three issues together by saying that Congress should be humane and support his proposed $15 million of military aid (weapons) to Nicaragua.

Something is bothering me here! Maybe it's the use of the word "humane". It never occurred to me that humane might be associated with the support of death in the killing fields of Nicaragua.

Maybe it's the comment that the United States has no need for $15 million. I wonder what sum of money President Reagan considers to be "something" if $15 million is "nothing". Maybe it's time for Mr. Reagan to address the growing problems in the U.S. — student aid, poverty and the farmer — who could use a "nothing" sum of $15 million. For instance, excess grain can be bought from American farmers and could be sent to Ethiopia, a people who are in dire need of financial support. Maybe the phrase, "KILLING two birds with one stone" might make this one more appealing to our president.

I find that these proposals seem to agree with the common use of the word humane. Not to be ignorant, it seems President Reagan has decided not to delete words from the dictionary, but instead has decided to simply use words in a different context, similar to the Ministry of Truth in Orwell's 1984, thus, slowly changing the definition of the words used by the common people who believe in and support proposals of President Reagan.

Voting encouraged

The Community Government Association is holding elections on Tuesday, April 23, 1985 for the 1985-86 officers of the following organizations: Association of Resident Students, Commonwealth Association of Students, and Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes.

On campus students may vote in the Scranton Commons from 10:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and again at 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Off campus students, faculty and staff may vote in the Kehr Union from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Students will also be asked to vote on two proposed amendments to the CGA Constitution. Article XVII, Section 1 of the constitution states that, "No amendment shall be made to the Constitution unless approved by a 2/3 vote of Student Senate and 2/3 of the votes cast by the entire Association." The CGA Student Senate unanimously approved of both the addition of a representative from the Black Cultural Society, and a representative from SOAR. (Student Organization of Adult Resources) to the CGA Senate. On Tuesday, students will be voting "yes" or "no" to each of these proposed constitutional amendments. We encourage all students to support them.

In addition, election for the 1985-86 Commuter Association officers will be held on Thursday, April 25, 1985. Commuters may vote in the Kehr Union from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. CGA encourages all students to participate in these elections. Write-in votes are allowed, but will only be valid if the write-in candidate is eligible according to the election guidelines outlined in the Pilot. If anyone has any questions, please contact the CGA office at 389-4467.

Contest winner announced

Bobbie Lee Urso, freshman, has been selected as Bloomsburg University's winner of the University and College Poetry Prize Contest sponsored by The Academy of American Poets. She will receive an award of $100 for her prize-winning poem, "When I Knew You."

The poem was chosen from nearly 40 submissions by 14 entrants.

Honorable Mention awards went to Don Chomiak for his poem, "The Ashtray is Empty," and to Robert Eineigl for "Re: John Belushi."

Encouraged by an English teacher in junior high school to continue writing creatively, Urso has been writing poetry ever since. She finds that her art work and poetry are closely related so that she can "use both mediums to communicate feelings and ideas in unconventional and unrestrained ways."

"I was excited — and surprised," she said on learning of the results of the contest, "because reactions to my poems have been mixed. Some people are crazy about them and some consider them too bizarre to take seriously."

The three faculty members who served as judges expressed the belief that the winning poems were imaginative and showed a good grasp of the elements that go into the making of a successful poem, according to Richard Savage, coordinator of the contest.

The prize-winning poem is printed below:

When I Knew You
You were not quite a solid
when I knew you.
You seemed to me to be composed of a static blue television light.
Man or soft blur?
That was the question.
I loved you for your disregard of physical properties and your looseness of definition.

Student group successful at Capitol

Pennsylvania's state student advocacy group was successful in the halls of the Capitol April 9 as a bill, bearing 16 sponsors, was introduced in the House of Representatives and referred to the Education Committee, which brought the association one step closer to a more stable funding base.

The bill, number 824, would allow tiveness and aggressiveness were discussed along with the effect each behavior has on others when used by an RA.

In the leadership session, the dictative, the democratic, and laissez-faire ways of governing were discussed. The workshop also emphasized the appropriateness of each kind of governing in getting effectual feedback in different situations.

The third session centered on first impressions. This workshop taught the RAs to be more aware of the impressions they give to their wing and the effects first impressions will have on others.

Later in the evening, the directors held a quiz bowl in which they divided the group into teams and asked questions about availability and locations of campus resources.

The last session, programming, involved discussing and creating many social, recreational, educational and cultural programs. These new programs will be used next year.

The weekend ended with an evaluation of all the activities experienced during the training. The evaluations showed that the RAs found the program very effective.

On August 27, the RAs will return to the university for preschool training. Each RA is also required to take a course, Developmental Leadership Skills, next semester as a part of their schedule.

DON CHOMIAK

The International Fools' Festival, a string of performances by clowns, actors and mimes, opens today. Tonight, at the Alvina Krause Theatre, Ronlin Foreman, heralded as one of the most lovable clowns in America, opens with "A Happy Fellow."

Using common household objects ranging from a frying pan to a quilt, Foreman's act is said to Foreman will perform tonight and tomorrow night, with a seven thirty curtain.

Songs could be heard and seen April 14 and 15 in Haas Auditorium as the deaf awareness group Image entertained a full house with their first two campus performances of the spring semester.

Image is a group of BU students whose purpose is to promote deaf awareness to the college and community. "We're a lot of things," says Dr. G. Donald Miller, the groups advisor. "We're entertainment, education, public relations and recruitment."

Sherri Smithe, vice-president and one of the five graduating seniors of the group proudly states, "Image is a part of your college career and fills your heart with many memories."

Through a combination of sign language, lip singing and theme acting performed to various popular songs, people with impaired and normal hearing can equally enjoy the lyrics and meaning of each tune.

The 12 members of Image include, graduating seniors Peggy Lieb, Sherri Smithe, Karen Fraser, Eileen Funsch, and Meg Ryan. The returning members are Elizabeth Antram, Becky Germano, April Lorah, Kathi Nash, Paula Toborowski, Kelly Williams, and Leslie Williams. Dr. Miller is advisor and Sam Slike is interpreter.

The evenings performance consisted of such songs as, "Don't Stop" by Fleetwood Mac, "Foolish Heart" by Steve Perry, "Cool It Now" by New Edition, an audience participation song (1910 Fruitgum Co.), and many others.

"When we chose the songs, says Kelly Williams, we tried to find songs that were different and would appeal to all audiences."

The group has previously performed for such groups as the Pennsylvania Speech and Hearing Association, Harrisburg and the Corning Community College, New York where their show was televised on Channel 18.

Problems the group must combat each semester are the shortage of technical equipment and lack of administrative support.

The group is extremely grateful to Dr. Miller for all the hard work and time he has given. "He is a hard-working, sensitive man and deserves more credit than he receives," states April Lorah. "I love every minute of being with Image", says Paula Toborowski, the groups only hearing impaired member.

Tryouts for Image will be announced at a later date. No specific knowledge is needed and anyone can tryout. Image is also in need of male members.

the Commonwealth Association of Students to collect its $3 optional membership fee by including it as a line item on the tuition bills of the state university students.

Michele L. Kessler, CAS Legislative Director, said this means of collecting fees would be doubly democratic for the students because not only is it optional but, before it is placed on a university's tuition bill, each campus will vote on whether it should appear on the bill.

According to Carolyn Constantino, CAS President, the current method of collecting fees, which has been entirely voluntary, is inefficient because it does not allow students to make an informed choice.

"Tuition packages are complicated and CAS material somehow gets lost in the shuffle, so students do not receive adequate information about their student advocacy group," stated Constantino.

Kessler stated that last fall this exact piece of legislation, listed as House bill 2432, did not move out of the House Education Committee before the 1983-84 session was over.

Many of the sponsors are on the House Education Committee and include Representative James J. Gallagher (D-Bucks), Chair of the committee, and Representative Ronald Cowell (D-Allegheny), the Higher Education Chairperson.

Other sponsors who represent the State System of Higher Education are representatives Ted Stuban (D-Bloomsburg University), Peter Daley (D-California University), Paul Wass (R-Indiana University) and Elinor Taylor (R-West Chester University).

Susan Kocher

Under the reign of All-American pitcher Tina Souders the Bloomsburg University womens softball team won a National Championship, appeared twice in Eastern Regional action and won the Pa. conference two years in a row.

Souder has graduated leaving behind her a legacy and the need for someone to fill the void.

Coach Jan Hutchinson feels she has found Souder's replacement in sophomore Susan Kocher.

Kocher a 1983 graduate of Cedar Cliff High School, Camp Hill was the sole pitcher for her team since her sophomore year. She ended her high school career with a 51-12 record.

Not only was she the leader from the mound but also at the plate were she led her team her senior year with a .448 batting average.

Kocher a mass communications major chose Bloomsburg to continue her softball career. The Huskies fine showing in past years influenced her decision because of her interest in a strong Division II program.

"I was very impressed with coach Hutchinson and with what she had accomplished with the softball team here," commented Kocher.

Kocher began her collegiate pitching career last year with a record of 9-1 with her only loss to Lock Haven University. She pitched three consecutive no-hitters and set a school record for consecutive hitless innings with 24.

After pitching the second game of double headers behind Souders last year, Kocher is now the lead off pitcher for the Huskies. The sophomore under the guidance of Souder, who has taken over assistant coaching duties, has added to her pitching selection a number of new pitches such as: a rise, knuckle ball, change up, and a drop. She believes this extra fire power will enable her to outfox her opponents. "I have a lot of respect for Tina, I know I could never develop as many pitches as I have without her help," said Kocher.

Kocher is already off to a fine start this season with a 5-1 record 4 of which were shutouts and one of them a no-hitter. The only loss came at the hands of Division I Penn State. She has an ERA of 0 and averages 7.4 strikeouts a game.

The 5'8" sophomore also plays on the Bloomsburg basketball team. It was thought at the beginning of this season that she would be unable to play due to casts on both her foot and wrist. Fortunately she was able to make a comeback over Christmas break. She played a reserve role for the Huskies, but should be a real contributor next season.

Although pitching is her main contribution to the team, Kocher hopes to maintain a steady offensive game as well. Kocher is currently batting .347 and had hit 2 homeruns.

Souder speaks well of her pupil noting that "Susan's eagerness to learn is very refreshing." With the softball season well under way, the team is currently 12-3. They have a very good chance repeating as State Conference champions for the third straight year. They are undefeated in the conference thus far.

Sports are not the only activities in Kocher's life. She is an accomplished pianist, playing whenever she finds some spare time in her busy schedule. Chopin and Beethoven are two of her favorite composers of piano pieces.

In between classes, softball practices and homework, Kocher works as a recreation monitor in the adult fitness lab in Centennial Gym. How does she fit everything in? "I've learned to budget my time," says Kocher. "My freshman year taught me that time was precious and I should never waste it."

Kocher's power is what will, more than likely, make her the top pitcher in the Pennsylvania Conference. Come out and see one of Bloomsburg's best.

Softball

BU downs Marauders

Freshman Sue Luna led the women's softball team to a double-header, 4-2, 9-1 sweep last Tuesday afternoon at Millersville University. The Huskies also won a double-header Wednesday, beating Ithaca 7-0, 6-0.

In the first game of Tuesday's double-header, Luna tripled and scored on Susan Kocher's sacrifice fly to give the lead to the Huskies in the second inning.

Kocher, the winning pitcher, threw five 5 strikeouts to aid the winning effort. Luna hit a two run home run in the seventh inning to put the Huskies ahead for good.

In the second game, Luna again hit well for the Huskies as she hit a three run home run in the first inning. Kathy Molnar also hit a home run in the sixth inning.

BU had little trouble with visiting Ithaca with Molnar scoring the winning run in the first after being walked. A double by Kathy Berry helped clinch the Husky win. Kocher's triple in the fifth inning scored Karen Hertzler and Luna. Luna hit a triple and brought in two more runs and brought the game to an end in the bottom of the sixth.

The Huskies attacked early in the second game with Kate Denny advancing to third on an error by the left fielder. Ithaca committed another error when Berry hit, to help score Denny and give the Huskies a 1-0 lead.

BU's bats were silent throughout the rest of the game until they went on a hitting spree in the sixth inning. Berry began the rally with a lead-off single. Molnar's double advanced her to third where she was forced to wait while Ithaca intentionally walked Freeland.

Kocher's single brought her in and set up senior Deb Schneiderhan's three-run triple. Transfer Donna Graupp brought Schneiderhan in on an error.

Coach Jan Hutchinson's team boasts an overall record of 20-3 while remaining undefeated in the PSAC. The Huskies play home tomorrow and are on the road again Sunday.

Batters sweep Millersville

MIKE ALBRIGHT

Bloomsburg University's baseball team upped its record to 11-5 with a doubleheader sweep of the Millersville Marauders on Tuesday night, 7-4 in the first game, 3-2 in the second contest.

With the two victories, the Huskies retained their hold on first place in the Northern Division of the Pennsylvania Conference. The team is 8-2 in the conference under first-year head coach John Babb.

In the opening game, the Huskies scored all of the runs they would need in a five run fifth inning to expand their lead to seven, 7-0.

Joel Novak provided the key blow in the inning with a bases loaded single to score two runs. A booted grounder provided another run. Ric Shellenberger also had a two run single in the inning to account for all of the BU runs.

Millersville stormed right back with four runs of their own in the top of the sixth inning but they were not enough as the Huskies held on for the win, 7-4.

Dean Adams recorded the complete game victory for Bloomsburg, allowing seven hits and only two earned runs while notching five strikeouts.

Adams' record jumped to 4-0, 3-0 in the conference. Shellenberger ended the game with three hits in four trips. The Huskies committed six errors in the game.

In the nightcap, the Huskies got some clutch hitting in the bottom of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie and come away with a 3-2 victory.

John Nicodem single and advanced to second on the wild throw back to the infield. Steve Sees sacrificed him to third base where he scored on Dave Seigfried's single with one out.

Brian Salsman recorded the win with a complete game, four hit effort. He also struck out five.

Millersville jumped out to a two run lead with runs in the first and fourth innings, but the Huskies tied the game with two runs in the bottom of the fourth, setting the stage for the late inning heroics.

Todd Remley and Nicodem were the hitting stars of the second games as each was two for three with a run and a run batted in. Seigfried was one for two.

For the two game series, there was a total of 13 errors committed, seven by Bloomsburg and six by the Marauders.

Bloomsburg's next game is Saturday when the Huskies host East Stroudsburg.
