dedication

CHARLES RICHARD "DICK" DUNDON, late son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Dundon, was a graduate of Edinboro High School and a Sophomore at Edinboro State Teachers College, where he majored in Science and Mathematics. He was an outstanding student and athlete; his college record of achievement included active participation in Kappa Delta Phi, the "E" Club, Student Council, and varsity basketball.

Dick had won the respect and admiration of all who knew him at Edinboro...students, faculty, and townspeople. His fine record of excellent scholarship, cheerful service, and unswerving courage will remain an inspiration to all who knew him.

We of the junior class wish to dedicate our class project, the 1955 CONNEAUTTEAN, to Dick. He was one of the outstanding personalities of our class and will be remembered by all who worked with him.

message from the staff

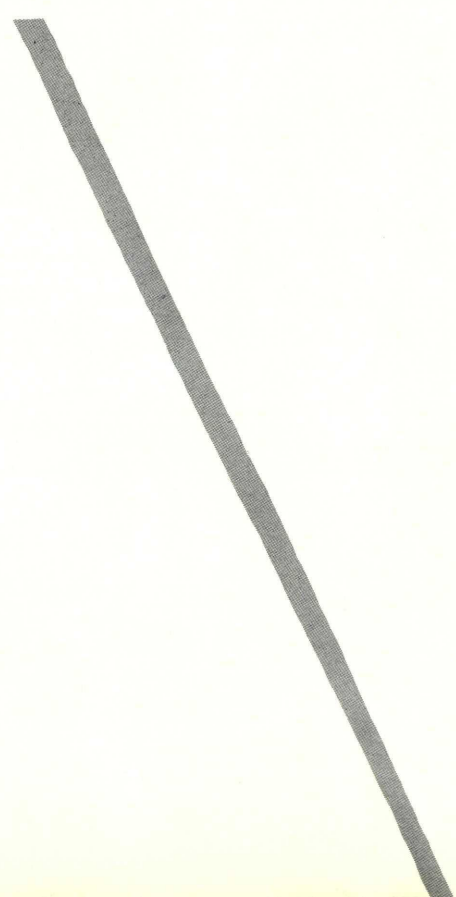

WHENEVER a new yearbook staff is formed, each member of that staff is determined that the book he works on will be the best. We were no exception. We decided that our book was going to be different. Consequently, some changes had to be made.

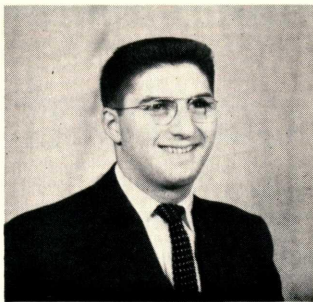

One of the first things that we decided to alter was the idea of a theme. To us, a theme belonged with a high school annual. A modernistic unifying design replaces the single thought and gives the book a distinguishing air of freedom.

Another change over previous editions was our cover plan. We agreed that the cover should conform to the inside of the book. To do this, we picked silk screen as our medium and threw the designing of the cover open to the school. The one chosen by the judges was submitted by Nancy Balling.

The last innovation is a significant one. We altered the size, making the book longer and wider. This puts the CONNEAUTTEAN 1955 in its own category, and we hope that future books will use this same size.

We of the staff welcome you to the pages of a newer, different yearbook. Read on, and decide for yourself whether or not our efforts came up to our expectations.

SEPTEMBER first of this year is a banner date in the lives of our family. It brought us to Edinboro. Two things stand out in my early impressions of our student body and faculty. I have found a spirit of reasonableness and consideration for the other fellow and his point of view, be he student or faculty member, which are of outstanding quality. In addition, ours is a most friendly group.

The college, itself, is an outstanding small teacher training institution. In all the years that Edinboro has prepared teachers, quality has been the keynote. Success in the field has followed success at the college. In order that the college may continue this tradition with even more students, utilizing the exceptional strengths of its well prepared faculty and the leadership abilities of its present student body, more facilities are needed.

A new dormitory to house at least 100 to 125 men, a fire-proof library which will care for the expanding needs of the college, and more classroom facilities are serious needs.

Standing on the threshold of increases in college enrollment which will at least double the number of students who will be attending college in the United States, it is necessary that we begin to build today to be ready for tomorrow. In the years ahead, teachers will be in even more demand than at present, so we shall be building to provide teachers for our children.

As students, alumni, and faculty, let us work together to bring to fruition a new Edinboro strong in historical traditions and facing the future with confidence.

AS buds start to pop and green leaves begin to show on the barren brown trees, we realize that graduation time with its thoughts of caps and gowns and longed-for diplomas has come once again. Freshman initiation, the staging of the Harvest Ball, slaving over the yearbook, and student teaching are now a part of the past. Happy hearts are pressed by a feeling of sadness, but bravely and boldly the Seniors look forward--to the future and to success.

AFTER electing officers, our Juniors got the year under way by contributing their unique float, "The Land of Counterpane," to the Homecoming Day Parade.

Their biggest duty, however, lay in many hours of work and planning behind the 1955 CONNEAUTTEAN.

The Juniors again were well represented in school activities when James Narducci was elected President of Student Council.

Then with the capable direction of chairmen, Dolores Olearczyk, Henry Casilli, and Nick Neuhard, the class of 1956 closed the year with the memorable Junior-Senior Prom.

OUR college picture just wouldn't be complete without the Sophomores. Starting the year out right, they chose John McDannel for their president. To ably assist him were Vice President Charles Cutshall, and Patricia Woodhouse and Robert Miller as Secretary and Treasurer respectively.

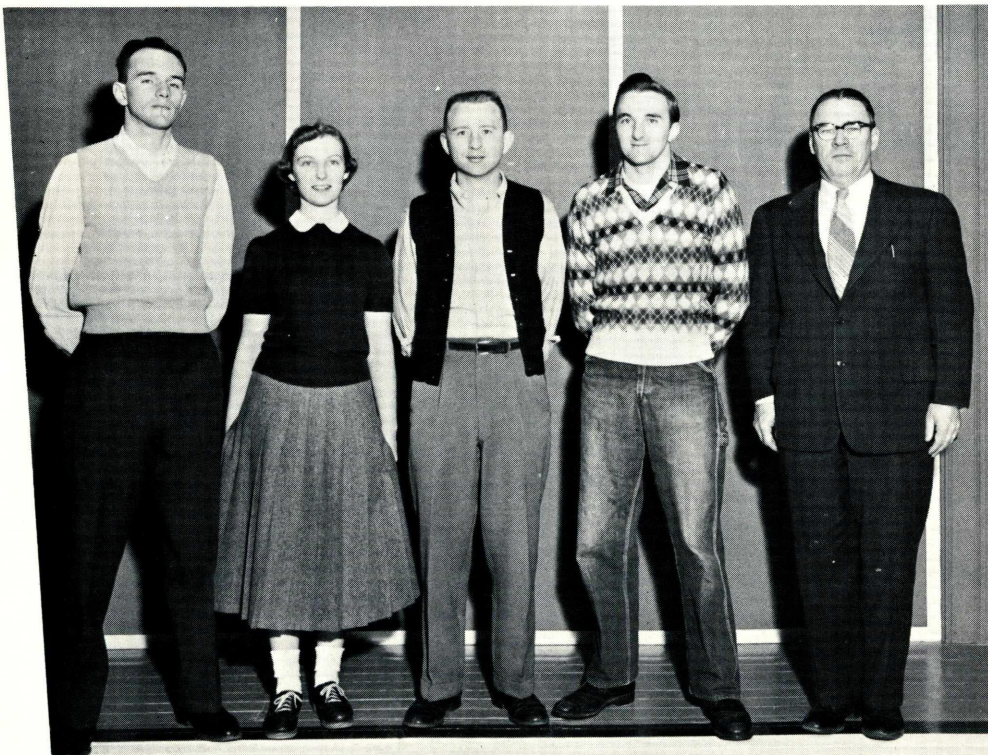

Homecoming with its wind and rain failed to dampen their spirits. Putting all efforts behind their float, "The Raven," they helped Edinboro to "Say it with Poetry."

Late in November the Sophomores went oriental. We all have memories of the wonderful dance, "Wun Gon Fling," which was presided over by Princess Patricia Woodhouse and her court.

With May came finals and a group of Sophomores looking forward to the final half of college yet to come.

WHAT was the Freshman's first impression when viewing Edinboro? The inevitable answer was, "It's so homey and friendly." Everyone from Dr. Miller down made them all feel at home, and that they had found a "home away from home." It didn't take them long to develop the feeling of belonging. They even felt secretly proud of their crimson and red dinks, with ESTC for all to see plainly written on the brim. The initiation was milder than usual this year. Everyone somehow survived. They also survived the long classes and the "first tests." After the first week the strangeness had disappeared. With it fled the insecurity and the homesickness. Now they were at Edinboro.

But the class really felt a part of the scene when they won second prize in the Homecoming Day Parade for their beautiful float, "Cleopatra's Barge." It was the second time in the history of the school that the Freshmen had ever won a prize for their float.

Not only were the Freshmen one of the largest classes in the history of Edinboro, they were also one of the peppiest. During the election of their officers, the class really went "all out." Large signs appeared in the dining hall, on windows, doors, even on the lawn. The spirit was wonderful. Members wore buttons which championed their favorite candidates. There was vigorous electioneering. After it was all over, Jack Feldmeier, Barbara Wilson, Janet Kelsey, and Karl Boyes emerged as officers. Agnes Guido and Jack Webb represented the class in Student Council.

Freshmen joined the cast of ROMEO AND JULIET, they blended their voices in the choir, and they joined other clubs. Some of them became officers. They really belonged.

In February, when all youth turns to thoughts of the little boy with the arrows, the Freshmen were busy creating a proper atmosphere for their wing-ding, Holiday for Hearts. The highlight of the dance was the crowning of the King and Queen of Hearts.

ONE of the achievements which Edinboro students look forward to is nomination for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Nominees are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership in the teaching profession and promise of worth to society. This year nine seniors were named to the honor: Albert Eaton, Helen Grubbs, Shirley Kunselman, Royce Mallory, Robert Neu-hard, Rita Robinson, Allen Schmieder, Mary Lee Schuckers and Joseph Shesman. Edinboro salutes these outstanding seniors.

WITHOUT a doubt, the busiest organization on campus is the Student Council. Operating all year around on a very crowded schedule, it contributed much to the welfare of the students.

Through their efforts we gained two very needed additions to our school--an automatic washer and dryer and a television set for the girls of the New Dormitory.

Numerous activities on campus were the responsibilities of the Council, also. Square dances, many "All College" activities, and Freshman initiation helped to make the college year much more enjoyable.

Robert Neuhard, assisted by Joseph Shesman as Vice President and Margaret Whitney as Secretary, presided over meetings. Second semester brought James Narducci to wield the gavel and carry on the good work of his predecessors. The group can rightfully say that their efforts achieved many long awaited goals.

AN important organization on campus and one which is gaining further prestige is the Women's Dormitory Council. Under the presidential leadership of Rita Robinson, the Council put into effect the new constitution, arranged the women's mixer party, the Big and Little Sister reception, the hanging of the greens and the Christmas spirit party, square dances, and the Fall and Spring teas. The Council is an active and alert group in its effective representation of the college women.

CONTROLLING the women's athletic activities on campus is the W.A.A. Council. Members of the council are elected at the beginning of each semester by the women on campus. The council, guided by Miss Ann Elliott, plans women's activities for the semester. Life saving classes, "open houses," and roller skating were in the program which the entire student body enjoyed because of the efforts of these girls.

THE "E" Club is composed of letter winners in varsity sports. The group, under the capable leadership of Carl Palazzo, sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance on October 16, following the Edinboro-Brockport football game. Crawford Gymnasium was transformed into a world of underwater fish and other objects, as the club chose for its dance theme, "Under the Sea." During intermission, Miss H. Grubbs, Homecoming Queen, was crowned by Dr. Miller in a very impressive ceremony. Bob Connors, disc jockey for WJET radio station in Erie, emceed for the floor show which followed the crowning. The music of T. Jordano set the pace of the dance, and certainly the "E" Club Ball of 1954 is to be remembered as a great success.

Besides being active in various sports, the members of the club maintained the food concession stands at the home football and basketball games.

The officers for the year were D. DeLuca, President; J. Wolf, Vice President; N. Neuhard, Secretary-Treasurer.

photography club

THE Photography Club is one of the most active organizations on campus and contributes to the college in many ways. They take pictures for the SPECTATOR and CONNEAUTTEAN, as well as the publicity pictures for the college. "Hold that pose--don't move" is the trademark of the camera bugs. The members learn to enlarge their own pictures. The club enjoyed a visit to Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester, New York. Their biggest event of the year is a salon held in the spring, and at this time prizes are awarded for especially good work in photography. Dr. LaFollette is their advisor and meetings are held weekly. Officers for the year were: President, Richard Clark; Vice President, Charles Cutshall; Secretary and Treasurer, Clara Deitrick.

"THERE will be tryouts today at 4:00 P.M. in the Blue Room for anyone interested in joining the College Choir." This sign immediately attracted all the musically minded students on campus. At the completion of tryouts, strains of various Christmas music sounded in the auditorium as the choir began preparing for the annual Christmas Vesper program. Besides the musical selections, Choral Reading was added to the program. This endeavor was coached by Mr. Vincent.

Carl Palazzo, Mary Lee Schuckers, and Patricia Hunt were chosen to lead the group as President, Vice President, and Secretary respectively. These officers made plans for a picnic to be held on Mrs. Campbell's lawn. However, because of the weather, the picnic was held in the basement of the New Dorm. Robert Zentis and Jackie Morron provided a portion of the evening's entertainment for the group.

On December ninth, the choir gave a Christmas program at MacDowell High School. While in Erie, they also presented programs at WICU-TV and WSEE-TV.

The Spring Concert, entitled "Moonlight on the Campus," along with the Baccalaureate and Commencement music, were the finales to a most eventful choir year.

OUR six majorettes with Kathleen Campana at their head performed this year under the direction of Mr. MacDonald. Working with Kitty were Helen Drew, Audrey Irwin, Marilyn Sheldon, Barbara Wilson, and Barbara Parker. Along with the band they participated in the Homecoming parade and the game with California State Teachers College. Their snappy routines and twirling batons added a lot of color to the half-time shows.

THE band worked hard under the direction of Mr. MacDonald first semester and Mrs. Campbell second semester. Their activities included playing for the Homecoming parade and the football game with California State Teachers College. Rehearsals are held weekly. Al Eaton was President of the organization and Cathy Pipicella acted as Publicity Chairman.

BASKETBALL and football were really pepped up this year by the combined efforts of the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. They organized bonfires and pep rallies, and actively took part in all the games. Aside from their cheering duties, these bouncy lasses sponsored a Sadie Hawkins' Dance in the spring. In December, the group was invited to be guests at a Cheerleading Clinic at Youngsville High School. Highlighting the year was the appearance of their new bright red plaid skirts and white sweaters.

Co-Captained by Sally Baker and Gayle Hickman, the Varsity consisted of Nancy Balling, Janet Sybrant, and Doris Frey. Junior pepsters included Sallie Drescher, Eileen Garner, Frederica Brooks, Ruth Chima and Janet Kelsey.

modern dance club

GRACE in motion. That is the only way to describe the girls who belong to the Modern Dance Club. Members not only learn new techniques of modern dance and gymnastics, but acquire poise and grace with their training. Early in the year you will find the girls diligently doing limbering-up exercises to accustom their muscles to the strenuous exercise they will receive. Soon they are able to execute splits and leaps with ease. New steps are originated and excitingly executed. All the work and exercise are combined to present their annual production in April. Officers for the year are: President, Mabel Martin; Vice President, Patricia Coughlin; Secretary-Treasurer, Jana Lee Lesh; Historian, Dolores Onda.

THE Edinboro Geography Club is an organization of students and faculty members who are especially interested in the Earth Sciences. It includes chiefly majors and minors in geography who are seeking to further interest in their field. Currently the group is seeking a national affiliation as a geographical honor fraternity. The club's varied programs include guest speakers, travel movies, and group discussions. Officers for the year were: President, J. Baker; Vice President, T. O'Leary; Secretary, A. Schmieder; Treasurer, F. Humes. They were advised by Dr. Thomas, Mr. Gault and Mr. Stubbe.

AN integral part of any State Teachers College is the F.T.A., which is a professional organization. These future teachers help to organize and advise high school chapters of F.T.A. Another important duty of the club is conducting campus tours for visiting students. Discussion of the many varied phases of the teaching profession is a regular part of the agenda of the club which is advised by Dr. LaFollette, Dr. Offner and Dr. Hoshauer. Officers are: President, A. Eaton; Vice President, S. Kunselman; Secretary, G. Tigani; Historian, N. Claney. Floyd Humes is President of the Northwestern District of F.T.A.

THE newest addition to the family of organizations on Edinboro's campus is the Red Cross. In addition to presenting classes in First Aid, choosing entertainment for the veterans' hospitals in the surrounding area was also one of their responsibilities.

James Marvin, Nancy Balling, and Francis Coyle were the officers for the year, and Mr. Reed was their advisor.

ONE of the busiest organizations on campus is the Edinboro Collegiate Players, better known as the Dramatics Club. In the fall they presented ROMEO AND JULIET, with Isabelle Elson and Jacques Watkins as the "star-crossed lovers." In April came a presentation of the old-time melodrama, THE DRUNKARD. Both plays were directed by the club's sponsor, Mr. Vincent.

wesley fellowship

WESLEY Fellowship, the Methodist group on campus, began a busy year with a reception for the Freshmen and transfer students. Under the leadership of Reverend Hess, and Marilyn Duncan, acting for President Joy Lawrence, the members invited all other students to a caroling and Christmas party at the Scheide-mantel home. Officers for second semester consisted of P. Hunt, President; M. Duncan and C. Reinger, First and Second Vice Presidents; S. Bechtel, Secretary; R. Ray, Treasurer; D. Davidson and O. Seidler, Publicity Chairmen. The outstanding event of the spring was the group's representation at a state conference of Methodist students at Bucknell University. Together with Miss Morton and Mrs. Harold Hopkins, the Methodist students drew the year to a close with an impressive candlelight service.

THE Lutheran Student Association gives the Lutheran students on campus a chance to know each other and to discuss their faith together. Their advisor is Pastor Daniels from Drakes Mills. Activities included a picnic, taking part in a local church program, and Christmas caroling. Several of this year's speakers were Pastor Baker from Saegerstown and Pastor Kohler from Wesleyville. Officers for the year were: President, James Marvin; Secretary, Virginia Volkman; Program Chairman, Mary Baker; Publicity Chairman, Garnet Henricks.

THE Newman Club began its work in the first weeks of school when Anna Marie Johnson was elected to head the group. Other officers were: Vice President, P. Woodhouse; Secretary, P. Coughlin; Treasurer, J. Begeny. Under the advisorship of Father Dwyer, the Catholic students meet twice a month at the Lady of the Lake Chapel to hold informal discussions of problems concerning the faith.

A roller skating party at Joyland Roller Rink in Meadville was the opening social function of the club. To welcome new members, a Communion Breakfast was held at the church on October 31. One of the biggest successes of the year was the Sadie Hawkins Dance which was held in the College Union. With several more Communion Breakfasts, one of which celebrated Cardinal Newman Day, a square dance, and a box social in May, the group rang down the curtain on another successful year.

canterbury club

THE Canterbury Club is the organization for Episcopalian students and is sponsored by Miss Whitney. Two of their speakers this year were William Crittenden and Reverend Van Dort from Watford. The club celebrated Christmas by sending gifts to St. Barnabas House in North East and cards to the former members of the club. Officers for the year were: President, Helen Drew; Secretary, Pat Feldmiller. The club holds its meetings at Miss Whitney's home.

THE Alpha Delts began the year's activities by producing a Homecoming float "When the Frost is on the Punkin'." In honor of the alumni returning on that day, the sorority was hostess at a social hour in the College Union. The members served coffee and donuts to the alumni, faculty, and guests.

Under the leadership of President Shirley Kunselman, the girls were soon busy with plans for pledging, initiation, and the combined initiation and twenty-seventh annual Founders' Day banquet. Special guests were alumnae members, Dr. and Mrs. Miller, and Miss Morton.

Christmas found the Alpha Delts gift-wrapping clothes, toys, and food for needy families. A party at Miss Forness' climaxed the holiday festivities.

Early in the second semester the girls were busy planning an assembly program, rush parties, as well as pledge and initiation services. The Mothers' Day Reception and Senior Breakfast completed an eventful and enjoyable year for the Alpha Delts.

PSI Chapter of Theta Sigma Upsilon, an active member of the National Panhellenic Conference, is now in its third year as an Edinboro organization. To begin the year's activities, the Theta Sigs, after much hard work, entered in the Homecoming Parade a float representing the poem "Trees" and depicting the three school seasons--fall, winter, and spring. To celebrate Minerva Day, a tea was held after the Homecoming game with alumnae members as guests.

Shortly after the fall pledge service, the Theta Sigs began working with the Alpha Delta Sorority on plans for a Panhellenic Halloween Party for the freshmen. Ghosts, witches, and characters from literature dropped in at the masquerade and spent the evening playing games and meeting the upperclassmen.

In November, five new members were initiated, and a banquet in the college dining room was enjoyed by everyone including Dr. and Mrs. Miller and Miss Morton who was the speaker of the evening.

Social Service Day was observed December eleventh by beautifully decorating the Convalescent Home. To celebrate the holiday season, the Thetas held a Christmas party in the sorority room. At this time, Dolores Olearczyk was elected "Theta Girl" to represent Psi Chapter at the National Convention which is to be held at Roanoke, Virginia in August.

During the second semester, rush parties, a Mothers' Day tea, and initiation were all part of the activities. The year was climaxed by a farewell party for the senior members.

ALPHA Phi Omega is a national service fraternity, composed of college and university men who are or who have been previously affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America. The local chapter, Iota Xi, is one of the most active organizations on our campus. On Orientation Day, members of APO served as guides in showing the freshmen around the campus and acquainting them with the various buildings. The book exchange run by this fraternity provided students with the opportunity to buy used books at bargain-basement prices. Another service was the provision of ushers for the two Dramatics Club productions. APO members also helped out during the blood drive by putting up posters and plugging away in an all-out effort to get as many blood donors as possible. An innovation of the Alpha Phi Omega program is the annual planting of a young tree somewhere on campus to represent each year's pledge class. The APO's sponsored a talent show in March, and, as a culmination of their services, on Award Day in assembly they conferred for the first time at Edinboro a "Best Citizen" presentation. This honor is bestowed on the faculty member or student who, in the opinion of the student body, was the best citizen of the school year.

On the social calendar, the APO's held two dinner dances at Culbertson Hills Country Club for the fraternity members and their dates. A wiener roast down by the lake climaxed a busy and well-planned year for the members of Alpha Phi Omega.

REPRESENTING the Kappa Delta Phi, a national, professional, social, and educational fraternity, on campus is the Theta Chapter--a group of pretty nice fellows who work hard and play hard together.

First semester activities included a hay ride climaxing the hectic Sadie Hawkins' Week. And, in December, to add to the spirit of the season, the Kappa Delts held their traditional Christmas Dance in the College Union.

Wielding the gavel second semester was able President Tom O'Leary who succeeded Royce Mallory. Spring brought new pledges and a riotous initiation period climaxing by the annual banquet. With their favorite girls on a warm spring night the Kappa Delts ended a perfect year of work and fun at a frolicsome wiener roast.

Phi Sigma Pi, a national, professional, and educational fraternity, is represented on campus by Upsilon Chapter. The Phi Sigs got off to an early start by holding a card party and smoker at which the prospective members were introduced. Following a two week pledge period, initiation was held at the Ted-Mar Hotel in Cambridge Springs.

Homecoming was a busy season for the Phi Sigs who won first place in the parade with their float, "Old Ironsides." Marge Kortina was elected the "Sweetheart" of the fraternity.

Besides holding several professional meetings with prominent speakers in the field of education, the Phi Sigs have sponsored many fun-filled social activities including hayrides and dances. Other events enjoyed by the fraternity were a roller skating party, the annual Founders' Day banquet, and several picnics, as well as the Monte Carlo dance, the proceeds of which will be used to purchase a scoreboard for the athletic field.

"TO promote art in America, to recognize scholarship and to foster true friendship" are the aims of the group known on campus as Delta Phi Delta, a branch of the national professional honor fraternity. Junior and Senior art students who show outstanding characteristics in ability and scholarship are eligible for membership. This organization is of service to the college through its activities such as the sketching of decorative murals in the dining room during the holidays. With Helen Grubbs presiding as President and Dr. Gray advisor, Delta Phi Delta welcomed several new students at its spring initiation banquet.

TO attain membership in Mu Kappa Gamma, the honorary music fraternity, is the hope of all the musically-minded students on campus. Thirteen new members were initiated in November. Following the formal initiation ceremony, all the members attended a banquet in the college dining hall, after which the entire group went to see a stage production of KISS ME KATE presented by the Playshop Theater at Allegheny College.

The annual Christmas Vesper Service and a spring concert were the main activities of the group.

Officers for the year were: President, C. Palazzo; Vice President, K. Duran; Secretary, M. Prihoda; Treasurer, M. Duncan; Historian, P. Hunt.

beta beta beta

THE Alpha Chi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta, a national biological honor society, was established on the Edinboro campus in 1950. Dr. Johnson, who was instrumental in bringing the fraternity to this campus, Dr. Gatsy, and Dr. Thomas are the advisors.

Meetings are held each month for the discussion of important biological topics. Also, prominent speakers are invited to attend and movies pertinent to biology are shown. This year Beta Beta Beta is sponsoring a project to place metal placards on all the trees for the purpose of student identification.

Officers for the year were: President, D. Skeel; Vice President, J. Wolf; Secretary, S. McClaud; Historian, J. Baker.

kappa delta pi

CHOSEN on the basis of scholarship in education, character, and leadership, the members of Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity, are dedicated to the development of leaders in education.

Under the direction of President Ann Ruhling the organization sponsored the two Student Teachers' Teas. Highlighting their year was the initiation service and banquet held at the Robinson House. Dr. Miller was guest speaker for the evening.

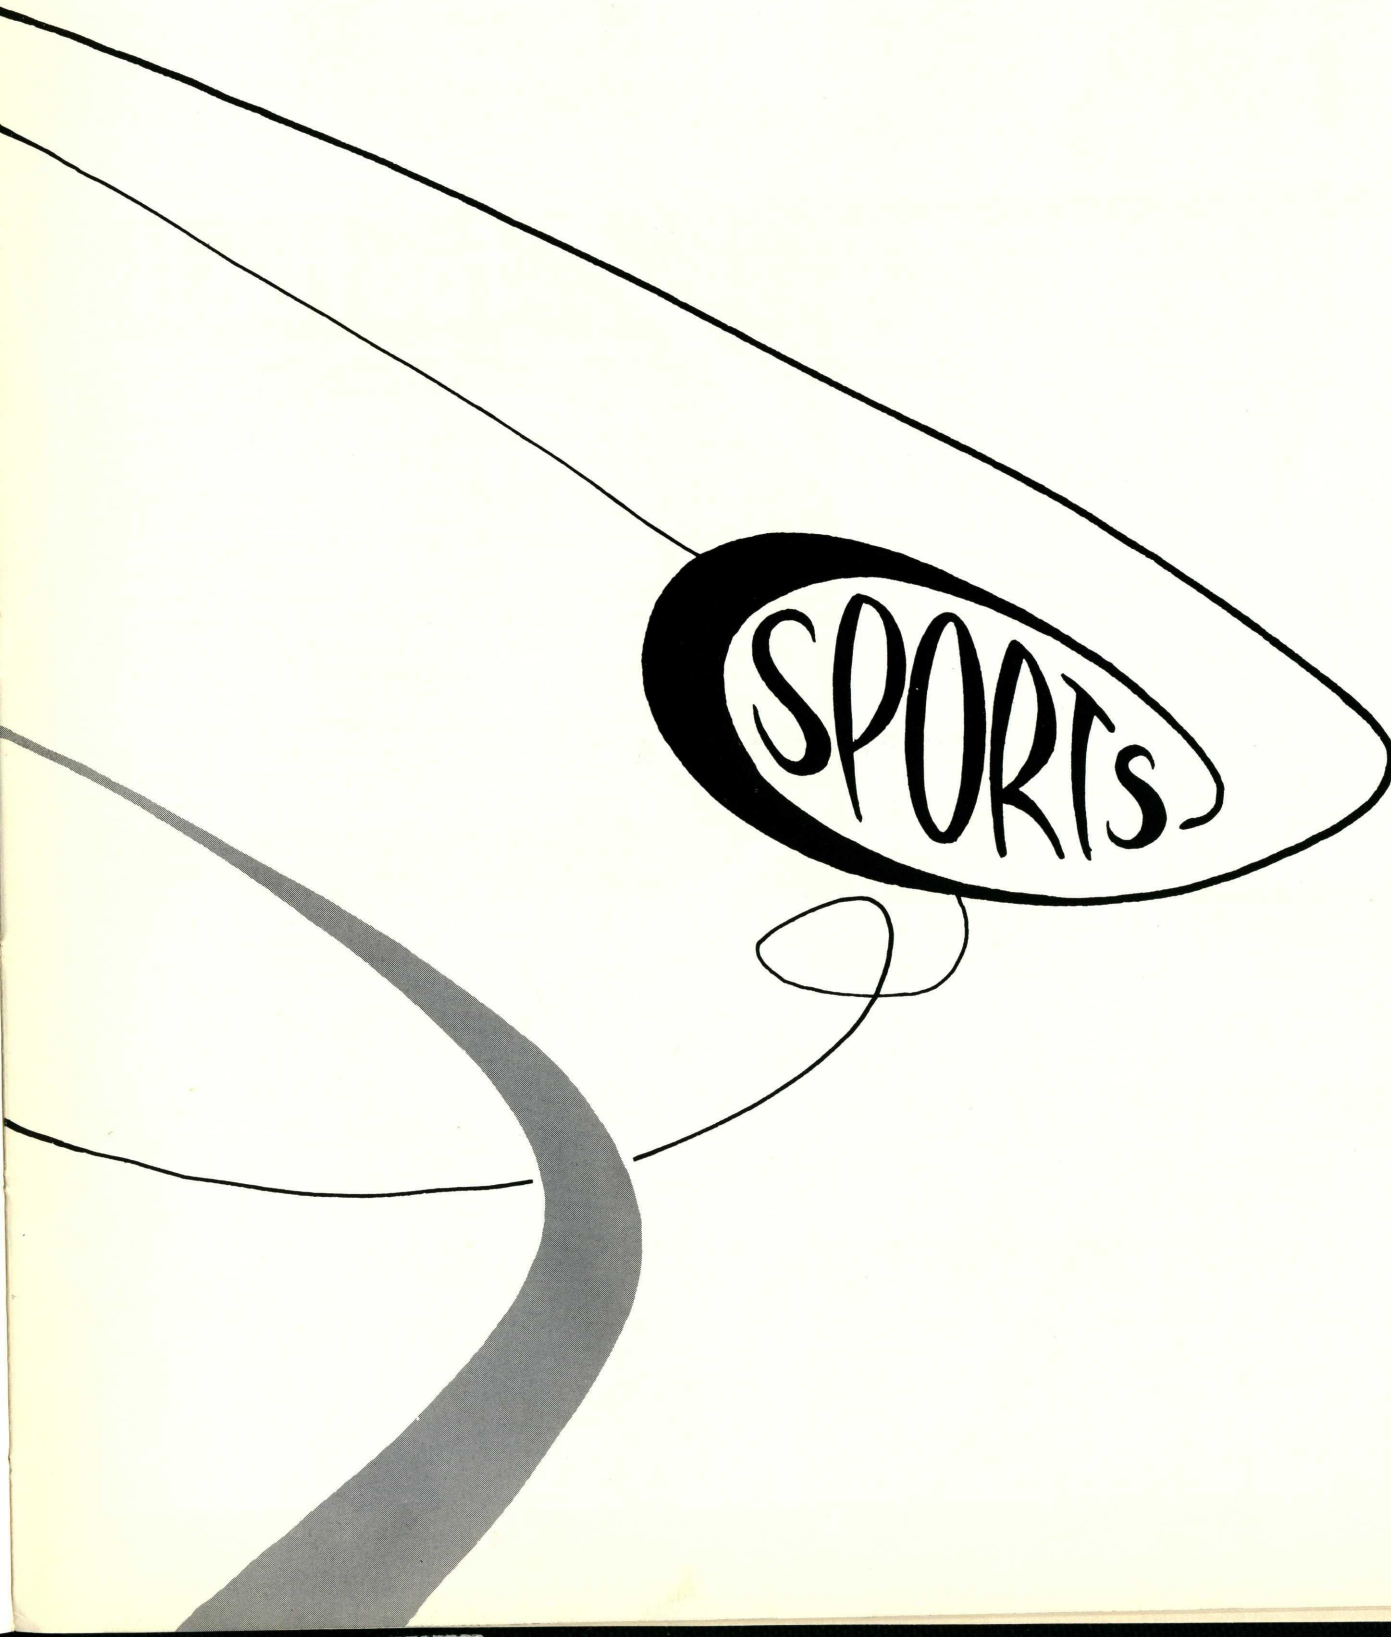

alpha psi omega

ALPHA Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatics fraternity, is represented on the Edinboro campus by the Gamma Kappa Cast. Qualifications for membership are dramatic ability and participation in the local theater program. The fraternity's advisors are Miss Ludgate and Mr. Vincent.

The Alpha Psi Omega members endeavor to attend the annual national convention, which is held for the purpose of exchanging ideas and stimulating a better quality of theater production at the college level. The Gamma Kappa Cast hopes to be able to be the host for one of these conventions in the near future.

The year's activities included several field trips to see theatrical productions at Cleveland. Officers for the year were: President, Phyllis Gundlach; Vice President, Henry Casilli; Secretary, Dolores Olearczyk.

THE Red Raiders fielded a football aggregation capable of producing a winning season. However, because of injuries, the team was unable to fully utilize their capabilities. The coaching staff, headed by "Art" McComb, along with the combined talents of Tom Gault and Jim Reed, guided the Raiders through another season.

The team elected Joe Fortino and Bud Ruland as Co-Captains for this school year; they played a very important part in keeping up the Raider spirit. The season got underway with the Raiders, clad in their red and white uniforms, losing a hard fought battle to California, 20-7. Traveling to Clarion, the Edinboroites took it on the chin to the tune of 46-20. This game saw many Raiders put out of commission. Plagued by injuries, the Red Raiders yielded a lone touchdown in the last period to lose to Slippery Rock 6-0. A fine Indiana team downed the Raiders 28-13 by using their running attacks to perfection. On a dreary, wet, rainy day, the team dropped their Homecoming game to Brockport 21-12.

Traveling to the "Smoky City," the Raiders dropped another tough one, this time to Carnegie Tech. The future teachers finally came in to their own in the last game of the season. Spearheaded by seniors in their final collegiate game, they trounced Mansfield 21-0.

State wide recognition was given to the team this year by the appearance of Leslie Ruland on the first team All State Teachers College Team; Royce Mallory and Joe Fortino were given honorable mention. All of us are really proud to take our hats off to these three fellows, as well as the whole Red Raider team.

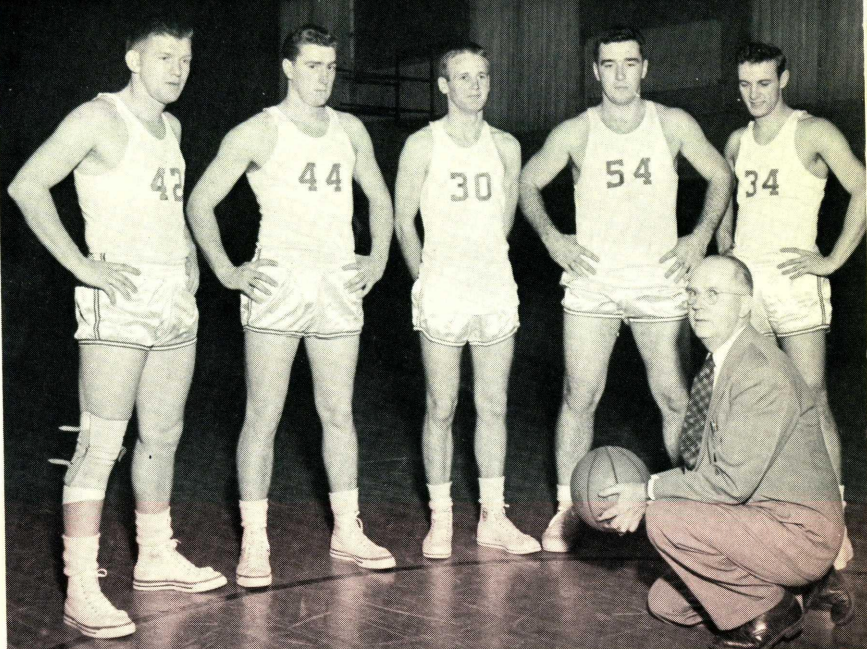

basketball

GOING into his second year as head basketball coach "Art" McComb once again fielded a small but fine team. The Raiders opened the season with a loss to the Golden Knights of Gannon, 77-62. They then met double disaster at the hands of the Gators from Allegheny, losing the first one 80-59 and dropping the second 79-61. After losing three straight, the Raiders bounced back with two victories over Grove City, 80-77, and Fredonia, 65-62.

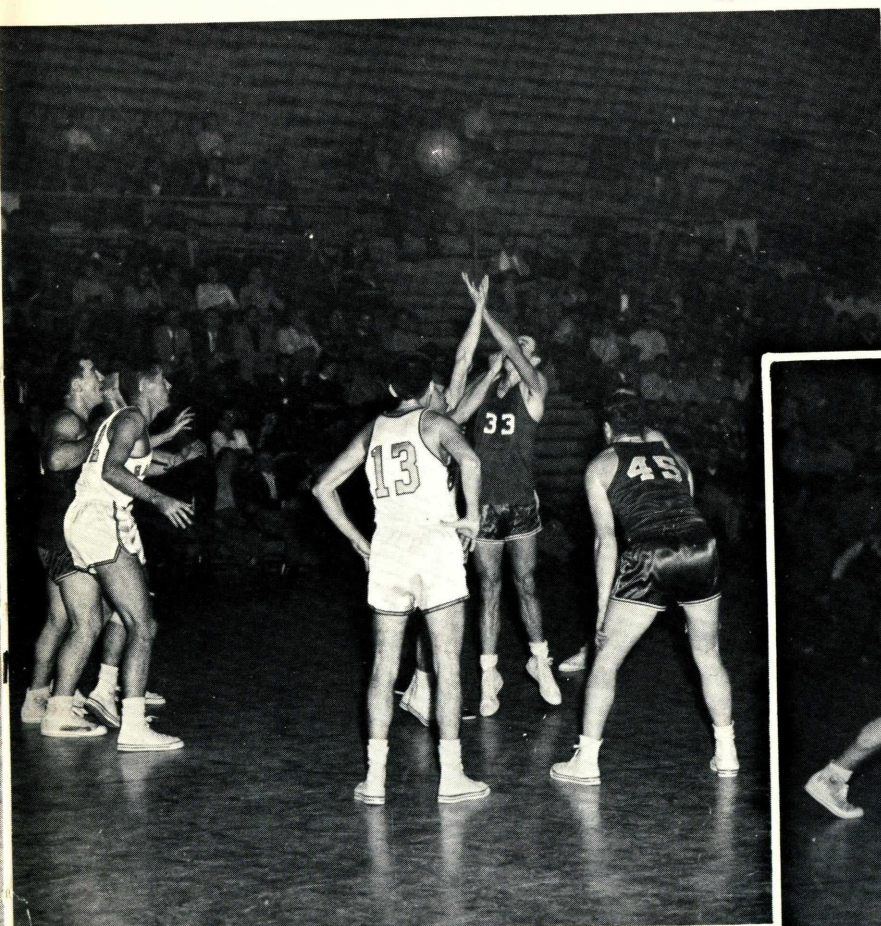

The high spot of the year came when the Raiders beat their traditional rivals from Alliance in a double over-time by the mammoth score of 119 to 108. This game saw Bud Ruland pouring through thirty-one points for the Raiders.

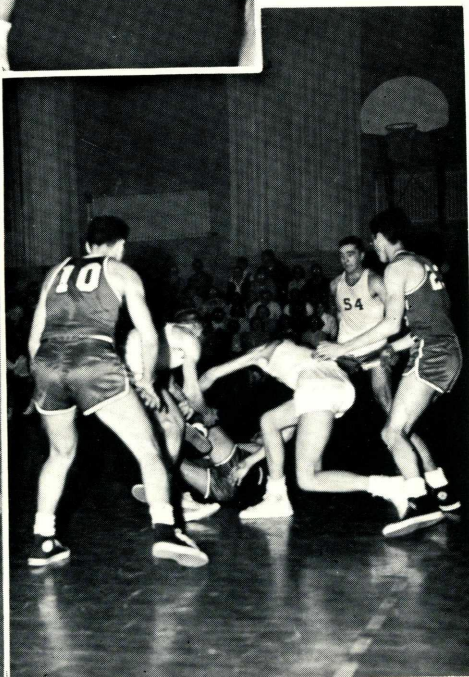

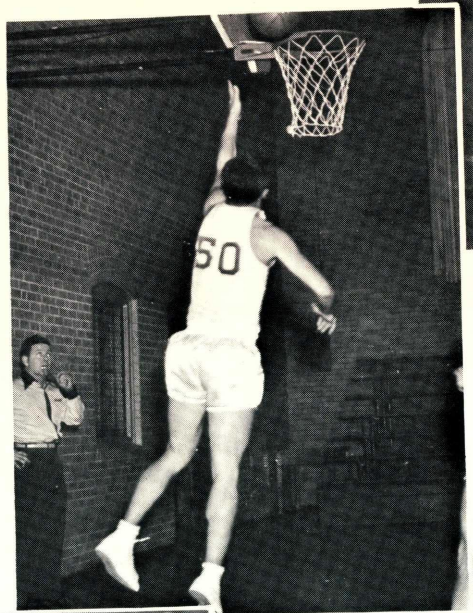

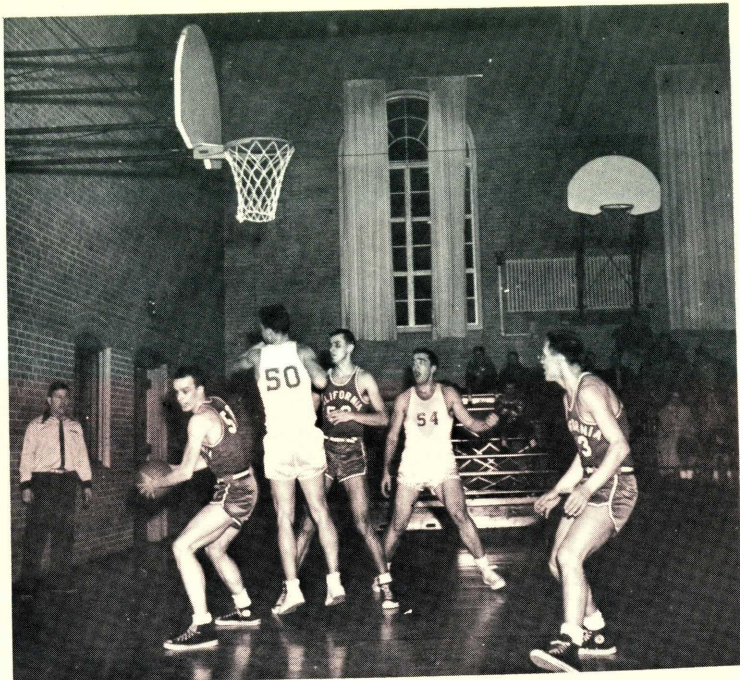

The Raiders pulled the unexpected as they beat a highly favored Slippery Rock quintet on their home court, 72-67.

The team this year was led by the scoring duo of Bud Ruland and Jack Sipes. The ever dependable Red Yezzi, Gene Rumsey, and Doug Spaulding made their presence felt also. The superb play of two freshmen, Bob Kwiat and Wally Watral, contributed greatly to the Raider cause. With the exception of Captain Bud Ruland, the team will remain completely intact for next year's cage season.

UNDER the tutelage of Coach Jim Reed the Edinboro mat men are looking forward to a successful wrestling season. Coach Reed, in the past, has always presented formidable teams and is now doing his utmost to build a team of the highest caliber. With only four returning lettermen and a host of promising candidates the Edinboro squad lost its first match with Lock Haven, 36 to 0, but the team has shown marked improvement with every outing and the competitive spirit is very high. Our coach, after receiving a broken ankle in practice, has been doing his coaching from the sidelines. We, as a school, can certainly be proud of our wrestling team.

EVERY woman on campus is provided with the opportunity to participate in some form of athletic activity. Whether she is proficient in the sport or just an enthusiastic beginner, she can develop her interest further.

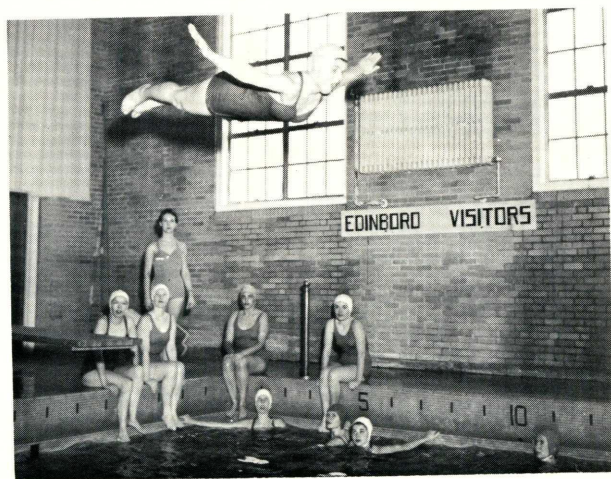

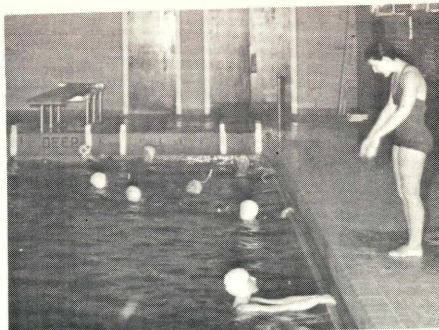

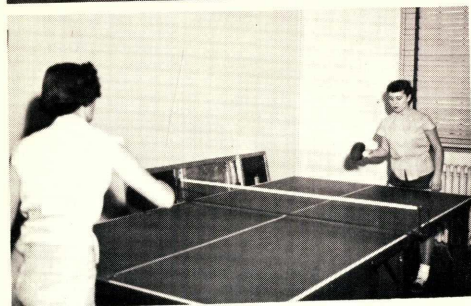

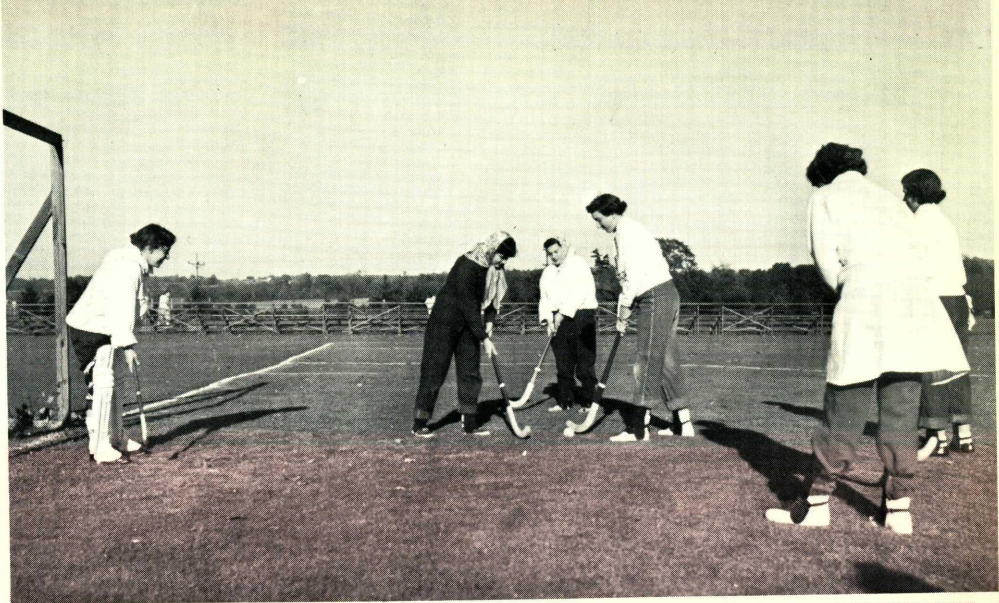

Tuesday and Thursday afternoons find the girls playing hockey, volleyball, basketball, or softball as the season permits. Swimming, tennis, archery, and badminton are also offered.

To encourage friendly competition between colleges, Edinboro sends members of the W. A. A. to participate in play days at various colleges. Also, this year several girls were sent to the hockey clinic at the University of Pittsburgh.

Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons W. A. A. plays hostess at open house in the gym. This gives the members of the association who have developed skill in a particular sport an opportunity to serve as instructors and supervisors of the various activities. In February the W. A. A. held its Winter Sports Party, and in the spring the synchronized swimming classes presented an aqua show.

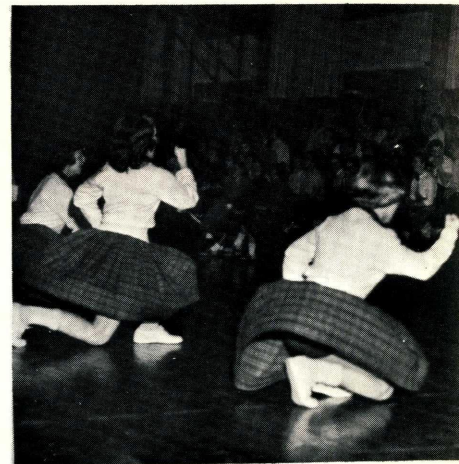

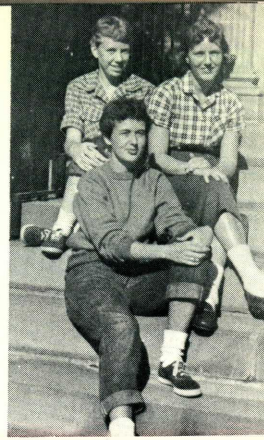

Awards of pins, jackets, and blazers are given for points accumulated through participation in the various activities.
