When The Lights Come On Again

THE CUMBERLAND

Dedication

ONCE they were our college classmates, now they are soldiers, sailors, or marines and are scattered all over the world. They loved their Alma Mater but they realized that they had an Alma Mater even greater than Shippensburg — the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. When Uncle Sam needed them they answered the call. Where they once fought for the Red and Blue of Shippensburg, they are now fighting for the Red, White, and Blue of the good old U. S. A. We, of the class of 1943, are proud of our former classmates and it is to them that we humbly dedicate this 1943 Cumberland.

First Row:

Third Class Pharmacist's Mate Daniel Bartholemew, Sgt. Edward Bigler, Pfc. Eugene Hartman, Cpl. Ray Kegg.

Second Row:

Lieut. Charles Kline, Pvt. John Kling, Ensign Robert Lebo, Ensign George Macian.

Third Row:

Lieut. Joseph McDermond, Lieut. Albert Piccolo, Ensign William Reid, Sgt. Harry Robinson.

Fourth Row:

Sgt. Jack Roddick, Sgt. Paul Strunk, Lieut. Clifford Yinger, Cpl. Keith Peterson.

Others whose pictures were not available: Sgt. John Andrew, Ensign John Barcalow, Lieut. Joseph Giacobello, Sgt. Carmelo Lamancuso, Cpl. Chester Lickel.

Alma Mater

In the dear old Cumberland Valley,
'Neath the glowing sky,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
On a hilltop high.

Mid the waving golden cornfields,
Just beyond the town,
Stand the ivy-covered buildings
As the sun goes down.

When we leave our Alma Mater,
We will Praise her name,
Ever live to raise the standards
Of her glorious name.

—Chorus

Swell the chorus ever louder—
We'll be true to you.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater
Dear old Red and Blue.

—HARRIET S. FREEBY, nee Shelley, 1893

Message From The Editor:

SOME of the most cherished possessions of a college graduate are his yearbooks because in them can be found a permanent record of one of the happiest periods in his life.

It is with this fact in mind that the staffs of the 1943 Cumberland have attempted to do the best job possible with limited funds, and reorganized staffs to make this edition live up to the high standards of past volumes.

The aim of this Cumberland is to give a complete interesting record of the year's activities. If it does this successfully our wishes will be fulfilled.

These times are truly disheartening to us but they will only serve to make this Cumberland carry more meaning for us. I say this because the things we cherish most in life are those which we achieve through toil, blood, sweat, and tears. Everything seems discouraging to us now but if we rise to meet the occasion we will discover that we are better men and women because of our determination to refuse to be licked.

May this book ever be the medium of fond recollections to those of us who have attended and loved Shippensburg.

FACULTY

Message From The Board of Trustees:

THE class of 1943 is graduating in a challenging and perilous time. The immediate work for which you have been preparing yourselves must be postponed by some of you until the forces of destruction are quelled.

We are justly proud of the record of our alumni in the armed services of our country and we know that the class of 1943 will maintain the proud records of those who have gone before.

In our emphasis on war service however we must not forget the common every day tasks that must be done on the home front. Children must be taught, the gospel must be preached, food must be produced, weapons and ammunition must be made and distributed. This must be done more efficiently if we are to do more and more with fewer workers at home. We believe our graduates will be able and willing to render a more efficient service in the years ahead in whatever station of life they are called because of the direction and guidance received at the State Teachers College at Shippensburg.

The war has intensified the need for training and skill. Youth, however, must plan not only for the war year or years immediately ahead but must plan at the same time for the day when Victory is won.

The best wishes of the Board accompany you in whatever kind of work, civilian or military, you may be called upon to undertake. We believe you will be true to the best traditions of your alma mater.

Very sincerely yours,

RAYMOND G. MOWREY,
President, Board of Trustees.

Faculty In Service

1st LIEUTENANT ARTHUR ATKINSON

Lieutenant Arthur Atkinson, before he enlisted in the Army Specialist Corps, was professor of psychology and educational measurements at Shippensburg. When the Army Specialist Corps was disbanded, Lieut. Atkinson was attached to the Adjutant-General's Office. Since joining the Army, Lieut. Atkinson has been employed in psychological testing at an Army Induction Center. At present, he is stationed at Fort Meyer, Virginia.

LIEUTENANT (j. g.) VINTON H. RAMBO

"Vint" was assistant football coach and head track coach at Shippensburg before he entered the Navy in January. He was also Dean of Men for the past three years, and taught biological science and physical education. Lieut. Rambo is now stationed at St. Mary's Pre-Flight School, Berkeley, California, where he is connected with the Navy's physical fitness program. Lieut. Rambo was at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for his Naval basic training for about five weeks.

ENSIGN JUNE B. ROBERTS

Ensign Roberts left the Shippensburg instructional staff last summer to join the WAVES. While here, Ensign Roberts taught in the business education department. Ensign Roberts, after receiving her commission in the WAVES, was assigned to the Technical Training Division of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Washington, D. C. While at Shippensburg, Miss Roberts was Faculty Publicity Director of the College.

PRESIDENT'S RESIDENCE

DR. ALBERT LINDSAY ROWLAND

Message From The President:

IN a world at war it is important to remember that there are fundamental values that transcend even war. While war is primarily violent and destructive, it is also ephemeral and must end either in the destruction of the combatants or in a more or less lasting peace. Wars are fought to preserve the values which people cherish and are fought only when these values are threatened.

The institution primarily responsible for the creation, the preservation and the advancement of these values is the school. In time of war the schools must carry on in order that these values, which are so dear that they are worth fighting for, may not perish.

I congratulate you, the Class of 1943, that you are going to be teachers in this time of national and world crisis. Many of your classmates have been called to serve in the armed forces of our country. All honor to them and may they return safely to us to complete in the future the college education which you complete now. Meanwhile the great and good heritages of human experience are conserved and transmitted to the children of today who will be the responsible men and women of tomorrow.

May God be with you in this noble service to youth without which the America we know and love will perish from the earth.

ALBERT LINDSAY ROWLAND.

DR. EARL WRIGHT

Message From The Dean of Instruction:

TO the members of the Class of 1943, I wish to offer my best wishes for the future.

At this time, as well as during the near future, you will need to call upon the resources of courage, cooperation, and education which you have developed.

Courage will be needed to help you overcome apparently insurmountable obstacles on the home front and on the widely scattered battle lines of the world, as well as during the period of reconstruction and adjustment following the war.

During war or peace times, cooperation is a vital factor in the successful completion of any undertaking.

Stiff competition during the post war period will weed out the incompetents and the partly educated. Your education will provide the opportunity to assist in the building of a more sane and greater civilization.

EARL WRIGHT.

Message From The Business Manager:

THE Heritage of America is precious. Its preservation is in your hands. You are of the Depression and War Era. To no generation, since the founding of the Republic, have come the responsibilities that are yours. This is fitting and proper for "yours is the spirit". We, of my generation are thankful; for knowing you and loving you as we do, we face the future without fear. Through you will come a glorious Victory and a just and enduring Peace.

JOHN W. LACKHOVE.

Faculty

Mary E. York

WE Shippensburg students are very proud of our college and of our college faculty. We like to think of S. S. T. C. as a friendly college where everyone knows everyone else. To make this feeling of friendship complete the teachers must be included. This is certainly true of our faculty. They always find time to talk to students and to discuss problems with them. This informal attitude between faculty members and students has done much to make Shippensburg what it is today.

Time changes everything, including our faculty. Seven members of last year's faculty: Miss Huber, Miss Roberts, Miss Main, Mr. Rambo, Mr. Mark, Mr. Seaton and Dr. Atkinson are no longer with us. Mr. Rambo, Miss Roberts, and Dr. Atkinson are now serving with the armed forces. Dr. Skene and Miss Gain are the new additions to the college staff.

Memories of the faculty members will always be cherished in the minds of the graduating seniors. They have done their utmost to prepare us for the problems of life and the future, and if we fail it will be no fault of theirs.

There is not an individual among us who has not profited from his association with our faculty members. Surely we are a great deal richer and wiser than we were as freshmen and a lot of this can be attributed to our four years of associations with such a grand college faculty.

The Athletic Council is the supreme body dealing with athletics at the college. The council approves the athletic schedules after they have been drawn up by the faculty, and directs the budgeting of finances for the support of athletics. Another duty of the council is to regulate and determine the athletic policy of the college. Dr. Rowland, President of the College, serves as Chairman of the Council, but Mr. Grove, Athletic Director, really carries the burden of the work. For the excellent job he has done, the class of 1943 wishes to extend to him our most sincere thanks.

Coaching Staff

EDWARD GULIAN

Coach "Eddie" Gulian, now in his tenth year at Shippensburg, is undoubtedly one of the finest coaches in teachers college circles. "Eddie" has consistently produced winning teams in football and has done a good job as head basketball and baseball coach. He is a graduate of Gettysburg College where he was a star athlete. Coach Gulian believes that character building is as essential in sports as is the winning of games.

VINTON RAMBO

Coach "Vint" Rambo, now Lieut (jg) Rambo, was assistant football coach, intramural coach, and head track coach at Shippensburg before he received a commission in the Naval Reserve last January. "Vint" was the man responsible for the famous Shippensburg football line play through the past years. As track coach, Coach Rambo developed some of the outstanding individual stars in Red Raider sports' history.

CLAUDIA C. ROBB

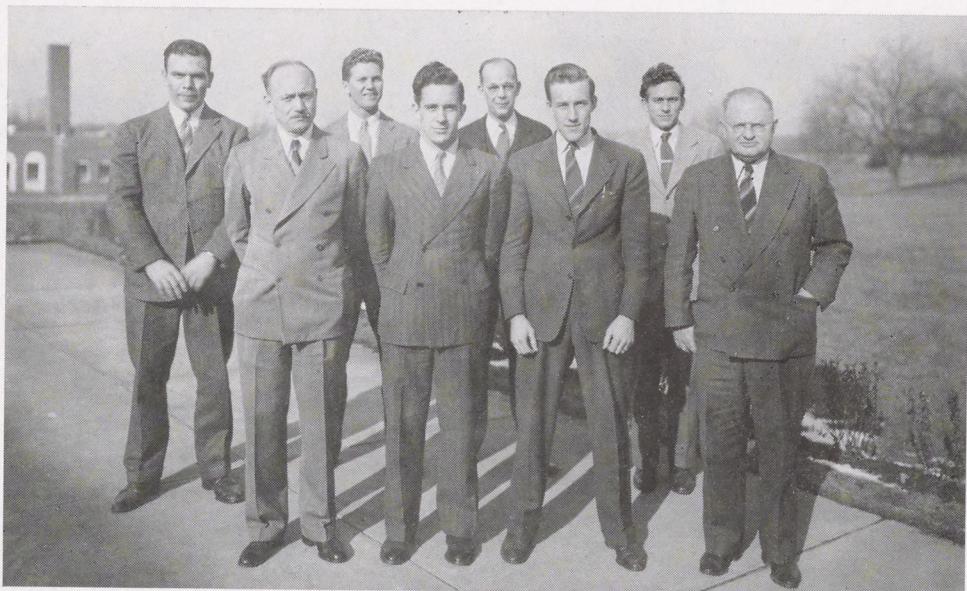

As director of women's physical education, Miss Robb, has done much to further the ideals of fair play and good sportsmanship at Shippensburg. Miss Robb has set up a varied athletic program in which nearly all S. S. T. C. coeds participate. She also is advisor of the Women's Athletic Association which sponsors athletics for college women.

KEITH B. ALLAN

Mr. Allan has coached Red Raider tennis teams for many years and has given Shippensburg an excellent record in that sport. His courtmen have consistently won better than half of their games. Mr. Allan's keen personality and friendliness has made him well-liked by opponents as well as by his own players.

Men's Athletic Association

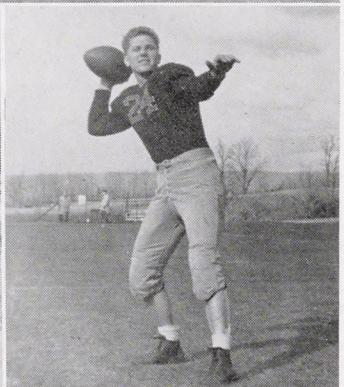

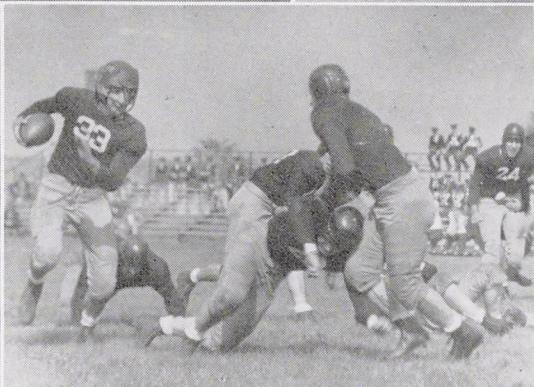

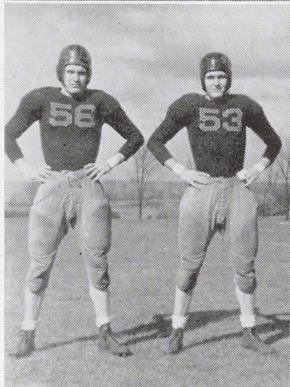

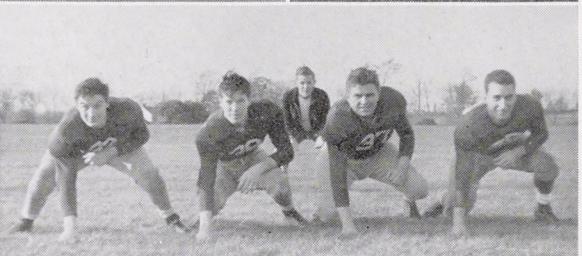

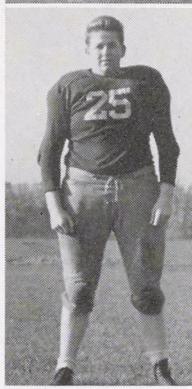

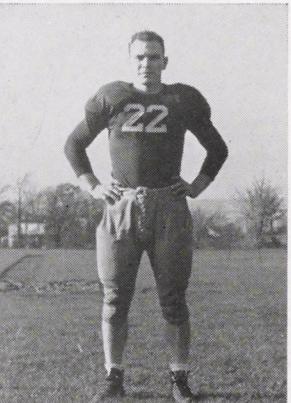

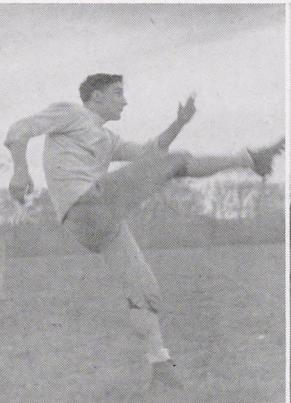

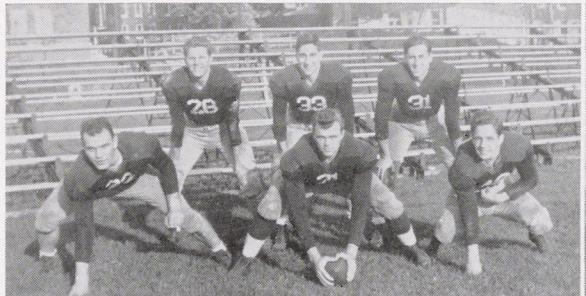

CHARLES BUSHEY	President
ROBERT HABIG	Vice-President
ARCH SHAW	Secretary-Treasurer
MR. GROVE	Sponsor

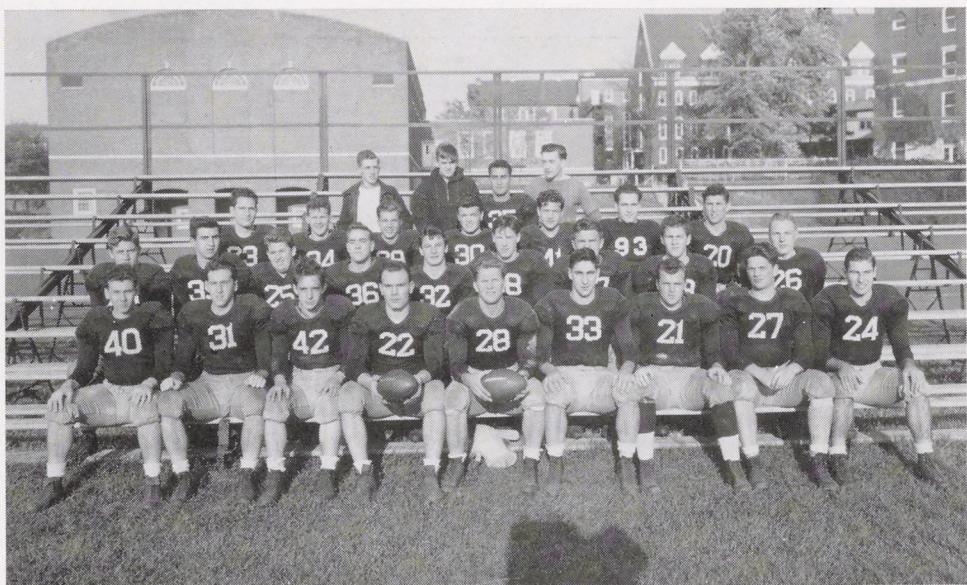

THE Men's Athletic Association is composed of all the male students of the college who are interested in athletics. The executive committee is composed of the officers mentioned above, Mr. Grove, Athletic Advisor, Mr. Lackhove, business manager, and the coaches of the different sports — Mr. Gulian, football, basketball, and baseball; and Mr. Allan, tennis—and the captains of all sports teams. These captains are: Robert Habig and Jerome Andrukitis, football; Gilmore Ott, tennis; and Arch Shaw, baseball. Basketball and track did not elect a captain. In basketball a captain was chosen before each game.

This Association discusses problems presented to it and advises the athletic director so that he may get the opinions of the men students of the college. The Association deals chiefly with problems concerning intercollegiate agreements and schedules, the awarding of insignia, the athletic budget, and eligibility rules. Other powers may be delegated to the Executive Committee of the Association by the Athletic Council and by the President of the College.

Football

ALTHOUGH many veterans from the 1941 gridiron squad failed to return in the fall of '42, Coach "Eddie" Gulian managed to gather together a group of young men ready to give their best for Shippensburg. Many of these boys had never played inter-collegiate football before.

The team was built around five veterans: Andrukitis, Habig, O'Neill, Galbraith and Ramsey. All remaining starting berths were filled by men elevated from the reserves, or by freshmen.

When the smoke had cleared after the final game, the Red Raiders had won two games and lost four. The Red and Blue had scored 45 points while their opponents chalked up 91.

Even though their record was not too impressive, much credit must be given to the 1942 edition of the Red Raiders. They were handicapped throughout the season by inexperience and the lack of reserves but, true to Shippensburg tradition, they were out there on the field always giving their best.

Two lads who deserve much praise for their football efforts are Jimmy Martz and John Leer. Neither had had any previous football experience but yet both of them earned varsity positions on the Red Raider line.

When captain-elect Earl Strohm did not return to school, Bob Habig and Andy Andrukitis were chosen co-captains by the squad. Andrukitis, star halfback, and Habig, a veteran lineman, are both seniors and each has had a brilliant football career at Shippensburg.

Andrukitis was the Red and Blue high scorer of the season with three touchdowns. "Little Bill" Peck scored twice, while Galbraith and O'Neill each crossed the double stripe once.

Again "Eddie" Gulian was head coach with "Vint" Rambo serving as line coach. "Monk" Miller was head student manager. He was aided in performing the managerial chores by Niles Gross, Paul Herman, and Richard Keiter.

Basketball

SHIPPENSBURG'S basketball schedule was abruptly ended in early February when the Army and Air Corps Enlisted Reserves were called to active duty. The Red Raiders, up to that time, had played nine games. Of these, they had won three and lost six to compile a rather unimpressive record.

The Red and Blue courtmen opened the season by winning their first two games. The opening game was with The Chambersburg Engineering Company who proved to be an easy victim for the Raiders. Shippensburg made it two wins in a row when they journeyed to Bloomsburg and won a 43 to 31 victory.

Kutztown invaded Shippensburg during the semester vacation and handed the Red Raiders their first defeat by a score of 45 to 40. Bloomsburg then paid a visit to the local court and avenged an early season defeat at the hands of the Red and Blue by defeating them 46 to 43. Lock Haven made it three losses in a row for the "Gulianists" when they copped a 57 to 51 decision on the local court.

Our bitter rival, West Chester was the next opponent to visit Shippensburg. In a slow, sluggish game, the Red Raiders came out victorious 38 to 34. This win brought the Red Raiders up to the .500 mark for the season.

Camp Meade met Shippensburg in the Alumni Gymnasium the evening after the Army Reserves had received their active duty calls in the morning. The soldiers ran up 61 points to overcome the Gulianites 61-49. Brown, of Camp Meade, and formerly of Western Kentucky Teachers College set a new scoring record for the Alumni Gymnasium when he scored 24 points.

With many of the Army Reserves off the squad the Red and Blue made the trip to Kutztown and dropped their second game of the season to the Golden Avalanche. The last game to be played before the remaining schedule was cancelled was with Carlisle Barracks. This will go down in S. S. T. C. sports annals as one of the funniest basketball games ever played by a Shippensburg team.

Imagine, if you can, seeing a team composed of Butler, Brindle, Habig, Ott, and Koontz trying to play basketball. The soldiers scored a field goal in the last forty seconds of play to gain a 56-54 decision.

At this point it was necessary to cancel the remaining games on the schedule. Games were yet to be played with Millersville, Lock Haven, California, and Indiana.

The Red Raiders, although they lost six games and won only three, outscored their opponents by 5 points as Shippensburg tallied 424 points against 419 for rival fives. This may be explained by the fact that when the Red Raiders lost, they did so by a narrow margin; and when they won, they won with a comfortable lead.

Only three seniors, Andy Andrukitis, Charley Bushey, and Bill Wagner were on the varsity squad. Shaw, Leed, Koontz and Ott, also seniors, participated in one or two games each.

Charley Bushey, and Harold Green, led the Red Raiders in scoring with 83 points each for the season. Green amassed this total by making 35 field goals and 13 foul shots while Bushey did so by sinking 33 field goals and 17 fouls. Bill Gipe, a newcomer to the squad, scored 77 points in eight games. Andy Andrukitis rounded out the quartet of high scorers with 74 in 7 games. This gave Andrukitis the best average total per game of 10.4 points.

Charley Bushey dropped 17 out of 28 foul shots through the hoop to lead the foul shooters with an average of .607. Andy Andrukitis converted 10 out of 17 for a .588 average. Three others were over the .500 mark. They were Leitch, .545; Green, .542; and Gipe, .538. Gipe made 21 free throws to lead in that department.

Baseball

WHEN Coach Eddie Gulian called the first practice last spring, eight lettermen from the 1941 squad reported to him. With these veterans as a nuclei and with the addition of many promising freshmen to the squad, Coach Gulian produced one of the most successful diamond squads ever to represent Shippensburg in several years.

One of the outstanding feats of the baseball season was performed by "Obie" Oberholtzer who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Shepherd. Oberholtzer led the Red Raider mound staff with four victories against no defeats. "Dick" Kepner, captain of the team, was the other mound mainstay with a record of 2 wins and 3 defeats. Jesse Fissel and "Birdie" Elliott were used frequently as relief hurlers.

Bob Habig, veteran catcher, led the hitters with a batting average of .333. Arch Shaw led the team in the number of hits with eleven. The fine record of the 1942 squad was the result of a well-balanced team. It had good hitting, excellent pitching, and flashy fielding, each when it counted the most.

Captain Dick Kepner, Warren Bitner, and Jesse Fissel were the only Senior members on the squad.

Track

THE 1942 edition of the "Red Raiders" track team had fewer members than any team in many a year. Yet Vint Rambo, coach of track and field, organized a strong, versatile group of young men who placed third in the Annual State Teachers College Meet held at West Chester, appeared in the Penn Relays, and won the District Meet held at Geneva College.

In the State Teachers College Meet, won by West Chester, Shippensburg placed third, only $\frac{1}{2}$ point behind Bloomsburg, second place winner. In the Penn Relays, "Danny" Galbraith placed fourth in the javelin and the "Red Raiders" relay team placed third in the College Mile Relay.

Track letters were awarded to Captain Clifford Young, John Plask, Jack Roddick, Cyril Ramsey, Dan Galbraith, William Madden, Carl Bufflap, and Andy Bodnar.

Tennis

At the beginning of spring the tennis team, coached by Keith Allan was faced with a seven match schedule. Of these seven, the "Red Raiders" racked up a total of four wins against three losses.

The first match of the season was at home against West Chester. The Allan Netmen lost this first match 9 to 0 on a snowy day. Travelling to Millersville, the Raiders scored their first win by a 5 to 4 count. Playing host to Millersville for the next match, Shippensburg captured its second victory by a 6 to 3 score.

Shippensburg invaded Kutztown for the fourth match of the season and again came out victorious 6 to 3. In the following match, the Red and Blue suffered their second defeat at West Chester by a score of 8 to 1.

Kutztown visited Shippensburg and defeated the Red and Blue sextet 6 to 3. This defeat gave the Allan Men a record of 3 wins and 3 losses. The Raiders had to win their final match to go over the five hundred mark. The final match of the season found the S. S. T. C. team winning a 6 to 3 victory over Indiana.

It is probably the first time in school history that a tennis team from Shippensburg beat the Netmen from Indiana. Three seniors, three sophomores, and one freshman comprised the team. The players were seeded as follows: Robert Yocum (Captain), Elwood Smith, Gilmore Ott, Harry Wenger, Blase Cindric, George Kline, and Edward Grove.

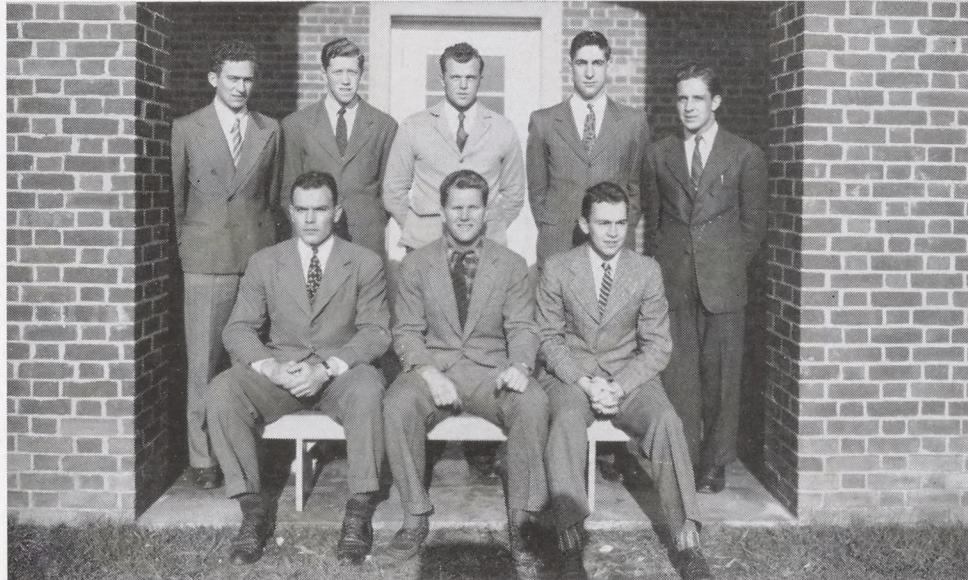

Varsity Club

THE Varsity Club first started in 1926, giving it the distinction of being one of the oldest active clubs on the campus. It is the purpose of this club to give our athletes some recognition for the parts they have played in making Shippensburg a better place in which to live. Members of this club are those who have earned the varsity "S" in any sport at Shippensburg and have withstood the rigid club initiation. During the academic year the club sponsors pep meetings, athletic contest programs, a dance, and aids in all phases of S. S. T. C. "Sportdom."

When seniors, the members of the club receive a beautiful pin; to those who have earned a letter in a sport two times, a trophy is given. These awards, together with the good fellowship that the club promotes, are a few of the benefits derived from membership.

THE hockey field, the swimming pool, the basketball floor, the ping-pong room, the softball diamond, the archery range are all places of action for the members of W. A. A. A leader of each of the sports is chosen by the entire organization, and she in turn is a member of the W. A. A. Cabinet. These girls organize the sports and plan the activities connected with them.

W. A. A. has introduced and promoted many new sports. Swimming and archery have taken on new importance due to the enthusiasm which the W. A. A. has given them.

Among the various activities, the initiation is probably the most important. This year many new members were taken in from a group of enthusiastic freshmen. Other activities are the banquet given in the fall, and a basketball sports day with Lebanon Valley.

This organization has always held an important place on our campus, and each year its importance and significance is growing. Our hats are off to a great organization!!!

Hockey

“GROUND-STICK, ground-stick!” Swat and down the field our forward line goes!! What, a slip?—our back field gets to work. It is a matter of seconds till the forward line has the ball again—its a goal!!

The S. S. T. C. team met with much success in the 1942 season. All the efforts of this group were bent to “come home with the bacon” at the annual hockey sports-day held this year at Lebanon Valley.

The invitation came—weeks of practice followed—then a crowded trip in the station wagon to Lebanon Valley. Nervous laughter, cheers and a cross of sticks—and then the fray began. The girls because of their cooperation and willingness to work as a unit won an overwhelming victory!

Our seniors who deserve much credit for their efficiency in hockey include: Vesta Brenize — our goalkeeper, Dorothy Cressler — a super half-back who never failed our forward line, Jane Rupert—a fullback, hard-hitting and a sure sender to the forward line, Marty Stambaugh — center forward, swift-footed, quick acting, goal maker.

Hockey was a feature of Homecoming Day with all girls of the student body interested in hockey as members of the squad. The enthusiasm which was displayed by the girls was due to the fine sportsmanship and coaching of Miss Robb, coach and sponsor. Now congratulations to this year's hockey squad's success and good-luck toward victory next year.

Archery Club

WENDELL DITMER	President
MARY FELIX	Secretary
ROBERT NASH	Treasurer

BULLSEYE, bows and arrows, target—these are the words which the expert archers use who make up the Archery Club on the campus of S.S.T.C. Each spring-like day anyone who wanders down to the archery range can see these "Robin Hoods" practicing their art. Under the capable guidance of Miss Robb, their sponsor, these archery enthusiasts have made much headway. This fall, due to the new physical fitness program which calls for more vigorous sports, archery had to take a back seat, but the members went into full swing this spring.

The archers this year concentrated on clout-shooting. This type of shooting was demonstrated at the tournament held at Wilson College in the spring of 1942. Each year this group tries to concentrate on one new skill.

This club has aroused much interest on the part of many members of the student body. S. S. T. C. can well be proud of such an organization which is still young, but is growing stronger year by year.

Girls' Basketball

"DOWN that hardwood!" The trio's weave in and out incessantly—a basket is made—the whistle blows—the game is over.

It was a game between the day and boarding students. Not a bad game at all!

And do you remember that game with the Froshes and Sophs teamed against the Juniors and Seniors? What happened to the upper classmen in the second half? They were practically walking away with the game in the first half. Keep it up underclassmen—you really have something there.

That was loads of fun the day we entertained Lebanon Valley on our Campus. Playing our old rival again in basketball was of great interest to us. In fact, every year we always look forward to that game as the "GRAND FINALE" of the season.

Five veteran players were found on the teams this season: Doris Kriner, W. A. A. basketball leader, Laura Taylor, Martha Stambaugh, Jean Croft, and Marie Hoffman.

Under Miss Robb's capable guidance and leadership the coaching squad was very successful this year and as a result S. S. T. C. has several efficient coaches.

The Seniors on this year's basketball squad wish next year's squad as much success and fun as we have had.

Swimming Club

RUTH MUNDIS President
MISS ROBB Sponsor

EAH Monday afternoon a group of enthusiastic mermaids gather at the swimming pool for their weekly meeting of the swimming club. This club is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. The club is under the direction of Ruth Mundis, swimming leader of the W. A. A. Cabinet, and has been very active.

The first activity of this organization was a swimming exhibition on Homecoming Day. It was the largest exhibition given on the campus of S. S. T. C. All classes in swimming were included in the demonstration. Strokes, comic races, dives, and games were the features of the program. As a climax, the members of the swimming club formed a number of patterns ending in a large "V" for Victory.

During the second semester, the club members concentrated on Lifesaving. Each year this course is offered, and those persons who previously have obtained their instructors cards teach the course. This part of the program offered by the club has been received enthusiastically by the students.

The swimming club is one of the new clubs on the campus, but despite its youth it has grown and become more active each year. S. S. T. C.'s mermaids warrant respect and bring honor to the college.

ARE you ready? Hip, Hip. We were off, the entire bleachers, yelling for the Red Raiders until our throats burned.

With the pep, personality and spirit of our six young lassies we couldn't help filling the air with our Shippensburg cheers.

Our "Pep Rousers" deserve more credit this year than ever before. A great surprise was given the spectators when our girls displayed their acrobatics. Under the continuous daily training of the head cheerleader, Marty, the girls developed their skill.

We owe to this sextette much admiration and praise not only for their perky appearance, but for their strenuous practice with Mr. Weaver, and cooperation among the group.

Our Seniors this year in addition to our head cheerleader were Fay Roth and Marge Keck, Jean Croft. Others were Neva Walters, Lib Ott and a substitute, Rose Contino.

Intramurals

SHIPPENSBURG has been noted throughout the state for its excellent intramural sports program. Mr. Rambo and Miss Robb have been the two faculty members responsible for the organization and direction of these intramural activities. Competition is arranged for boys in basketball, volleyball, table tennis, softball, horseshoes, football passing, swimming, and quoits. Miss Robb's program for the girls includes hockey, swimming, archery, basketball, and table tennis.

The "obstacle course" program of the College Enlisted Reserve Corps replaced the men's intramural program to a great extent this year.

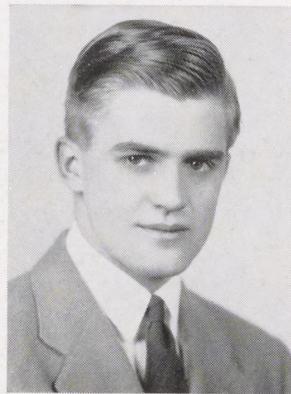

The purpose of this varied intramural program is to secure the active participation of all students. It is also designed to develop greater individual skills in the playing and coaching of sports.

ORGANIZATIONS

THE Student Co-operative Association is the largest organization on the campus because all students are members. The association is very ably sponsored by Mr. J. W. Lackhove, college business manager.

The duties of the association include the operation of the bookstore and cafeteria, the collection and distribution of student activity fees, and the handling of gate receipts at athletic contests and Lyceum programs.

The officers of the association are elected each spring by a direct vote of the student body. The president of the association holds a seat on President's Council, governing organization of the college. The president also holds an election during the second semester in which the students determine the recipient of the Eleanor Kyner Boots Service Medal. However, the faculty has final judgment as to the winner of this award.

DR. ALBERT LINDSAY ROWLAND	President
CHARLES BUSHEY	Vice-President
MARIE HOFFMAN	Secretary

“SINCE we have a sufficient number present, constituting a quorum, the meeting is now officially open.” These familiar words open the regular monthly meetings of the President's Council. The council consists of the presidents of the leading organizations of the campus, the social deans, the president of the college, and the college business manager. Dr. Rowland is president of the council. The council has a student vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. The faculty members of the council have the privilege of debate, but only the student members are permitted to vote.

The council decides the extra-curricular and social events of the year, prepares the budget of the student activity fund, discusses important national issues, and appoints a committee to organize the next year's college handbook.

Shippensburg attends the annual conventions of two leading student government organizations.

Each student in the college is represented on the council a number of times. This is very significant of the democratic principles of the President's Council, the supreme governing body of the students of the college.

Boarding Men's Council

HOWARD GINGRICH	Vice-President

THE governing body of the boy's dormitory is the Boarding Men's Council. The duties of Council members include keeping order in the dormitory, reporting accidents and faulty equipment to the proper officials, and hearing cases against men who have violated the rules of the Council.

The Council is composed of nine members. Three representatives are elected from the Senior Class, two from the Junior Class and one from the Sophomore Class. The class representatives this year are: Seniors—Carl Leed, Charles Bushey, and Howard Gingrich; Juniors — Charles Lehman and

William McCartney, editor-in-chief of the Campus Reflector; Ray Kegg, later replaced by John Leer, President of C. C. A.; and Jerome Andrukitis, Varsity Club President, are ex-officio members of the council.

Dr. Earl Wright, who replaced Mr. Rambo as Dean of Men, is sponsor and adviser of the council. The Council meets in the third floor tower room of Old Main when a meeting is called. Carl Leed, president of the Council, represents the Boarding Men on President's Council.

Boarding Women's Council

THE Boarding Women's Student Council is perhaps the most discussed governing organization on the campus. It is composed of seven corridor representatives, four officers, a Freshmen representative, and the Dean, Miss Kunkel. The corridor representatives are nominated by the council and elected by the students of the respective corridors. The officers are elected by all the girls. The Freshmen representative is elected by the Freshmen girls.

The activities and duties of the council are to set up standards for the students, to help students govern themselves, and to help them to live with respect for others. The specific duties of the corridor representatives are to take nightly check, ask cooperation in all matters, and bring to the council complaints and new ideas. The Freshmen representative presents the Freshmen's ideas and interprets the council rulings for them. The secretary keeps the records of all House Council Meetings; the vice-president heads and appoints committees for teas, receptions, and parties. The treasurer helps in the financial balancing. The president takes nightly check, gives special permissions, and posts notices.

THE Day Men Students' Association, while it has dwindled steadily in size since the beginning of the year, remains an organized body and continues to function as one. Having its headquarters in Room 033, Old Main, known to all concerned as the "Day Men's Room", this organization exists for the purpose of governing the commuting men students of Shippensburg. In this room the men students find a common gathering place; a place to sleep between, and sometimes during classes; to study, if their powers of concentration permits; and to carry on the incessant game of pinochle.

The most important social function of the organization is the annual Christmas Party.

For purpose of administration, the following officers are elected: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and representatives from the four classes. The Association is represented in President's Council by the President.

When the Army and Air Corps Enlisted Reserves were called to active duty the following new officers were elected: President, Wayne Byers; Vice-President, Melvin Geiman; Secretary, Fred Mentzer; and Treasurer, John Miller.

Day Women's Council

“SOMETHING new has been added.” The main events of the year as far as the day women are concerned were their wonderful luncheons. Just ask any of the day women about it. Outstanding among these luncheons was the one held for Valentine's Day. More of them were held as the year progressed because everybody had so much fun and such good things to eat.

Under the leadership of their President, Catherine Hubley, and with the helpful assistance of Miss Kunkel, the day women held their annual Christmas party and also a delightful Hallowe'en party.

The day women are noted for their generosity in contributing to anything which the school sponsors. Among the things they contributed to this year are the service flag, the gift for Miss Main and the gifts for soldiers, including the duffel bags and gifts for the reserves. Many of the girls are knitting sweaters for Uncle Sam's men.

Those girls are “right in there,” too, as far as sports are concerned. They even have a basketball team composed wholly of Day Women.

to be chosen when William McCartney was called to the colors. However, we felt that we had a duty to perform for our Alma Mater and this volume of the Cumberland represents our efforts to uphold the high standards of the past.

This year the Cumberland is developed around a militaristic theme. How well we have succeeded in selecting a suitable theme and cover for this Cumberland is for you, the readers, to decide.

CAMPUS REFLECTOR

"1942-43 Passes in Review!"

For three years, we "old timers" have been busy in the history of S. S. T. C., and have received guidance from faculty and upper-classmen alike. At last we have climbed to the top of the mountain, and now we are allowed to sit back, advise, and organize, only when the spirit so directs us, or when we are so asked because of our "outstanding" abilities.

In September, we watched another class of freshmen "strut forth"—did I call that shyness and meekness "strutting"?—you tell me!!! In addition, we found that there were many old faces no longer here, but who were now found in the ranks of Uncle Sam's armed forces. These were leaders of many activities, therefore new men and women were chosen to their seats of honor, and placed burdens on unaccustomed shoulder. But they ushered the freshmen into the regular routine of parties, dances and fun. Days went by and we surprised everyone by putting forth a full team of men for the football season—not the former varsity men, but "greenies" filled with the desire of bringing honor to the Red and Blue. Did they do a good job? Yes, indeed, and we seniors were there to cheer for them too.

Marking periods came and went, with "pro's" and "de's" for seniors in student teaching as well as classes. Yes, those dignified and mature men and women were going to the classroom, no longer as students, but this time they were holding the rod, and they were giving the exams. Were they good pros—look at their gray hairs now. But interspersed with all the work was the fun also. The Hallowe'en Dance brought the seniors real credit, with Howard Row and Jeanne Coffey as "typical Injuns", and senior boys as "bathing beauties." Wow!!!

Once again, the Masquers came forth with a brilliant production—"The Importance of Being Earnest", which showed us that there were needs in being earnest in other things than studies. And, then came the long-awaited Home-coming Day, which proved to be fun and excitement for both alumni and seniors. Just think that in one more year, we would be members of that limited and honored organization. And did our alumni look prosperous—even the men in uniform looked like "Rear Admirals" and full-fledged "Generals."

Yes, there was a whisper before Thanksgiving vacation that the junior Prom was to be held earlier. No more news about that however. Was that Thanksgiving vacation worth while—are you telling me!!!

Now, we heard more news about the Event of the year. The Prom was to be held in December, in the Alumni Gymnasium. All three classes decided, including the freshman, that a real show should be given those mighty seniors. And, they gave us the event of a life time. "White Christmas" was the theme, and even though no snow was found outdoors, there was enough indoors to make us feel like putting on ski pants rather than orchids and that cherished gown. Those men really looked handsome too!!! This proved to be the last big dance for many of us, though we knew nothing of the future.

And, before we knew it—Christmas was here. Vacation proved to be work for our men in post offices and elsewhere. A new type of Christmas gift presented itself this year—diamonds were on the market. Those senior girls were forming ideas of the careers they wanted in life.

January blew in and the basketball team sprang forth in its first game with one grand surprise—victory. Then came the Don Cossacks with memories of Russia. Did you notice the date—yes, first semester has ended!!! About exams—the less "bull" you shoot, the better, some say. Others disagree.

February started like a peaceful month—the usual routine of birthdays, parties, and fun. Then, suddenly, S. S. T. C. was brought into the scope of World War II, and its meaning. Remember Saturday, February 7, when the parade of Uncle Sam's Enlisted Reserves were no longer "kiddin'", but really members of the United States Army. A shock would not have described the effect to the seniors or underclassmen. For four long years, they had trudged over the path of woes and worries to find themselves suddenly members of a new school.

Soon the Air Corps Reserves received their notices. Men were a subject of discussion rather than of vision. Notice the girls waiting for mail now. Had they arrived yet? No, they were in Atlanta, and still traveling. At last, destinations were learned and then those love-ly, loving letters! Life is worthwhile, if there is a letter in waiting. March rolled in, and the senior Co-ops talked about going to Washington. The Debate Club sent representatives to Penn State, and presented a solution for the entire post-war reconstruction problem. We were proud of our seniors there.

April burst forth with the usual routine of summer dresses, spring fever, and class cutting, but something was not there. No campusology classes were on the front campus. But the Choral Club presented an excellent concert on April 15, and set the world a-singing. The senior Co-ops went to Washington or Pittsburgh, do you remember?

At last, May was here. We aren't as happy as we expected to be, are we? Somehow, the future has become less glittering without S. S. T. C. for the coming year. Now, don't philosophize! May Day was lovely, and "Merry Wives of Windsor" was delightful. Alumni Day was here—notice the reminiscing and greeting of old friends. Events were coming faster—Baccalaureate Service, Senior Day and Banquet, and finally Commencement. Many members of the class of '43 were not present in cap and gown, but they were sharing our glory and happiness in distant places—in Uncle Sam's uniform. We are now "of the past", and we give you the traditions to carry on, while we leave for embarkation to Destination Unknown.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN REFLECTOR HISTORY

The Campus Reflector began the year 1942-43 with William McCartney as editor-in-chief and Howard Gingrich as Business Manager. Of course many of last year's staff had been graduated so replacements had to be secured. After checking over the try-out articles, the editorial staff selected the following students to be added to the Reflector staff as reporters: Vera Sellers, Jean Burkhardt, Elizabeth Ott, Alice Zimmerman, Ida Arms, Gladys Munford, Thomas Schade, Orville Smith, William Peck, and Wayne Byers. New additions to the typing staff of head-typist Josephine Arcuri were: Louise Singley, Dorothy Hamilton, Shirlee Green, Lucille Mentzer, and Rose Contino. Niles Gross and Charles Lehman took over the circulation task while Kenneth Thompson was added to the Business Staff as an Associate Advertising Manager.

With the retirement of Mr. George Mark, at the end of the 1941-1942 year the Reflector was left without a faculty adviser. This position was ably filled by the appointment of Mr. Raymond Brunner.

With these new staff members hard at work the Reflector was in the midst of a very successful year when the Army and Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserves were called to active duty. This threw everything off stride as so many members of the staffs were included in the Reserve call. Miss Jean Bender was elected to fill Mr. McCartney's position as editor-in-chief and Clyde Hender shot was moved from an Associate Editor into the Managing Editor's position. Many other changes were also made necessary. Josephine Arcuri replaced Howard Gingrich, an Air Corps Reserve, as Business Manager.

After this reorganization the Reflector attempted to carry on as before. The paper was published on schedule and the quality of the paper was maintained as near as possible.

The climax of a "rocky" year was reached when the Campus Reflector and Cumberland staffs combined to give the annual publications banquet. This was followed by a large issue of the Reflector which gave a summary for the whole year of each organizations' activities.

Thus another chapter in the history of the Campus Reflector came to an end. In the true spirit of journalism, the Reflector staffs faced their trials and handicaps but continued to carry on in the face of all odds.

THIS WORLD AT WAR

Clyde R. Hendershot

World conditions have undergone many changes since the class of 1943 entered Shippensburg as freshmen. However, when we entered S. S. T. C. war clouds were over Europe but they seemed far away from America's shores. Now our country is engaged in a world-wide struggle to preserve all that is near and dear to Americans. Some say that our generation is unlucky to be living in such disheartening times. However, I differ with these people because I feel that we of the present generation, have a great opportunity presented to us. America is now at the crossroads of her destiny and we have the task of directing our beloved country in the right direction. America is depending on us to do this and we shall not fail. Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, Wilson, and many others have made America what it is today and it is our task to protect that proud heritage for the future. Our forefathers have always carried the torch of freedom high and we should feel very proud to bear the torch which so many noble Americans once bore before our time. We will guide America through these perilous times and when this conflict is over we will make her once again the shining light of freedom in a world of darkness and despair. AMERICA CAN DEPEND UPON ITS YOUTH!!!

REFLECTIONS

From the Poets Corner

When I shall find a man who Will always make me glad—
Never cause me worry
Never make me sad—
Always strive to please me
Never minds a bill—
Would buy the Brooklyn Bridge
If he thought it were my will—
I shall then have found a man
Who surely is unique.
In fact, as most of you agree,
I shall then have found a freak!

What strange power God hath given words
To lie so lightly on this page before me.
Thoughts, which once lay heavily on my breast,
Leaden pages from within my book of reverie
Like dampened wood, pressing hope from my soul
Till, with pen in hand, I opened wide my heart
And the outburst I penned, passionately.
The woes covered not one page when finished,
The page lifted high weighed no more than before.
Then my heart and I, thinking clearly at last Found a way to rid of pain and despair—evermore.

WANDERINGS IN NO MAN'S LAND
The Gossips of the Campus

BY BENNY

Time changes everything...

...Ah! 'Tis the spring of the year in this coed college which is inhabited by nothing but coeds. Even my compatriot, cohort and partner in crime, that is, the co-author of this column, who bears the cognomen of Willie, has joined the armed forces, so Buck Benny Rides Alone. Gone are the good old daze when Benny and Willie were noted from Green Village to Orrstown for their ingenious innuendos, rip-snorting repartee and scintillating subtlety.

BUSINESS STAFF

Men and gossip...

...It is now impossible to startle the world with any diabolical gossip hatched from however much perverted a mind, because men are the roots of all evil, and now all the roots are in the army. Just for size, though, it might be well to reminisce about some of the high points of the year 1942-43.

* * * *

Cupid is busy...

This year the members of the Merry-Go-Round Club who caught the brass ring were Immy Yearick, Dottie Miller, Marie Taylor, Phyll Grove, Marie Hoffman, Jeanne Coffey, Marge Cowan and Libby Reeder. To the uninitiated, this means that the aforementioned females became engaged.

* * * *

Orchids are plentiful...

Another of the annual high-points was the prom, of course. The profusion of blephariglottis psychodes (orchids to you) would have dumfounded even a horticulturist. And, it makes us very proud to report that although a posse of vigilantes went through the cavoring couples hunting for partakers of snake-oil (that well-known remedy for colds) evidently no one was suffering from that malady, or else they kept their sneezes well hidden.

* * * *

Gulian finds undiscovered talent...

In the realm of sports the high-point of the year was the basketball game with the Carlisle Barracks which will be commemorated with a bronze plaque in the Alumni gymnasium. It has not yet been decided though, where to place the plaque on the bottom of the swimming pool or in the men's room. It was in this game that Brindle, Leed, Butler, Koontz and Habig entered the hall of fame with their combination baseball, football, water-polo and hop-scotch brand of playing. It was also in this game that Mr. Brindle, co-owner of Adams county, made the highest score possible for an individual player of the entire season ... the score of 1000. This was because he played in one game and made one basket out of one try.

* * * *

"Benny" as a poet...

In conclusion, since it's spring, we present to you a literary masterpiece inspired by the season. It has many deep and subtle undercurrents and hence requires deep concentration, not just a perfunctory glance.

To Spring

Ah! An ode to you, beautiful spring
I contemplate you with delight
For you are really a gorgeous thing,
And gone are my blues in the night.

Ah, spring, to me, as I have said
You are really something divine
How glad I am that you're under my bed
And on you I can recline!

WELCOME

After the retirement of Mr. George Mark, for many years sponsor of the Campus Reflector, Mr. Raymond Brunner was appointed to that position. Mr. Brunner has been of great assistance to the staffs of the Reflector throughout the past year. His sound advice and guidance is most sincerely appreciated by all. So it is with pleasure that the Campus Reflector extends a hearty welcome to Mr. Raymond Brunner, its new faculty advisor. It has been a pleasure for the staffs of the Reflector to work with him during the past year and we hope that future relations will be as fine.

Fall 1943

Dearest Diary,

UMPHA! We're Juniors now and do we feel important! The campus still looks the same; lots of females and, oh, yes, an occasional male. More men have deserted our ranks to join the armed forces and rumor has it that more will leave before this year is completed.

We have a football team, no stuff. In spite of the fact that we had loads of freshmen and some inexperienced upper-classmen doing push-ups and deep-knee bends, we still put forth an efficient squad who play hard.

Of course, we see lots of new faces and have 'oodles of new names to learn because everywhere "Freshies" are popping up.

"Blow, blow, ye winter winds"

H—i—D-d-di—,

G—gos-h it's c-cold! But I just heard one bit of warming news. The date for our Junior Prom has been moved from March 12 to December 11. Reason? Confidentially, we're afraid most of our men will be gone by March. The theme will be "White Christmas," which will be quite appropriate with Christmas only two weeks away. We're having a huge false ceiling of blue with smatterings of white. Around the bandstand and floor will be large, snow-covered fir trees trimmed with blue lights. Maestro Taylor from Harrisburg will furnish "la musique." Traditions will be broken this year for all underclassmen have been invited to join us. This will make it cosier since our enrollment has decreased.

It's still winter. February to be exact. We've finally recovered from those ghastly examinations and are still thinking of the perfectly "scrumptious" time we had at the Prom. Quite normal we are, until one Saturday morning we are aroused by strange shouts of HALT! and the blaring notes of the "Caissons Song." It has happened! The Army Reserves are called and shortly the Air Corps boys will leave, too. And then—only a handful of 4 F's and a few Marines (who have the situation well in hand) will remain.

Spring 1943

Ah, diary —

What is so rare as a day in spring?
When flowers arise and robins sing.
And couples at night on a bench (or some thing)
Gaze at the loveliness moonlight can bring!

Couples? Did someone say COUPLES? That's a mistake. They're so rare now that they belong in antique shops. Every other girl seems to be a war widow but we still manage to have some rotic* times looking at the moon. Just think, perhaps next year even the moon will be "blacked out".

*Word meaning romantic—without the man.

History of the Class of 1945

Sophomores at last—and what an experience!

WHEN we came back to the ivy-covered institution in September our ranks were somewhat depleted but nothing could hamper our eagerness to learn, or our determination to succeed—whether it be in the class room or on the athletic field.

Now that we had raised ourselves from the lowly freshman, things had changed. We'd learned to know everybody, the girls got three nights a week out instead of one, and we, too, could even talk about the "good old days" last year.

We started things off by having a little "get together" for the freshmen. "Mike" acted as master of ceremonies and Mr. Weaver led the group in singing a few rounds. The three blind mice were really running by the time we were finished! A scavenger hunt, which proved quite interesting, came next on the program. It's still a mystery to us where Peck found the flourescent light tube. After refreshments and dancing we knew the "recruits" and they knew us.

It was not long until we had the unwelcomed task of filling a vacancy. The office of vice-president was open due to the transfer of Lee Hale, and Margie Cowan was elected to this post.

Our next main function was helping physically, mentally and financially with the Junior Prom. Before this time the prom was of, by and for the juniors, but as most things have changed these days—so has the prom. We worked hard that week tying paper, painting, and even waxing floors. It was worth all the trouble and strain because the dance was a success even though we didn't have a white Christmas.

After the second semester started Uncle Sammy decide he needed a few of our boys to help him do a little job. When the fellows left, a number of feminine hearts went too, but we were determined to keep the home fires burning and the mail buzzing.

Right before Mike left he called a meeting and Margie Cowan was promoted to the presidency and later Betty McClay was elected vice-president.

Not knowing what the future holds, we end our second year of college with nine little words to the boys who have left and to those of us who are here, "Chin up and charge, kids, it can't be long!"

History of the Class of 1946

“ALL good things come in small packages”. The small package which arrived September fourteenth, nineteen hundred forty-two, on the Shippensburg campus was a group of sixty-nine freshmen. To them the picturesque campus and the ivy-covered buildings were impressive the fountain, depressive.

The first week was a T. N. T. mixture of tests, parties, and picnics. First came the Freshman Mix, then the tests, and then the C. C. A. picnic and the Sophomore Party. During this week the upper-classmen were so friendly that fear of the fountain and homesickness vanished.

October brought bright leaves, crisp winds, and football. By this time the average freshman had adapted himself to college life and had filled many vacant club seats. Thirteen of our huskies were received by the football squad with open arms. Peck, Wilkinson, Ashby, Tezak, Fillipelli, Sopata and Tucci were the pride of the freshman. Meanwhile, a few girls replenished the hockey team.

Football season over, the freshmen had to prove they were superior intellectually, too. With a will they set out to conquer.

Their exhaustive search for knowledge was interrupted for a time by an invitation to the Junior Prom. Delighted with this chance to advance their social position, the freshmen accepted readily. Thus on December eleventh, graciously gowned ladies and chivalrous gentlemen of the freshman class were seen “tripping the light fantastic.”

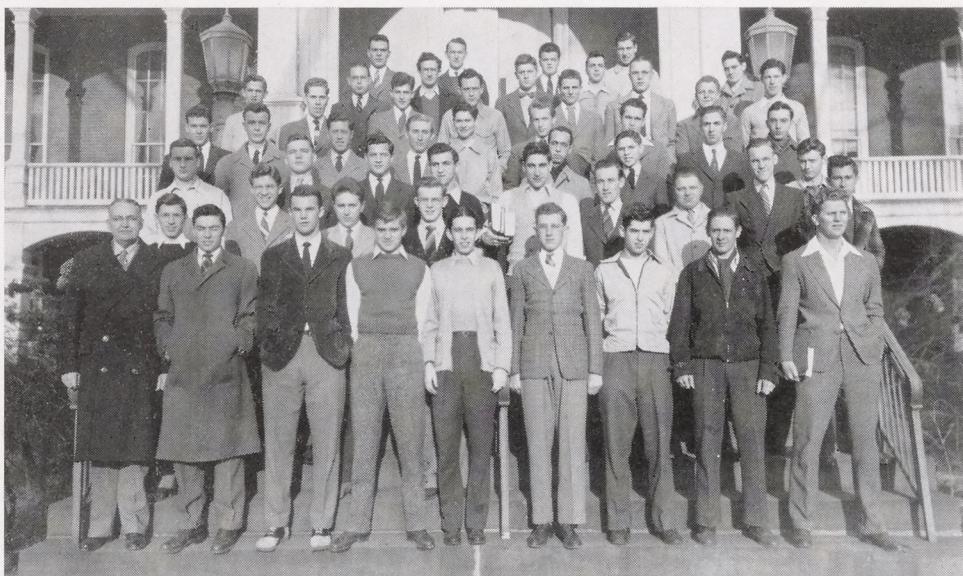

Christmas recess found the freshman mentally exhausted and only too ready for a vacation. The carol sing, its snowflakes and snowballs, presented a never-to-be-forgotten picture.

Then came basketball with its sweating men and swishing nets. Once more the freshmen took an active part with Gipe, Powers and Wilkinson getting their first taste of college basketball.

February brought an abrupt end to basketball and a change in the class officers. The Reserves were called, leaving few freshmen to carry on. As a result Shirlee Green succeeded Gene Fillipelli as historian, and Elaine Arnold succeeded Harry Rhone as parliamentarian.

With the coming of spring we find a campus of budding trees, occasional snow, lonely girls, and girl-haunted men. The dark clouds of war hover over head but in the heart of every freshman we know there is a silver lining. Next year we'll come back to see and to conquer.

Romance Languages Club

THIS activity is composed of Shippensburg students who are studying the two Romance Languages, French and Spanish, taught by Dr. Jane Beardwood. The aim of the club is to increase the student's understanding of the culture and civilization as well as the language of these two nationalities.

The French group made a study of the French novel and included some of the modern detective stories. Some of the novels that the members had in high school were reread and criticised. French Christmas cards were added to the private "realia" collections being made by some of the students.

In the Spanish group the South American short story was studied. By means of a book entitled, "Reunion in Mexico", by Centeno and Salas, the group followed a trip to Mexico. The trip was made more realistic by postal cards and other Mexican items shown to the class by Dr. Beardwood. The Seniors who are leaving the Romance Language Club extend their best wishes for its continued success.

English Club

THE English club meets every Wednesday at 4:15 in the reception room of Old Main. During the year we occasionally meet at the home of our sponsor, Mrs. Reisner. We have 22 members.

"What do we do in English club?" We usually have a discussion on some phase of literature. At the beginning of each semester the program committee makes a list of subjects which they think will be interesting to the club. If these topics are approved by the club each member is assigned one which she prepares for a given meeting. This year we have discussed negro literature; books such as "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "The Murder of Ly-dice"; and Lincoln's contributions to American literature.

We discuss not only the literature of accepted authors but also that of our own group. Poems, essays, and short stories written by the members are read when we have meetings for original works.

Lack of variety often makes club meetings uninteresting. Therefore, we occasionally invite someone to speak to us. One of our speakers was Miss McCreary who discussed the Scotch ballad.

To next year's English club we give our best wishes and hope that their meetings will be as successful as ours have been.

Round Table Club

THE majority of the members of the Round Table are those who are interested in the techniques of library work. This year each member has become more oriented to the materials and methods involved in this work. One hour a week is spent by each club member in charging books and helping with other library procedures. This has been of definite value to the club members and also of considerable assistance to Miss Winton, our librarian and club sponsor.

Once a month the club holds a social meeting in the reception room to which outside speakers are occasionally invited to talk on pertinent subjects. The members also provide many varied, interesting, and worthwhile programs. On special occasions the club holds parties at which games are played.

Last, but not least, an activity which everyone enjoys is the annual spring picnic which is the club's last social meeting of the year.

With the help and guidance of Miss Winton and the participation of the members in the library, the club has had a successful year.

THIS S. S. T. C. organization is affiliated with a national organization of those interested in rural education—The American Country Life Association. Under the sponsorship of Miss Thelma Small, those on the campus who are interested in rural education are brought together in one local club.

The Country Life Club has many interesting and worthwhile programs at its weekly meetings. During the year the members discuss current rural problems, progressive education in the rural schools, and community service. Probably the most helpful programs are those in which the members discuss problems which have arisen during their student teaching experiences. Occasionally guest speakers are invited to bring pertinent messages.

Social activities of this organization include not only parties, but an annual spring picnic which is the concluding event of the year.

Mathematics Club

SO you're having trouble with arithmetic? Don't worry, a member of the Math club can help you, for they guarantee to solve any and all of your mathematical problems.

The promising Euclids who compose this club are not only Math majors, because anyone who is interested may join and receive advice from the club sponsor, Miss Kieffer.

As mathematics is used by everyone it is possible to develop many interesting and worthwhile programs. Some programs are planned to give interesting information, while others discuss and try to solve mathematical puzzles and jokes.

Social activity is also an important feature of the club's program. There are picnics and parties, especially the picnics at Caledonia—they form memories which all club members cherish.

ALTHOUGH Kappa Delta Pi is a young organization on the campus, it is fast becoming one of the most influential groups here. The standards and qualifications required for membership in this international honor society in education, alone make it a respected and exclusive organization about the college.

The organization holds meetings irregularly. Some are business meetings, held in room 112, while others are professional meetings which give the members opportunities to hear outside schoolmen of high renown. These meetings provide a worthwhile and interesting program for the year.

A dinner-dance was held at Morrison's Blue Room for members and their guests as the social function for the first semester. On February 11, the society held a breakfast at the B and J Restaurant.

Another new function was added to the organization's schedule this year. A chapel program, featuring members of the society in an "Information, Please" program was given on March 17.

The year was successful, and new members contributed much to the success of it. Officers, elected to fill several vacancies, were: Dorothy Miller, president; Clyle Hendershot, vice-president; Jeanette Rider, secretary; and Betty Benge, treasurer.

Phi Sigma Chi

THE Phi Sigma Chi social club is one of the most popular organization on the campus. The fraternity is a relatively young club, this being only its fifth year of existence. However, in these five years it has established itself as one of the outstanding campus organizations.

This year, as in past years, Phi Sigma Chi held several smokers, dances, and banquets. The fraternity also started publication of the "Chi-lites", a newspaper containing fraternity news. This was an entirely new venture for an S. S. T. C. organization.

The fraternity held an election during the first semester to choose some Shippensburg Co-ed who would be "The Sweetheart of Phi Sigma Chi." Miss Betty Rutter, a senior, received the distinction and was feted at a banquet held in her honor by the fraternity.

The club always stands ready to perform any possible service for the school. One function along that line this year was the club project of selling college lyceum tickets to the townpeople.

GAMMA Theta Upsilon is a national honor society for undergraduates majoring or minoring in the field of Geography. The purpose of the organization is to promote and further interest and research in the study of geography.

The fraternity is limited to the select few who are especially interested in geography and who have attained a high scholastic standing in this field. The Shippensburg chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon is the Omicron, and is sponsored by Professor Keith B. Allan. As a result of his work with many of the leading geographers of the day, Mr. Allan has proved very helpful and enlightening in discussing problems with fraternity members.

The society consists of four seniors and one junior. The seniors are: Elizabeth Reeder, Richard Diffenderfer, Kermit Laidig and Clyle Hendershot. The junior member is Melvin Geiman.

Activities during the year consist of professional, business, and social meetings. An annual banquet and outdoor breakfast highlight the social program. These social gatherings present an opportunity for members to develop socially as well as academically.

Pbi Sigma Pi

PHI Sigma Pi is a national honorary fraternity for students of education. The Shippensburg chapter is Omricon and is ably sponsored by Professor S. S. Shearer.

The fraternity has a full program of events each year which includes business, professional, and social meetings. Business and professional meetings are each held once a month. At some of these professional meetings, outside speakers are brought in to address the fraternity.

The social program is a varied one. A party is held each semester for new members, a Christmas party is sponsored by Phi Sigma Pi, and a picnic is held each spring in the nearby mountains. The Founder's Day Banquet and the Annual Smoker are semi-professional meetings which are partially social.

Omricon Chapter publishes its own fraternity yearbook annually. The editor this year is Clyle Hendershot. Charles Lehman is business manager.

THE Cooperative Club consists of those students who are pursuing the special Cooperative Education curriculum. This curriculum stresses the progressive techniques and practices of education.

Throughout the year members of this club visit the progressive schools of Harrisburg, York, Philadelphia and New York to observe progressive education in operation. Reports on these trips and on what the members have observed are given in the meetings of the club.

The club holds discussions on such subjects as student rating sheets, problems of student teaching, and new phases of progressive education. These discussions are sometimes conducted in the form of a panel. Guest speakers often take part in these meetings.

This year the local club affiliated with the National Education Association. Mrs. Harley, organization sponsor, deserves much of the credit for promoting this affiliation.

Although the Co-ops are concerned foremost with business, they occasionally break this routine by holding informal parties and entertainments.

Jeanne Oyler succeeded Fay Roth as club President after Fay was graduated at the end of the first semester.

Catholic Club

THE Catholic Club, which consists of twenty members from our student body, is sponsored and advised by Father Johnson, of the Corpus Christi Church in Chambersburg. The group meets every Monday evening in the reception room at seven o'clock.

Varied discussions are held, and are centered about the questions of the members of the group. Advice and religious guidance is offered to the group by Father Johnson. Social meetings are also held in the gymnasium.

The group attended lectures at the Educational Forum in Harrisburg each month, and there carried on discussions regarding world problems, marriage, human relationships and religious problems. These lectures and discussions proved to be of great value and interest to the members of the club.

The members of the club attended Mass at six o'clock on Sunday mornings, and all other services.

THE Campus Christian Association is one of the few organizations to which the entire student body belongs. The administration is carried on by the cabinet composed of the officers, committee chairmen, assistants, and, of course, the cabinet advisor, Mr. Shearer.

In addition to the weekly devotional services held Sunday evening in Rowland Hall, the Campus Christian Association cabinet is busy with many other activities. It performs an invaluable service at the beginning of the year by acting as guides and helping the freshmen become acquainted. The annual "weiner roast" takes place the first week of school, which is followed the next week by the Freshman Reception and Dance. This year the affair took the form of a barn dance. Dad's and Mother's Day is also sponsored by the Campus Christian Association. At Christmas time a party is given for the children at the Laboratory School, and the whole college participates in carol singing around the Christmas tree.

Ray Kegg was the president of the organization for the first part of the year, but when he answered Uncle Sam's call, the vice-president, John Leer, took over.

The purpose of the Campus Christian Association is to promote Christian spirit and leadership, and to provide moral guidance on the campus.

Government Club

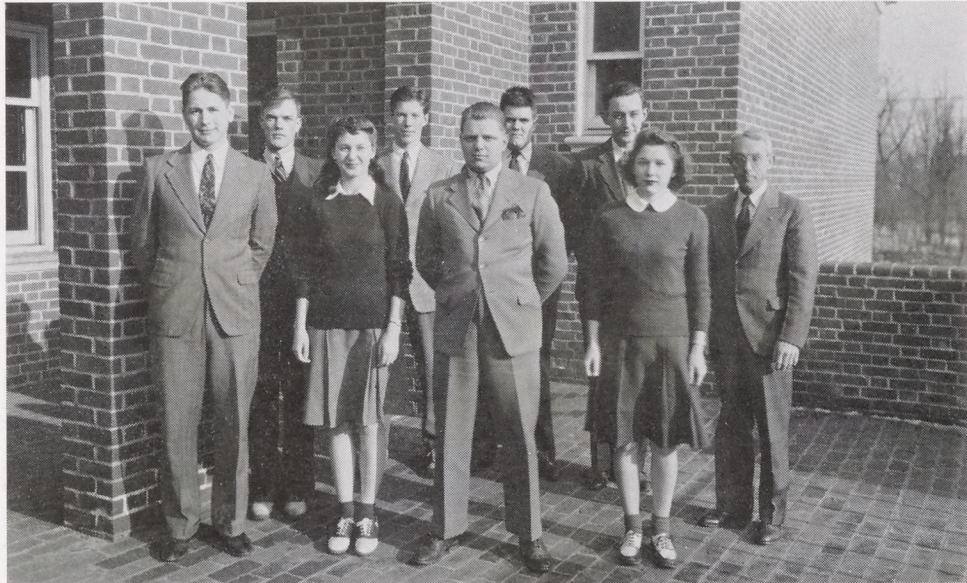

DUUE to the wartime conditions affecting transportation and facilities, the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, which is held each spring in Harrisburg was cancelled. Therefore, the weekly meetings during the second semester were not held on the appointed days. This was no indication that the club did not function however.

The club decided to send delegates to the eighth Annual Pennsylvania State Debaters' Convention at State College held March 19-20. This conference dealt with the same problems confronted in last year's convention, and therefore proved worthwhile to all delegates.

Three committees were provided concerning the major problem, "Post-War Settlement." The first committee on "Immediate Post-War Settlement" was attended by Betty Harclerode and Jeanne Dworzak. The committee on "Post-War World Organization" was attended by Clyle Hendershot and John Miller.

The local organization presented a bill for Committee II on "Post-War Organization." This bill provided for a federal world union, composed of the present United Nations and those nation-states desiring to join. The bill was backed by Elizabeth Reeder and Jeanette Rider.

THE programs of the club were begun at any early date this year, and preparations were made for a broader program than in previous years. Jane Rupert opened the year with a discussion of post-war problems and plans to solve these. This topic was chosen as the major theme for the year.

In November, the members of I. R. C. joined with the members of Gamma Delta Gamma in a very enjoyable picnic at the quarry.

As usual, the club attended the Middle Atlantic International Relations Club Conference held at Princeton University from December 3-6. Six club members attended the conference with Dr. Loucks. Six round tables were organized, and the following topics were discussed, "Russia and Its Role in Post-War Plans," "Japan's Role in Post-War Organization," "Anglo-American Relationships," and "India and Its Role in World Reconstruction," and lastly "Latin America."

During the second semester, the I. R. C. was chosen as the organization to sponsor discussions on Post-War Organization for the entire college. Outside speakers, book reviews, debates and chapel programs were employed as means of developing ideas for world organization.

Gamma Delta Gamma

GAMMA Delta Gamma is known to most students of Shippensburg merely as the Debate Club. This club is composed of a select group who are interested in public speaking and debating. Dr. Elvin L. Valentine serves as sponsor of the organization and is assisted by Dr. Emerson Loucks.

Shippensburg entered a team in the Lock Haven State Teachers College tournament in December and made an excellent showing. The next club activity was participation in a forum held at Dickinson in which Shippensburg furnished two of the speakers. Dickinson then visited S. S. T. C. later in the year to take part in a forum on our campus.

The Fifth Annual Intercollegiate Debate Tournament was held in February with Penn State, Gettysburg, Kutztown, Susquehanna, American and Ursinus attending. Susquehanna won the tournament with several teams tying for second.

The Debate Club was represented at the Penn State Debaters Convention by six students. Two of the local members served as bill backers in the convention.

THE Art Association, composed of students who are interested in arts and crafts, is one of the most active clubs on the campus.

At the regular meetings, trays, jewelry boxes, composition belts, book ends, and other useful articles are constructed. At other times members of the club help other campus organizations by painting pattern and stage sets.

During the first semester the club had a very enjoyable three days vacation in Philadelphia. On this trip they were accompanied by their able sponsor and adviser, Dr. Ralph Clement.

Back from Philadelphia they were up to their necks in work. This time with the help of Phi Sigma Chi in preparation for the annual fashion show. The production, "Captain on Furlough," was presented in Chapel.

The second semester's work, while not so spectacular represented plenty of hard work, for it was at this time that the club redecorated the new art room which was formerly the old biology laboratory. The club year was brought to a close in the spring by the annual Art Fair, an exhibit of all projects of the club and of the art department.

Masquers

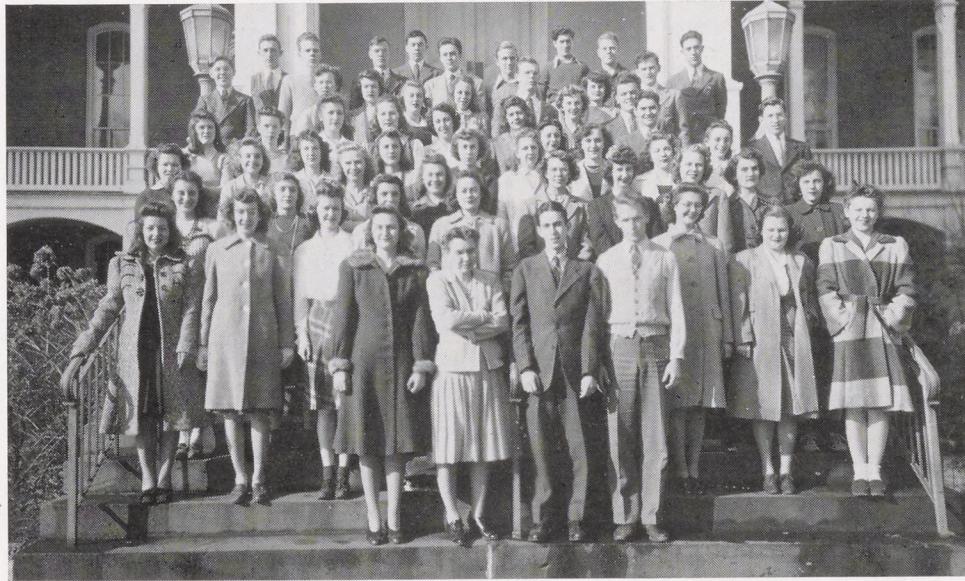

EVERY Tuesday evening at seven-fifteen in the chapel, there is a standing invitation for anyone who is interested to come to see the weekly Masquers play. Student directors are in charge of these plays and valuable experience is thus gained in good dramatic technique. After each play is presented the members of the club are led in a discussion in which the play is criticized from the standpoint of acting, directing, make-up, and staging.

In addition to their weekly meetings the club is also responsible for several lyceum and chapel programs. The first major production this year was "The Importance of Being Earnest", featuring Betty Cessna, Mac

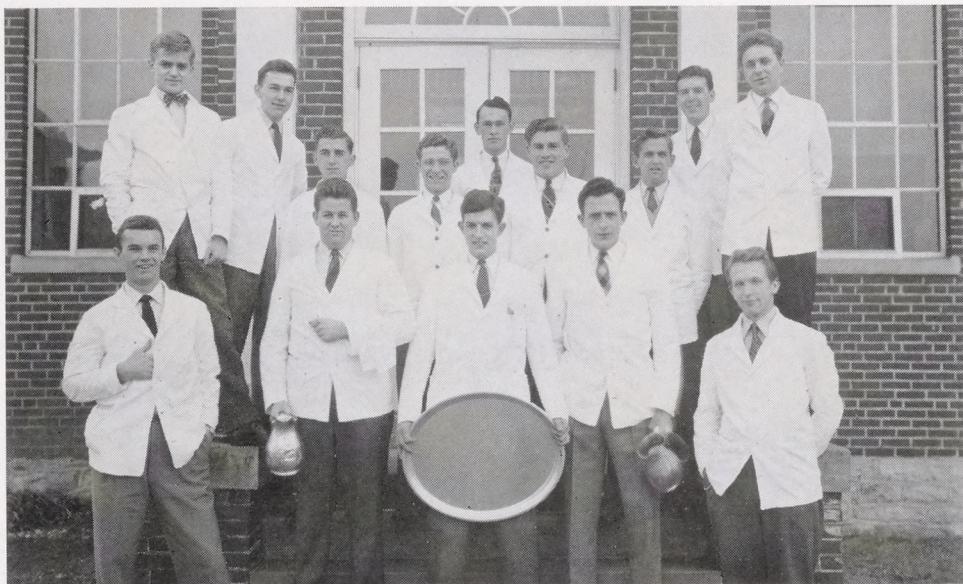

Aichele, Doris Kriner, Jerry Rohr, and Pat Brawley. "A Kiss for Cinderella" was the next presentation, starring Jean Morgan and Mac Aichele. "Babouscka", a short, colorful Russian play was presented in chapel at Christmas time.

Miss York was planning to give "Arsenic and Old Lace" next but when the Reserves were called she decided to give "Fashion" an old-fashioned melodrama, in which girls could take the parts of men. The parts of the principles were taken by Helen Konhaus, Phyllis Yingling, Ann Baldwin, Jeanne Dworzak, and Ann Palczuk. As is the custom, a Shakespearian play was presented on May Day. The play this year was "The Merry Wives of Windsor".

Waiters' Association

READY and willing to serve are those students belonging to the Waiters' Association. One of the outstanding groups of the campus, they are always ready to serve anything from soup to nuts.

This organization is under the direction of Miss Kunkel, with the help of Howard Gingrich, head waiter, and Mrs. Novinger. About the middle of the year when so many of these trustworthy boys were taken into the armed forces a new head waiter and an almost completely new force stepped into their white coats. Carl Leed was elected to fill Mr. Gingrich's position, and for the first time in the history of the college, girls waited tables.

The waiter's motto, "Smile while serving", is a distinct characteristic of their faces. The organization's sense of humor was also personified by their unique costumes at the Hallowe'en dinner. They try to please each and every request, however absurd it may be. Many trips back and forth across the vast area of the dining room have been made by these diligent workers wearing out much shoe leather to fill the requests of the students.

There are 14 members in the association who turn out in full force for lunch and dinner but at breakfast the number is slightly diminished because the urge to sleep overwhelms their sense of duty. Though wartime conditions have decreased the efficiency of many organizations, the services of this group have not changed.

Choral Club

THE Choral Club is one of the outstanding musical organizations on the campus. The membership of the club is limited to fifty girls who are selected through tryouts held in the studio each September.

Usually during the first semester the meetings are spent in preparing Christmas music, for the organization has the opportunity of participating in the Christmas Carol and Candlelight Service, conducted by the Memorial Lutheran Church Choir of Shippensburg.

The climax of the year comes with the spring concert when we have guest soloists. In years past our audiences have thrilled to the voices of Wilbur Evans, Arthur Kent, and John Dudley. This year we had the extreme pleasure of having Mr. Berini of the Metropolitan Opera Company with us. As with all activities on the campus, the Choral Club has been affected by wartime conditions. Our able conductor, Mrs. Hale, answered her country's call and became an inspector of supplies for Uncle Sam's Navy. We were fortunate, however, because S. S. T. C.'s musical director, Mr. James C. Weaver, stepped in and shouldered the responsibilities of our club with his usual vigor and enthusiasm.

THE College Orchestra, one of the most active organizations on the campus, is under the direction of Mr. James Weaver.

The orchestra not only opens and closes the devotional chapel, but accompanies the assembly in singing hymns. It also adds much to the Lyceum programs. May Day, Senior Class Day, Baccalauate, and Commencement would have less appeal were it not for the orchestra.

Since the majority of the men have left the campus, the orchestra and the band have joined together to form a new organization which will take care of the music for the rest of the year.

The String Quartette is a special group of the orchestra which play chamber music for college banquets. Members of this Quartette are Betty Cessna, Elaine Arnold, Betty Sizer, and Kathleen Ake.

Band

WE hear the sounds of the drums, marching feet, and the strains of martial music. This tells us the band is marching on the football field.

Betty Herr, our trim little majorette, leads the parade through the arch formed by the color guards, then on to the bleachers where they follow the plays of the football team, backing our cheers with drum beats and music.

During the half, the band takes its place on the field playing and marching. As they stand in the formation of the visiting team's letter, Mr. Weaver directs them in a few numbers.

Soon they are facing Shippensburg rooters, forming the familiar "S". We stand and sing when the Alma Mater is played.

When the game is over the band proudly marches across the campus heralding our victory.

After the football season the band continues its practicing under the steady and capable guidance of Mr. Weaver. Even with its many setbacks, it continues to work hard and sometime during the year the band presents a chapel program.

THIS group is composed of students of Shippensburg who, because of their many contributions to the school through active participation in student activities, have been chosen by a direct student vote and with faculty approval, as the outstanding leaders on the campus.

Nine students were chosen this year of which eight were seniors and one a junior. Two girls, Marie Hoffman and Sylvia Altland represented the girls on the group. The men who were selected were: Charles Bushey, Gilmore Ott, William McCartney, Ray Kegg, Carl Leed, Cyril Ramsey, and Jerome Andrukitis.

A biography of each of these outstanding students will appear in the 1942-43 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". Each year this publication secures a list of the leaders on college and university campuses throughout the country and publishes a biography of them. Shippensburg can indeed be proud to have its students included in this worthy group. This is the third year in which Shippensburg students have been included in this publication.

SENIORS

DR. PETER J. MULDER

MISS JANE HOFFMAN

DEAR FRIENDS OF THE CLASS OF '43:

My very best wishes to you! I mean that with all my heart. I sincerely hope that each one of you may attain the utmost satisfaction in life, in your personal affairs, in your service as a teacher, and in your citizenship as an American. Set your ideals high! Then work with all you are and all you have toward the realization of those ideals.

Most sincerely,

PETER J. MULDER

TO THE CLASS OF 1943:

Our official association as class and dean has been especially fine and pleasant. We have enjoyed sincere faith and trust in each other.

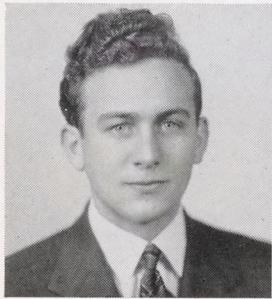

As young teachers you have grown so much in intellectual and spiritual stature these past four years that I feel sure you will not fail your high calling or your Alma Mater.

To you who have answered the call to the Armed Services before entering your chosen profession, yours is a great challenge. These are hard times for everyone. The world is distraught by war. This is because human values have been forgotten. All the things you believe in and have been taught are on trial. But with your high professional standards and your understanding of and belief in democracy, you will not fail.

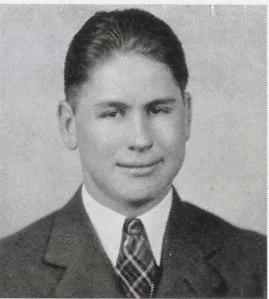

I wish for the entire class "the greater success." I pray that during the whole of your life you may realize a sense of well-being and a life of devoted service to others.

Sincerely,
JANE HOFFMAN

Poem

Nostra Alma Mater Dicit

Go sing your praises 'bout me,
Widely spread my fame,
Speak of me with pleasure,
Proudly speak my name.
Tell of lovely springtime
When I dress my campus green,
And how shiny look my trees
Beneath the moonlight's beam.
Remember lovely snowfalls
Which I make my specialty,
And the freedom I allowed you,
Termed "eccentricity".
Think fondly of the growth
That cloaks my dwellings here,
And the old familiar customs
That to me still adhere.
My beauty is renowned,
Full fairest in the state,
I've mothered youthful love
And tempted petty hate.
All these things, I know,
I'll ever mean to you,
And meetings will bring pleasure
Thru the years that will ensue.
Keeping this in mind,
I dare to let you know,
It was you and others like you,
That ever made me so.

Class History

THE history of the class of '43 will never be recorded in the annals of future eras as one of great ingenuity and contrivance of great creations. Yet, in its very simplicity lies the story of the beginning and end of memorable situations, prodigious in the significance they held for the members who participated. The Class of '43 was born early in September of the year 1939, and was formally christened January 1, 1940, in a meeting of the class. Guardians, in the form of officers, were elected. Previously chosen as godparents were Dr. Peter Mulder and Miss Jane Hoffman. For the first year George Macian was elected to the presidency, Mary Bodwell was named vice-president, Verna Burkholder was appointed to serve as secretary, Gilmore Ott as treasurer, and William Porter as parliamentarian. Under this efficient leadership, with the cooperation of the class members, enjoyable and constructive activities were carried on. May Queen attendants, to represent the class in the comely May Queen's Court, were selected, the honored girls being Jean Strock and Virginia Seltzer. A skating party, enjoyed by the members, was held, and agreed upon as being a "must" for the following years. Then, before the close of the first notable year, preparation for the following year was made in the form of election of new officers. These new officials were: George Macian, reelected to the presidency; Charles Bushey, vice-president; Marie Hoffman, secretary; Gil Ott was reelected treasurer; and Bill Porter, parliamentarian. And thus ended the events of the first year.

Early in September of 1940 the Class of '43 returned to school—a member missing here and there, a member added here and there—but spiritually the same, all eager to see this one-year old youngster of their creation. Anxious to get acquainted with the new arrival, Class of '44, the now veteran Sophomores got together with the Freshmen and on January 30 of the new year, held an informal dance. Some months later, May Queen attendants were again selected by the class to represent it and proved to be Jean Strock and Anne Deatrick. And, remembering the enjoyment gotten the year before by the roller skating party held then, another was given at the Ace of Hearts and was once again immensely enjoyed by all attending. Then came the thrill of preparing and planning for the Sophomore Hop, held annually by the Sophomore class of that year. This was the first really big event put on by this still young class, and, through a great flurry of suggestions and re-suggestions, was finally ready and waiting for the approval of the upper classes.

Winding up the second year in the life of the class was the nomination and election of the officers for the next year. These officers were: president—Eugene Hartman, vice-president—Charles Bushey, secretary—Gladys Marks, treasurer—Gilmore Ott, parliamentarian - historian—William Porter. And the second year of the Class of '43 was ended.

On the return to school of the third year of the class, the members were called together for a very special and significant decision—that of nominating committees for that all-important Junior Prom. This event was saddened by the loss to the school through the passing of Dr. J. K. Stewart, a well loved and notable faculty member. However, after several months of hectic planning and furious doing, all was in readiness, and the happy night arrived. Amid towering cactus plants and bow-legged cowboys, the Juniors and Seniors and their guests danced away the night, stopping only for the banquet held in the dining room of the college at intermission. Then back to the Dude Ranch, where the West Chester Criterions were playing sweet dance melodies, and then the final "good-night", and the evening gowns and orchids were placed back in their boxes, carefully padded with lovely memories. So ended another happy year of the Class of '43.

In early September of the year 1942 the members of the class again returned, ready for the final nine months of fun and preparation that was to be the termination of the college career of this now mature being, so momentous in the lives of the young men and women who made it so. This year was strewn with happiness and interjected with sadness and loss. The will of our government to take from the class many of the male members for service in the defending of their country, caused the changing of many events and turned the minds of the young men and women to more serious thoughts and planning. The former president, Eugene Hartman was called early in the year and another president, Gilmore Ott, replaced him. Then again the country called, taking most of the male members into the Army and Air Corps of the United States, including Gil Ott. So the third president for the year was selected, and Clyle Hendershot was named to the position. Editor-in-Chief of the year book was also elected, and William McCartney who was named, was called to the service, so Hendershot was elected to fill this position also. During the year, however, the class gained in membership through the addition of the '43M Seniors, which was made possible through the accelerated program adopted by the college. Two Senior get-togethers were held in the game room of the gymnasium before the induction of the men, and highly enjoyed. Then began the serious business of editing the year book of the class, and the preparing of the class for its graduation. Senior Week, though saddened by the absence of the missing men, was spent in reminiscing and mingling by the remaining members. Finally came the great day and the Class of '43 became a class of Alumni and all was finished and completed. And so, through four years of gladness, sorrow, great change in the economic situation of our country, and hard work, came the class. And so ends the beginning of this organization—and so begins the future.

Class Will

WE, the undersigned, are leaving; we're taking plenty with us, but we're also leaving something so that this school may "carry on" in the future. What we are willing, we hope, will help preserve the already-assumed reputation of the college.

ALTLAND, SYL—"Give to Butler's Madden, and John Arms' Benge my love for the Navy."

ANDRUKITIS, ANDY—"I leave my 'Who's Who' rating to 'Gloomy Ed'."

BEACHAM, SALLY—"Bushey's taking care of my ah-a-er-a- radio, so I guess I can't will anything."

BENDT, GINNY—"My dislike of Errol Flynn and a picture of Tyrone Power and Phillip Dorn I leave to Betty Benge."

BUSHEY, BUSH—"Sally's er-ah-a- 'radio' I leave to Ernie Brindle."

CESSNA, BETTY—"My room-mate and I leave room 44 (Horton Hall) to anyone who has enough ambition to clean it."

CURRAN, LIEUT.—"To the court of Horton Hall, I leave a portrait of that boy who we have all learned to know and love, James Edgar Grove."

DEATRICK, DEATS—"To Norma Bear and Betty McClain I leave the ground in back of the utility building, with its wild flowers and palm trees, in hopes that they will 'carry on'."

GINGRICH, HAP—"I will my head-waiter position to Vera Cook."

HABIG, HOB—"I leave Mary Jayne to anyone who can handle her."

HERMAN, KATY—"I wish to will my dog-eared deck of cards to all noisy freshmen on third floor."

HOFFMAN, MARIE—"Because Marge Cowan loves them so much, I will to her all my Limburger cheese and onions."

JONES, JONSIE—"Ten pictures of 'Hap' is the only thing I could give away, but I'm sorry 'cause I'm taking them with me."

KONHAUS, CONNIE—"May I leave my W. A. A. presidency to Ed Grove?"

KOONTZ, BUCK—"I will my Esquirish clothes to 'Mousie' Valentine."

LEED, DUTCH—"My ability to 'leed' the boys in the dorm, I give to any boy who thinks he'll be here next year."

LYTLE, ALMA—"I leave my trumpet to Ann Fleck — long may she blow."

MARKS, SHORTY—"I leave my past—and what a past."

MARTIN, MIRIAM—"To Mr. Weaver, I give the piano in Old Main, Room 112."

MARTZ, JIM—"My booth down at Joe's I leave to John Arms."

MILLER, DON—"To 'Immy' I give my future."

MILLER, KAY—"To Jean Morrett I leave an alarm clock to get her up in the morning, and the booth in the Peerless where she introduced me to Bill."

MORGART, HELEN—"I leave my long-used pop-corn popper in the third floor laundry for the use of all pop-corn lovers."

OWENS, JANE—"To Miss Kunkel I will Porter's swimming trunks."

PORTER, BILL—"I will my bottle at Morrison's to Jane."

RIDER, JEANETTE—"I give my heart to Smith (Orville, pah-leeze)."

ROHR, JERRY—"My share of the Y-room I give to any men day-students for a better place to loaf."

ROW, HOWARD—"I leave my 9-D section to Miss High."

RUPERT, JANE—"My tub in the second floor laundry I give to Ida Arms."

RUTTER, BETTY—"I bequeath my 'Sweetheart of Sigma Chi' title to Vera Cook."

SHAW, ARCH—"To John Arms I give my 'pleasure trips' downtown."

STAMBAUGH, MARTY—"My one hundred pictures of Bob I bestow upon Mary Milliken."

STRICKLER, MARY—"To Heckman I leave my one and only 'Playtex'."

TAYLOR, LAURA—"To Kathleen Ake I leave my airplane collection."

WAGNER, WAG—"I wish to leave 'Hidge' to Bill Weibley."

YINGLING, PHYL—"The memories of the radio-vic in Horton Hall's court I wish to leave to all noise, music and love lovers."

NOTE: The rest of the class are just plain leavin'.

SIGNED, CLASS OF '43.

The Class of 1943 in 1953

Advance ten years, if you please, to the year 1953.

THE war has been over for eight years. Claire Booth Luce is running for the presidency of the United States. Fashions have changed—: women wear clothes made of nylon, glass, milk, coal, and sloe gin; men appear in beautiful suits of blue, purple, red, chartreuse, maroon, and pink. A really indelible lipstick has been invented; it stays on the lips from four to five years; permanents last from two to three years. Pleasure transportation is generally via airplane, travelling by auto being indicative that a person travelling this way is either poor or old-fashioned. Common-law marriages are accepted in every state in the Union. The greatest entertainment is still in theatre-going, the current hit being Freddie Bartholemew (1953's Clark Gable) in "Those Were the Days", depicting life on a typical college campus prior and during World War II. 1953 is a beautiful year; the past war is but a memory of war bonds, "free" mail, U. S. O. hostesses, Pearl Harbor, "Rosie, the Riveter", Donald Nelson, and priorities. Reconstruction after the war was "short and quick." Nothing terribly exciting happened this year except when a pair of Siamese twins jumped from the top of the Empire State Building — and lived. It seems that before jumping, they drank a mixture of "spring" water and butadiene.

Today, October 17, 1953, Shippensburg State Teachers College is having its tenth annual reunion of the Class of '43. Everyone is here, from Dr. Aurance Shank, president of the college (Dr. Rowland is the present cabinet member of the Department of Education at the White House, Dr. Shank having acquired a Doctors and Masters degree before becoming president) down to the twelfth litter of whom Sammy Seagram was father.

After Dr. Shank's inspiring talk, the former Sylvia Altland (she's married to a minister now) sang a song that was popular ten years ago—"Summertime". She was followed on the program by Horton Hall's Third-Floor Four: Catherine Herman, Kathryn Harnish, Helen Morgart, and Dotty Shears, giving a play-by-play description of how NOT to play cards while others are studying; their respective husbands merely smiled at their playful antics. Dorothy Smith next gave a report on her latest hobby—collecting fleas from the backs of dachshunds (until she had finished her report, 99% of the audience were scratching themselves). Marty Stambaugh and Jean Croft then led the assembly in a few cheers; those cheering loudest were their husbands, Bob Krebs and Bob Yocum, respectively and respectfully.

Day-students were getting restless by this time for they were next on the program, giving their impression of a usual after-lunch period in the Men's Day-Student Room. Included in this skit were Harry Burns, Richard Diffenderfer, Wendell Ditmer, Nelson Ebersole, Stan Myers, Gilmore Ott, Howard Row, Ray Kegerreis, Kermit Laidig, Fred Mentzer, James Watson, Mary Bodwell and Jean Coffey (the latter two played the part of two girls calling at the room for the above-mentioned Ott and Row.

Not to be out-done by these men, the Day Student Women put on a similar skit, depicting life in their humble college abode. Included in this skit were Virginia Bendt, Vesta Brenize, Crillie Brenneman, Helene Coates, Helen Coover, Dorothy Cressler, Marie and Miriam Geisler, Mary Gephart, Catherine Hubley, Minetta Hunter, Bertha Jones, Mary Ellen McGee, Miriam Miller, Gladys Stockslager, Laura Taylor, Gladys Yeakel and Margaret Peters. It may be interesting to state here that in this group of seventeen women, five are married and teaching, ten are merely married, and two are serving as members of our permanent WAAC force.

The concluding number on the program was a ventriloquist act, presented by Elmer Brenneman. By the huge amount of applause, one could tell the performance was a success. And then, too, everyone was eager to go over to Horton Hall for the tea hour, for some tea and tee-hee.

In front of Horton Hall, some people were taking pictures. There's Gaythol Bistline, Edna Harshman, Jeanette Hetrick, Alma Lytle, Miriam Martin and Eleanor Renn lined up on the front steps, while John Curran took their picture, to add to his partially-filled photograph album of "Women I Have Known Once't".

Lee Emrich walks right in front of the camera and spoils the picture, but he isn't aware of this at the time, as he merely is super-eager to get into Horton Hall—again. He still hasn't found a wife to measure up to his expectations.

After tea, and music furnished by a NEW electric-beam phonograph and unbreakable records, the majority of the class flow out of the front door and spread themselves upon the campus to reminisce. Horton Hall's Own First-Floor Sorority, however, prefers to "hang around" (as they used to call it) in the court. Since the court obtained a NEW piano, it has to be tried out by the alumnae. With creaky voices, and equally creaky legs on which to stand, the girls warble away to their heart's content, as they did in bygone years. Responsible for this calamity are Sally Beacham, Betty Cessna, Anne Deatrict, Jeanne Dworzak, Betty Jones, Marjorie Keck, Doris Kriner, Gladys Marks, Jane Owens, Jeanette Rider, Fay Roth, Betty Rutter, Regina Smith, Imogene Yearick and Phyllis Yingling, warbling "I Threw a Kiss in the Ocean", as they did a half decade ago. All is going well until their respective husbands, everyone (but one) a former S. S. T. C. student, put the well-known finish to the horrible noise. Here comes Cyril Ramsey, Mac Aichele, Mr. X., Don De-Muth, Hap Gingrich, Charles Hanks, Jerry Rohr, Floyd Oliver, Bill Porter, Orville Smith, Bill Reid, Buck Koontz, Leon Engle, Don Miller and Bob Nash—and that's the end of the Sorority Sing.

Jerome Andrukitis—"Andy" to us—at this moment comes bursting into the court with his beautiful blonde wife dangling on his arm. He had a little difficulty in leaping over davenports and sliding down banisters like he used to do in the court, but he managed somehow. Mrs. Rambo, Dean of Women, didn't seem to mind a bit; she was too engrossed in getting Arnold and her husband ready for the evening's banquet.

The feature attraction of the evening was a skit entitled "An Evening in Room 113-Old Main", or "Why Don't We Do This More Often?", given by Pat Brawley and Jim Martz, not because they were ever seen together in an intimate situation, but because they are (and were) fine actors.

The Men's "Bar-room Special" then sang a series of old songs, popular when they lived here. Censorship won't permit giving some of the titles of the songs sung, but the men responsible for its success were Charles Bushey (he married "Geraldine"), Paul Comerer, Tony Demangone, Bob Habig, Ken Kane (his wife, Alita Thomas, insisted upon playing the mouth-organ as suitable accompaniment), Carl Leed (a newly-wed), Arch Shaw, and Bill Wagner (still courtin' a gal from the class of '44.)

Just for fun, Marie Hoffman (long-since wed to Chuck Kline) gave a report on all the misbehaving the girls of Horton Hall had done during her year as president of the girls' dorm. Phyl Grove and Kay Miller blushed an attractive shade of red as their names were mentioned. It seems that their husbands, who were in the Army at the time, never knew anything about it.

Jane Rupert and Helen Konhaus, truly ideal room-mates, gave a short playlet entitled "To Bed or Not To Bed—That Is the Question" or "Where Do We Go from Here?", showing how to study while your room-mate was sleeping, or vice versa.

A group of Horton Hall Third-Floor girls then gave a demonstration of how to dangle on the iron ornaments, holding the railing on third floor without dropping into the court floor. The dare-devils introducing this breath-taking spectacle were Pearl Bixler (now married to a Mr. Wolfgang), Margaret McCullough, Dorothy Miller (she's married to "Jim"), Mary Kauffman ("pinched" by a State policeman), and Mary Strickler.

Kay Plummer, nine years the Director of Elementary Education's Sand-box Division, gave a report on the best type of sand for the sand-box of a maladjusted child. Miss Plummer, however, will shortly forget about sand in a sand box, as she's getting married next week-end to Dr. Dafoe's grandson; they plan to go to Pearl Harbor, on their honeymoon,—for some sand for their sand box, no doubt.

There remains but two people from the Class of '43 whose names have not been mentioned. Mr. William McCartney sent his regrets upon being unable to attend the reunion, but he was "held up" (so the cablegram says) by a veiled woman in North Africa, where he had been writing an article entitled "Veil, Vat Haf Ve Here". Our yearbook's editor-in-chief, Clyde Hendershot was also unable to attend. It seems that he was with Mr. McCartney at the time, and was sent to a North African jail for attempted veil-lifting.

After the singing of the Alma Mater, people blew noses, dried eyes, and powdered noses; then left in their airplane from the flying field (formerly Heiges Field), taking memories with them—leaving only the moonlight on the campus behind them for remembrance.

Acknowledgements

Cooperation is the key to success of any undertaking such as the publication of this Cumberland. Many people have made contributions to this yearbook and deserve special mention which they would not receive if this page were not included. Therefore, we of the Cumberland staffs wish to show our appreciation to these people by reserving this page for them.

Mr. Krebs, as our adviser, deserves much credit for his advice and photography work.

We would like to thank Mr. Laughlin, our photographer, for the wonderful help and co-operation he gave the editor in preparing all pictures for engraving.

We wish to acknowledge the help of Misses Noftsker and Liggett in locating facts and information from the office files for us.

Our Class Deans, Dr. Mulder and Miss Hoffman, deserve our thanks for their hearty co-operation in all matters pertaining to this yearbook.

To Mr. Lackhove we extend our sincere thanks for his sound advice on the budget and other financial arrangements.

And last, but not least, we desire to acknowledge the work of "Mom" Clippinger in helping to distribute the books not only to campus students, but to those who are in the armed forces as well.
