FOREWORD

It seems but yesterday that we arrived at Shippensburg, but in reality four years have passed since that day.

What has happened in those four years are yours and yours alone, a present from your Alma Mater.

Maybe those little things don't mean much now, but as you grow older and more sentimental, you'll find yourself soaring back to Shippensburg on wings of thought.

We hope this book will help supply fuel for those trips.

MISS WINTON

We, the Class of 1950, respectfully dedicate this, our yearbook, to an ardent and indefatigable leader of S. S. T. C., who, as librarian of this institution, has unselfishly devoted her time and services to us during our four years of college study. Under her supervision, guidance, and assistance we, as students, have been better able to equip ourselves to face the problems of this scientific age and to serve confidently as teachers of the leaders of tomorrow.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dr. HARRY L. KRINER

To the Class of 1950:

Unusual zest is added to your graduation from College by reason of it being 1950, the mid-point of the century. It is difficult to think of a more unique time for a class to graduate and enter its chosen profession. People are always curious and excited about that which the future holds in store for them. So naturally as you see members of the class of 1900 return for their fiftieth reunion your thoughts will be projected to the year 2000 when you, too, may return for your fiftieth anniversary. Certainly as you look back over the substantial progress made in education during the past fifty years you have difficulty in imagining what the next fifty years will bring. Trying to anticipate the pattern of education in the year 2000 must give you a thrill which comes only with the thought of accomplishing what now might appear to be the impossible.

The graduates of Shippensburg over the years have made a magnificent contribution toward helping to shape the lives of many youth and in helping to advance social living to its present high standards. However, the challenge to help advance these standards is now yours. Because of the knowledge, ideals and achievements you have attained at Shippensburg, I have complete confidence in your ability to both maintain the high social standards already established and to carry them forward to still higher levels.

The attainment of your College diploma has been a worthy goal but remember that it merely symbolizes what you have achieved through the medium of a college education. The real meaning of your degree will be shown in your everyday living. Your enthusiasm for work, enjoyment in play, satisfaction in friends, interest in social progress, refinement in living, participation in civic affairs, and your professional growth will all go toward measuring the true meaning and value of your diploma.

I sincerely congratulate each of you in having met the high graduation standards established for this College. I am certain you will carry on the good work expected of Shippensburg graduates. I am sure your parents, your friends, and members of the College staff are justly proud of you. You have my very best wishes for success in every way.

Dr. Harry L. Kriner,
President.

THE DEAN'S MESSAGE

Perpetuation is the essential purpose of any nation. To achieve this end, our nation must advance those interests which contribute to the capacity to endure. Activities of those whose interests are in conflict with its ideals must be discouraged lest the nation becomes weak.

We believe that the ideals of our nation are most nearly in accord with the timeless laws of right and wrong. The highest concept of citizenship requires each of us to recognize that we are citizens of a just nation and to pattern our actions and behavior to conform with the timeless laws of righteousness.

Through your preparatory and college years, you have been seeking to properly interpret the laws of life and now the opportunity has arrived to use these timeless laws of righteousness for the betterment of mankind.

Our nation will be perpetuated, if each citizen possesses strength of character and purpose, moral stability, and a proper sense of justice.

Earl Wright,
Dean of Instruction.

THE DIRECTORS' MESSAGE

I am happy to congratulate the members of the class of 1950 who are going out from here at this particular time. You will confront a world of unrest due to several ideologies of government. In a democracy it is expected of teachers that their primary responsibility is the preservation of democratic government. I trust you will respect and practice the ideals of service you are expected to give to your fellow men. Remember: "He who governs well, leads the ignorant; he who teaches well, trains them to govern themselves in justice, mercy, and peace."

Harling E. Sponsellor, Director.

TO OUR ADVISORS

Class deans have the thankless job of guiding the destinies of a class from its freshman year to its senior year. Seldom during the entire four-year span do they receive any thanks. Though they may stay until the tall hours of the night in charge of decorations for the junior prom, or though they may be consulted about the thousand and one problems which occur throughout the class's college life, seldom do they receive any word of appreciation.

We are fortunate in having two deans such as Mr. Allan and Miss Esh, for during our entire college stay they have been ever ready to help in solving a class problem. Especially to the day students was the appointment of these two fine people a pleasure, for as advisors to the two day student organizations, they often were needed, both to class affairs and to organizational affairs, and never once was a blunt "No!" the answer.

To know a little bit about each makes one appreciate their efforts all the more, for each had many duties to perform in addition to serving as our class deans.

MR. ALLAN

Mr. Allan had to carry his teaching duties as a member of the geography department. This meant many hours devoted to preparation. Secondly, as has been mentioned, he is advisor to the day men's council. And certainly the improvements which have been made during the past two years to the day men's quarters tell the story of his active interest in this association. Then, too, he has charge of assigning parking areas on campus and is advisor to the conservation club on campus. This club has been very active in promoting a conservation of our natural resources and wild life.

Miss Esh, though little known to most of the class, has always stayed in the background, ever ready to help, and always helpful when called upon for assistance. Unfortunately, we as a class have not had much opportunity to call upon her, for her position as sixth grade teacher in the training school requires much more time and effort than do those of higher learning. Nevertheless, we are grateful for all the helpful suggestions that Miss Esh has given us whenever an idea was lacking.

MISS ESH

A HISTORY

Often a picture can tell a tale very simply, a tale that even the smoothest wording cannot express. Pictures seem to have a story telling quality.

These four pages, containing photographs from our four years at Shippensburg, will, we hope, aid you in recalling your collegiate days in years to come. If they do then our purpose in presenting them will have been successful.

Perhaps, our college life could be likened to the photographs which appear here. When we first arrived at college we were subjects, as yet unexposed. Our four years at college exposed us to knowledge, developed our minds, and printed thereon an unremovable stamp of learning.

This then is our history in photographs. It tells a story just as beautifully as if it had been written by an expert in prose. It may be difficult to find and read but for those who know where to look it is there.

CLASS HISTORY

Our first day at Shippensburg was one of those unforgettable experiences. We were not aware that throughout our four college years we would have so many wonderful experiences. Now, we as Seniors know that the first day, registration day, was just the beginning of many experiences, which are now only memories.

Every one rushed to the Alumni Gymnasium to register. This was the beginning of our college activity. Before we had time to think, we were sitting in class. As we looked around, many new faces met our bewildered gaze. For those of you who have forgotten, the school was filled to capacity. The war was over, and many veterans were among the students of the Freshman class. Our Freshman class was the largest ever enrolled in the college. Although the events of our first year are a bit hazy, we can still remember such things as freshman customs and our efforts to amuse the upper classmen with a pep rally and pajama parade. Throughout the first semester we gradually became a part of the college. During the second semester we found many of our friends leaving school, and others getting married. Being caught in the whirl of the fast social life, we forgot time flies and before we knew it a restful summer was upon us.

After a restful summer vacation we returned to resume our college life. We were sophomores now—veterans at Shippensburg. How eager we were to help the freshmen and to renew the friendships begun the year before! We began the year with a planned hay ride, which was changed to a moonlight hike.

In March we sponsored the "Bugs Bunny Bounce" when the Penn State A. U. C. Orchestra furnished our music. When May 1, arrived, we held our May Day festivities. After exams, we went home thinking, "only two more years!"

September soon rolled around and we returned to dear old S. S. T. C. As juniors, our main thoughts were on the Junior-Senior Prom, which we were to give for the Senior class. Along with the prom we also started work on the Cumberland. Philip Angle was elected editor. Later William Earp was elected business manager. The first semester sped by with very little excitement. The second semester proved to be probably one of the most wonderful during our college years. A New York penthouse was the theme of the climatic event of the year, the prom, and some of the more ambitious souls of the class worked many long hours decorating the gymnasium. With a dinner and Sam Donahue's Orchestra for entertainment, the prom was a big success. After unique May Day exercises we found our third college year coming suddenly to a close.

When we returned to the campus, September, 1949, we realized it was the last time, for we were sophisticated Seniors. Some of us took our places in the local high schools and the campus laboratory school, student teaching, while others, waiting until the second semester to do our student teaching, continued to struggle in the various classes. Our main worry for this year was the Cumberland. The editor, business manager, and their staffs worked long and untiring hours to make it a great success.

Throughout our four years various groups visited Philadelphia, New York, Hagerstown, Harrisburg, York, Lancaster, and Pittsburgh.

After our Junior-Senior Prom, May Day festivities, and exams, only a few events remained for us at S. S. T. C. The climax of our college career came May 29, when we received our diplomas and knew that we would soon be free to pursue our profession throughout the country.

It was with mingled feelings of gaiety and sorrow that we left the halls of Old Main and the tree-lined walks of our campus that 29th day of May 1950. Only then did we realize what wonderful times we had here at Shippensburg.

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Class of 1950, being in sound mind (check Dr. Atkinson on this), do hereby bequeath all our earthly possessions, treasures, to those underclassmen we feel will benefit most by them:

Shirley Cooper has most willingly given a year's supply of nerve pills to next year's Boarding Women's President.

Bob Crites' cheery disposition is to be inherited by Emil Rottler.

Whitey Korkuch leaves his nose guard to Mr. Crist to be used by some worthy player.

Janet Bernstine will be the lucky owner of Phyllis Brockley's pitchpipe.

John Needy's car had been willed to anyone paying for removal of same.

George Weaver's proficiency in Student Teaching is generously given to all future student teachers.

Greta Klingman has inherited all the duties connected with the infirmary, plus a book on how to be a successful dog trainer from Anna Rost.

To all future fathers of the class of 1950, Robert Gabler leaves his secret of how to survive the floor pacing episode.

Phil Angle's filing system for the CUMBERLAND will be at the disposal of next year's editor. For information check Men's Day Room.

To Mr. Lackhove we leave all our unpaid bills and worries of publishing a CUMBERLAND.

A year's supply of wool to knit socks for the boys' dorm will be willed to Miss Fister.

To Dr. Kriner we, the Senior Class, leave all the profits we shall make on books we write, our inventions, and any money we should happen to leave to be used for Stewart Hall.

To Mr. Reisinger we leave a room furnished to set the mood for Modern Drama, so his classes won't have to meet under the halls of Horton Hall.

Mary Brindle's and Bill Earp's A's are left to Mrs. Miller to be distributed where needed most. (We could make suggestions).

To the girls on the Third Floor we leave the plans for an alcove.

All the trials of student teaching we bestow upon the Juniors.

To the Sophomores—our best for a successful Prom.

To the Freshmen a book on how to live through four years of college.

Roz Leckrone's smile will be flashed by Lucille Baker. Lucky girl!

Dorothy Slothower's marital daze will now be used by Jackie Messinger.

If Keith Richwine is interested in opening a pipe store, see Bob Shaffer.

Dot Wambaugh's acting ability will be inherited by Shirley Smith.

Barbara Jones' efficiency and speed as a waitress will be inherited by Joanne Drumm.

To Mr. Glessner we leave next year's Cumberland staff to worry over—and also our appreciation for his great help.

To all the students and faculty we leave the answer to the secret of finding the pot of gold, so that Stewart Hall can be furnished and be the student center.

In witness whereof, we, the class of 1950, at Shippensburg State Teachers College do hereby place our hand and seal to this, our will, on this twenty-ninth day of May in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty.

Class of 1950.

CLASSES

CLASS OF 1953

At the first get-together of the freshmen class October 20, 1949, the class officers for the freshmen year were elected. Bert Henry was elected President; Barbara Radel was chosen Vice-President; Joan Martin, Secretary; Vernon Fergusson, Treasurer; and John Whare, Parliamentarian.

In their first year as a class, the class of 1953 has held three "big" events, which stand out above all others.

The first of these was the Mardi Gras, the annual W. A. A. dance, over which a freshmen, Ken Stuck, presided as King Rex.

The second was a Sadie Hawkins' Day party held for the freshmen in order for them to get acquainted. The members of the class came in dungarees and other old clothing in an effort to carry out the theme.

Finally the class presented its first dance, which was titled "Club 53". The affair was held in the Alumni Gymnasium February 4, and the results were a huge success.

With the first year rapidly drawing to a close, the class deans, Miss Henderson and Mr. King, as well as the whole class, are looking forward to a very successful year as sophomores.

CLASS OF 1952

In the beginning there stood "on a hilltop high," midst the undulating farmlands of the Cumberland Valley, a group of ivy-covered buildings, old and new. This cluster of bricks and trees had seen thousands of students entering its aged portals; and, likewise, it had seen many students leaving its fold to join the rank and file of the teaching profession.

"Mid the waving, golden cornfields" in the early autumn of 1948 came a multitude of students through Shippensburg's doors. This infantile body came from near and far. It included young from the recent graduation classes of many high schools; it included old from the ranks of G. I.'s taking advantage of their Uncle's generosity.

After the usual onslaught of tests and forms, the Freshman class settled down to their restful duties as earnest college students. Then one day—after a meeting of the class at the invitation of the Sophomore Class—dinks, signs, "good mornings", and splashes made their hateful appearance. This strange season, termed initiation, was launched at full speed. The Fountain had its share; the Court had its share; the nerves of the Freshmen had their share. Then, the grand finale broke loose on the weekend preceding the first football game. Signs brandishing such terrifying hopes as "OBLITERATE KUTZ-TOWN" or "PLOW THE AVALANCHE UNDER" were displayed by artful frosh. On the eve before the game a pep rally and skit stirred the crowd into the gridiron spirit. Following the rally a parade wound through the streets of Shippensburg, followed by singing and sign-waving freshmen. The parade terminated at a huge bonfire which marked the highspot and finish of the evening's frenzied activities.

The following day Shippensburg obliterated Kutztown!

Things returned to normal, and the freshman class began their scholarly tasks. Supervised by the two class deans, Mr. George Reisinger and Miss Dorothea Noble, a class meeting was held with the purpose of nominating class officers—our first stab at politics on the collegiate level. After a hotly contested election and campaign, Edward Gerlock was chosen as class president; Seth Trittle and James Bollen became vice-presidents; Lois Hull was elected parliamentarian; and Keith Richwine became class historian. The wheels of organization began to grind.

The first months slipped by at a fast pace. The freshmen waded through deficiencies and grabbed for "pros." The end of the first semester for the Class of '52 was drawn to a close with a loud bang—examinations. The first barrier was forged in the journey through college. Some fell by the proverbial wayside; most continued the precarious journey.

The crucial first semester lent an air of simplicity to the second semester. The now-veteran class of '52 was learned in all of the short-cuts, tricks, and honest timesavers which denote the seasoned upperclassman. The frosh had made their much-talked-about impressions. The various stages of the semester piled up until the usual climax—examinations—and one-fourth of their college careers was on grade sheets.

The class parted company—some to summer school, some to home and work, and others never to return. The refreshing summer vacation was the needed ingredient in the formation of the new sophomore class. When the autumn months rolled around, the class again began to materialize. Old friends met; old couples embraced; and old teachers again assumed their rolls. With the rejuvenated class came a regime of rejuvenated officers. Kenneth Fink assumed the position of "prexy"; Harry Runkle assisted Fink as "veep"; and Carl Barger donned the eyeshade as treasurer. The minutes were now recorded by Miss Shirley Youtz, and the new parliamentarian, William Redfern, swung the gavel. The reelected historian, Keith Richwine, began to note the transition from scholarly to social interests in the class. A's, B's and F's were now secondary as the class plowed through the semester in readiness for their first fling in Shippensburg's social life—the Sophomore Hop!

After the confetti and music cleared away, the class found themselves on the brink of juniorship. They are, no doubt, by now preparing for the last half of that indefinite something—their college education.

CLASS OF 1951

Nineteen forty-seven and we entered college—We were the mixed group; we were the transition; we were the link: the high school graduate and the war veteran lumped together at Shippensburg. Why were we here? For the pleasure and adventure of collegiate life, for the delightful interplay of our minds in a common search, for the hope that men try to describe with little success, yet the Hope: we were freshmen. We were lost, torn like leaves from the tree in a storm, listless with despair. People seemed cool and distant, and with cautious eye we watched each other. A meeting, an organization, officers, and sponsors: we made a beginning; we felt we belonged. Regulations were learned, the campus explored, the town invaded: we began to study, became friends with our classmates, and built our community. With our first exams over we were rather proud and planned a dance to mark our gain. The rhythmic patterns of shadowy dancers will never be forgotten as they were a college "first". The year slipped away—the freshman was gone.

We were the mixed group; we were the transition; we were sophomores. With exotic anticipation we returned finding ourselves no longer strangers; we had come home. We lived the fascinating life of second year collegians: detached from the whole. As a group we were aggressive, competing with juniors, controlling the freshmen. Our aspirations were never higher; we added activity to activity. Turning to the mountain before us, we began to climb, stumbling occasionally, some of us falling. We probed into the minds of our friends finding revelation and at times animation—we thought we had known them forever. We took bread with our wine; we had acres of work with miles of play and the walk was not tiring for we knew the way. Movies and restaurants and plays were the thing. How the nights vibrated to the twang of a golden string! The mist of the sea had pervaded our senses and a Sophomore Cruise in the form of a dance was the crest of the year, and sailing away we waved with cheer to the sophomores we left on the pier.

We were the mixed group; we were the transition; we were the link; we were juniors. Yet the hope, lurking in the background, began to stir. Half was gone, half to come, without each of which the whole is not. Some of us, who were caught in the whirlwind, hastened on and now we're more than half the length. Our thoughts and aims were turned to the solidification of our chosen occupation, the meaning of which we never fully grasped. The door through which we had to pass stood ajar and peeping in—behold! the hope. As a candle burns, the wax will drip, but in a mold when it is cold that impression shall it hold. The future was still the dark abyss, but the lantern more brilliant grew. Our size had shrunk to a stable core, a hard piece of flint—nothing more. To the Orient, where the sun was born, we went for our Junior Prom.

ORGANIZATIONS

PRESIDENT'S COUNCIL

The President's Council is the student governing body of Shippensburg State Teachers College. Comprised of representatives from almost every organized group on campus, it must decide on controversial issues which arise.

As the name implies Dr. Kriner, as president of the institution, is president of the organization. Howard Walker holds the highest student held office in his role as vice-president, while Shirley Cooper holds the highly responsible job of recording the proceedings in her role as secretary.

The Council acts as an airing house where all the wants and gripes of the organized clubs on campus can be heard in front of representatives from the rest of the groups. If the council and Dr. Kriner believe that the group in question has a legitimate plea then the situation is rectified, or nearly so.

Foremost on this year's agenda, undertaken by the council, was the problem of setting up some system for governing the recently opened student rec hall, which was named Stewart Hall in honor of the late J. K. Stewart, for many years a member of the faculty.

A constitution for the use of the hall has been drawn up, and an election of members to the Stewart Hall council has been scheduled with the hope that the hall can be more fully used in the near future.

ENGLISH CLUB

Membership in the English Club is restricted to upper-classmen interested in the field of English. Club meetings are held twice a month in the reception room of old main. Programs are varied and are concerned with literary and allied subjects.

Art, Philosophy, Music, original works, and book review are a few of the topics around which this year's club activities centered. A social is enjoyed as a program one meeting a semester. English Club invites guests who are interested in the subject presented at the meetings. Mrs. Reisner, former chairman of the English department, one of the former librarians of the school, and Mr. Charles Bellows, College English department were some of the club's guests this semester.

Extra-curricular credit is gained by member participation in the programs. Miss Nancy McCreary is the sponsor of the organization, and this year's officers are: first semester, George Weaver, president; Robert Crites, vice-president, and Joan Peters, secretary-treasurer.

The officers for second semester of English Club are: Howard Walker, president; Norman Harr, vice-president; and Joan Peters, secretary-treasurer.

Seated: Leckrone, Rottler, Weaver, Miss McCreary, Walker, Peters, Miller, Slothower.
Standing: Scott, Baker, Schroyer, Klee, Crites, Wambaugh, Harr, Keller, Mr. Reisinger, Gabler, Miss York, Leidich, J. Smith, Linthurst, Neady.

DAY WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Seated: Plasterer, Greenawalt, Cockley, Hassler, Malone, Fister.

Standing: Barkhouser, Murray,
Brenneman, Mylan, Snoke, Scott,
Klee.

The women day students of the college have their own student organization. This organization is composed of the officers and the council members.

Upon the officers lies the responsibility of governing the day student women. A lounge room is provided for relaxation for the women students between class periods. Parties, games, and social events are also provided by and for the members of this organization.

The officers for this year were: President, Maxine Hassler; Vice-President, Jean Cockley; Secretary, Peggy Malone; and Treasurer, Frances Plasterer. The council members for Freshmen are Doris Greenawalt and Edith Bardett; for Sophomores, Dorothy Snoke and Phyllis Brenneman; for Juniors, Janice Murray and Shirley Mylin; and for Seniors, Adele Scott and Peggy Klee.

The Women's Boarding Council which is the high command of Horton Hall, serves in sharing the responsibility for the conduct of the boarding women of Shippensburg. The Council aids in college student government by having its president represented on President's Council.

The Council meets every two weeks and has one house meeting per month for all of the boarding women. Among other things it conducts an excellent 'Big sister—Little sister' program for the Freshmen women and other new students. Each year the Council holds a Christmas party, serves on teas for the faculty and students, and this year raised over fifty dollars for the Stewart Hall Fund.

Shirley Cooper as president is aided by Lucille Zeigler, vice-president; Betty Andrew, secretary; Winifred Alexander, treasurer; corridor representatives; and receptionists. Miss Fister, Dean of Women, assists the Council in accomplishing its work.

Seated: Alexander, Raffensperger,
Peters, Andrew, Cooper, Dixon, Mc-
Call, Zeigler.

Standing: Vink, Straup, Oyler,
Shaffer, Vaughn, Ranck, Miss Fister, Bache.

WOMEN'S BOARDING COUNCIL

DAY MEN'S COUNCIL

Seated: Mr. Allan, Richard Bolton.

Standing: Philip Angle, Glenn Leshner.

Approximately 150 day men take advantage of the facilities offered in their quarters located in the north end of Old Main.

The quarters, divided into two parts, lounging and recreation, are in use from the time school begins each day until long after the sun has set in the west. The furniture takes its beatings in silence, but the results of 200-pound frames soon show.

The lounging room has been made more presentable this year with the addition of new furniture, while the recreation room has been made more enhancing with the removal of the older equipment in favor of newer.

Almost any subject from Socialism to baseball is argued within these portals and the men continue to live in harmony.

The Men's Boarding Council, under the sponsorship of Mr. Rambo, is the student-governing body of the men's dormitory. The Council sets up the rules and regulations for life in the dormitory, and is the primary judgment body when disciplinary recommendations are necessary.

One of the main functions of the Council members is to offer guidance and helpful hints to those who may need such help.

The officers of the Council are elected by the male boarding students, while the other members are the ranking boarding men in various campus organizations. The work of the Council has a great bearing on the daily living habits within the dormitory and the morale of the men, as well as a keen interest in all campus activities.

Seated: Lynerd, Lee, Mr. Rambo, Latshaw, Troy, Earp.

Standing: Kolbensschlag, Walker, Kleinfelter, Studenmund, Hopper.

MEN'S BOARDING COUNCIL

Seated: Wambaugh, Miller, Angle, Gulden, Rost, Shaffer.
 Standing: Klee, Brindle, Slothower, Vaughn, Leckrone.

CUMBERLAND EDITORIAL STAFF

Your yearbook and mine, the edition of 1950, is really ours now. After hours of preparation the editor and his staff have put together what they hope will be some sort of literary achievement.

This is the last effort of the class of 1950 to leave its mark on our Alma Mater. During its short duration the class has achieved something, a something that each member will cherish more as he grows older. Even the most hardened realist has a spot of sentiment, and in the years to come, we hope that this effort will be the link which will touch that spot and carry him back.

As he picks up his copy of the Cumberland in his later years and starts to reminisce, we hope that then he will fully appreciate the effort that has gone into its production. Maybe it isn't the best, maybe others could have done better, but they who have raised it from childhood into blossoming manhood will always look at it with a parental eye and remark, "That's our baby!"

PROOFREADERS IN ACTION

TYPING—AS YOU LIKE IT

Embedded with these pages you will find a permanent record of the achievements of the class of 1950 of Shippensburg. It tells of the seniors, of the organizations, of the athletic teams, of all that which has transpired at Shippensburg during the years of our residence.

But it cannot tell of the little personal happenings which happened only to you. Those are yours alone to keep, but you must share with the others what these pages try to tell.

It has been a struggle all the way to give you this book, but that has been said to you before, and we do not mean to frighten next year's editor. Rather we would have her think that when this job is done, and all is finished, that the satisfaction for seeing a job well done is worth all the hours of work.

All we can say is, "It's yours." We hope you enjoy it.

CAMPUS REFLECTOR EDITORIAL STAFF

The Campus Reflector, the college magazine, is published five times a semester. It aims to provide for students whose interest lies in the field of journalism.

The magazine, which is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, stimulates student morale; it records student activities and it serves as a medium for stimulating creation in writing.

Although, recently changed from a newspaper in form, the magazine has attained first place honors at the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference, which is held at Columbia University in New York. Each year the publication is represented by staff members as delegates.

Editor-in-chief for the first semester was Dorothy M. Slothower. Robert Foster stepped into this capacity for the second semester, and is backed by a very efficient staff: Galen Farner, and Blaine Chesnut are managing editors; Joanne Etter heads the feature department. The news is edited by Roslyn E. Leckrone. Daniel Brown and Marty Stroup take care of boys and girls sports respectively.

The art work is attributed to the pen of Kieth Richwine. Disc reviews and jump notes are contributed by Howard Walker.

"For Men Only" and "LaDemoiselle Chic" are edited by Norman Haar and Edwinna McGehee.

News of former students is gathered by Shirley Haas. Erna Schneider heads the exchange department. The roaming staff photographer is Murdock Coleman, and Dorothy Wambaugh passes final judgment on the various department contributions as head proof reader.

Credit must also be given to the fine staff of typists. Their untiring efforts to meet the deadlines have a great bearing on the success of the magazine.

Faculty advisors to the publication are: Mr. Charles F. Bellows, editorial, and Mr. John W. Lackhove, Business.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honorary fraternity in education. The local chapter, Epsilon Epsilon, is growing constantly. The standards for membership include scholastic achievements, personality traits, and leadership qualities. The growth of the Shippensburg chapter is a tribute to our faculty and students when one evaluates the standards for membership.

The formal initiation of qualifying pledges was held in October this term when fifteen pledges were initiated.

Activities included monthly professional meetings featuring special speakers, round table discussions, and student reports. Business meetings are held periodically throughout the year. Social events included luncheons, banquets, and theatre parties. Discussion topics highlight local, state, national, and international education problems.

The aim of the fraternity is to raise the standards of teaching and to encourage more capable persons to enter the teaching profession.

The officers are: President, Robert Crites; Vice-President, George Weaver; Secretary, Mary Brindle; Treasurer, Richard Bolton; Historian-Reporter, George Lees; and Sponsor, Dr. Wright.

First row: Bolton, Slothower, Weaver, Crites, Dr. Wright, Dr. Kriner, Brindle, Mr. Bellows.
Second row: Studemund, Armstead, Earp, Bupp, Winn, Vinski, Hall, Ritter.
Third row: Stinner, Warfel, Klee, Bolger, Cockley, Yinger, Cale, Alexander.
Fourth row: Smith, Lees, Pursel, Miller, Arcuri, Richter.

PI OMEGA PI

The Beta Lambda chapter of Pi Omega Pi is under the capable leadership of Dr. Etta Skene. This is a national honor scholastic fraternity in business education, and it is open to all business students who meet the requirements for membership. In order to be eligible a student must have completed a required number of credits in business subjects and education courses. A scholastic record of 2.0 in business and education, and an average of 1.5 in other subjects are essential for admission to the fraternity.

The initiation ceremonies and the initiation banquets were highlights of this year's activities; also the Spring outing is an outstanding event. For their yearly project, the members have undertaken a survey of the graduates in the Business Education Department. From a study of the results of the survey, the members will endeavor to appraise the existing business education curriculum and determine if our graduates are being fully qualified for their positions when they leave our campus and go forth into our public schools.

William Earp heads the organization as president. Chester Mowery is vice-president, and heads the program committee as chairman. Jean Cockley keeps the fraternity's records as secretary, and Robert Jacoby heads finances as treasurer.

Front row: Earp, Malone, Pursel, Cockley, Yinger, Mowery.
Second row: Miss Beamer, Dr. Skene, Miss Yates, Jacoby, Manley.
Third row: Farner, Sauers, Lightner, Bupp, Leo, Winn.

 Third row: Thomas, Wood, Roll, Modla, Butler, Vavra.
 Fourth row: Gilliland, Morris, Kercheval.

PHI SIGMA CHI

Phi Sigma Chi is the only social fraternity on our campus. Under the leadership of Mr. James Weaver, the fraternity devotes itself to the services of the school. The men who are elected to membership must have a good scholastic rating, and must be active in extra-curricular activities and outstanding in their services at school functions.

Each year we honor one of our fair co-eds when we elect our "queen," better known about the campus as the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." She is appropriately crowned and honored at our annual Spring semi-formal dinner dance, and she reigns over this affair with all the grace and dignity that is usually afforded to royalty.

All of our members eagerly look forward to the big steak fry—one of the highlights of our yearly program. Each member is guaranteed all the steaks he can eat—each steak cooked to perfection by our fraternity chefs, and all of the appropriate trimmings prepared by other members who are skilled in the culinary arts.

Some of our members can always be seen serving in useful capacities at all school functions, such as sporting events, pep rallies, dances, or parties.

PHI SIGMA PI

Phi Sigma Pi, a national honorary fraternity, was introduced at Shippensburg in 1931 by their present sponsor, Mr. S. S. Shearer.

Membership may be gained by students who have maintained a B average during the year previous to admission. The student must be of good character, high scholastic ability, and must be a social benefit to the fraternity.

Outstanding events sponsored by the fraternity during the school year are the formal initiations, Easter vacation education trip, and a founders day banquet. At this banquet a noted educator is admitted to the fraternity as an honorary member.

Gene E. Arnold is president of the fraternity. Joseph D. Over holds the post of vice-president.

Treasurer is Freeland Shaffer, and Louis Sauers keeps the records of the organization as Secretary.

First row: Shaffer, Crites, Weeks, Mowrey.
Second row: J. Smith, Lees, Hull, Jacoby, Smith, Armstead.
Third row: Leo, Earp, Winn, Bolton, Rotz.

ART CLUB

President, James Peters; Vice-President, Emma Bottenfield;

Secretary-Treasurer, Glenna Spotts; Sponsor, Miss Kauffman.

One of the indispensable organizations on our campus that is too frequently not given due credit is the Shippensburg Waiters Association. Their activities are endless and their services are numerous, ranging from the serving of daily meals and holiday banquets to that of alumni luncheons.

Occasionally a waiter may tip a cup of coffee into your lap, or you may be startled by the splintering of heavy china as a whole tray of dishes crashes to the floor. In spite of frequent complaints from the dining room patrons, the waiters perform their duties with a smile under the leadership of Melvin Butler, headwaiter and James Peters, his assistant.

The art inclined members of Shippensburg meet once a week to work on projects chosen by the individual members. Each member has usually completed several projects by the year's end.

Some projects undertaken are: oil painting, textiles, glass and water painting, reed weaving, leather work-wallets, belts, and handbags, bookends, plaques-metal and composition, jewelry—shell and metal, paper mache, paper sculpture, and soap carving.

From these wide and related fields the art club members gain something which they in turn can impart to their pupils of tomorrow.

These gay "caballeros" and "senoritas" meet on alternate Wednesdays to further their knowledge and appreciation of the language and culture of the Spanish-speaking nations.

There is fun, too, in the form of "fiestas" such as the annual Christmas party held in conjunction with the French Club.

With Miss Klaus as its leader and adviser, "El Club Espanol" is endeavoring to prove the old adage: "Poco a poco se va lejos", or "Practice makes perfect."

The officers are: President, Margaret Klee; Vice-President, Harold Bishop; Secretary, Jane Wentz; and Treasurer, William Shultz.

"La Petite Academic" is otherwise known as the French Club. Its members meet twice monthly in order to gain further practice in speaking French.

Under the guidance of Miss Klaus these enthusiastic students of French demonstrate their versatility through their varied programs. The subject matter embraces any topic from Mother Goose to Moliere. Discussions of French customs and culture, film slides and puppet shows make up many of their programs.

The officers were: President, William Cale; Vice-President, Wilbur Hildebrand; Secretary, Harriet McCall; Treasurer, Dorothy Stahl.

FRENCH CLUB

Seated: Hess, Shaner, Miss Klaus, Scott, Stahl.

Standing: McClain, Amata, Cale, Keller, Hildebrand, McCall, Warfel, Batters, Mitchell.

SPANISH CLUB

Seated: Swanger, Hatchell, Neady, Wentz, Klee, Dodson, Miss Klaus.

Standing: Shaeffer, Keller, Bishop, Shover, Hildebrand, Deck, Howell, Millhouse, Ray, Shultz, Smith, Dillman.

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

Seated: Mowrey, Korkuch.

Standing: Wood, Reed, Winn.

The Business Education Club enjoyed a "bang-off" start with the big social meeting in the fall. After a welcome by President Korkuch, there were games and other entertainment.

Our next big event was the trip to Lancaster with fifty-four members participating. There we enjoyed a well-conducted tour of the business offices and linoleum plant of the Armstrong Cork Company, and the Hagar Brothers Department Store.

In December Miss Kauffman showed color films of her trips through Mexico and other interesting places. Later in December, Stewart Hall was the scene of our big Christmas party. The room was appropriately decorated. Games and other entertainment including Santa's appearance filled the evening with merriment. Santa treated all the good little club members and faculty.

In addition to regular business meetings, the club also had a skating party, speakers, and more movies.

The officers are: President, Francis Korkuch; Vice-President, Chester Mowrey; Secretary, Jean Reed; Treasurer, Richard Winn; and Historian, John Wood. The sponsor is Dr. Skene.

The Elementary Club aims to promote a better understanding of teaching problems and how to solve them.

Under the leadership of G. Lester Rhine, President; Inge Kroeger, Vice-President; Secretary-Treasurer, Peggy Irvin; and Sponsor, Mrs. Harley, the club with a membership of 130 meet twice monthly. This club offers to all elementary education students the best speakers and programs. The club visits the school systems of York, Harrisburg, Adams County, Philadelphia, New York, Franklin County, and Washington, D. C. to observe education in operation and to gain helpful teaching suggestions.

Seated: Mrs. Harley, Rhine.

Standing: Kroeger, Irvin.

CONSERVATION CLUB

First row: Fickel, Frank, Baddorf, Book, McGill, Killinger, College, Means, Pitman.

Second row: Hanna, Wood, Costello, Yhelen, Henry, McKenzie, Kasoutic, Lynerd.

Third row: Wyrick, Brown, Neidig, Baker, Burkholder.

Fourth row: Manley, Kuhns, Stewart, Erb, Luck.

Fifth row: McDermott, College, Nell, Schroyer, Sauers, Martin, Hagyard.

Sixth row: Hamilton, Geiman, Coleman, Richards.

The purpose of this club is to promote conservation of wild life and safety in hunting.

This club heard some very interesting talks about different conservation problems and practices. Mrs. Roddy, a teacher at the Shippensburg High School, gave an interesting lecture on the conservation of mineral resources in Colorado; Dr. Smyth introduced many new habits and features of the grouse, one of the gallinaceous game birds of the northern hemisphere; and a representative of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission gave a short talk on safety of hunting.

In March of 1949, the Conservation Club built twenty-five check-dams in the stream that runs through Gunter's Valley. These dams, built two or three feet high, were constructed of rocks and logs at advantageous points along the stream. The purpose of these dams is to keep a constant supply of cool water in the stream, thereby saving the lives of several thousand small trout annually.

The officers of the Conservation Club are: David College, President; Eugene Baker, Vice-President; Ray McKenzie, Secretary; Dave Henry, Treasurer; and Mr. Keith Allan, Sponsor.

At the bi-monthly meetings of the Mathematics Club the members present and discuss various selected topics. Guest speakers and social meetings are among the special activities of the club.

The aim of this club is to emphasize to mathematics students the significance of mathematics to world affairs. The organization explores phases of the subject which are not studied in regular classes. Any student interested in mathematics is eligible for membership in this club.

Robert Pine is President. Other officers include: Freeland Shaffer, Vice-President; Ned Witmer, Secretary-Treas.; and Carl Mellot, Parliamentarian. Miss Kieffer is the sponsor.

Seated: Miss Kieffer, Witmer, Pine, Shaffer, Mellott.

Standing: Rotz, Hamill, Carr, Miller, McDonald, Myers, Shaeffer, Hildebrand, Hamilton, Hunsberger, Howell, Hoke, Richwine.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

SCIENCE CLUB

The primary aim of this club is an association for mutual scientific improvement and social culture.

The exercises of the Science Club consist of lectures and demonstrations on scientific subjects which are of interest to the members. Four professional meetings are held each semester; one on physics, one on chemistry, one on biology, and one is left open for a general subject which is chosen by the members.

Business meetings are called when the need arises.

In order to gain extra-curricular credit, each club member must attend three out of four professional meetings and all business meetings, as well as serve on a committee.

Some of the activities of the year '49 and '50 are as follows: A talk by Dr. Gress, former state botanist; a talk by Dr. Underwood, on the anatomy of the eye; and a talk by Dr. Smyth on archaeology, illustrated by film slides.

The club is under the leadership of the president, Howard Walker. He is ably assisted by George Lees, Vice-President; and Joan Peters, Secretary.

First row: Mr. Dibert, Magill, Killinger, Snyder, Smith, Book, Shaffer, Dixon, Etter, Counsmann, Peters, Walker, Carr, A. Miller, Claar, Lefever, Yhlen, Dr. Lieneman.

Second row: Hamill, Mellott, Shaffer, Sweigart, College, Hamilton, Vavra, Baer, Rhodes, Rogers, Mitchell, Fickel, Swartz.

MEN'S CHORUS

In every college, Shippensburg not excepted, there are men who like to air their vocal chords, and so the men's chorus was formed at Shippensburg; not so much for the purpose of giving concerts but for giving those men, who like to sing, a chance to do just that.

Under the tutelage of Miss Anna Smith, the men meet once a week in Rowland Hall where they blend their voices with those of the girl's chorus in sounds of a song.

In reality the chorus' only recognizable contribution to the school was the part in which they played in presenting a program at Christmas. There they combined their talents with those of the girls to lend their manly voices to an otherwise female program.

For those who missed this program, the fact that the men's chorus even exists would probably surprise them. However, if more people at school would show a desire to hear a good program of choral music a startling growth in number and popularity of this organization might take place.

But even though this may not take place, the men's chorus still exists for those men who enjoy singing.

BAND

The Shippensburg State Teachers College band, directed very ably by Mr. James C. Weaver, is noted for its quality rather than its quantity. Though it is not one of the largest bands in the country, it is one of the finest. Each musician who is permitted to don the uniform must pass rather exacting tests—tests determined to eliminate any but the best. This is rather strange because Shippensburg does not specialize in music.

Perhaps most of us think of the band as an activity engaged in only during the fall of the year when football is in swing. And true, band performances and football games seem to go hand in hand; but the practices and the indoor concerts continue during the entire school year.

Perhaps we all think that performances such as Glen Weeks playing of "The Darktown Strutters Ball" on his clarinet are achieved in days, weeks, or even months of practicing. But such is not the case. Years of practice have gone into producing the top-flight musicians that you see on Saturday afternoons.

And so, when you hear a smooth execution of a difficult number by any musician, remember that like the All-American football player's performance, it wasn't accomplished overnight.

If everyone stopped to think of things like these, then, maybe our band would gain the recognition that it deserves.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders, those spirited red and blue clad leaders of the student body, aim to produce school spirit in our students in order to back the athletic clubs. Thus far they have been doing an excellent job of stimulating school spirit and in introducing new and different cheers.

This organization is extremely active during the school year, much more than people realize. They lead the cheers at all of the football, basketball, and hockey games, as well as direct the various pep rallies throughout the year. It is generally known within the college that the cheerleaders are the ones who make the most noise at the athletic contests. Their duties do not stop with their cheering at athletic contests, but they include two strenuous practices Monday and Thursday of each week. At those times they try new cheers, practice long hours to achieve their precision-like motions, and generally work for improvement.

Vivacious Joan Garson efficiently captains the squad, and Dr. Scrafford provides the final word in the capacity of faculty advisor.

Kneeling: Yetter, Garson, Sevel, McNulty.

Standing: Little, Donmoyer, Dillman.

THE MIXED CHORUS

The poet who heard "a thousand blended notes" must have been listening to the Mixed Chorus of Shippensburg State Teachers College. These choristers belong to a group which meets twice weekly because of one common interest: the love of music and song.

Under the direction of Miss Ann Smith, the long hours of diligent practice during the autumnal months are amply rewarded when the chorus presents its annual performance of the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah."

Another opportunity to display their musical accomplishments comes to these talented vocalists at the close of the second semester, with the presentation of the traditional "Spring Concert."

The officers are: President, Donald Sachs; Vice-President, John Holbert; Secretary, Joyce Novinger; Treasurer, Patricia Foster; Librarians, Richard Miley and Fay McMillan.

First row: Picking, Cramer, Spigelmyer, Grove, Hatchell, Hess, Scott, Lehman, Pepper, Arcuri, McMillen.
 Second row: Asper, McCall, Bolger, Barrow, Hyatt, Laughlin, Arnold, Greenawalt, Lenker, Schuler, Fink, Motter, Schultz.
 Third row: Hursh, Fox, Glee, Staudt, Foster, Klee, Unger, Dunkleberger, Swartz, Reed, Bowers, Hassler, Mylin, Novinger, Bigelow.

CAMPUS CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Campus Christian Association is to promote the religious life of the college. The C. C. A. is the medium for Christian service and example on the campus. Organized to include every student on campus, this group is governed by a student cabinet. Mr. Shearer sponsors the cabinet.

The cabinet assumes leadership of the Sunday evening services in Rowland Hall. The services are completely in charge of the students and worthwhile, spiritual programs are planned.

The C. C. A. sponsors Parents' Day with other organizations on campus, a Christmas party for the Training School, and a Welcome Party in the beginning of school for the Freshmen.

This year the C. C. A. sponsored a Book Drive to collect books for students in European countries.

Seated: L. Studenmund, Schneider, Mr. Shearer, Rost, Beichler, Brindle.

Standing: R. Studenmund, Peters, Goeswith, Hyatt, Oates, Stinner, Shade, Spotts, Gingrich, Bottenfield, Keefer, Kratzer, Brockey.

First row: Hull, Foster, Richwine, Lees, Reed, Medicott, Meily, Shade.

MASQUERS

The Masquers is an organization designed for students interested in dramatics. One of the chief morale boosters on the S. S. T. C. Campus, this group of talented theatrical aspirants offers entertainment to the student body in assembly and lyceum programs and also provides experience for the students in the various dramatic arts.

Each year Miss York, the club's competent sponsor, views a group of ambitious Freshmen and slightly more self-confident upperclassmen who attain membership by competitive try-outs. The club endeavors to acquaint its members with the ways of the stage and the backstage. Not only are there opportunities for embryonic Broadway stars to shine behind the footlights, but the stagehands, scenery painters, costumers, make-up artists, directors, and property committees play important roles in the club's activities.

In their weekly meetings students direct and enact one-act plays which are discussed and criticized from the standpoint of acting, make-up, lighting, staging, and directing. At one time during the semester each member is given the opportunity to be an active participant in a club activity.

Several of the 1949-1950 performances enthusiastically applauded by an appreciative public were: No, Not the Russians, presented in assembly, Holly and Cypress, the Christmas play, and, returning to the days of sweet maidenly modesty, the Masquers' major production, Pride and Prejudice, highlighted Shippensburg's theatrical season.

The officers of this organization are: President, Kenneth Fink; Vice-President, Thelma Kratzer; and Secretary-Treasurer, Mary Jane McClure.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Atkinson Chapter of the Future Teachers of America holds monthly meetings in Rowland Hall. They have varied programs followed by a social hour.

The organization has 132 members who are interested in the development of education. This year the following programs were presented:

Speech by Dr. Bernard Hogg; piano concert by Kitty Lou Myers, local pianist; box social; film on Japan by Colonel Ralph Mitchell; slides on western United States taken and shown by Mr. C. A. Laughlin; musical by Mr. James C. Weaver; panel discussion by club members; and music by a local quartet. The club also sent delegates to the state meeting of F. T. A. in Harrisburg in April.

Following are the organization's officers: President, Ray Stine; Vice-President, Paul Burkholder; Secretary, Barbara Pursel; Treasurer, Loomis Hales; Publicity Agent, John Rebert; Parliamentarian, Raymond Lemaster; and the sponsor, Dr. Atkinson.

DEBATING ASSOCIATION

Seated: Stoll, Counsmann, Warfel.

Standing: Mr. Rininger, Snyder, Gross, Dorn, Modla, Richwine, Dr. Valentine.

The purpose of the Debating Association is to train students in proper methods of seeking truth in controversial issues. With the help of Dr. Valentine as sponsor, the group is trained to think logically and objectively and to speak clearly and effectively.

The club meets weekly to discuss and debate current problems. Debates are held here and at other colleges. The Shippensburg Debaters also take part in the annual state debate tournament and in the annual debaters' convention at Pennsylvania State College.

The officers of this association are: President and Manager, Elvin Warfel; Secretary-Treasurer, Dorothy Stahl; and Sponsor, Dr. Elvin Valentine.

Government Club meets during the second semester and is under the direction of Dr. Bernard Hogg. Membership is open to all students who are interested in state government and possess a willingness to share it. Raymond Lemaster is president of this group.

The purpose of this club is to "Learn government by doing." The club takes part in the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Conference on Government which is held annually in Harrisburg. The topic for this semester is the revision of the Pennsylvania State Constitution.

Seated: Lemaster, Dr. Hogg, Gural.

Standing: Henry, McCarney.

GOVERNMENT CLUB

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

First row: Baker, Stumbaugh, Rost, Miss Rolar.

Second row: Maclay, Cale, Walmer, Amata, Shaffer, Croft, Rothstein, Broyles.

Third row: Dorn, Beyers, Howell, Ritter, Braim, Heefner.

Fourth row: Baddorf, Rummell, Warfel, Richwine, Foster.

The International Relations Club under the leadership of Miss Erma Rolar is part of an international organization sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation.

The purpose of the IRC is to create an interest in international affairs. Members of the club report on a topic each meeting. After the report the members ask questions and a general discussion period follows. The club participates annually in the collegiate Model Assembly of the United Nations. Members also attend regional conferences.

Officers for the past year were: Anna Rost, President; John Stumbaugh, Vice-President; Yvonne Baker, Secretary.

Members of the Roundtable Club under their sponsor, Miss Winton, librarian, work in the library one hour a week. They work at the circulation desk, shelve materials, file cards, or do any necessary work in the library. In addition to this work, the club members hold three social meetings each semester.

All the knowledge gained through membership in this club is very beneficial to the student members in their studies. They learn the locations of the many available materials. Not only do these students benefit themselves, but they perform a great service to the librarian and to this school.

The officers for the 1949-1950 term were: Erma Schneider, President; Glenna Spotts, Vice-President; Janet Asper, Secretary; and Richard Swartz, Treasurer.

Seated: Schneider, Spotts, Asper, Swartz, Hahs, Iwanzik, Counsmann, Hess.

Standing: Adams, Davis, Goodling, Miss McCurdy, Miss Winton, Dillman, Harpster, M. Martin, Donmoyer, Flood.

ROUNDTABLE CLUB

"When We Leave Our Alma Mater"

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Seated: Wright, Rambo, Kriner.

Standing: Eurich, Hopper, Studenmund, Henderson, King.

The Athletic Council of Shippensburg State Teachers College has two primary functions to control. It is they who regulates and determines the athletic policy of the school, and it is they who direct the budgeting of finances for the support of athletics.

The group is composed of Dr. Kriner, Dr. Wright, Mr. Lackhove, Mr. Eurich, Miss Henderson, Mr. Rambo, Mr. Crist, and Jack Hopper and Louise Studenmund student representatives on the council.

With regard to the functions of the council, it's indeed important that Shippensburg at all times be certain that its athletes be as safe as possible both as to their amateur standing and to their physical well being. It was this thought in mind that the council decided that it was within the athletic budget to travel by bus rather than by private auto. This was done to assure the athlete complete protection while traveling as a member of a Shippensburg athletic team.

The school in order to comply with the eligibility code as compiled by the State Teachers colleges of Pennsylvania, must have a body which administers this code. This is the responsibility of this council, and to their credit, Shippensburg has never endangered the amateur standing of any individual by permitting professional athletes to compete on its teams.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

First row: Crist, Rambo, Wright, Kriner, Eurich, King.

Second row: Korkuch, Fralick, Hopper, Kobenschlag, Hubley, Utz, Arnold.

The Athletic Association is composed of all students in the college who are interested in athletics. However, in order to fulfill the functions of the organization, the group elects an executive council which is representative of the entire group.

Included in this council are the captains of the various intercollegiate sports, the coaches, the head of the women's health department, Mr. Lackhove, Mr. Eurich, and the elected officers of the organization. In this capacity, Jack Hopper serves as President, Ed Utz as Vice-President, and Wilson Streightiff as Secretary-Treasurer.

The main functions of the group are three in number. They are, to arrange schedules and contracts for athletic events with other schools; to secure officials to officiate these scheduled contests; and to be responsible for the arrangement of other activities of the association.

Mr. Eurich, who is sponsor of the group, does the actual work of completing these schedules in co-operation with the coaching staffs. He also contacts officials, who work the various contests.

The executive committee is primarily a hearing ground for gripes of the various sports. If approved by the committee, the plaintiff may take his case before the Athletic Council, whose function it is to determine the athletic policy of the school.

W. A. A. CABINET

The Women's Athletic Cabinet is the governing body of Women's Athletic Association and is composed of the officers, sport leaders and special department heads. Louise B. Studenmund serves as president, Naomi Faber, vice-president; Patricia Dixon, recording secretary; Lenore Raffensberger, assistant recording secretary; Marilyn K. McCarney, corresponding secretary; Barbara Jones, treasurer; Kathryn Toggas, art director; and Marjorie Stroup is the publicity director. Miss Henderson and Miss Wright are the co-sponsors for the club.

The motto this year is, "a sport for every girl and a girl for every sport." The club has supported its motto by sponsoring both intramural and honor squad hockey, basketball, and tennis. Its intramural program also includes archery, table tennis, hiking, volleyball, swimming, modern dancing, tumbling, and spring sports. The various sports start at the beginning of the fall term and continue until the end of the spring term.

This organization has been very effective in helping the women students become active members of our college. Each year the organization prints a handbook for the freshmen members who receive it at the beginning of the school year at which time we have our annual W. A. A. picnic specially planned for recruits. The highlight of the year was the semi-formal dance, which was appropriately entitled "Mardi Gras."

Seated: Toggas, Miss Henderson, Jones, McCarney, Studenmund, Zook, Faber, Dixon, Raffensberger, Miss Wright, Stroup.

Standing: Oyler, Smith, McGeehee, Bishop, Picking, Spotts, Straub, Shettel, Boden, Sanville, Fordney, Charleton, Arcuri, Kratzer.

VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club is composed of all men who desire to join this organization after they have earned a letter in any varsity sport of our college. Preliminary initiation, which is required, is at times pachydermatous, usually severe, and always necessary. These initiations are appropriate for those men who have achieved success in the field of athletics.

This club sells sports programs, operates a concession stand at the football games, aids in all phases of sports, and sponsors pep meetings, athletic contests, and a dance. All junior and senior members receive pins in recognition of their athletic ability.

Mr. Rambo is the sponsor of the Varsity Club and the officers are: Ben Kolbenschlag, President; Dick Fralick, Vice-President; Dick Bolton, Treasurer; and Don Hopper, Secretary.

Seated: Vignovitch, Mr. Rambo, Bolton, D. Hopper, Kolbenschlag, Fralick, Tezak, Rupley.

Standing: Schneider, Dapp, Garrison, Kough, Hatfield, Utz, Angle, Hubley, Lynerd, Thomas, Zataveski, Shipplett, Chubb, Forbes, Korkuch, J. Hopper, Modla, Troy, Muncert, Has-singer, Duncan, Gerlock, Linn, McCloskey, Streightiff, Gross, Strawmyre.

Early last September approximately sixty behemoths were called to Eckels Field by head coach Vint Rambo and his new assistant, Tom Crist. Little did they realize that they were about to embark on a gridiron schedule that would see them win but one game, yet in that one game score enough points to edge out the total gained by their opponents.

The aspirants worked hard during the four weeks of pre-season drills and soon class began to tell. Headed by the co-captains, John Hubley and Jack Hopper, the men who were to see the majority of the action began to shine.

And soon the season's opener at Kutztown was upon the Raiders. The Red and Blue gridders traveled to the Berks County stronghold of the Golden Avalanche in quest of their first win. Instead they had to be satisfied with a tie as the Maroon and Gold scored in the second period to neutralize a first period Raider score.

The Raiders scored first as Ed Gerlock first raced 40 yards and then plunged five for the score. Linn's attempted placement was blocked, but the Rambomen led 6-0.

However, in the second period the Avalanche climaxed a sustained drive when a reserve back, Henry Dux, broke off tackle and scampered 17 yards into the end zone.

The second half was all Red and Blue, but the Kutztown club benefited by four intercepted passes to keep the Raiders at bay and the struggle ended 6-6.

One week later the Raiders were back on the familiar confines of Heiges Field before a capacity Parents Day crowd ready to do battle with the Millersville Marauders. After four tense periods the Black and Gold had won a hard earned 14-7 triumph.

Again the Raiders were first to score as freshman end Frank McClelland broke through to smother an enemy punt early in the first period. Chubb recovered the ball on the visitors 11 and four plays later a McCloskey-to-Chubb aerial climaxed the short drive. Linn converted and the Red and Blue had a 7-0 lead.

But in the second period the Marauders squared things with a 35 yard pass play from Miller to Geiger. Geiger reached over the defensive safety to make the catch and then trotted across for the TD. Noel made the first of two successful conversions and the score was 7-7.

"BEFORE THE BATTLE"

Kneeling: Minnich, Russ, Attick, Shiplett, Lane, Hubley, Modla, Reichenbach, Chubb.
Standing: Gerlock, J. Hopper, McCloskey, Kough, Hatfield.

TOO LATE—HE SCORED!!!

Then mid-way through the fourth period the Raiders were forced into a punting situation. Walt Galbraith had scarcely time to get the ball before the entire Millersville line was upon him. The ball rebounded to the Shippensburg 10 yard line where the visitor's Groff fell on it. Four plays later O'Day scored for the Marauders and that was that.

On the following Saturday a strong East Stroudsburg club came to town; and after scoring once in the early part of the game on a John Swartz-to-George Brave pass, the visitors settled down to repel the Raiders for the rest of the afternoon.

Twice the Red and Blue got within striking distance; but each time the Red and Black had enough left to repulse them and the game finally ended with the Red and Blue knocking on destiny's door, only nine short yards away from the promised land.

After this disheartening start the Raiders took a week's rest, but two weeks later they were back at it with Bloomsburg's veteran ball club. For almost two periods the Raiders had the Huskies penned up in their own back yard, but then the roof caved in as the Maroon and Gold snarled back with two touchdowns and two conversions for a 14-13 win.

Jack Hopper started the Red and Blue off on the right foot with a 70 yard sprint for a score early in the first period and Ed Gerlock kept things moving with a 45 yard gallop in the second period to give the Raiders a 13-0 lead. However, just before half-time, Steve Kriss took a pass from John Reedy and Taval-sky's preceding conversion left the Red and Blue with a margin of 13-7. Then in the fourth period an interference penalty gave the Huskies a first down on the Red and Blue 25, and from there they proceeded to march for the winning score with Reedy finally going over for the tally.

Back to the home grounds for the Home-coming game with California, and again fate played a large part in the Raiders 13-7 loss to the Vulcans. A 35 yard pass play from Gerlock to Hatfield gave the Raiders a tie, but in the fourth period, Jim Pollard intercepted a buck pass and swept down the side-lines for a California victory.

Mt. St. Mary's called on the strong right arm of Frank Bono the next Saturday when the Raiders stopped the highly publicized Walt Bellardinelli, and the Connecticut lad responded with a beautiful exhibition to give the Mounties an 18-13 win. Down 13-6 as a result of two scintillating pass plays on the part of the Raiders, one from Gerlock to Hatfield and one from Zataveski to Gerlock, Bono sparked two Mounty drives for scores in the waning minutes.

Finally on Armistice Day, fate caught up with the Red and Blue and gave it a chance to shine. Indiana was the unfortunate opponent the day the Raiders caught fire and the final count was 40-6 as the Red and Blue scored 27 points in a red-hot second quarter. Attempting but 11 passes, completing but five, the Raiders saw three of them go for scores as everything went right. Kenny Dapp scored twice, Hatfield, Gerlock, Russ, and Mills once each, with the day's highlights being a 70 yarder by Gerlock and a 85 yard punt return by Mills.

IT WAS GOOD!

HATFIELD IN THE CLEAR!

But by the following week-end, all the luck of the previous week had departed and the Slippery Rock Rockets posted a 13-7 win as the Red and Blue pass defense fell apart. Two passes from Baron to Phillips spelled defeat as all the Raiders could offer in return was a Gerlock-to-Dapp aerial good for 55 yards and a score. The game was played under the worst possible conditions during the first half. The sun had come out during the second half, but it had already set for the Rambomen.

Despite this seemingly dismal season it will always remain as a season when the sun of Shippensburg athletics did not set, for it took real men to go out Saturday after Saturday and come home losers by just the margin of one touchdown, and that touchdown often the result of fate.

But next year is another year, and let's hope it is Shippensburg's year.

JUST ENOUGH TO GET HIM!

 Third row: Forbes, Long, Dorsey, Angle.

Nearly 60 aspirants for basketball reported to coach Crist when the first call was issued shortly after the close of football season. From this group, mainly by the process of self elimination, the squad has been whittled down to its present proportions of a 15 man jayvee squad and a 12 man varsity.

After a few startlingly short weeks of practice the Raiders engaged highly rated Millersville Teachers on the home boards the night of December 14, 1949.

An unsteady start during the first half allowed the Marauders to lead by five points at the half, but the Raiders roared back to tie it up in the fourth period before finally sub-cuming in an overtime. Kline, Marauder guard, tossed in eight points in the overtime to almost single handedly defeat the Red and Blue.

The boys looked even worse the next time out as Indiana, paced by speedy Jules Filick, ran them off the Alumni gym floor to the count of 76-53. Frank McClelland paced the Raiders with 14 points.

Coming back after the holiday recess the charges of coach Crist finally found the winning range as Whitey Korkuch, captain of the club, netted a one hander in the last few seconds to give the Raiders a 49-47 win over Mt. St. Mary's.

Into the hills of West Virginia went the Red and Blue for the next triumph, and after spotting their rivals, Shepherd Teachers, a nine point advantage, the Raiders came fast in the second half to cop a three point win 55-52.

Out to Indiana for revenge went the Raiders and revenge they got. The final count was 77-56 in favor of the Red and Blue as Frank McClelland ran wild with 21 points.

Still on the road, the Raiders traveled to the heart of Berks county where they engaged the Dutchmen of Kutztown Teachers. The Avalanche couldn't offer much second half opposition and the Cristmen romped off with a 71-59 win.

The road trips finally caught up with the Raiders and they succumbed twice on a trip which carried them to Mansfield and Lock Haven. The scores were 65-55, and 67-58.

Back on the home boards for a prolonged home stay the Red and Blue met Albright, a club which owned victories over some of the nation's best. When the smoke finally cleared Albright had sneaked through by 63-60.

The Raiders waxed red hot the next evening and poor Western Maryland took it on the chin 90-53 as the Red and Blue set a new school record and a new floor record. Bob Nicholson led the onslaught, but Bob Chubb and McClelland were not far behind.

One of the worst performances of the season came at Bloomsburg as the Huskies prevailed 58-48. After scoring 21 points in the first period the Raiders grew colder as Ed Jones and mates won going away.

Another week-end, and another split. Lock Haven, on the strength of Bob Miller's foul shot, won 47-46, but California fell 62-56 as four Raiders scored more than 10 points.

BASEBALL

Seated: Troy, Thomas, Hubley, Shiplett, Fralick, Hassinger, Jacoby, Duncan.
 Standing: Mr. Knapp, Powell, Rupley, Henry, Linn, Runkle, Cassidy, Bolton, Farnier, Snyder.

A chronological write-up of the 1949 baseball season at Shippensburg should appear as the following does. Rain and other spring oddities limited the schedule to eight games which started April 2 and continued until May 21.

April 2 the Raiders, under the guidance of Coach "Lefty" Knapp, opened the season against the Indians of Indiana State Teachers College. The two clubs struggled through 14 drawn-out innings before the Red and Blue pushed across two tallies in the bottom half of the inning to prevail by an 8-7 count. Herb Cassidy, who relieved starter Warren Hassinger in the seventh, won his own game with a sharp single to center.

Five days later the Vulcans of California and the Raiders battled to a 5-5 tie as old Jupe Pluvius interrupted a Red and Blue rally in the bottom half of the ninth. With only a handful of spectators remaining as the wind and rain combined to send most of them scurrying for shelter, Dick Bolton sliced a double to right, which scored two runs and tied up the ball game. With Bolton perched on second and a chance to win the game in the offing, the umpires finally decided they had had enough and called a halt to the proceedings.

Easter recess interrupted the pursuit of the grand old American game until April 26 when the Red and Blue traveled to Emmitsburg, Maryland, where they handed the Mt. St. Mary's stickmen a severe trouncing by the count of 13-2. The game was quite a slugfest with no less than five Raiders garnering two safeties as they touched three "cousins" for better than 15 hits.

Less than a week later the Knappmen met their first defeat at the hands of a veteran

Bloomsburg nine. The Huskies took good advantage of six Raider micues to sew up a 7-4 decision despite a homer by hurler Warren Hassinger. Hassinger, knuckleball artist, pitched a much better game than the score indicates, and a few good plays by the Raiders in spots could have easily shifted the score.

Lady Luck, which had turned her back on the aforementioned Hassinger, finally beamed in his direction May 3. Tied up with the Marauders of Millersville State Teachers at 4-4 in the 10th inning, Hassinger poked out a one-base blow to win his own ball game. However, but for the fact that Abe Duncan had scored from second base on Jim Shiplett's ninth inning infield hit, Hassinger might well have been the victim of circumstances for the second game in a row.

Saturday, May 7, found the Raiders in Indiana to return a favor to the Indians. Scoring five times in the first three innings, the Red and Blue sewed this one up early. Most of the attack came from Dick Bolton's big bat as the well-proportioned back stopper slammed out two hits for extra bases, including a three-run homer in the third.

Nearing the end of the 1949 diamond campaign, the Red and Blue were returned a visit by the Mt. St. Mary's diamond aggregation. And they loved it! With Ray Linn showing the way with a double, triple, and homer, the homesters literally slaughtered the opposition by an 11-4 count. Herb Cassidy was again the beneficiary of all the Raider run making.

The Red and Blue closed out the season with a 7-6 win over Shepherd College, May 21. Blanked by the nifty hurling of Cliff Barker for almost the entire game, the Raiders exploded in the late innings to cop the tilt. It was Ray Linn who was again the hero of the day. The fleet center gardener dropped a Texas league double in right center scoring Bobby Thomas and Jack Rupley in the last of the ninth.

Kneeling: Lynerd, J. Hopper, Kough, Pugh, Tezak, McCloskey, Leverentz, Galbraith, Trephan, Zataveski, Rankin, Emanuel.

The track season opened at Shippensburg April 23, when the college sponsored its Twenty-third Annual Interscholastic Track and Field meet on Heiges Field. Carlisle High romped off with Class A honors while Lemoyne copped the Class B laurels. The meet produced several new records for the event, but the two in which we are most interested at Shippensburg are the 110-yard low hurdles and the shot put. In the low hurdles, Clarence Bricker, now a freshman at S. S. T. C., equaled the previous mark when he sprinted home in 12.7 seconds, while in the shot put, Dan Miller, another frosh at the school, set a new mark with a heave of 48 feet 11 inches.

intercollegiate competition got underway April 26 when the Raider track and field squad under the direction of Mr. Bartholomew and Mr. Rambo traveled to Bloomsburg to engage the Huskies on the cinder pathways. The Red and Blue had a comparatively easy time of it as the Maroon and Gold did not measure up to expectations and consequently the Raiders journeyed home with a 92-33 win safely tucked away in the victory belt. John Trephan, Ben Kobenschlag, and Dick Stauffer all captured two firsts, good for ten points, while several other Red and Blue performers scored a first and second.

Only a trip to the Penn Relays for the mile-relay team spanned the gap between the first dual meet and the State Teachers College meet held on Heiges Field on May 7. The relay team finished second to Lock Haven's speedy quartet in the favorable time of 3:27.3. The Shippensburg sprinters were Dick Stauffer, Cal Rankin, John Leverentz, and Earl Showalter.

In the state meet held on May 7, the Raiders were relegated to third place with 29 points as Lock Haven and West Chester fought a duel to win the crown with the Bald Eagles of Lock Haven capturing the diadem after a long and bitter struggle throughout the afternoon. Only Jack Hopper, who captured the broad jump, could gain a first place for the Red and Blue, but Dick Stauffer finished second in a thrilling 440 and Walt Galbraith showed evidences of things to come when he finished second in the javelin.

Lock Haven's overall team strength was quite apparent exactly one week later when the Shippensburg cindermen traveled to the up-state school to engage the Eagles in a dual meet. The Eagles paced by such veteran runners as George Teufel, Dick Colliver, and Dick Pieffer ran up an 82 to 48 win over the Raiders. Only in the field events were the Raiders nearly successful as the Lock Haven strength told heavily in the running events, especially the distances.

Four days later on Wednesday afternoon, in the solitude of Heiges Field, which was inhabited for the most part only by the athletes, the Red and Blue closed its 1949 track and field season with a  $72 \frac{1}{3}$  to  $54 \frac{2}{3}$  win over Albright. Only the visitor's Al Harnley could produce more than 10 points as the versatile Reading collegian scored  $12 \frac{2}{3}$  of the visitor's points. Cal Rankin was Shippensburg's best point producer, capturing the high hurdles in 15.8 seconds and the 220 lows in 27.7 seconds. Walt Galbraith, though finishing second to the durable Harnley in the javelin, produced the best throw of the year for a Shippensburg javelin thrower. His toss went 177 feet  $9\frac{3}{4}$  inches.

With the close of the season, track coach Richard Bartholomew resigned to accept a position elsewhere in the field of education and it was determined that field coach Vint Rambo should assume both positions. So, to coach Rambo and his prospective stars, we wish the best of luck for a successful 1950 season.

TENNIS

Tennis has been a dying sport at Shippensburg in the past few years. Last season, for example, players had to be picked up for various matches in order for the school to be represented at the few matches scheduled. This wasn't always the case. In past years Shippensburg was always well represented by her tennis squads. But now the question has arisen as to whether the sport commands enough attention to continue it.

Under the direction of Mr. Allan the racqueteers will attempt a comeback this spring. Some newcomers are reported to be pretty sharp with a racquet and prospects are better this season than in the past two. But while tennis is striving valiantly to make this comeback at Shippensburg, what about the other schools?

Only two other state teachers colleges besides Shippensburg foster a tennis team now. Just last year Kutztown gave up the sport, leaving Indiana and Millersville as the two remaining schools with squads. So just who will our opponents be?

It is indeed unfortunate that the men at school who like to wield a racquet should be denied the right to intercollegiate competition, but that is what is happening.

In the meantime just four matches, two at home and two away, have been scheduled for this spring. So small a number doesn't encourage the men to give the sport their best and consequently the number which turn out for coach Allan's call is usually just enough to fill the six positions.

TENNIS COURTS

Of course, the sport is doomed if audience size has anything to do with its survival at Shippensburg. The tennis matches have nearly always been played in conjunction with the baseball games between the competing schools and quite naturally, baseball outdraws tennis in audience size.

However, there still remains a need for a tennis program in the school, for it stands as one of the sports which is available to almost everyone upon graduation. Therefore, in the interest of the student body, the sport and the courts should be maintained at school.

Perhaps, when you picked this book up, you expected to find nothing but statistics of things gone past, but we have tried to inject a thought for the future in several portions. If these thoughts start you thinking, we have accomplished what we wished to do.

WRESTLING

Wrestling is the newest winter sport on campus, this being its second year of existence, yet in its infant stage it has caught the fancy of the student body. If only more home meets were scheduled the sport might take its place with basketball as a major winter sport.

However, like tennis the future of wrestling, on an intercollegiate basis at least, is cloudy. There is some question as to whether we will have an intercollegiate wrestling team next year and only time will tell if wrestling has died before it had a chance to become established.

This year five meets were scheduled for the grapplers, an increase over last year's schedule, but the fact that the two home meets were scheduled for early December and late February lessened the sports popularity on campus.

Millersville was the first mat opponent of the 1949-1950 season, the Raiders meeting them in December on the home mats. The Marauders, long a power in State Teachers college wrestling, showed their class in every division and walked off with a 34-0 decision. Several of the S. S. T. C. grapplers showed promise of developing into top notch performers but lack of experience hampered them in their efforts against the Black and Gold.

After a long lay off, the charges of Norman King traveled to Indiana, and though Georgie

ACTION ON THE MATS

Sterner earned a draw in the 121 pound class, the rest of the squad went down to defeat and the Indians has a 33-2 win. Particularly impressive in defeat were "Hop" Campalong and Lee Kurlansik.

Next on the Red and Blue's mat schedule was the Bald Eagle squad from Lock Haven Teachers. The Eagles, along with Millersville, are annually a competitor for the Teachers college crown, and as a result the Raiders met defeat number three by the tune of 31-3. Lee Kurlansik, wrestling in the 175 pound class, was Shippensburg's only winner.

Out of state for their next match went the road weary matmen. This time it was the University of Baltimore and the Marylanders edged the Red and Blue 19-9. The Raiders trailed 14-9 entering the final match and a fall would have earned them a tie. However, the Shippensburg heavyweight was pinned and the Kingmen had gone down to defeat.

Back to the home mats for the last match of the season on Saturday, February 25, came the Raiders. Meeting Indiana for the second time the Red and Blue lost by 28-5 as only Bob Deck, in the 121 pound class, and Lee Kurlansik in the 175 pound division, could earn points for the Raiders.

Hopes for next season are better since most of this year's men will return. However, "Hop" Campalong, captain of this season's crew, will be lost due to a shoulder injury suffered in the last match.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY TEAM

Kneeling: Shettel, Radel, Oyler, Fordney, Rudy, Studenmund, Hocker, Walker, Raffensberger, Burnshire, Zeigler, Stroup.

Standing: Truesdale, Bradley, Sanville, Killilea, Brenneman, Hahs, Runkle, Morder, Hartsock, Cooper, Klingman, Oyler, Vesco.

The girl's honor squad hockey team under the able coaching of Miss Eleanor Wright aims to win, if possible, every hockey game they play. If they are defeated they expect to prove to the winner that they have given battle. However, this year, the team did not do as well as they had expected. They were working to develop their inexperienced players this year; however when next year's season rolls around, they should prove very hard to defeat.

Of course, the record of wins and losses does not always indicate the caliber of the team. The girls this year had wonderful spirit and fought until the last whistle was blown. Their record may be attributed to bad breaks, inexperienced players in key positions, and other factors.

The girls had a special honor awarded to them this fall by being invited to the Middle Atlantic All College Hockey Tournament in Philadelphia. The whole team made the trip, and as a team they played teams from the Middle Atlantic area in elimination games. Margaret Rudy was selected by the judges to play with girls from other colleges in order to pick a team to compete in national contests. Shippensburg was one of the few teachers colleges represented at this tournament.

The record for the year was:

Shippensburg 0	Lebanon Valley	2
Shippensburg 3	Gettysburg	4
Shippensburg 4	Penn Hall	2
Shippensburg 0	Millersville	3
Shippensburg 0	Hbg. Hockey Club	4

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM

With Miss Eleanor Wright's coaching and the Captainship of Reba Charleton, the girl's honor squad basketball team this year has maintained the fine record they had established in previous years. The team has not lost any games since 1947. All signs this year seem to point the way to another undefeated season.

Because of the team's excellent record and indomitable spirit, it has gathered a large following, not only in Shippensburg, but in the surrounding areas as well. The use of the continuous dribble, or the double dribble, has speeded up the game considerably, consequently the games have higher scores and are more exciting to watch.

When Shippensburg's girls go out on the floor, they attend strictly to the business of winning the game. They don't talk to each other, they don't argue with the officials, they are clean players, they stick strictly to the business of playing ball, and most important of all, they win their games. The six girls who play most of the time together seem to have an uncanny sense of timing—they work together as a synchronized unit.

The jay-vees also have a vary impressive record; their wins far overbalance their losses. With the promising material on the Junior Varsity squad, the Shippensburg girls may go undefeated for the seasons to come.

The schedule this year includes games with the lassies from Susquehanna, Lock Haven, Lebanon Valley, Millersville, Penn Hall, Gettysburg, and Elizabethtown.

First row: Vaughn, Fordney, Stroup, Charleton, Radle, Shettel.
Second row: D. Oyler, Eisenhower, Toggas, Cutshall, Long, Straut.
Third row: Vink, Bigelow, J. Oyler, Killilea, Dixon.
Fourth row: McDonald, Kuntz, Smith, Lenker, Runkle, Fullerton.

GIRL'S ARCHERY

Kneeling: Barlup, Bishop, Cramer, Yoder.

Standing: R. Peck, Allen, Hartman, J. Martin, M. Martin, Laughlin.

Although the Archery Club is relatively new on campus, it is becoming one of the fast-growing sports for women.

Twenty girls claim membership in the club. Indoor target practice is held in Stewart Hall, and when the weather permits, the lassies take to the wide open spaces, on their outdoor range.

A spring tournament is scheduled every year, which is sponsored by Ben Pearson. A major city is the cite for an annual archery company. The Robin Hoodettes boast of an invitation to both these competetive events.

Fifty hours of practice is the requirement for credit toward W. A. A. points.

Archery sports leader, Edwinna McGehee, is assisted by Jacqueline Bishop. The sponsor of the club is Miss Esther G. Henderson.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Women's Athletic Association is one of the leading women's organizations of the college. Good sportsmanship, and the fundamentals of sports are learned by the association's members. Development, both mentally and physically, is the basic aim of the W. A. A.

The sports sponsored by the organization provide relaxation and an outlet for the pent up excess energy.

Requirements for membership are based on a point system. Two hundred points must be earned to gain membership. The points are gained by participation in sports. Intra-mural sports offer seventy-five points. Honor squad members receive one hundred points. Girls on winning intra-mural teams receive a bonus of one hundred points.

Points are awarded for degrees of proficiency in swimming, the maximum is two hundred, and can be obtained by an instructor teaching a class.

W. A. A. boasts a membership of over one hundred.

Members who receive six hundred points are awarded a school letter; those who reach the one thousand point mark, receive a W. A. A. pin.

The fine work done at this college by the W. A. A. is recognized throughout the state by other colleges which are interested in women's sports. The club, presided over by Louise Studenmund and sponsored by Miss Eleanor Wright and Miss Esther Henderson lives up to its motto, "A sport for every girl and a girl for every sport."

A HISTORY OF SPORTS . . . . .

In the past four years many sporting events have passed before the Shippensburg sporting scene. Some of us can remember the first football team in 1946, and all of us can remember the hot outfits of 1947 and 1948. These thoughts bring back lots of memories — — — do you remember?

The year 1946-47 saw Shippensburg return to the sporting scene for the first time since 1941. The campus was flooded with veterans and Penn State freshmen. Head coach Ed Gulian was given the task of molding a football team from a wealth of untried freshmen and though the Raiders won but two and tied one, hopes were high for the next grid campaign. Steve Hatfield, freshman from Bellwood, scored 38 points to pace the scorers.

The hardwood edition of the Red and Blue, under the guidance of coach Harold Kramer, won 10 and lost 9 that first year, with such fellows as "Rip" Collins and Marlin Kessler providing the spark.

Spring sports came too late to be included in the 1947 edition of the CUMBERLAND and their absence can be distinctly noticed.

The girls, however, returned to the inter-collegiate scene with a roar in both field hockey and basketball. The hockey team had a very successful season paced by such outstanding performers as Marge Laughlin and Rose Lubold. The basketball team, after dropping the first tilt to the Fairchild Cargo-ettes, started a streak which has reached 23 straight wins as this edition goes to press. The girls, too, resumed the W. A. A. and most of the women on campus were striving to become members.

Pep rallies and spirited cheering marked the first home game following the resumption of athletics in 1946.

Intramural sports were in full swing throughout the college year as the boys organized a touch football league, and later an intramural basketball program was originated.

The 1948 edition of the CUMBERLAND shows the best sports season of any of the four books published during our collegiate stay.

The Raiders got underway in the fall under the tutelage of new head coach, Vint Rambo, and the many veterans left from the year before gave the school five wins, two losses, and one tie. Only defeats by Slippery Rock and Lock Haven marred an otherwise perfect season.

Perhaps the best game of the season was played at Bloomsburg where the Raiders scored 19 points in the second period to cop a 19-12 win. George Bufflap tossed two passes to Steve Hatfield as the Raiders overcame a 12 point deficit.

Then in added glory the basketball squad posted a very good 13-6 record, the best of our four years. Jeb Stewart and Jack McClellan paced the Red and Blue hardwooders to this impressive record.

From the year before came a splendid record by the Raider baseball and track squads.

The girls won all but one intercollegiate hockey game and every basketball game, to extend their streak.

In every respect, the collegiate year of 1947-48 was Shippensburg's best since the war.

Coach Rambo was again blessed with a wealth of material as the 1948 season arrived and the 1948 club "managed" to win five games while losing three.

..... 1946 UNTIL 1950

In perhaps the most exciting game of this, or any other season, the Raiders defeated Mt. St. Mary's 14-13. The Mounts were on the Red and Blue's one-yard line as the game ended. But then the whole game was like that. As an added touch, Charlie Shields was named first team center on the All-Teacher College eleven, and later he was given an honorable mention of the All-Pennsylvania team.

The winter sports season saw the basketball team gain some competition from wrestling, which was introduced on an intercollegiate basis for the first time. The wrestlers, however, didn't have as good a season as did the hardwooders, for they dropped three of four meets, whereas, the basketballers won 10 of 19 to again finish above the .500 mark. Jack McClellan paced the basketball team with 304 points to establish at least a modern scoring record for the school.

From the year before was carried an 8-3 record in baseball, and a fine track and field record. Bud Warfel paced the diamond aggregation as he posted six wins on the hill.

The girls again had a splendid hockey team and the basketball squad continued the pace set by its predecessors as they went through the campaign undefeated.

And so for the benefit of you who did not have an opportunity to see these teams in action, we have listed their accomplishments. Maybe your class can produce a better record. . . . we will be looking for it.

The year from 1948-49 brought many sport thrills to Shippensburg. Here are pictured a few of them for you.

In Appreciation

The editor, the business manager, and their staffs have found that production of a yearbook depends upon more than them alone. It is the combined efforts of many people, not just a few. And so to all those who helped make this book a reality, we humbly offer our sincere thanks.
