STUDENT LIFE

fashion's night out

The Shippensburg University Fashion Archives hosted a night of fashion for students, staff, faculty, and community members to explore an exhibit. Exhibits from the fashion archives are pieces of history brought to the university for display.

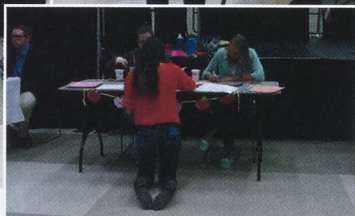

fall for a CAUSE

On October 6, students from organizations ranging from Greek life to Student Senate to PRSSA gathered in the Ceddia Union Building's multipurpose room for a community service fair. At the fair, attendees were able to learn, volunteer or craft for local charities. Everyone who made their way to each table was also entered into a $25 drawing! All attendees left with a better understanding of all the work our campus organizations do to help benefit our local charities.

"What we have done for others and the world remains and is immortal."

Many students attended the philanthropy event to learn about all of the great causes students in multiple organizations on campus raise money for.

Phi Sigma Sigma taught others about their local philanthropy, Autism York, by letting visitors create bracelets that empowered others.

Kappa Sigma teaches us about thier national philanthropy, the Military Heroes Campaign. They let visitors play a quick game of cornhole after they were given information, with candy as a prize!

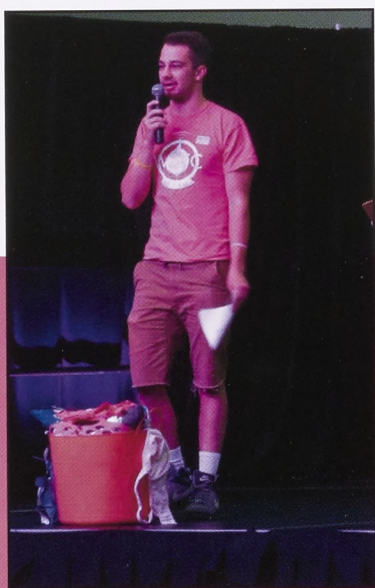

Bras across campus

Bras Across Campus, an event sponsored by the Feel Your Boobies Foundation, came to Shippensburg University on October 10. The event featured a breast cancer awareness video created by SU alumni Julie Ratcliffe and Holly Harrar. The video featured testimonies from several women, stressing the importance of checking your breasts frequently for changes. These women also shared their stories and how cancer changed their lives. At the end of the rally, all attendees formed a circle around the multipurpose room to hold up a chain of all bras donated by students during the weeks leading up to the event. The university had set a goal of raising $500 and exceeded it, raising a total of $2,400 for the Feel Your Boobies Foundation.

James Bailey, the radio general manager of WSYC, and Stephanie Erdice, the director of the Women's Center, announced the prize winners.

The Shippensburg University Raider cheerleaders performed at the Bras Across Campus rally, getting everyone excited.

WHO WALKED?

Faculty, with the support of Shippensburg University's staff and students, took to the entrances of the university to make their voices heard.

KAPPA SIGMA FEEDS FACULTY DURING STRIKE

Brothers of the Kappa Lambda chapter of Kappa Sigma at the university spent the end of the week supporting the faculty and staff. The brothers brought their grill to campus to feed those taking part on the picket line. They also provided water, coffee and a plethora of snacks. Other Greek organizations, such as Phi Sigma Sigma, also provided support for the faculty by bringing supplies when resources were beginning to run low.

Dr. Michael Drager shows his support for the Association of Pennsylvania State College and University Faculties (APSCUF) during the faculty strike that took place in fall semester 2016.

Army ROTC hosts 5k/10k, with proceeds to benefit Azalea Charities

Since the official recognition of the Raider Battalion in 1980, the organization has hosted an annual 5k/10k. This year, about 100 participants attended the event, an increase from previous years. Cadet Stephen Pernelli, the cadet in charge of the event, said he was pleased with the result. The race showcased the beauty of Shippensburg University, as well as the fields surrounding the campus. ROTC took many precautions, always making sure the participants' safety was the first priority. Noah Hartzel, the assistant race organizer, explained that with road guards, water points and emergency responders available, they were prepared. "ROTC did a fantastic job putting together the 5k/10k race as an opening event for Shippensburg's homecoming," remarked Maj. Chris Morton, the chair of the military science department. Proceeds from the race are going to Azalea Charities, which benefits wounded service members.

DEMOCRACY DAY

Election Day

Students were encouraged to vote on November 8th in the election. Students had the opportunity to vote off-campus by taking a designated bus that ran the entire day. This election was considered intense compared with previous elections, and students were strongly encouraged to participate.

SHIPPENSBURG UNIVERSITY'S 5th Annual MINI-THON

The Lightner family talks about how the Four Diamonds Fund has helped them in many ways.

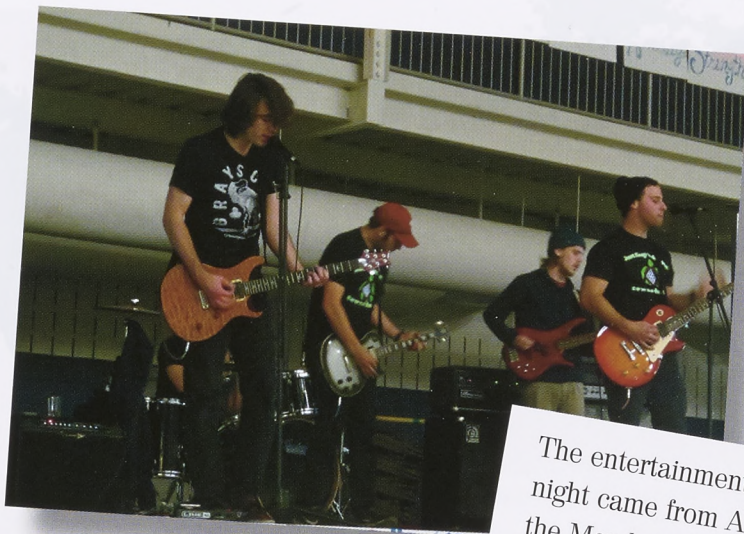

There were many Minute to Win It games, such as balancing dice on a popsicle stick, eating a fruit roll-up without hands and trying to get a cookie to start from your forehead and get into your mouth, also without using your hands.

One of the activities planned for the evening was colorwars. When you registered for MiniThon, you were given a colored wristband, red, green, blue or yellow, that determined your team. The game was tug-of-war. First up? Yellow and red. Yellow reigned victorious and sat on the sidelines, wondering who they'll play in the final round: blue or green? This match-up was not hard – green won seconds into the match and took a quick break, readying themselves for the finals.

Green was victorious! In a heated match, the green team managed to win – but barely. Yellow put in a great fight and accepted their defeat with great sportsmanship.

The entertainment of the night came from Above the Mendoza. They played original songs such as Five More Minutes and Home, as well as two cover songs: The Anthem by Good Charlotte and Came Out Swinging by The Wonder Years. When their set was over, they took to the court and joined in many sessions of dodgeball, enjoying their night in Shippensburg with the rest of the MiniThon.

At the end of the night, the total amount raised was revealed. In total, Shippensburg's Mini-Thon raised $5,636.55 for the 2016 donation to the Four Diamonds Foundation.
